LINDSAY, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1904.

Our Fifty-Ninth Year—No. 186.

Terms—$1.00 per year, payable in Advance.

Millinery at Reduced Prices . .

Manufacturers and Wholesalers have finished their Fall Season and are now thinking of Spring. Their anxiety to clean up stocks was fortunate for us and for you. A second hat is often needed. You can have one now and hardly notice the cost.

$1.20 will now buy Hats that sold formerly at $3.00. $3.00 Hats that sold for $5.00.

$3.00 Hats for $1.29.

Ladies' and Misses' Camel Hair Felt Hats, trimmed with Fluted Velvet Bands, Buckle and Quill or Pom-Pom. Mostly all colors, regular prices $3.00 and $2.50, on sale Saturday $1.29.

$5.00 Plush Hats $3.00.

Velour Plush Dress or Street Hats, neatly and stylishly trimmed, regular value $5.00, for $3.00.

STYLISH FURS

Our Fur Department is attracting many visitors these days—they almost invariably go away purchasers. We are showing many interesting values, from among which we mention these two lines:—

Ladies' long Peiarines in Russian Hare, colors black or brown. Extra value at $2.75, $3.75, $5 and $6.

SCARFS $10 Our display of Neck Scarfs at $10.00 is the best we have yet shown. Imperial Opossum Scarfs, Isabelle or Sable dye, 72 in. long, finished with clasp and chain and eight large tails $10
Extra good value.

FUR COATS. An unusually fine display of Ladies' Fur Coats is ours. They include Astrachan, Russian Lamb, Persian Lamb, Electric and Baltic Seal.

Astrachan Coats, fine, even and glossy curl, trimmed with Otin Sable, $37.50 and $45.00.

Electric Seal Jackets Russian Blouse style, large cuff, rolling collar and extra fine quality of mink, finished with girdle $50
Extra value

WOOL BLANKETS $2.50.

FORTY LIBERALS IN ONTARIO

Five Conservatives Elected in the Toronto—Mr. Foster Got in By a Narrow Majority—The Quebec Reaction Against Liberalism Did Not Arrive—Close Sleep in the West.

Liberal majority	66
In doubt and to be held	9

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—At early hour this morning these figures were compiled from the corrected returns. They indicate the extent of the greatest Liberal victory in the history of the Dominion. The Government has swept the country in a wonderful way. The majority at dissolution was 54. It has been increased to 66, and it is almost certain that when the elections in Gaspe, Dauphin, Mackenzie, Yale-Cariboo, Mootnay and Comox-Atlin are held they will all be found in the Government column, and the majority will be increased to seventy. As some one put it when the returns showed a constantly increasing roll of Liberals the election has been one for Laurier and a large Majority.

Mr. Fielding's Strength.

The most remarkable feature of the whole election is that the Conservative leader, Mr. Borden, in his own city of Halifax, and the failure of the Conservatives of Nova Scotia to return a single member. The strength of Mr. Fielding is revealed by this in a remarkable way. That a seat will be found for Mr. Borden in some other Province is probable, but the Conservatives are not likely seriously to consider the continued leadership of a politician who cannot carry a single seat in his own Province.

In New Brunswick Mr. Emmerson has proved that the Blair cry was a bluff. The Blairites made a net gain there of two seats, although in St. John and its environment there was a material increase in Conservatism.

Anti-British Cry Fails.

One of the most significant features of the results in the defeat of Mr. Chase Casgrain in Quebec. He it was who inspired the campaign against Laurier because he had granted Great Britain a free trade preference. The journals directly under his control declared that Laurier had been false to his race, and was really an Englishman masquerading as a French-Canadian. Mr. Casgrain has his answer. He is retired to private life. There are ten Conservatives elected from Quebec, one more than there were at dissolution, and Pontiac may return another. The ground boast of Mr. Edmund Bristol, who two days ago wired to the Conservative candidates throughout Ontario that "advices from undoubted and reliable sources are that the Conservatives will carry 27 seats in the Province of Quebec; it therefore rests with our friends in the Province of Ontario to defeat the Liberal Administration," seems to have been found on air vacuum. Quebec is still wedded to Liberalism.

Ontario Disappointing.

Ontario is the least satisfactory spot in the record. The Liberals have pulled down the Conservative majority from sixteen to six, and that is something to be proud of, but there was good reason for hoping that the Conservative majority would disappear altogether. Ontario will benefit perhaps more than any other Province of the Dominion from the opening up of the West. Her manufactures will be required by the hundreds of thousands who within time next few years will settle on the Prairies. Her artisans will provide much of the material used in the Transcontinental Railway. She had, therefore, reason for strongly supporting policy. No doubt as the Parliament proceeds the Liberals from this Province will be added to, until the minority of six to-day is changed into a majority.

It will generally be shown that the policy of western development now entered upon will materially prevent conditions of prosperity, and that Canada from now on will be in the trough of depression that seems not far distant in many other nations.

THE SWEEP IN OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Nov. 4—The Conservative candidates in Ottawa sustained a crushing defeat. Messrs. N. A. Belcourt and Robert Stewart, the Liberal standard-bearers, being elected by unprecedentedly large majorities. Mr. Belcourt headed the poll, with a plurality of 1,790 over Mr. Champagne, who stood at the foot of the list. His lead over Mr. Birkett, the English-speaking Tory candidates, was 1,475. Mr. Stewart's majority over Mr. Birkett was 1,019 and over Mr. Champagne 1,339. The Liberal candidate had the lead in every ward but two.

The capital was wildly excited last night over the total victory and the splendid triumph of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues.

CHAPTER I.

THE DISAPPEARANCE OF AN AMERICAN.

THE senior member of the firm of Townsend & Burdick, manufacturers of windmills, pumps and other appurtenances of that nature, was serenely contemplating in his New York office the increased revenues he would receive from the large sales to be made by Harvey Irons, their hustling, energetic representative in Russia. The last letter written by Mr. Townsend to Mr. Irons was to the effect that the latter's suggestion that a market could be had in Russia was a good one and for him to use his own judgment.

Thereafter there were no letters sent between the senior member and the agent, but cablegrams, mostly conveying large orders, frequently came from Mr. Irons, and other cablegrams, conveying money, were sent by Mr. Townsend. Orders came from St. Petersburg, Moscow and other cities. As time went on the increase of business gave warrant for the roseate hue of Mr. Townsend's dreams.

While Mr. Townsend was contemplating his happy future he was startled at receiving the following message from Paris:

Expelled from Russia. Going back another way. IRONS.

As Mr. Townsend was somewhat hazy on the subject of Russia and had no information as to how Irons had gone in on his first visit, it can easily be imagined that Mr. Townsend had very little idea of what the other way of going back chosen by Mr. Irons might be.

He cabled to Harvey Irons as follows:

What do you mean? Answer at once. TOWNSEND.

He waited in vain for an answer. He became greatly perturbed and conferred with his partner.

"I tell you, Burdick," he said, "Irons must be in trouble. I can learn nothing. There is something left unexplained."

"There always was," said Mr. Burdick. "Irons is a man who acts according to what he finds on the spot. We can't sit in New York and tell him what to do in Russia. If he says he is expelled and is going back, he is going back. Leave him alone."

"I can do nothing else," said Mr. Townsend, "as I do not know where he is."

"I do. He is in Russia. Just wait. You will get big orders from Russia yet. Irons against the entire police of the empire. My confidence in him is so unshakable I believe—well, I'll bet you a thousand dollars he turns up all right with Russian orders."

"I'll not take the bet. I share your confidence. We'll wait."

And so they waited.

• • • • • • •

Hafiz Effendi sat crosslegged on a divan watching the passing show. Hafiz Effendi was himself a part of the show, but this did not concern him. Hafiz was morose.

"Curses upon the Muscovite!" he muttered as he drew long breaths from his chibouk and watched an elderly Grusian and his daughter pass by. "The new law is in effect and the bride for the prince not yet obtained. And Mizik, the officer of the ameer, will soon be here to ascertain the truth."

Hafiz Effendi had not traveled all the way from Constantinople simply to witness the fair at Tiflis. Hafiz had made his wealth in the business of supplying wealthy Osmanlis with pretty Circassian or Georgian girls for their wives, and his income had been rudely stopped by the new order of the czar. The hated Muscovite government had interdicted the trade in women which had made Circassia and Georgia infamous.

Here was the annual fair at Tiflis under full sway, and all the wealth and beauty of the Caucasus were present.

Hafiz Effendi shook his head, grunted another curse against the Muscovite and then, placing his chibouk in the care of Muley, the keeper of the bazaar, wandered, or, rather, waddled, round the gay streets of the fair. Following in his wake was a tall, handsome young officer, whose uniform, as well as his accent, proclaimed him to be from St. Petersburg.

"Ah," said this officer to himself as he saw the frown on the face of the Turk, "our friend Hafiz seems indignant. He eyes every pretty woman with something like greed. I'll keep my eye on him."

For Captain Sergius Orskoff was in command of the department of the service that had for its object the obliteration of the slave trade between the Caucasus and Persia and Turkey.

Men from all parts were at Tiflis, exhibiting in the bazaars rugs and coats of rare wools from Persia, silks from China, costly pipes of every conceivable shape and size carved by hand by the men of Trebizond, shoes from Massachusetts, knives from England—in short, the products of the world were spread out that those who walked could see and perchance purchase.

Hafiz Effendi turned and saw the steely eyes of Captain Orskoff fixed upon him.

"It is a great fair, excellency," he said, with his usual Turkish salutation. "It is one that brings the world together."

"Good enough; but remember there is nothing sold here save what is exhibited for sale."

The Turk opened his eyes wide, as if in astonishment. "Who could have asked more? Is there not enough?" he asked, gazing at a pretty Circassian who passed with a soldier.

"Yes, it seems enough; only remember," said Orskoff, walking off with scant courtesy.

"Pigs! Dogs! These Muscovites are unbearable!" growled Hafiz.

He left the busy portion of the fair, went to the baths, returned to the bazaar kept by his friend Muley and resumed his pipe. The passing show seemed endless. Officers in brilliant uniforms, merchants, women of every degree, crowded the thoroughfares. The reverie of Hafiz was interrupted.

"How is the day? Does the sun shine full upon thee, O Hafiz Effendi?" asked a soft voice at his side. He beheld a warrior of some peculiar race, dark skinned and gayly uniformed.

"Ah, hast thou come, O Mizik? The day is well. The sun never fails to shine upon the faithful," replied Hafiz.

"It is so, O wise and mighty Hafiz."

"And how is my friend, the great and heaven born ameer of Bokhara?" asked Hafiz.

"Our lord is well, but he is growing impatient that thy mission has not yet been fulfilled. It was told to me in the sacred precincts of the palace to come to Tiflis, seek out Hafiz Effendi and ascertain if he has found what the ameer wishes."

"The prettiest woman in all Georgia," said Hafiz, with a smile.

"For the bride of our young Prince Davonca. And thou hast been promised much wealth, Hafiz Effendi."

"It is true, and I have found the young woman. But the accursed Muscovite ruler has made a new law which prohibits the sale of the women. We must work slowly and with caution."

"Then is the thing that is so near the heart of my lord, that his son shall have the most beautiful bride in the world, an impossibility?"

"I did not say it was an impossibility," said Hafiz testily. "It is dangerous. Speak in a low tone. Better, come to the kahve kept by my brother. There we can talk."

Hafiz led the way to a coffee house, where they resumed their chat.

"While you are in Tiflis look not upon the women," said Hafiz. "The Muscovite emperor has made this new law, and there are soldiers to spy upon us and compel us to obey. It is absurd, for these women are happier when in the luxury their Osmanli husbands give them than with these pigs and dogs, who are rude and have no wealth."

"But why has the czar made this law?"

"Because he likes not the fact that our princes have more than one wife."

"And has he, the ruler of the greatest country on earth, not more than one?"

"It has been said."

"By the horn of the sacred bull!"

"But come, if thou art refreshed with my brother's coffee, let us depart. I would show you something."

"Ah, then you are choosing that beautiful one!"

"She is chosen. Hold thy tongue and accompany me."

And Mizik, thinking hard upon this new law, followed his guide from the kahve.

CHAPTER II.

A BEAUTIFUL GIRL AND A MYSTERIOUS CONTRACT.

PLACID in his bazaar a Persian merchant sat studying the crowds that stopped and examined his goods when Hafiz Effendi led Mizik, the agent of the ameer, to a seat at the farther end of the Persian divan and purchased tobacco and pipes, taking one himself and filling the other for Mizik.

"Sit where you are, watching at all times the door of the large linen bazaar opposite," said Hafiz when the pipes were smoking satisfactorily. "There you will see—what you will see."

Mizik kept his eyes on the object spoken of by the Turk. The linen bazaar was larger, cleaner, better equipped and gave more evidence of prosperity than any other portion of the fair within sight. Bales of finest linen were displayed. Near the end of a long table could be seen an elderly merchant in Georgian costume watching his several employees handle and sell his goods.

"That, my friend from Bokhara," said Hafiz, "is Ignatz Biartelkis, the richest merchant in Tiflis."

"And will he supply that for which I came?"

"He will."

"Good. Why do we not go to him instead of sitting idly here?"

"For the excellent reason, my friend, that he does not know he is going to perform this generous act."

Mizik shook his head again. He did not understand this slow and laborious method. His way, the way of his people, that reaches from St. Petersburg to the Caspian. Suddenly he started from his seat.

"Curses!" said Hafiz. "You will be shot, and you will have me shot by the Muscovite. There he is."

"There she is!" said Mizik breathlessly.

"There he is, as I have spoken. His eyes are not now turned this way, but hold yourself with calmness. Orskoff knows things when he sees them."

At that moment the officer mentioned, who had been sauntering along the crowded street, stopped to speak to a girl who had come to the door of the bazaar of Ignatz Biartelkis. She was a girl who would cause others than Mizik to stare. Her complexion was like the blush of a peach. Her eyes were black and shaded with long, silky lashes. Her hair was long and fell in a raven flood below her waist. She wore a tall, bejeweled headdress that made her seem almost statuesque. From her shoulders a long, elegant covering of lace barely hid a gown that might have come from Paris. On her feet were tiny patent leather shoes from the bazaar of the Jewish trader two doors away. Upon her fingers were various rings—diamonds, rubies and sapphires. Jeweled bracelets were upon her wrists. Her form was elegance endowed with human life. The combination of the modern and the characteristic dress of her people made so charming a tout ensemble that all who passed the bazaar paused to gaze at the girl.

"Would that one content the mighty prince of Bokhara?" asked Hafiz slyly.

"Would she? She is fit for the wife of a ruler of gods! Who is she?"

"That, my friend, is the daughter of Ignatz Biartelkis."

"Her name?"

"Koura."

"Sons of heaven! Would he part with her?"

"Rather with his life."

"Then of what avail is all our talk?"

Hafiz noted the dejected look on Mizik's face.

"My friend, thou art not experienced in the world," he said. "I have spoken. That is to be the wife of the son of the ameer."

"Our heaven born lord will load you with the jewels of the earth."

"I intend that he shall. It is for no small amount that I take this risk. Look the other way. The accursed Orskoff is turning."

As the handsome soldier moved away the girl smiled archly at him, and he saluted her in courtly fashion.

"I will drink his blood!" muttered Mizik.

"Be careful, my friend, that he does not drink yours," said Hafiz. "That man knows how to fight. His sword is no stranger to the hearts of his enemies. Come, let us move along. I do not wish to be seen too long opposite that bazaar. There will be a stir when the thing is known."

Again they went to the kahve kept by the brother of Hafiz.

"Let us, my friend, talk over this matter," said the Turk after ordering coffee.

"I came for that," said Mizik shortly.

"I do not need to ask that your mouth be kept shut," said Hafiz. "If our purpose were known, it is possible that the great ruler of all the tribes of the Caucasus would send his armies to sweep your people from Bokhara."

"Let them come; we are very powerful!"

Hafiz grinned derisively.

"Nevertheless keep your tongue silent. Now, admitting that I am capable of getting the girl and conveying her as far as the Caspian, how shall I deliver her to you?"

"On the Caspian there is a vessel manned by brave men from the ameer's dominion. They are Taujiks, as I am, and so resemble the races inhabiting this country that no suspicion will be aroused. They are faithful to the ameer."

The girl smiled archly at him.

"How can the vessel be distinguished? Has it a name?"

"There is no name. It is a long, black vessel purchased from the Persians."

"Tell me the name of the captain."

"His name is Karakal."

"Good. Then when I find this vessel whose captain is Karakal I can go on board with my charge and proceed to Bokhara."

"Certainly."

"But I do not intend to do anything of that kind, my friend. That would be inviting my enemy Orskoff to slay me. Can Karakal be trusted to convey the girl to Bokhara and give her to the ameer?"

"Indeed, yes."

"Very well. Leave the matter in my hands. I will go after the thing is done to Bokhara to obtain my reward, with you as my guide and to swear that I deserve it."

"But how will you get the girl and how will you get to the Caspian?"

"I have not yet determined that most important matter. I will visit you tomorrow, or, if you wish, I will be pleased to see you here. I may have a plan then."

"Very well," said Mizik, with a crestfallen air. "I can be trusted."

"I will see you tomorrow." And Hafiz Effendi waddled out of the kahve.

CHAPTER III.

THE BOAT ON THE KUR.

AT one of the wharfs on the Kur river, near Tiflis, a peculiarly shaped vessel lay moored. It was a substantial enough vessel for the purposes for which it was used—to convey merchandise from one port on the Caspian or its rivers to another. It had just brought a cargo of goods to the bazaars at the fair. It had a high curved prow, with a strange looking carving as a figurehead. It was broad amidships, and at the stern a high deck covered the cabin accommodations. It was manned by dusky sailors, and the captain was Hassan, a Turk from Constantinople.

Hassan was a man well along in years and had taken to the Caspian water trade as the best means of making sufficient wealth with which to settle down in his home at Stamboul and enjoy himself. Unfortunately for Hassan the trade had not proved as profitable as he expected, because the Russian government had given rights and privileges—concessions they called them—to a German company to run a line of steamboats from port to port. Hassan's field—or sea—of activity was therefore limited to those occasions when the fair at Tiflis or a sudden rush of goods to Astrakhan made the usual boats unable to accommodate the increase of trade.

A caravan from Trebizond had brought to one of the Caspian ports a vast amount of goods for the fair, and Hassan had succeeded in getting some of the overflow for his vessel. Having delivered these goods to the Persian, Russian, Jewish and Turkish merchants to whom they were assigned, he lay at the wharf trying to pick up a return cargo.

The night of the day on which Hafiz Effendi and Mizik, from Bokhara, had met, Hassan strolled on the upper deck at the stern of his vessel smoking a cigarette. He was disconsolate and was seriously contemplating leaving the river and getting back to the Caspian, for his chances of obtaining a cargo for any Caspian port seemed slight.

Suddenly a figure clad in a long black coat, bent and bearded like the usual trading Jew at the fair, stole from behind the shadow of a warehouse on the wharf and came cautiously toward the vessel. Hassan, bracing himself and pulling from the folds of his garments a dagger, advanced to the edge of the deck.

"What do you desire, stranger?" he asked loudly.

"In the name of Allah, hold your tongue!" came a reply in low tones. "It is I."

"By that voice I should say it was Hafiz Effendi," said Hassan hopefully, for he knew that if Hafiz Effendi had business that necessitated a disguise it would pay well.

"I am Hafiz," said the old slave trader as he walked upon the deck. "Are we alone?"

"Sufficiently alone to talk. The men are asleep."

"Let us sit down and talk. I have come with an offer that no man who is not a fool will refuse. Hassan, hast thou a wife?"

"Thou knowest well I have two."

"Are they well cared for?"

"I am poor and should have but one. I was once better supplied with wealth."

"As I thought, my friend. Allah be praised that you have so good a friend as I to think of you at a time when your purse could again be filled. How would you like to earn a thousand goldpieces of 25 piasters each by taking a certain person down the Kur to the Caspian?"

"By the prophet's beard! A thousand pieces of gold! Hast thou come to make me rich?"

"It is that if what I ask is done. A thousand pieces of 25 piasters in gold."

"In the name of Allah, what cargo hast thou found?"

"A woman, one who will be a princess. Harken, Hassan. In Tiflis there is a certain young woman beautiful as a goddess. Like a marble statue is she. Pure white is her skin and like velvet. One caress from her lips would turn you from the Koran. She is desired in holy marriage by a certain prince."

"And she desires that I convey her to his palace?"

"Nay; she desires nothing. She does not even know."

"Why does not the prince ask her to accompany him to his palace?"

"For two reasons, Hassan. One is that the prince is not here and would not set his foot upon the dominions of the hated Muscovite. The other is that were he to do so the father of this young woman would spurn him, for the Muscovite does not regard his father as a king."

"Thou speakest either of the khan of Khiva or his enemy, the ameer of Bokhara."

"It is of Bokhara I speak."

"That is sufficient. No good Muscovite would consent to that."

"But this young woman is not a Muscovite. She is a Georgian."

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Courage is a Matter of the Blood.

Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Anemia means thinness of blood. It is common in men and young women and all those who work indoors, who do not get enough outdoor air and good oxygen in their lungs. There are too many white blood corpuscles in such cases, and there is often a peculiar sound in the heart, called a murmur, in cases of anemia. This heart murmur is caused by thinness of the blood passing through the heart. The murmur of anemia disappears when the blood regains its natural consistency and richness. It is not heart disease. Sometimes people suffer intense pain over the heart, which is not heart disease, but caused by the stomach. It is the occasion of much anxiety, alarm and suffering, for which its victim is dependent upon reflex disturbances from the stomach caused by indigestion. In the same way many bad coughs are dependent upon these reflex disturbances of what is called the pneumogastric nerve. To enrich the blood and increase the red blood corpuscles thereby feeding the nerves on rich red blood and doing away with nervous irritability, take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which promotes digestion and assimilation of food so that the blood gets its proper supply of nourishment from the stomach. Get as near to nature's way as you can. A medicine made entirely of botanical extracts and which does not contain alcohol is the safest. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains no alcohol or narcotics.

A LAND OF PROMISE.

The National Magazine has, in the November number, a splendid article on "Empire building in North-western Canada." The sketch is largely historical, and traces the development of our country since the organization of the Hudson's Bay Company, by Prince Rupert, first cousin of Charles II., in 1670. The letter press is profusely illustrated, and contains the pictures of many men who have been connected with Canadian affairs, including the officers of the Hudson's Bay Company, the railway builders, and the leaders in political life.

Reference is made to the rapid nad extraordinary growth of recent years, as indicated in the report of the minister of the interior. In 1897, the first year of his charge, the number of homestead entries was but 2,051, while during the past year they reached the enormous total of 13,383. The land thus disposed of covered more than 5,800,000 acres, and there were besides some four and a quarter millions of acres privately sold. The movement of population into Canada has, in the seven years of Mr. Sifton's administration, increased eight-fold, from 16,000 immigrants in 1897 to 67,379 in 1902 and not less than 128,000 for the twelve months of 1903. These 128,000 settlers cost the Dominion Government in their getting but $5.02 each, a surprisingly good investment, for the late ex-Minister of the interior, Thomas Mayne Daly, has declared that every new settler is worth $1,000 to the country.

Then the National Magazine makes a prediction. "With an ever-increasing deluge of immigration over it, and depositing its alluvium of industrious humanity on a kindly soil," it says: "with an administration of governmental affairs, liberal, intelligent and secure; with transportation facilities capably carrying the present products of the now settled areas, a coterie of resolute and energetic railway financiers, sanguine of the future are, with commensurate government aid, preparing to solve the great problem of the developing of the enormous areas of the further north, richly dowered but now inaccessible, by the construction of a second transcontinental railway, the Grand Trunk Pacific."

Finally it is declared that the Rupert's Land of to-day cannot but further develop into a Rupert's Land of to-morrow, which will attain to the utmost purport of the legend blazened across the Canadian arch at the recent coronation of King Edward VII, "Canada, the Granary of the Empire," Such is the tribute of an independent critic, and one who has been impressed with the present position and promising future of this, our country.

Fire in Somerville.

About 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning the barns and all this season's crops on Mr. William Hoskin's farm in Somerville were destroyed by fire, which was caused by his little boy, about four years old, who ignited some matches he found in the pocket of a coat that his father had left in one of the buildings. A cream separator worth $80 and a waggon containing a load of chop were also destroyed. The loss is estimated at $3,700, and the insurance is only $1,200—just about the cost of the large barn built a year or two ago. As Mr. Hoskin has no feed for his live stock, he has advertised it all for sale by auction on the premises at 1 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 7th.—Fenelon Falls Gazette.

SAM HUGHES' LOW TRICKERY LAID BARE

Grand Meeting in the Academy Last Night in Mr. McLaughlin's Interests—Addresses by the Candidate, and Others—Sam Hughes' Campaign of Slander Exposed—Senator McHugh offers to Resign his Seat if his Traducer Can Prove that he Bought Plug Horses.

The great meeting at the Academy of Music last evening in the interests of Mr. R. J. McLaughlin was significant of victory. The reception accorded the candidate and the other speakers was all that could be desired after the first few minutes, during which some boys in the gallery gave a little trouble, and the addresses were of a high order and claimed the rapt attention of the large audience. If votes are ever made at a public meeting they were made last evening by Mr. R. J. McLaughlin and his supporters.

At 8 o'clock the Academy was well filled, and some hundreds more pushed their way in before the meeting opened at 8.15. The Sylvester Band rendered a programme on the street at 7.45, and gave a couple choice selections in the hall while the people were finding seats.

At 8.25 Chairman F. C. Taylor opened the meeting, and his introductory remarks were brief He said the present was the first opportunity Mr. McLaughlin would have of addressing—as a candidate—the citizens of Lindsay. True, he had spoken at the nomination meeting Thursday last, but it was made most unfair circumstances in that he was compelled to devote the brief time at his disposal to the explanation and refutation of base peronal slanders, rather than to a recital of the great things accomplished by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his government. To-night Mr. McLaughlin would be able give some time to the record of the Liberal administration. He had been heard elsewhere during the campaign and everywhere his utterances on the public questions of the day had given great satisfaction to all. Mr. Taylor then referred briefly to the shameful attack made by Sam Hughes on Senator McHugh, a man of unimpeachable character, at the nomination meeting, where he occupied a seat on the platform as the guest of the man who attacked him. His hands were then tied and he was unable to reply to the attack made upon him, but he would do so to-night. (Applause.) He (Mr. Taylor) believed that no fair-minded supporter of Col. Hughes would undertake to defend the latter's lack of decency in making the attack on the Senator. In closing Mr. Taylor bespoke a fair hearing for the speakers.

SENATOR McHUGH.

The Senator, who was warmly welcomed said he had asked to be allowed a few minutes' time in which to address his good friends among the citizens of both shades of politics. He would not devote these to a political speech, although there was much in the record of the Laurier Government to inspire enthusiasm and eloquence in the handling of the subject. If we examine the record of progress made by the nations of the world during the last year we find that Canada stands at the head of the procession. (Cheers.) He might talk of the great Transcontinental road, the eastern section of which Sam Hughes declared would parallel the Intercolonial R. R., but he failed to explain that a great range of mountains intervened between the two, and that the new line would throw open to settlement and the benefits of cheap transportation some of the best lands to be found in Canada. However, he would leave those matters for other speakers to handle. He would prefer not to dwell on personal charges, but the treatment meted out to him at the nomination meeting demanded some attention and explanation. The chairman at that meeting had gone down into the audience after him (Senator McH.) and brought him to the platform, saying, "You're not to speak," and being a guest, and his hands being tied, the chairman should have protected him. (Applause.) When Col Hughes declared that he (McHugh) had been instrumental in depriving Victoria of a member he did not do himself credit. According to the Act of Confederation the representation of the Province of Quebec is placed at 65 members, and the other provinces are based thereon. Owing to the emigration to the West, and other causes, Ontario had to lose six members, and the work of cutting these off was entrusted to a Commission of which Mr R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, Mr. Haggart, Mr. Hyman, Mr. Sutherland and other well known men were members. When he made that statement Col. Hughes was well aware that he was stating a deliberate untruth. (Applause).

Another statement of his was that "George McHugh is a disgrace to the Senate." Well, he (McHugh) realized fully his inability to serve the people as well as he would like, Hughes objected to him taking a part in the election campaigns. But, many Senators do so. Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, the leader of the Conservative party in the Senate, and a grand old man in many ways, was on the stump almost every day. Senator Landry was one of the Conservative leaders in Quebec, Senator Lockheed was one of the active politicians of the party in the West, and he might mention many others. He did not think the people of the County of Victoria would object to him taking part in the local contest if he did so in an honorable and clean manner. (Applause).

He (McHugh) had also been charged with having secured a rake-off from the Government in connection with the purchase of "old plugs" of horses for the use of Canadian soldiers in South Africa. Well, the Canadian Government did not buy a horse for South Africa—the Imperial Government did. Their agent made contracts with Mr. Robert Beith, of Bowmanville, the well known horse breeder, and with Mr. Patterson, of Toronto, connected with the post office and a good Conservative. He (McHugh) had had no rake-off, but he had been anxious that the buyer should visit Lindsay and leave a little Imperial money with the farmers of the County. (Applause). To this and he had invited the buyer to visit the town, and then informed as many owners of good horses as he could manage to see or get word to, to bring their animals in for inspection by the buyer on a certain day. Not a horse was sold, and having been instrumental in inducing the farmers to leave their work in the hope of making a sale he (McHugh) thought it his duty to give some of them a dollar or two to cover the expense to which he had put them in the hope of benefitting the County. That was how he had made money in the horse deal. (Applause). He defied Hughes to prove that he (McHugh) had ever made a dollar in that or any other way out of the Government, and if he could prove the charge made at the nomination meeting he (McHugh) would resign his position in the Senate. (Cheers). A man of Hughes' reputation in making such charges was treading on dangerous ground—they did not become a man who was more than suspected, among other things of using his official position in the interest of Western land companies who were putting up the price on settlers who are being assisted to come to Canada and establish homes. (Applause). In conclusion the Senator said the farmers, the mechanics and the laborers of Canada are enjoying prosperous times, and it would be a foolish thing to jeopardise all this by changing the Government at the present time. It was their duty to support Sir Wilfrid Laurier, whose broad statesmanship had contributed to this pleasant condition of affairs, and they should strengthen his hands by sending him an efficient supporter on Nov. 3rd in the person of R. J. McLaughlin. (Loud applause).

MR. NEWMAN.

Chairman Taylor, having extended an unaccepted invitation to Mr. Hughes or his representative to address the meeting, introduced Mr. Newman, of Woodville. The latter said he had met Mr. McLaughlin a couple of weeks ago, and had formed a high opinion of his personal qualities and mental talents. A great change had taken place in his district in the present campaign, and turning to Mr. McLaughlin Mr. Newman remarked, "And I think, sir, the same is true of Lindsay — you made a great many converts at the nomination meeting—more than you think." Continuing, Mr. Newman said he was out West two years ago in the Creamery business, and realized from personal observation and conversation with the farmers how badly they were handicapped by the C.P.R., and how great was the need of a new railway across the continent. He had seen farmers drive in 30 miles to Regina with wheat, and they could not get a car for love or money. He had said to himself, "If there is anything this country needs now it is a new railway," and when he read Sir Wilfrid Laurier's announcement he felt like going back West to locate. He was a Conservative that day, but had, changed his politics since then along with others, and many more would do so before Nov. 3rd. (Applause). Young men should realize that we have in Canada the best form of Government in the world, and whether Liberal or Conservative in politics their first and last thought should be for the good of the country. Support the party that best follows the principles of Right and Truth. Principal Grant did that, and he was a keen politician. Which will you select—Reliable Bob McLaughlin or Sam Hughes with his bombast? (applause) The latter was a slanderer—he had listened to his vile abuse of Senator McHugh and R. J. McLaughlin and had heard him often make light of the things all men hold most dear Are we going to again send such a man to parliament to represent the intelligent people of this county? No, siree! (Laud applause.)

Chairman Taylor next announced that the election returns would be given out in the Academy on Thursday night, the hall having been rented for the purpose by a couple of citizens, who had arranged for a good program between the announcements.

THE CANDIDATE.

Mr. R. J. McLaughlin on rising was accorded a very hearty greeting. He was not at his best, possibly, having been speaking almost continuously since the campaign opened, nevertheless he delighted all hearers and confirmed the good impression made at the nomination meeting. He led off by remarking that the present campaign was probably the first in the County in which a candidate had undertaken to conduct a fight without the aid of outsiders and Cabinet ministers, but he had said at the beginning that he would fight it out with the aid of Victoria and Haliburton County supporters. On the other hand, his opponent had flooded the County with the Palmerston brigade, the Picton gang, and others from nowhere and everywhere, whose mission was to coax and cajole the people into the belief that they should again elect Sam Hughes notwithstanding his twelve years' record. He (McL.) did not seek nomination — he was waited upon by deputations of the leading citizens of Mariposa and Lindsay, who urged him to accept and pledged him their hearty support. Knowing him to be a man of broad views, some Conservative friends suggested that he enter the contest as an independent, but he refused, feeling that it was only by working with others that good work could be accomplished. He told them he was a Liberal but no partisan, believed that the policy of the present Government was the best for the country, and said if elected he would ever put country before party. (Applause). They said, "We are content—we have confidence in you, and when you go there do what you think is right." (Applause). Without meaning to cast any reflections upon his Liberal friends, he could say that his Conservative friends were among his most enthusiastic workers. If elected he would ask every resident of the riding to throw politics aside and work with him for the best interests of Lindsay and these Counties.

Before entering on a discussion of public matters Mr. McLaughlin said he regretted that it would be necessary to devote a few minutes to some personal matters. He had since the beginning of the contest allowed no slanderous literature to be distributed—you get none through the mails from me, you do not see it distributed on the streets or in the houses, and you may search the columns of The Evening Post and you will find nothing of that nature. His opponent had taken a different course and had made plain by issuing three vile sheets that his weakness lay in his personal character. (Applause). He had compiled a list of 101 things he claimed to have done, and the list represented an aggregation of almost 101 falsehoods. He had sent these lying statements to the 8,000 homes in the County, and that is not all—almost daily the paper that is supporting Hughes was issuing fresh scandals, and even yesterday (Sunday) the presses were turning out a fly sheet in which he (McL.) was charged with having robbed the town. He had lived in the riding 40 years and it was the first time that he had been called upon to defend his personal reputation. (Applause) He would much prefer to talk about the country's present and future interests, but when such slanders are published broadcast it was his duty to refute them. The speaker then reviewed the charges of wrong-doing in connection with the Rosedale bridge, Fenelon flooded roads, and Cameron Lake drowned lands, made by Sam Hughes, who had sent two spies to the Reeve and Treasurer of the township of Fenelon with a list of questions which they declared had no foundation. Notwithstanding that evidence Hughes had published the charges against him, hoping that some of the mud might stick. He wanted to be fair, but he charged Hughes with sending those deliberate falsehoods to 8,000 homes in the hope of making votes by estranging some of his (McLaughlin's) supporters, and he would leave it to his Conservative friends if it was not a dishonorable and low thing to do. (Applause).

But that was not enough. In the next week's Watchman-Warder the charges were repeated in a somewhat different form. Well, last Saturday night, at a meeting in Fenelon, Mr. Taylor Parkin stood up and solemnly denied having written or signed the letter ascribed to him by Sam Hughes. What do you think of that, honorable citizens of Lindsay? Mr McLaughlin read a similar denial sent to him by Mr. Parkin, and remarked, "When I transact legal business for Fenelon or any other township I don't do it for nothing; I render my bill, and that's my private business, not the concern of any spy." He then read from the Watchman's report of a meeting of Fenelon Council a motion referring to the settlement of the claim against the Government, also a resolution expressing Council's perfect satisfaction with his handling of the matter.

Another specific charge made in the circulars was in connection with the investigation into the facts relating to the Cameron Lake drowned lands settlement. Through some crooked work between our member and the Howry's the dam at Fenelon was raised and considerable land was flooded. His firm were entrusted with the work Hughes could not or would do and obtained a satisfactory settlement of the farmers' claims. Hughes then charged on the floor of parliament that he (McL.) had charged both the Government and the farmers for the work of his firm. He (McL.) at once demanded an investigation before the Public Accounts Committee. Mr. Hughes made 20 charges in all, withdrew 18 of them, and as for the others, the committee reported them to be absolutely without foundation and untrue. (Mr. McLaughlin at this point read from the Government Blue Book the finding of the Committee.) Yet these charges, known and proved to be false, are again being published through the country by Hughes—the man who was condemned to pay the costs of the investigation of his miserable slander, but had never done so. (Applause). Lately Hughes managed to get three of the 20 farmers to sign a statement telling them that he (McL.) was stating publicly that they had never paid him a cent. He had a letter from one of the three (which he read) stating that two spies had come to him and he regretted having been misled by them into signing a statement. The farmers had been perfectly satisfied with the 20 per cent. settlement—they did not expect his firm to work for nothing, nor would anybody else. (Applause).

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is Pleasant to Take

The finest quality of granulated loaf sugar is used in the manufacture of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it quite pleasant to take. Mr W. L. Roderick, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of his remedy, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with my children for several years and can truthfully say it is the best preparation of the kind I know of. The children like to take it and it has no injurious after effect. For sale by all druggists.

Death of Lewis George McGregor at the Age of 18 Years.

Peterboro Examiner; The death occurred at his home Tuesday, after six weeks' illness, of Lewis George McGregor, a son of Mr. W. C. McGregor, of Lindsay, at the age of 18 years and 3 months. Deceased has been ailing for a number of years, an accident in childhood having rendered him a cripple. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence, to the Little Lake cemetery, where interment took place.

DEATH OF MR. C. SHIELDS.

General Manager Lake Superior Corporation Ill Only One Day.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 29.—Cornelius Shields, general manager of the Lake Superior Corporation, died early yesterday morning at his home here. The cause of his demise is described by the attending physicians as oedema, or swelling of the lungs, caused by the accumulation of serous matter in the cellular tissue, accompanied by heart failure. The deceased had been ill only one day.

Mr. Shields leaves a widow, four sons and three daughters. Mrs. Shields and the two younger sons were alone at home. The body will likely be taken to Lacrosse, Wis., on Monday for burial beside the remains of his father.

Mr. Shields was 49 years of age and was born in Albany, N.Y. He began his career as water-boy with a railroad construction gang, then became a telegrapher and afterwards joined J. J. Hill's railroad enterprises, with which he was associated for several years. At a later date he managed the Virginia Coke and Coal Company for a couple of years and went from there to Sydney, C.B., to manage the plants of the Dominion Coal and Iron Company.

In April, 1903, he came to the Soo and faced the problem of re-organizing the Lake Superior Companies, which were then in financial difficulties. In this he was successsful after several months labor and also succeeded in placing the plants here on a profitable working basis. In the hour of the realization of his hopes Mr. Shields has been taken away, and his death has cast great gloom over the town.

CHURCH AND STATE.

Premier Combes, Project Provides Indemnity to Clergy For 4 Years.

Paris, Oct. 31.—Premier Combes Saturday presented the Government's project for the separation of church and State to the committee of the Chamber of Deputies having charge of the subject. Some of the chief features of the Government's bill are:

Instead of making an outright separation, M. Combes provides for a period of transition with the view of the organization of new church conditions and allows the clergy an indemnity of 400 francs for four years following the separation, in order to permit of their making new arrangements for the private support of the churches. A system of pensions is provided for the dignitaries of the church, according to age and position; provision is made against public and religious manifestations on the streets and highways; the general supervision of cults is retained; the French Embassy to the Vatican is suppressed, and there are many detailed provisions for carrying out the new regime.

BRITISH FISCAL POLICY.

Chaplin's Resolution Carried in the National Union of Conservatives.

London, Oct. 29.—Fourteen hundred members were present at the annual conference of the National Union of Conservatives, which opened yesterday at Southampton. Mr. Chaplin's resolution was carried with but two dissentients, calling for reform in the fiscal policy of the country and cordially supporting Premier Balfour's demand for power to deal with the evils arising from the unfair competition caused by dumping. It likewise welcomed the recent declaration of the Prime Minister that if again returned to power he will invite a conference with delegates from the colonies and India to meet to discuss, first, whether the idea of fiscal union commends itself to them; and, second, how it is to be carried out.

Lives Aged 101.

Brockville, Oct. 31.—The township of Montague can boast of having for a resident the oldest woman in Eastern Ontario, in Mrs. Darby Morrison. She was born in Sligo, Ireland, in 1803. She came to this country in 1837, passing Ottawa, which at that time consisted of a few houses on the bank of the canal. She remembers the coronation of George IV., William IV. and Queen Victoria, and distinctly remembers seeing Daniel O'Connell. Notwithstanding her great age she is in excellent health, is able to walk about the house and can thread a needle without glasses, which she has never used.

The Weekly Post

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4.

A MAGNIFICENT ADDRESS.

All who enjoyed the pleasure of hearing Mr. Thomas Stewarts address at the Academy of Music on Monday evening are today a unit in declaring that it was by long odds the finest effort of that gentleman and ranked high in all that goes to mark true oratory. Mr. Stewart has long enjoyed the reputation of being a ready, well-informed and effective campaign talker, and a pleasing and impressive speaker upon all public questions, but his speech Monday night proved that, when occasion demands, and the subject is one congenial one, he is not only eloquent, but can hurl shafts of irony as penetrating as any orator's power, and launch terms of denunciation that fall on the victim with the force of an avalanche. Ask Sam Hughes.

THE PEOPLE'S VERDICT.

"The shouting and the tumult dies, and to-day the people of every constituency in Canada are busy counting up and verifying the results of yesterday's voting. While complete returns are not to hand, it is known beyond a doubt that the voters of the Dominion have declared for a larger Canada by triumphantly supporting Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his great policy of development and upbuilding, while the strong emphasis in the pronouncement in favor of the Transcontinental Railway—the great mark in the Liberal platform in this contest—Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition, and the front and header of the antagonism against that grand project, has gone down to a crushing defeat in the two constituencies in which he offered his every effort. The good sense of Liberalism has held its own or shown increased strength, while in the Maritime Provinces and the Northwest, where a Conservative sweep had been predicted, the collaiteral work of Laurier, Oliver, Sifton and a modest representative, occupies about the same position as before. The leadership gained in Ontario cities, but Tory Toronto justified its name by turning down the five Government candidates, the defeat of Hon. Mr. Aylesworth in Durham is to be regretted and his rejection reflects no discredit, rather credit, on the good sense and discernment of the people of the riding. It is a certainty, however, that the ability and valued services will be only temporary and that a seat will be found for him in just a few days.

Interest of an intense kind was displayed in the result of the special contest in Victoria and Muskoka between Mr. R. J. McLaughlin, the Liberal candidate, and Col. Sam Hughes, Conservative member for North Victoria. It was recognized and admitted that the latter had a nominal majority of between 700 and 800 at his back, as a result of the merging of the two ridings and the creation of a number of townships from West Peterboro, but it was known also that Col. Hughes candidature was viewed with suspicion by many members of the party who had been estranged in various ways, and it was felt that if a campaign twelve years ago he has gradually been losing ground with his constituents. On the other hand, Mr. McLaughlin, while personally most popular wherever known, was sadly handicapped in having only three weeks in which to conduct his campaign, and he found it possible to visit only a small proportion of the polling divisions in the scattered riding. This was the more unfortunate as his acceptance of the nomination took for that possibility, and had called a series of plausibly worded but sensation-creating speeches Mr. McLaughlin to every voter in each division, and being unable to appear in person to refute these, the Liberal cause made lost many votes as a result of the low trickery displayed against him.

However, Mr. McLaughlin put up a gre-t fight, and better still, a fair fight, and although the returns indicate the election of Col. Hughes by a majority ranging from 200 to 250, to people of sober thought and keen discernment the sound victory will take on the proportions of a defeat and even the Col. in the midst of his jubilation, should be able to see the handwriting on the wall—the message written in this contest by voters who are fast becoming weary of the loud and tomcomfy, personal vanity and swashbuckler style. It was a victory that spoils defeat in the real contest, whatever it may cover, and the Liberals who overdoing the committee rooms last night, so regarded it. The enthusiasm displayed over the result, and the manifestations of joy and fealty showed, at upon the Liberals, that they have been exceeded in case of actual victory. Dozens of addresses were delivered last evening by Members from workers from all parts of the district, and all breathed the same sentiment—that Mr. McLaughlin had gained in almost every division where he had been able to appear, and that if he had been permitted to visit all of them Col. Hughes would today be looking for a job and the riding would have gained what it is really in need of—a capable and reliable representative with no interests other than those of the riding at heart.

Turning his attention to the Sunday edition of the Watchman-Warder and the charge that he had tried to job the town in urging Council to give up the Burleigh falls power, Mr. McLaughlin said, "Gentlemen, I could only be true to my only as a solicitor by doing my whole duty to my client, Mr. Culverwell, and if my opponent happened to be my brother I would still do it. (Applause.) I secured the incorporation of the Co. and every bit of work in the solicitor way was done by me without fee, with the sole and only desire to obtain the power for the town of Lindsay. Acting with that object in view I have put a good deal of money into the venture, and I put in a lot of work without charge in the hope of benefiting and building up the town." He was afraid doing similar work for another writer and venture intended to benefit Lindsay. Mr. Hughes could not claim that he had ever attempted anything for the general good, and he felt justified in asking the citizens—"Do you want water power or wind power?" It was impossible to deny that Hughes has a lot of the latter but not sufficient to supply our needs—time-do jus, just enough to top low form. (Laughter and applause). He wanted to know if it was right and proper that citizens who were doing their best for the interests of the town should be maligned and accused of improper motives? Hughes "No"? A Conservative, Conservative said on his platform the other night, while refusing to discuss the merits, "I'm a Conservative, but that's not conservative fair play." He (speaker) could not but admire the courage of Adam Hospelt, if he was a Tory. (Adam Vrooman. (Applause). He would ask Cameron of Victoria in his audience, "Is that honorable gentleman?" Hospelt and Sutherland were on the platform at the nomination meeting, and the charge of Hughes. It was not their meeting at the start, although he heard it was so at the Finish. (Applause). He (Mr. McL.) had only been forbidden with an invitation about the nomination. Senator McHugh, country to all lives of progress and member of the Liberal party, disappointed and grieved, felt it his duty to claim that which he was not entitled, he came in the meeting. A Conservative paper, and started on a career of bitterness and misrepresentation. Nothing was too sacred for him, and everything was done with a purpose—that, that and always he worked in for Sam Hughes. He was the chosen of a minority convention which refused to make his nomination unanimous, and he (Hospelt) believed there were sufficient based upon principle before you would place principle before party and who would refuse to vote for a slander, yet of his fellow man. At this point the speaker read from a Watchman-Warder article a paragraph in which the epithet "political curs" was applied to Senator McHugh, Bob Kennedy, and himself, and remarked that the article was unsigned and that was the hand of a fight, but the proprietor had to assume the responsibility for the nasty statement. He (the speaker), was called a liar. Hughes had the manly men who were in the County before him, and he would still be respected and honored when he is dissolved and forgotten, "unwept, unhonored, and unsung." (Loud applause.)

Referring next to public affairs Mr. McLaughlin referred to the beneficent character of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's rule, as a result of which we are a happy and united people, with the prosperity of Canada with the hum of industry ever in our ears. He noted and claim that the Liberals made the sun to shine and the grass to grow, but he would mention a few things they had done which had contributed very materially to the general prosperity, the extension of the preference to Britain, which had cost the hearts of the British people, and created a sentiment that was having a great effect upon the trade relations of the Mother Country and contributed to the magnificent progress Canada is making—the greatest of any land. (Applause.) The giving of the preference was the first step towards Imperial unity.

Our opponents charge that we are spending money in running the business of the country than they ever did in the days gone by. We say that and not be extravagant. Our man has an income of $2.00 and spends $100. He is thought to be extravagant, but if he has an income of $800 and expends only $500 he is not extravagant. We are making a good deal of money from the country and owing to increasing business in all departments it is costing more money to operate the post office customs and other branches of the country's public service business. One department only was being operated by the Government without paying to direct profit, and the farmers present should be made a note of the fact. The Government was spending half a million dollars annually on new facilities for the shipment of their cattle, sheep, eggs, fruit, meats, etc., to Britain, the result being that the higher prices gained for the products meant additional millions in the pockets of the farmers of our country. (Applause). Another thing—in seven years the Government had paid out sixteen millions for the improvement of the transportation facilities of the country, the money being invested in canals, railways, harbor works, wharfs, elevators, etc., and all this without adding a dollar to the public debt. We must so plan that ocean-going vessels will be able to take our produce at Fort William, Toronto, Collingwood, Midland, or any port on the lakes, be able to carry that cargo without transhipment to Montreal, and the world is seeing to meet our products, and to bring back return cargoes from any port on the seven seas to any of the great Lake ports of Canada. (Applause). To-day the Americans are alarmed at the great strides we are making in solving the problem of transportation, and they have reason to dread the future. Cobalt is a great thing, reminded Hughes (Col. Stewart) of the fact that Sam Hughes claimed to have accomplished at least one good act in connection therewith, in that he secured the abolition of canal tolls. If he ever advocated it the public know it not—if he did so and ran away it was not his credit. The matter was taken up by the Manufacturers Association of Canada, and he (Stewart) attended as the representative of the best owners of Lindsay. The Association met at Ottawa and waited on the Government with a request that the tolls be removed. Hon. G. Blair opposed the petition, but many Conservative and Liberal members stood by them, the request was approved by the Government, and the removal of the tolls followed. Sam Hughes, manifested no interest in the matter, and did not even appear at Ottawa while the members of the Association were there fighting their battle. (Applause.) So it was with his claim that he had projected the L.S. & P. Ry—why, gentlemen, that line was being talked about when Sam Hughes was learning his A. B. C's. the first proposition being a line from Bawmanville to Lake's Corners. When the application for aides the proposed line was seriously considered by the Government Sam Hughes gave the scheme the cold shoulder and Dr. Vrooman was asked to look after it. He went down to the Railway department to read the bill and found that it was in the possession of Sam Hughes, who had captured it as he captured the nomination—by trickery. However, the promoters were not prepared Mr. Vrooman to be side-tracked in that way, and

SENATOR G. A. COX EXPLAINS.

HAS NOT ONE DOLLAR INVESTED IN TRENT RIVER WATERWAYS.

His Statement Confirmed by Hon. S. H Blake, Incorporator of the Company.

The Post has been asked to publish the following open letter from Hon. Geo. A. Cox, in reply to a letter signed by Mr. H. A. Ward, Conservative candidate in Peterboro East, Aylesworth in Durham, and published in the Peterboro Review under the caption, "Will Senator Explain?" The letter speaks for itself:

Col. H. A. Ward, Port Hope, Ont.

Dear Col. Ward,—May I ask you to do me the justice to correct the erroneous statements that have been made regarding my sale of the Nassau Mill property by the Canadian Bank of Commerce to the Trent Canal, and to the Canadian General Electric Company. You appear to be under the impression that a corrupt bargain has been made by the sale of this property. The following facts, will I am sure, fully satisfy you that my name has been entirely misused and will lead you to give as much publicity to the correction as has been given to the misrepresentation.

In spite of the Peterboro Review, under date October 19th, you state that the price realized for the property was $180,000.00, whereas the total price realized was only $42,000.00, of which the Government paid $29,000.00 and the General Electric Company $22,000.00.

A careful reading of the registered deed from you to the Government shows that the price paid by the Electric Company was $100,000.00 and not $42,000.00 because it provides for an expenditure by the Canadian Electric Electric of $78,000.00 in the betterment of the property which amount was advanced as a loan by the Bank; add to this the 22,000.00 paid for the property itself and you have $100,000.00, which is the present cash value of twenty annual payments of $8,024.26. You might also say that the price includes a farm of 200 acres and other lands valued at $9,000.00, rather reducing the price actually paid for the water power to $81,000.00. This will be confirmed by Mr. W. R. Brock, ex-M. P., President, and Mr. F. Nelson, Vice-President of the General Electric Company.

The amount paid by the Government, $29,000.00, was arrived at after the recommendation of Mr. Geo. H. Pope, who was appointed by and has for many years acted as valuator for the late Government as well as for the present Government.

I venture to say that Mr. Kenzy, the present Conservative candidate for West Peterboro, knew the property well before the Government took possession. He will confirm the statement that the price paid for it was actually less its value. The amount was arrived at in an honorable manner by the officers of the Government and the Bank and did not in any way justify the unwarranted attack made upon me in connection with the transaction.

I can see also correct a misapprehension you are under as to certain water powers between Rice Lake and Trenton—owned by the Gilmour Company. The Company has not, they have not have never had, and have no intention of having, one dollar of interest in those properties.

I am not interested in the slightest degree, directly or indirectly, in the Trenton route, or in any water privileges or lands along the route, and never have advocated, as against the other.

I am not in any way prejudiced against the Port Hope route, and when both routes are reported upon, and a fair report is adopted, the one that offers the greatest advantage to the country and is the best adapted to the trade of this important waterway, I will be satisfied.

GEO. A. COX.

Toronto, Oct. 22, 1904.

Hon. S. H. Blake, K. C., confirms the statement made by Mr. Cox in the following letter:

Toronto, 22nd October, 1904.

"Dr. L. B. Powers, President
Port Hope Canal Association,
Port Hope, Ont.

Dear Sir,—I am this morning in receipt of your of today's date, in which you ask me the question as to the interest of Senator Cox in "The Trent Power" Company, Limited, and as to the proportion of that Company. It was brought into existence in order to deal with that branch of the Gilmour Company business. I never saw Senator Cox in the matter, nor did I ever hear the allegation that he was interested in the Company which you have mentioned. I have received a receipt of your letter of today's date." Faithfully yours,

S. H. BLAKE.

A Bad Shot.

A hot-headed Irishman accidentally insulted an equally hot-headed Frenchman, who insisted on fighting a duel with pistols. The Irishman refused to fire at his adversary, but wipe out the slight. The Irishman suggested that the two of them stand back to back, each with a pistol in each pocket, walk ten paces apart, and then turn and fire at the man who drew the jowler. The Frenchman thought it over and then drew his brains out. The Irishman then walked home, and he finally fell in with the idea, and the two opponents drew lots for the duel. The Frenchman drew the lowest card, and, with a smile, he charged his revolver and beckoned himself over to a small auto-room to complete the tragedy.

Presently a loud report rang out, and the wildeyed Frenchman came out to the little auto-room, fully expecting to see the Irishman a corpse.

Instead, he came coolly along the passage to meet them, and as they met, wonderingly at him, he lazily (Begorra, of mistaken) mouthed:

WEEKLY POST LETTER BOX

THE CATTLE QUARANTINE.

(To the Editor of The Post.)

Dear Sir,—I see by the Watertown Weekly of the 20th Oct. that that paper states that the Liberals did not procure the removal of the quarantine from Buffalo cattle, and backed up the statement with a couple of letters produced by my partner, Mr. J. H. Dunlop, and addressed to Mr. Ewart Buffalo, which read as follows:

East Buffalo, N.Y., Oct. 18, 1904.

Friend Brandon,—Yours at hand and note all you say. The matter was taken up in East Buffalo and we interviewed Mr. W. Widsworth, who started the matter at Washington. He says he will work very quietly in a couple of days.—Yours truly,

JOHN HUGHES.

Second Letter.

East Buffalo, Oct. 20, 1900.

Friend Brandon,—In regard to removal of quarantine on cattle, I originated at East Buffalo. The meeting was in our office. A committee was appointed to see Colonel Morgan, the Collector of this Port. The committee was John Hughes, Hiram Walts, Gen. Matheson, Burt Wheler, one one or two others. We called the matter over with him, got advice from him. He then wrote to the Bureau of Animal Industry explaining the whole thing to them; showed them we needed the cattle. Mr. Mr. Wadsworth, member of Congress, took hold of the matter and we finally got the quarantine off. On the books of the Association is a resolution thanking the committee for the good work done.

JOHN HUGHES.

Note what Mr. Hughes says. The committee was John Hughes, Hiram Walts, Gen Matheson, Burt Wheler, and one or two others, not very respectable organization with whom I am personally acquainted with, and whom I have no doubt did what little they could to better the cost of their business to have the quarantine removed. But does it strike the public as queer that a half-dozen commission men meeting together in East Buffalo, out of their business to have the thing the Tories said was a lie?

Now let us see what are the facts of the case. The Minister of Agriculture in the Liberal Ministry never went to Washington, and in the course of one week had the quarantine removed. The result was an increase in the exports of Canadian cattle. In the year ending June 30, 1898, we exported to them 104,5 head valued at $8,270. The last year of the Tory regime, i.e. the report was 1897 head at $97,17. The removal of the quarantine took effect one month after, on July 1st. For the year ending June 30th, 1897, 1897, 17, for the abolition had been effective, for five months, exported 1,897 head valued at $100,421. The year ending June 30, 1898, our report was 97,505 head, valued at $1,220,418, the price paid per head was $12.51 per head as against $8.99 in 1896. The increase in price of $3.52 per head.

The exports during the seven years previous to removal 1896-1903, amounted to $189,514. During the following seven years ending June 30, 98, their totalled $6,419,385, showing that the Liberal Government accomplished what the Tories either would not or took no step to accomplish, for the show of great benefit derived to the Canadian farmers is entirely owing through that one act of the Liberal Government. The Tory figures are figure any more conspicuously in the prefect of their partner, Mr. W. M. Brandon, who ought to be willing to give credit where credit is due. I might say I was in the cattle trade fifteen years before Mr. Brandon ever thought of it, and I have many many illustrations of the ups and downs of the trade, but will confine myself to one. Previous to 1896 I sold a load of well-bloated steers weighing 1200 lbs each to St. Halligan, of the Western Cattle Market, for the sum of $72.75 a pound. Since the change—Yours faithfully,

T. A. AUSTIN.

AN EXPLANATORY.

(To the Editor of The Post.)

Sir—It should not be misunderstood or could be so important mind why some of my letters did not appear in the columns of the Weekly Post-Writer. My letter was handed in personally this week, and I was surprised and pleased to see it in this week's issue. But it has not appeared, notwithstanding. Fortunately I retained a copy for you, which I find you were good enough to publish yesterday. Thanking you for your continued indulgence, I remain, Yours,

SAMIVEL THE ONLY—HIS SPEECH.

(With Apologies to Bill Hohenzollern.)

On me?
Oh, my!
Yes, I know it!
Sit still, yo clients, whilst I recite—
No. 1. Myself, the only, the Samivel!
I am the Earth, the Alone, the Sun.
All rolled in one.
Both hemispheres am I.
Oh, my!
If there were three, the three
Oh, me!
I am the Dipper, Night and Day,
The Milky Way.
I'm the Bird that walk, or fly or wing,
Or swim or creep—I'm everything!
It makes me tremble like the aspen tree.
To think I'm me.
And think I'm alone up in the sky,
To think I'm I
And shrink to nothing, I'm so frigtened of it.
Yo think that I'm myself,
Yo blathering slaves, beneath my nose
Are dead.
What know yo of the things I feel?
What know yo of the things I see?
And stand in awe of three own mighty God took six days to make the load and we—
But centuries were passed in making me.
The universe? An easy task, but I—
Oh, my!
I can describe myself. Why, like—
Like—Why, I can describe myself.
And here again take every tongue
Of language which is spoken on the earth
And every tongue that is to be,
Yet I know—you cannot describe me.
So do not try, ignoble worms, to
A greatness that only makes you
Gasp.
Hush, and silence keep, unless Yo wish to be
Compels an utterance, then whisper,
Yo must say
A Awesome "Him!"
Yo must be content will be with
The sweet yet magnetic pronoun,
"Me!"

"Me!"

(Heard by passers-by, as the Colonel was in the wood-shed preparing his speech for the "Solid Vote!")

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

New Way of Using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. Arthur Bowman, writing from Durban, Natal, South Africa, says: "As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is all that is claimed for it, I will say that I was the following: A neighbor of mine had a child fifteen months old that had a very bad cough and the doctor could not do anything for it. I suggested that they would get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the mantelpiece and let the child have it. It will no doubt cure the child. They did so and the child got relief in quick relief and cured the baby." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Saturday's Market.

Owing to the very fine weather the market was exceptionally well attended. Butchers paid on a top price of 50c per doz., butter 18c and 20c, cream 25c, tallow 3c, hides 6c, calf skins 7c, chickens 60c, ducks per pair, a number at 12c, per pound, potatoes 35c per bag, apples 35c per quarter-frontage, onions 35c per bag, turnips 20c per bag, cabbage 5c, hides 6c, Hay $9 and $7 per ton.

A Fatal Runaway.

On Monday of last week a terrible accident occurred at Sarnia by which Walter Mark of Seagrave, Mrs. Mark, who is a sister of Mrs. J. H. Dunlop, of Port Perry, and two others were driving into Port Perry, and were upset by a team of runaway unmanageable and run away, dashing the buggy against a telegraph post and throwing the occupants violently to the ground. All four received injuries more or less serious but a boy, aged eleven, and a daughter aged seventeen were fatally hurt. The boy was thrown against the fence and his skull fractured and crushed from ear to ear, from which injury he died the same evening. The daughter was thrown into a deep ditch and so badly injured internally that only slight hope of her recovery is entertained. At last report she was thought to be a little better.

SOMETHING EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW.

Are You the One Woman Neglecting a Mother's or a Wife's Duty, or Are There Countless Thousands.

Many women formerly full of robust vigor, with clear complexions, bright eyes, elastic step and spirits find themselves slowly losing their good looks and strength. Some attribute the change to an unknown cause, others to the "climate" or "age" and some think it could be no less than between these two fatal extremes. And why? You ask. She has been so long a sufferer, she has been so absorbed with her social duties, her work has been so continuous, she scarcely realizes that there is a moment's relaxation. She has neglected the pain, and, as her food formerly seemed to nourish, now she has but little appetite, and what she does eat does not seem to do any good. If you should ask her what ails her, she would reply, "I am just tired out." But the real cause is continuation of the drain upon her system. She does not think what fatal neglect of the bowels means to her state of good health; neglected bowels are full of poisonous matter placed by digestion, to be eliminated. A week's use of Dodd's Kidney Pills at first relieves this, in most cases, but when the kidneys are cured, the action of the liver and bowels, immediately assisted the congested kidneys, in eliminating the poisons from the blood of impurities. It is pitiable to see a woman, who in her prime, with energy, ambition, always tired, with the exuberance and vivacity of youth gone, and her social dreaded vanquish, just because nature has been neglected. Women have a course sluggish and poisonous chemistry have been absorbed into the blood, and have been the cause of many a Dodd's Kidney Pills. Never allow constipation or a sluggish liver to continue, for these will make mountains of misery, of bad feelings and depressing little pills (pills in name only) health given. They are Nature's true laxative and a positive cure for dull headache, constipation and biliousness in one night. 25 cents per box.

MERRY WEDDING BELLS

Ferguson—Millar.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at No. 19 St. Patrick, at 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 27th by Rev. Mr. Phelps, when Miss Isabel Millar was united in matrimony to Mr. Wm. Ferguson, of this town.

Miss Hazel Moynes, cousin of the bride, played the wedding march as the bridal party entered the drawing room. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Wm. H. Miller, was becomingly gowned in white silk en trains with bertha of rose point lace, and carried a large bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Edythe Dowd, of Toronto, who wore a pretty suit of brown voile with bertha of point lace, and the groom was supported by Mr. Ben E. Miller, brother of the bride. Little Miss Rheta Broderick made a daintily flower girl, in

The groom's gift to the bride was a fourteen-ha of pearls to the bridesmaid a necklet of pearls, to the ringmist and flower girl, gold rings set with valuable stones. After the wedding dejeuner, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson left on the 5 o'clock train for points east.

Osborne—Short.

A pretty house wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Short, Sherbrooke-st., on Wednesday, October 19th, when their second daughter, Cecelia Irene, was united in marriage to Mr. Benjamin J. Osborne, son of Mr. Henry Osborne, of Toronto, by Rev. Dr. Sutherland by the Rev. C. E. Craigo, of Manilla. The bride was handsomely attired in a gown of white silk grenadine, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Miss Leah M. Short, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and was dressed in white and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. C. Osborne supported the groom.

After the ceremony which was performed under an arch of evergreens, the guests, numbering nearly one hundred, took tea at a dainly wedding breakfast, served in the dining-room, which was prettily decorated for the occasion with evergreens and flowers. The bridal couple then took the evening train amid showers of rice, for Toronto. The bride's travelling costume was green velvet, with white silk blouse and hat to match. The presents were numerous and costly.

Macmillan—Flavelle.

On Thursday, October 27th, at Cambridge-st. Methodist church, the marriage was solemnized of Rev. John Walker Macmillan, of St. Andrew's church, Winnipeg, and Amy Cooper, second daughter of Mr. J. D. Flavelle. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Henderson, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. D. Martin, of Lansington.

As the bridal party entered the church, which was beautifully decorated with palms and white chrysanthemums, the wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Mr. Hamilton, and as the bride neared the altar, the chorus "The Voice That Breathed Ov Eden" was sung by Mrs. E. Campbell, Mrs. E. Wm. Dundas, Mr. W. E. Rundle and Mr. C. W. Bishop.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Flavelle, as maid of honour, and Miss Edith Flavelle and Miss Alice Dundas of Toronto as bridesmaids, while the groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. R. D. Macmillan, of Brandon, and Mr. L. P. Montgomery, Toronto. Rev. H. P. Sheldon; Sonya, Dr. H. A. McGillivray, Toronto, and Mr. Aird D. Flavelle, acted as ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Bondi-st.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of white duchesse satin with Court train, the bodice having a bertha of rose point lace, and the bodice of silk of chiffon, studded with pearls. The maid of honour's dress was of white silk crepe-de-chine with panels of jet and heavy white lace. The bridesmaids were dressed in blue silk crepe-de-chine trimmed with shirrings and accordion pleatings, and all three wore Court veils and carried roses.

Wilson—Bullock.

Wednesday, evening, Oct. 26th, was the occasion of a charming ceremony at the home of Mr. S. Bullock, east ward, when his daughter, Jennie, was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Wilson, of Reaboro.

The bride was prettily given away in a suit of brown broadcloth with a very handsome white taffeta waist, and carried a large bouquet of white chrysanthemums. Miss Louise Bullock, sister of the bride, made a pretty little flower girl. The wedding march was played by Miss Alma Cavert, of Reaboro. The groom was assisted by Mr. Thomas Wilson, of Mt Albert. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large circle of friends by the Rev. J. W. Bendelson.

The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful gold chain, and to the bridesmaid and flower girl each a gold locket. Among the many and beautiful presents received from friends in town and at a distance were a striking proof of the bride's popularity, and of the high esteem in which she is held by her many acquaintances.

A numerous wedding feast was served after the ceremony, and all present spent a very pleasant evening a long and prosperous life. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside near Reaboro.

A New Use for the Electric Wire.

In the last analysis is electricity to be proved the source of power, of life, of health, of heat, of light, and the many wonders which astound men of science, and astonish the world? Dr. Dowie, of the Divine Academy of Medicine, claims to have succeeded in decanting the brain by the application of an electric current upon and thus placed this wonderful activity among mankind. Not the danger in its use. He applies one electrode to the forehead of the subject and another to his spine, thus awakening a mild, rapidly interrupted current of electricity, which, overbrum, cerebellum and spinal cord, by his own will. In one minute the man is completely insensible to pricks, pinches, and the application of hot irons, recovered consciousness immediately the current was turned off, but not only full no ill effects, from the test but actually felt better. If these claims are fully established it will be a great boon to mankind.

are weeds. Unless they are kept down they divert the nutrition from the soil provides from the growing crops and ruin their productiveness.

Diseases are to the body what weeds are to the soil. They divert the nutrition which is necessary to sound health, and make the body thin, weak and hardy, drags out a sickly existence. Most of the diseases originate in the other organs of digestion and nutrition and generally result in a material loss of nutrition by the body. The stomach is the first organ that acts on the food to convert the foods into nourishment, and hence the body and its several organs are deprived of the necessary elements of vitality. What is known as "weak" stomach, "bad" digestion, "nervous" and other forms of so called weakness, are generally caused by "weak" stomach. When the stomach and the other organs of digestion are properly nourished, all the other diseases are cured with it. Disease is a condition of the body, and the condition of the stomach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition. It works through the stomach diseases of heart, liver, lungs, and other organs. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands in the body. Dandelion, combined by an abundant supply of pure blood, rich blood, means good health.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it contains neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic or habit-forming medicine.

Persons suffering from chronic forms of catarrh should send to Dr. Pierce by letter free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Suffered for Years.

"My gratitude to you and your 'Golden Medical Discovery' knows no bounds. I was a sufferer for years from a bad form of catarrh. I am at a loss to find words to express my true feelings. I was troubled with a dull pain in my head with long and tiresome intervals, and dosed with all sorts of stuff, but it did me no good. I finally tried your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and after using it I was greatly relieved. I have used it off and on since, and

"I have one of your medical books and think it is a good one."

Torpid Liver Cured.

"I was a sufferer from torpid liver for over a year," writes Mrs. Jane Ann Bell, of Spencer Layer Co., Ind. "and could not sleep, nor eat as I could before I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I was constipated. Was advised by a friend to write to Dr. Pierce, which I did, and he kindly gave me a letter advising me to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets.' I did so, and after I had taken only half a bottle I was greatly benefited. I continued to take the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pellets' and, thanks to Dr. Pierce and his medicines, I am now in good health. I am 50 years of age, and I feel that life is worth living after all, instead of being a burden as it was before I used your medicines. I can never be too thankful for the benefit I received from your medicines."

Constipation has almost countless consequences. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it promptly and permanently. Sick headache results from disordered stomach and is quickly cured by Dr. Chambers' Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by all druggists.

LAST WEEK'S NOMINATION ADDRESSES.

Rt. J. McLaughlin and Sam. Hughes Heard by the Electors — The Liberal Candidate Made a Grand Speech and Captured the Meeting.

There was an exciting time at the nomination meeting held in Lindsay for the riding, and the expectations of the five or six hundred citizens present, in the Academy were fully met. The candidates—R. J. McLaughlin and Sam Hughes—were ready for fighting and eager to begin, and neither was at a loss for words when the chairman gave the signal to begin. Col. Hughes is no stranger to Lindsay political audiences, but to the majority of those present Mr. McLaughlin ability was an unknown quantity, and his rum was awaited with considerable impatience. He proved a speaker—calm and deliberate; eloquent and forceful; he demonstrated that he is a capital speaker, with plenty of vigor, and no mincer of words when the occasion demands plain speaking. His maiden effort made a favorable impression upon his audience, and strengthened the conviction in the minds of most that he would reflect credit upon the riding if sent to Ottawa as its representative. The crowd was about evenly divided politically, and was quite evident by the reception accorded the candidates, but after the meeting was over the majority seemed to admit that Mr. McLaughlin had carried off the honors and the good opinion of the majority. He captured the meeting by his eloquence, his manly style and the soundness and cogency of his arguments. Col. Hughes was quick of tongue and ready with repartee, and he seemed to be unhappy and uneasy while Mr. McLaughlin was speaking, and at a real fighting in a corner—in his element, were a special time. But the third man he received only made him more desperate, and provoked him.

At 8.25 o'clock Mr. Johnson Elliott opened the meeting and asked that a fair hearing be accorded both speakers. He regretted that he could be allowed to speak first, that Mr. McLaughlin would follow, and that the Col. be allowed to close the discussion.

COL. HUGHES.

On rising Col. Hughes was given a fairly cordial reception, but it was of the patchy kind, coming from spots where his friends had gathered for mutual encouragement. He began by saying Senator McHugh, (who occupied a seat on the stage with Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. J. T. Taylor) was having used his influence with the Government to have two civil servants united in the hopes of ousting him (Hughes) parliament. Mr. McLaughlin next received a rap over the knuckles for having stated that the doughty warrior had never won any laurels in South Africa, which was followed by the assertion that Mr. McLaughlin and others had served in South Africa in vain for anything that might be said to his discredit. Mr. McLaughlin would meet with more success if he undertook a search for flaws in his own record. In his opinion, in parliament no one did so much for the Conservatives and got so little for it. That was something he (Hughes) was not in a position to say—from the biggest to the smallest, he was the public drudge for the dollars. The speaker then referred the audience to the fact that Laughlin had retained commissions ranging from 20 to 25 per cent. of moneys awarded by the Dominion Government for the relief of widows and children of men who had been killed in the raiding of the Boers at Frenchman's Hill, and he had made a good dollar. He had also retained $80 out of a grant of $3,000 made by the Ontario Government for London as compensation for a shortage in the charge of 23 per cent. This is the kind of work at which the Conservatives are after in putting the Transcontinental into operation. The Liberals report had not kept one of the pledges made in 1896—first promises of free trade, but we find them proposing free trade in the Northwest, and protection in the manufacturing centres.

Senator McHugh was a friend and a disciple to the Senate, (applause) and a friend of Oliver Mowat. Friends had promised to reduce the expenditure of the Government by two or three million dollars a year. They had promised to do away with subsidies to railways, yet they proposed to build a Transcontinent and yet double gives it away. They have increased the expenditure in all departments. They proposed to reduce the expenditure of the Government by twenty millions, and they have increased it by twenty millions. They promised to do away with the subsidies to railways, yet they proposed to build a Transcontinent and yet double gives it away. They have increased the expenditure in all departments. The political boodling and debauchery about which we hear so much lately was the work of members of the party to which Senator McHugh and Mr. McLaughlin belonge. The Liberals gave us the plebiscite and the referendum. The Conservatives opposed the plebiscite. The Tory would pass through unhabitated and frozen regions with the settlement would cost 150 millions of dollars, and yet he had voted for it in 1903. The citizens of Lindsay would have had to pay on a bonus of $175,000 to a railway passing twenty-500 miles north of Toronto, and the Township of the Country would face similar assessments. The policy of the Conservative party was government ownership of railways for the benefit of the party. Had we carried out its pledges from the early days of Sir John Macdonald to the present. They were opposed to Canada being greatest twenty-making powers.

MR. R. J. MCLAUGHLIN.

Mr. McLaughlin was given a special reception, which was exceeding the Hughes welcome in volume and duration. In opening he expressed his pleasure in being allowed to address his fellow citizens of Lindsay and Victoria in such numbers. He did so as a humble supporter of great Wilfrid and progressive policy which had made this country prosperity never before, and which bade fair to shortly place it in the head of the Canadian of the world—the policy that had proved to be that. high-souled patriot, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. (Cheers)—a man acknowledged by the British press and people to be the greatest statesman in Greater Britain. (Loud cheers) and whose greatness was was that he was a Canadian. He was the last man in Canada to be accused of neglecting the interests and services of another statesman, who had done his best for Canada, Sir John Macdonald, a man of grand qualities. When he projected that great enterprise, the C.P.R. it was opposed by many liberals, prominent among them being Hugh John, then one of the most pronounced critics of the party of the day. (Cheers)

"Gentlemen, I stand before you as one new importation—I am the son of a County of Victoria farmer, and there is not a drop of blood in my veins that is not 100 years Canadian. The Col. may well be exercised at showing some heat when length of ancestry and long years of service in relation with a party are being discussed.

Col. Hughes charged that the Liberals had failed to keep their pledges—he would not go into the minutes of the case, but would simply state that the main promises made were two in number—a clean administration and improved prosperity. The speaker said these two pledges had been fulfilled and the country must acknowledge and appreciate the tremendous growth in all departments of the country's business. If the people been told prior to 96 that these results would follow as a result of the wisdom of the Liberals to guide the country's destiny, they would have looked upon the makers of the prophesy as drunk. If was a miracle that for a government to achieve success by bad methods and by a great Democrat government. It was true that the Government expenditure had gone up, increased, but while the business in all departments had doubled, the expenditure had increased but twenty-one-third. The expansion in the country had been marked by government aids necessitated a large increase in the national expenditure. What business man or manufacturer, in the prosperous country, would increase by increasing his outlay, and yet increase his profits? He would increase the large expenditure made necessary by the growing business of the country. The Government finished the financial year, with a surplus of over twenty-five millions. (Applause).

Mr. Hughes had that great enterprise, the Grand Trunk Pacific, and he was proud of it as a Democrat of Canada—the faith displayed by Sir John Macdonald. (Cheers) the faith displayed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. There are in Northern Quebec vast areas of good land. In New Ontario there are over sixteen million acres of good land in the Rainy River, Kathewan Valley, the Peace River country and other parts of the great Northwest. There are King dons to be won with the pick and shovel and the axe. Already the two nations (fighting there have expended one thousand millions of dollars, and 150,000 lives, and will probably double that enormous total before the struggle is ended. The tremendous stakes are being made for what—the possession of the Province of Manchuria. We have in Canada many such provinces as fertile as Manchuria, and only awaiting the incoming of the settler to give forth their treasures to the world. Show this vast territory open to settlement. Hon R. L. Borden consulted, and talked extravagantly of Government ownership of railways for short lines, but of a scheme which would not the junction of his party, nor of Col. Hughes, who of course supported the Mackenzie & Mann plans. (Cheers) Sir John Macdonald had given twenty-five millions in cash, twenty-five millions in land, twenty-five millions in subsidies and bonds, and other millions in concessions of every description, and yet the Col. but he (McLaughlin) would not blame him for the great building it were as well understood then as now he would no doubt have financed the road in a way that Laurier Government will, and have secured the road at a cost of a few millions only. It is claimed that the people would do the work and own the road—well, they had the most secure of all investments—that of the landlord. If the Company failed to carry out their undertaking the road would become the property of the country. (Cheers) Mr. Hughes had undertaken to build and operate a transcontinent that the G. T. P. will cost the country three to sum of $175,000. Well, Mr. Hughes is said to have made his fortune since he entered parliament. (Loud cheers) This is no funeral of his. (Loud cheers) Mr. Hughes and members of his party know that the vast expenditure on the G. T. P. imposed no direct taxes on the country, the cost being recovered in the development of the West. In the case of the C. P. R. last year's surplus would defray the cost of the road, and this operation up of many millions of acres to settlers would enable the Government to repay the entire cost of the road in few years it will be one thousand millions. (Applause).

The speaker had a few things in a high-handed way. On Monday night he had been asked to speak in the suppression in the Academy, and he had been the Conservative candidate. At that or any other meeting he (Mr. McLaughlin) had not an appearance upon his neighbor. Sitting there was a Conservative Senator McHugh a man who has grown gray in the service of Victoria County. (Cheers and long continued applause) The grandfather fought and died for Britain on the battlefields of the Peninsula, yet the Senator a man who was regarded as a neighbor would in the county, and who enjoys the respect and esteem of all to a degree shaved by few—is characterized by Hughes as a "Senator who hoots at cries of "Shame!") It was no disgrace for Senator McHugh to take his own part in politics, he did so well within his rights in so doing. Mr. McLaughlin Landry is the Conservative organizer in Quebec, and it Senator McHugh had been a great Democrat in this contest he probably had a friend in Senator McHugh's son, Col. Hughes. (Cheers) That person, he recognized, his Conservative strength and his own weakness, and was endeavoring to destroy his character by launching the most malicious slanders against him. (Applause) Hughes on the platforms of this country. Well, he (McLaughlin) had been in the audience for years and in all that time had never written, or had any report with it he was too; to injure one of his Conservative friends. When the Wardell case came up the promotion of better relations and feeling between the people of Ontario and Quebec (Cheers). The vilest and most malicious charges had been made in the paper upon the best citizens of the country, and he recognized that the decent people held sacred. (Applause) The charge had been made against him (McLaughlin) by the former proprietor of the paper, and if he had proofs to substantiate his reckless statements, he challenged him to produce them here and now. The man who assails the character of a fellow man and fails to submit proof must stand convicted of being the cur of the pack. (Cheers). If he (McL.) was receiving the support of many of his Conservative friends it was partly due to the fact that they resent the gross charges made against him. (Applause)

Mr. Hughes in his circular claimed to have been instrumental in getting a Government grant for Bexley township. Mr. Hughes got $250 out of it, and he claimed that very much his got on the side he would have to pay. The speaker (McL.) had never received $40 for work done for the township he was asked at the time that he had work had come to him on account of a mistake made by the Clerk, and he was refused payment. In connection with the matter, and the Hughes circular had never made the statements Hughes attributed to him. With respect to another charge that he (McL.) had withheld $50 out of a grant made for flooded roads in Omemee, Mr. Taylor Parkins had ever affixed his signature to any document of the kind, as alleged, in fact in an autograph letter which the speaker produced Mr. Parkins assured him that he had not done so. Hughes the speaker then went into the facts. Surely the people of Victoria township were competent to manage their own business. Hughes had sent a spy up there with a list of questions in the hope of being to secure signatures by hook or by crook. Well, he was and his friend and solicitor of the township of Pelican. (Cheers). He had in small matter to wait for Victoria township also, and he believed the claim would be paid. Taylor Parkins had were it not for the jealous opposition of the Hughes party. He had ever had been one of the early settlers in Ennismore, and served on the Council. "What opinion must you form up a man who would go into that county and try to create the reputation of the man of that township by charging take of a land into the ears of those who had gone to school with him and played with him?" (Hisses and applause).

Mr. McLaughlin then read Taylor Parkin's letter, and said, "Could there be a more emphatic denial of the charge made? The speaker had in his possession the original list of questions and by the way Hughes has been sent into the township. At the Judging of Sam Hughes in Wetaugamong—Warden had printed a deliberate untruth when it said that the annual report was signed by Hughes' charges. He had in his possession a copy of the report as printed in the Watchman-Warders office which was not signed, completely repudiated the charge. Mr. McLaughlin said that the Hughes party of Cameron Lake drowned lands claims. The farmers had first sought to have the lands in question they got rried of his shilly-shally and finally had to go to the Public Accounts committee. He was not the man to do the work Hughes told one of the claimants he would do, and he was not the man because he (the farmer) had worked against him. Hughes said that the fair representative he has been. Then the farmers placed their claims in the hands of Hughes and he made a pile the opposition worked up by Hughes. The farm seen in such a man for the service rendered, the discovery of the opposition party had completed until egged on by Hughes and the farmers had to employ Gold him (McL) that they would not pay Hughes anything if they had known the purpose of the move. Taylor Hughes had made a charge on the floor of the House in connection with the matter, and he had been exonerated after investigation. Hughes and his wife were the only persons who knew the and the report of the Public Accounts committee was that the charge was absolutely without foundation. (Cheers) Hughes had made the film congratulations on the outcome of the Wardell case, and he had written a letter to the Wardell family, and yet he was working in Victoria to defeat Wardell's brother. Well, he (McL) was sorry to have made a mistake in diagnosis. (Laughter) and he was willing to read some of the evidence in the case of the Wardell family, and he was well as the six finding of the Public Accounts committee. He was trying to stand by the evidence, but the case was not in his hands. In the case of his military record, it was not an unusual thing for a man to require no bravery, but a brave record. He was prepared to read any records of Hughes' bravery in South Africa, but he was sure he was too jealful, personal letters for an hour or two, and the speaker was well informed. Continuing, Mr. McLaughlin said the number of the speaker's friends in the audience was a matter of the investigation before the Public Accounts committee, but had never done so. (Cheers and cries of "Shame!") He was not the man to see the Canadian drowned lands was stolen from the Government and had secured an indemnee of $75 from Mr. Hughes. He was not the man to injure the man who had buffeted him (Cheers). These and like reports could only emanate from such a source—such a newer—as that mentioned by Chief Justice Boyd, when he told Mr. Hughes in the Lindsay Court House, during the trial of a libel suit, "that he (Hughes) published a paper which was down in the institution of filth." (Cheers and applause). He (McL.) was did say of Hughes from the beginning of his campaign to the present time he had never published a word against Hughes' character, and he was sorry to have to refer upon his honor and sense of fair play when repeating the charge of the latter had brought against him. He (McL.) was content to leave his personal reputation in the hands of his friends, both Conservatives and Reformers. It was true that he was not one about the streets thumping people on the shoulders and jerking them by the button hole. He was always be found the same—yesterday, today and tomorrow—and he was continue to be the same to all men whether elected or defeated. He would find his lying and slanderous report transformed into a boomerang—the injury intended for another would rebound upon himself. (Applause and cries of "Wake up Hughes!"

COL. HUGHES.

Col. Hughes entered upon the second stage of his address in angry mood, and his voice fairly rasped as he flung invectives and charges at R. J. McLaughlin and others. He had been told by Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, that Senator McHugh and another Liberal politician were trying their best to defeat him (Hughes). McLaughlin was the nominee of a ring engineered by the Senator and was busy canvassing for weeks before the nomination. He denied charges against him, but he (Hughes) had proof which seen were prepared to swear if it necessary. (Cries of "Let it!") He (Hughes) had asked for the investigation of the charges before the Public Accounts Committee, and not McLaughlin sought to make a statement, and much more followed, Col. Hughes being refused a hearing for a time. Upon resuming he claimed that the minority report of the committee had borne out his charges. He (Hughes) had said that McLaughlin claimed 40 years' citizenship, but he (Hughes) had defined it as 40 years of the County for 38 years. He had asked Mr. McLaughlin to produce his personal reputation—only which he possessed—and he had failed to do it. Laurier had been lucky in getting "Sir" Wilfrid, and in terms of general prosperity—if the country has forged ahead it has been despite the Liberal party.

The Col. admitted having given two Liberal votes in the House, but they were young and foolish then. Assuming a personal character he pointed out that he had not only the Conservatives, but the Liberals to contend against, and the Polling would cast their ballots for him.

The speaker said it was easy to get at—it was to be found in the British War Office. Senator McHugh had contained among the Hughes' charges against them to assist in driving him out of the riding of Victoria County, and the bones of his (McHugh's) ancestor, General McHugh, who was a hero of a soldier, had had a contract for the furnishing of horses for the use of Canadian soldiers in South Africa; he bought up at high prices old plugs, which were then sent to the Canadian Contents, and were sold as useless. (Long continued applause) Senator McHugh used all his influence to carve up the riding of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the two counties would have to be divided, and if his helpers had failed, as they would fail on June 3rd. The speaker next referred to New Ontario corruption, Sandfield Macdonald and other matters, and said the only charge of the Hughes' party against him was not on friendly terms sat on the Ministerial benches with Sir John (Hugh). He (Hughes) was entitled to claim on his account the credit for part for them. (Cries of "Oh!") He would do so. Later on Mr. Hughes said he was not the man to carve up plug horses by Senator McHugh. Mr. McLaughlin rose to a point and explained indignantly, "I never said that Senator McHugh carved Africa, and you know it (Cheers). Mr. McLaughlin said he was in Quebec or Toronto and auctioned off Hughes."

Mr. J. C. Taylor—"You say the horses you refer to were purchased by Senator McHugh?"

Mr. Hughes—"Some of them were purchased."

The Col. then said he would be unable to accept an invitation to attend the McLaughlin gathering Monday evening.

The meeting closed with the usual cheers.

PETERBORO CHEESE BOARD.

OCTOBER CHEESE SOLD AT 9 1-8c. LAST WEEK.

Thirty Seven Factories Boarded 4500 Boxes—The Finding Was Bids.

The regular meeting of the Peterborough cheese board was held Wednesday. There were present Messrs. Whitton, Kerr, Fitzgerald, Rollins, Wrighton, Gillespie, Thompson. Thirty-seven boarded 4500 cheese.

A message was received from Mr. Cook to the effect that his train had been delayed, and that he could not arrive until one o'clock, consequently a few of the factories did not accept the offers made, but will sell to Mr. Cook off the Board.

The bidding opened briskly. Mr. Fitzgerald offered 9 1-16, and Mr. Kerr (for, which was raised by Mr. Fitzgerald to 9 1-16c. Mr. Whitton wants to see the better look taken for. Westwood, Villiers, Ormondville, Hilton, Maple Leaf, Wrenmier, Norwood, Brickley, Shamrock Peter, Clarifoil, Cavanville, Nevada, Pleasant, Ballydaff, Koons, Sherrar, Watson, Long, Bank Emily, Lantern, Emily, North Smith. Those refusing were McGillis, Lakefield, Stoney, Fraserville and Fleetwood.

Mr. Whitton offered 9 1-16c. for further selections. Mr. Rollins raised to 9 1-8c. and took Pure series, Young's Point, North Dummer, Stony Lake, Oakhill, Oakdale, Dairy of Viewers, Lakefield, Lakefield.

Mr. Fitzgerald offered 9 1-16, and Mr. Whitton 9 1-8c. took Peterboro and Blackfoot.

At 11-16c. Mr. Fitzgerald called Buckhorn, Fleetwood, Lakefield, Oak Valley, Preserville, Cavanville.

Mr. E. E. Ferguson spoke concerning the uniformity of cheese in factories. He says the cheese made after October was principally tainty cheese and not up to the former standard, which had the effect of lowering the quality of the cheese on the English market. He thought it would be the interest of all to come to the factories at the end of October.

Mr. Fitzgerald and Mr. Kerr both spoke in favor of the cheese.

A motion was made by Mr. Ferguson, seconded by Mr. Kerr that no cheese be made between the 1st of November and the 1st of May. The motion was carried.

The Board adjourned were Buckhorn, Preserville, Missing Link, Mysterious, Lakefield Cedarhill, Oakville Indian.

The board adjourned for two weeks. —Examiner.

RETAIL MERCHANTS ORGANIZE.

A Branch of the Dominion Association Formed at Lindsay.

A meeting of the Retail Merchants of Lindsay, convened by The Retail Merchants Association of Canada, was held in the Council chamber on Thursday evening, 27th, Mr. P. M. Treaver, Dominion Secretary, and Mr. James Eadie, Provincial organizer, were present and addressed the meeting.

Mr. J. E. Adams was elected to the chair. Mr. Eadie then opened the meeting by explaining in the same objects of the Association, and also the advantages that a branch of the Association be formed in Lindsay. Mr. Treaver described the work of the Association in opposing the business tax as brought before the Commission of the local legislature, and how the bill lately passed by the Legislature was accepted by the retail merchants as a great improvement. He also referred to the following legislation as desired by the retail merchants to the next Legislature;

1st.—That the President and Secretary of all incorporated companies be held responsible for the sale of goods of their companies the same as individuals are held for the sale and deeds of their respective businesses.

2nd.—That the collecting of all fees for examination of weights and measures be abolished, and that the salaries of the inspector be paid out of the funds of the Dominion treasury.

Also to have the Transient Trader and Hawkers' Licence system abolished and that an amendment be made to the Ontario Tolls so that a small debts can be collected in a more simple and speedy way.

It was moved and seconded unanimously that a branch of the Retail Merchants' Association be formed in Lindsay. Mr. Eadie then called on all merchants to get them to become members of the Association.

Baltic Fleet Stays at Vigo Pending the Inquiry.

PREMIER BALFOUR'S SPEECH

Mr. Balfour Thought Russian Version of the Traveler Incident an Attack On Peace—Hoped Incident Would Not Jeopardize Peace.

Such An Admiral Could Not Pass Unnoticed, Unchallenged Unpunished.

London, Oct. 29.—All danger of war between Russia and Great Britain has been averted, and the settlement of the only points in dispute regarding the attack by Russia on the Hull and Aberdeen trawlers, Oct. 21, has been referred to an International Commission under The Hague Convention.

Premier Balfour, speaking at a meeting of the National Union of Conservative Associations, Wednesday last night, broke silence. "The Russian Government," said Mr. Balfour, "has authorized a statement to the following effect:

"The Russian Government, on hearing of the North Sea incident, at once expressed its profound regret and also promised most liberal compensation. The Government has ordered the detention at Vigo, of that part of the fleet which was concerned in the incident, in order that the naval authorities might ascertain what officers were responsible for it; that those officers and any material witnesses might be proceed on the voyage to the Far East; that inquiry would be conducted into the facts by an international commission as provided by The Hague Convention.

"Then," Mr. Balfour interpolated, "had nothing to do with arbitration; it was a question of constitution of an international commission in order to find out the facts and any incident that the guilty would be tried and punished adequately. The Russian Government undertook that precautions would be taken to guard against recurrence of such incidents. Special instructions on this subject would be issued. Premier Balfour, in the speech, also said, "there would be the coroner's inquest at Hull over the dead fishermen, a Board of Trade inquiry and an inquiry by the Admiralty court at Vigo. The Board of Trade inquiry would be specially constituted by the Admiralty and would include representative men. The Russian Embassy has been invited to send a representative and give assistance. Apology for the outrage has been made and offered, nothing now remains but to ascertain the facts, accurate correct, Holystevsky's or the trawlers.

The immense audience received Mr. Balfour's announcement with the enrollment of the affair with unbounded applause.

Premier Balfour's Speech.

Premier Balfour said: "Under an immense meeting in Artillery Hall last night. His appearance on the platform at 8.05 p.m. was the signal for great cheering, which was again and at intervals and deeds of that respective businesses.

Premier Balfour said: "By no will of mine this great assemblage has been called, and not but souvies of the inspection be paid out of the funds of the Dominion treasury.

Also to have the Transient Trader and Hawkers' Licence system abolished and that an amendment be made to the Ontario Tolls so that a small debts can be collected in a more simple and speedy way.

It was moved and seconded unanimously that a branch of the Retail Merchants' Association be formed in Lindsay. Mr. Eadie then called on all merchants to get them to become members of the Association.

A WISE PRECAUTION.

No matter whether the baby is sick or well, Baby's Own Tablets should always be in the house. They not only cure infantile disorders, but they prevent them, and should be used constantly by the little ones to ward off the dangers of the critical teething period. Mrs. Alfred Cyr, Chelsea, Que., says: "I do not believe my baby would have lived today but for the use of Baby's Own Tablets. Since using them she has grown strong and healthy and is getting fat." Good advice to the mother of a growing child—and above all absolutely nothing can get Baby's Own Tablets from your druggist unless you insist on your getting them. Sold by druggists or by sending 25 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Just a Faint Reminder.

"Who's the matter, Mr. Crabby?" asked Mrs. Starvem. "You may you sip your soup and stare into the ceiling in that faraway manner as though you were thinking of something."

"I was replied the sarcastic Crabby, "reminds me of soup family."

Mr. Balfour thought that the difference of the attack was due to extreme recklessness or indifference to cruelty ought to be avoided by every man who claims the name of civilization or his own conscience at heart. It could not for a moment be supposed that throughout all the dangers of commerce from St. Petersburg to Vladivostok and the various ways of communicating British Channel and the Red Sea, an admiral of another power should be allowed to pass under such circumstances unscathed, unchallenged and unpunished after such an act of the night of Oct. 21. It would be a position which the Government felt responsible for Great Britain as a neutral to tolerate. Hence the Russian Government had promised to make an inquiry and had ordered the detention of part of the Russian squadron at Vigo.

Attack On Peace.

The Russian version of the occurrence of the night of Oct. 21 was equivalent to an attack on Great Britain's national honor. The torpedo boats spoken of by the Russian admiral were phantom ships—creatures of pure imagination, which Mr. Balfour entered a most emphatic protest. He was glad to say that the Russian Government had agreed with Great Britain that the inquiry should be an investigation. The responsible officers would not be permitted to proceed to the Far East and the persons found guilty would be adequately punished. In agreeing to these things, Russia had taken the view most consonant with her and other civilized nations. Russia had given a pledge that she would present a recurrence of the tragedy which filled British hearts with sorrow and the greatest of all with indignation.

The Russian Ambassador had authorized the statement that the Russian Government regretted the serious that truth and justice in this matter should be ascertained, extra facts must be brought out at the investigation, which, Mr. Balfour pointed out, would be made by three distinct bodies—first, by the International commission, second, by the Board of Trade enquiry, and, third, by the coroner's inquest.

Change of Situation.

Mr. Balfour said: "At this meeting had been held yesterday evening, it would not have dared preface my remarks in a hopeful way. I felt strongly felt that if the trawler incident could be repeated in any form it would indeed a great against which all neutral powers would unite in a common cause. The only version we had on that day of the lamentable incidents of the previous Friday night was that supplied us by the trawlers. Thursday morning the situation was changed because for the first time we had the Russian version of the affair from the Russian admiral. In the story of our fishermen there was nothing improbable but I am driven to the belief that there is much romance. It is impossible to believe the story of the fact story. I should not have approached it before you in the light of the admiral's story is really an attack upon our peaceful fishermen. Nothing that we are not doing our duty as neutral! In an island kingdom like Great Britain, the nationality of every craft is known. It is incomprehensible that we could be guilty of Cossack sailors and warships with accomplices, which, in other civilized world, knowing it. I enter into no speculation, I repeat, against an allegation. The truth will be made manifest. I feel clear and sunny when the enquiry is held, which, I repeat, statesmanlike view, has been welcomed by the Czar. But in bare justice to the Czar and the Russian Government, I feel I should cover as any time under-estimated the gravity of the incident. I think the Russian fleet was thirty miles out of its course, and it was absurd to suppose that the presence of the alleged torpedo craft would have gone to the Dogger Bank, the Russian fleet in the centre of a fishing fleet.

Doesn't Believe the Story.

"The Premier expressed disbelief in the story as brought to England and said the nearest Japanese warship was 14,000 miles away. Such a story as that told by the Russian admiral was the purest fancy. The Premier hoped the truth would be made manifest and that the day would when the inquiry, which the Russian Emperor welcomed, took place. The Russian Government had not at any time underrated the gravity of the crisis or failed to do what it could to diminish it.

"Remember, the whole of diplomacy moves slowly, and not the wheels of Russian diplomacy especially slowly, but it should be borne in mind that the tragedy was not known until Monday, and the Government at once expressed its sorrow and promised reparation, and at the very beginning intimated that any wrongdoer ought to receive punishment. One difficulty was that the fleet which committed the outrage was on its way to the illimitable east. That difficulty has been given over, but there is another difficulty, namely, that the Russian admiral has a theory of the rights and duties of belligerent fleet as against neutrals which would really make the high seas a place of public danger. Suppose some dark night a line of a transport fell in with the second Pacific fleet at Gibraltar, when they intended to divide, and approached within the magic distance, according to the admiral's theory, he would be justified in sinking it. The position is one impossible for neutrals to tolerate. A fleet animated by that policy would be a fleet which would have to be eliminated out of existence if civilized commerce were to persist. He was unintended, I am glad to think that in this view the Russian Government agrees and has given orders which will prevent a recurrence of the tragedy that filled our hearts with sorrow and the hearts of all those who had heard it abroad with something approaching indignation."

Praise For the Czar.

Mr. Balfour thought it must be admitted that the Russian Government had shown an enlightened conception of truth and justice should prevail. "It is a few days ago the Czar himself taken a gloomy view of the possibility of a settlement of this peaceful solution. He thought the Emperor had shown himself an enlightened judge of what was right in the matter as between nation and nation. The British Government did not ask of others anything which it not gladly have granted if it had been in a position to grant. The Government had no desire to take advantage of Russia's difficulties in force its demands. It had appealed to her justice and equity, principles which appeal to people in the good relations between nations, and the Government had every right to have been far otherwise, and that it would be a great misfortune for the foresight and wisdom of the Emperor. The world had its eyes centred upon one great world-stage in the Far East. It would have been approaching, but it was not impossible that that great stage would have been doubled.

Would it have been doubted and we should have had a second calamity that could befall mankind, namely, a war between two white class powers. Speaking for the Government, Mr. Balfour continued, he could say they had done all they could consistently with honor to avert the calamity.

"If," said Mr. Balfour, "war could be avoided without dishonor the settlement would be a lasting one but credit upon the ruler of that great nation which would have been so nearly coming in collision, but with whom it is my earnest and sincere prayer belief our good relations will remain undisturbed. I hope I have not nothing which can cast a single set degree impale international relations, and which Russia spoke under a heavy sense of responsibility and under considerable difficulties. I think the events of the last few days though they can never wipe out the tragic occurrence of last Friday will not bring in their train any obstacle widespread sympathy which at one time we almost feared they would bring with them. I appreciate this country and Russia, Europe and the world at large. Now will be the result of the last few days negotiations."

St. Petersburg Relieved.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 29—There was a feeling of profound relief here last night over the amicable settlement that the differences between Great Britain and Russia are to be referred to a commission. This outcome is attributed to the personal intervention of Emperor Nicholas and King Edward. The British Government, in the face of an excited public opinion, which was demanding the most extreme measures, proposed the submission of the issue to a commission under The Hague convention, while the Russian Government was preparing a similar proposal to the neutral powers notably France, and, it is believed, the United States, were acting all their influence to avoid a second Cattle trophe.

Russian Minister Glad.

London, Oct. 29—Ambassador Benckendorff who has been working night and day, expressed the great est pleasure over the result, which he considered, considering the notes.

Opinions of the Press.

London, Oct. 29.—The opinions of the press on the settlement, as announced by Mr. Balfour, are diverse. While The Daily Mail hails it in the highest type diplomacy as "Russian surrender," the more thoughtful papers are less pleased.

New York, Oct. 29.—One man was killed and three others were seriously injured in the fire at the Brush Electrical Company, South Brooklyn, early yesterday.

Banker Pleaded Guilty.

Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—Yesterday morning, at the Court House, before Judge Walker, H. G. Rutland, formerly manager of the Bank of Hamilton at Winkler, was charged with the embezzlement of the bank, to the follows. On June 27, $1,085, on June 28, $1,000, and on July 12, $1,000. He pleaded guilty to the charge and His Honor remanded him for sentence.

1,800,000 People

Have Asked Us to Buy Them a 50c. Bottle of Liquozone.

We offer to buy the first bottle of Liquozone, and we love it free to each sick one who asks it. And we have spent over one million dollars to announce and fulfill this offer. Our object has been to let Liquozone itself show what it can do. A test is better than testimonials, better than argument. In one year, 1,800,000 people have accepted this offer. They have told others what Liquozone does, and the others told others. The result is that millions now know it is more widely employed than any medicine ever was—more than a million times the better physicians. And your own druggist, wherever you are, can tell you of people whom Liquozone has cured.

Not Medicine.

Liquozone is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. This process has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. It is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ it does not kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like gas—is the most deadly germicide in vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and is cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease. It is this fact that gives Liquozone its world-wide usefulness. And that works is so great that, after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, we paid $100,000 for the American rights.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indefinite and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are, and when the germs are which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

SERMON TO YOUNG PEOPLE

REV. C. W. HENDERSON, OF CAMBRIDGE-ST. METHODIST CHURCH

Delivered a Thoughtful and Impressive Discourse Sunday to a Large Congregation.

Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Henderson preached a very impressive sermon to a large congregation, taking his text from 26th chap of Genesis, 12th verse. In which he gave a character sketch of Isaac. Rev. Mr. Henderson said that it was sometimes a great advantage to have been many relatives. If Isaac's immediate relatives had been of the common sort of folks the world have been better off. He is always the secondary character, and although a great man, he was the most of a great man. A glimpse into Isaac's character as a man of business was then given, in which the speaker showed that in the year of the famine Isaac tilled the soil and gathered in an hundred fold. "I am a practical believer in the gospel of work," remarked Mr. Henderson. We have men working their brains to the last ounce. Which is the real cause of hard times? If you can stop the tobacco and liquor bill you can stop the hard times. Many people have failed in early life to develop the gifts of industry, but believed it was good philosophy to say "that the world owes them a living" and it will be useful, and the man who fails on the way will be the opposite. Employ the power that God has given you, and you will give you success. A prominent man once said, "Don't be afraid to work, but let it frighten with work—some men die young because they quit work at six o'clock and get lazy, and it wakes in the morning." It's the interval, not the work, that kills. Usually kills you. There are boys in Lindsay who have no ambition and no work. One boy was then referred to as "old man so and so's son." Boys, be manly, and have no vision of waking up in the morning a nobody, but roll up your sleeves and get to work. The Lord's blessing must be with you to have success. Some of you will say, "Why, there's a Christian man, worth about $40,000, who cares nothing for religion, and who has gathered together wealth by using his brains, etc. Has God blessing anything to do with him?" Oh bless you, yes, God gave him reason, his brains, his will power; and God is in the author of all his faculties. In order to get his wealth God gave him brains. We mix no matter how Christless he is, can succeed better if he is with God. Look at Isaac's domestic relations. He was an affectionate husband—so—so powerful Abraham to lay him on the altar. Some people set which is the more obedient, Abraham who gave up his son, or Isaac, who lays down at his father's wish to be sacrificed. Isaac was looking for a partner in life, he took his father into confidence. A great many think we ought to be our own way in the matter, but he (the speaker) was sorry that we are living in an age when we don't take our father into our confidence. Many wives have their own way, marry in haste, and unhappy ever afterwards. Isaac selected a wife from among the daughters of Abraham.

Here is another scene. Death has entered the home, and Isaac awakes one morning to find out he is motherless. He is old and lonely, but when we turn over to the 24th chapter we find that Isaac was comforted four and a half years after. There is volumes in that line. There are boys who, six weeks or two months after a parents death are ready to forget their parents. Our father Isaac loved his mother for four and a half years with all the variations of temperament and then he became a considerate and affectionate husband. A loving and dutiful son is the timber of which a good husband is made. See here, young woman, don't you expect much from a young man who does not love his mother; don't you believe that young man who put his best love to his mother, who did not love his mother. Fine, fine, fifteen years and a half years passed, and Isaac and his wife loved and cherished each other. Oh, what an example! pity it is that many old people do so little courting in their old age. Young people, young people, I know you are good in young life, but the opposite is ofttimes the case. There are young men who would not allow their girls to get over a low fence, and after forty years of married life they will let them climb over a high board fence, unaided.

Isaac was a man of God and practice, he loved to commune with God. He seems to have been full of God. He felt it a needful necessity and blessing to get away from the world to indulge in his worship and meditation. He was impressive when he goes off in the eventide to a quiet grid to commune with God and spend the best time for such devotion. We should spend more time in communing with God. How many do we get away from the world, and from our wife and family to be with God alone. It's by this that we grow strong. Isaac recognized the divine proprietorship. His was a life. Isaac recognized the divine proprietorship. Have you, therefore, that you present yourself a living sacrifice to God, if you have not spent the compulsion of duty? We should give ourselves up to God as a living sacrifice, and to his master. Its our duty to be God's children. Do we give ourselves up to him as we should? Do we regard God as our husband? Do we love one another more and make more christian homes, and may we find joy in communion with God.

Remedy for the Black Grape Rot.

Growers of grapes in the Niagara district have been seriously alarming this year at a certain form of rot of the grape vine, which has caused thousands of dollars worth of damage. The disease appears in a number of years so wiped out many of the vineyards in the Niagara and Kent districts and forced many growers to give up raising grapes. In the November issue of the Canadian Horticulturist will publish a special report from Prof. Lochhead, of Guelph who recently visited the vineyards of Ohio to see if the fruit growers of that state had any remedy for the disease. It is announced by Prof. Lochhead that Ohio fruit growers have been able to overcome the disease by an application of a special mixture at certain critical stages of its growth. It is probably true that the application of a similar mixture will save many a vineyard in Ontario.

Young women may avoid much sickness and pain, says Miss Alma Pratt, if they will only have faith in the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Judging from the letters she is receiving from so many young girls, Mrs. Pinkham believes that our girls are often probed altogether too near the limit of their endurance nowadays in our public schools and seminaries.

Nothing is allowed to interfere with studies, the girl must be pushed to the front regardless of health and other physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost ground, if often it is never recovered. Miss Pratt writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much I owe to Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months.

"I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness." Miss Alma Pratt, Ionia, Mich. —$5000 forfeit if original of above testimonial proving genuine cannot be produced.

Consumption

¶ There is no specific for consumption. Fresh air, exercise, nourishing food and Scott's Emulsion will come pretty near curing it, if there is anything to build on. Millions of people throughout the world are living and in good health on one lung.

¶ From time immemorial the doctors prescribed cod liver oil for consumption. Of course the patient could not take it in its old form, hence it did very little good. They can take and tolerate it for a long time. There is no oil, not excepting butter, so easily digested and absorbed by the system as cod liver oil in the form of Scott's Emulsion, and that is the reason it is so helpful in consumption where its use must be continued.

¶ We will send you a sample free.

¶ Be sure that this picture is the form of a label on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

OBITUARY.

The Late Thomas Sadler.

In the death of Mr. Thomas Sadler, which occurred somewhat unexpectedly on Monday night, Oct. 30th, the Town of Lindsay and the entire district suffered a distinct loss. Although one of the oldest of our citizens, he also was one of the most enterprising, and was very highly esteemed by all. He was one of the best known men in the county by reason of his long connection with the Sadler family in the village, first as an inn keeper, and the news of his death will doubtless be received by a dear friend.

Although 80 years of age, Mr. Sadler had been in fairly good health for some months previous to his death. About a year ago he suffered from a severe attack of influenza, very rheumatism, but the troubles left him after a stay of some weeks in Toronto. On the Saturday previous to his death he was about town as usual, and was in fairly good health, acute neuralgia in the heart set in, and death came to the relief of the aged man, who was beyond medical skill to cope with.

Mr. Sadler was born in Grantham, county of Chautauqua, Quebec, in 1824, and came to Lindsay about 1850 and settled in the village of Omemee. Together they erected the hotel now known as the Queen's and by the Fleveliers Limited, as well as an extensive saw mill, and for over 40 years the Sadler took an active part in the management of those industries. For a time he was also a partner of Mr. Lillycrop, of Peterborough, in the business of Harwood, on Rice Lake, and in recent years owned farms in Ops. At his death, he was an extensive owner of real estate in Lindsay and in North Ontario.

He was one of the main promoters of the Lindsay Light, Heat & Power Co., the experience as a lumberman convinced him that there was ample power at Fenelon Falls, to justify a large expenditure on the development. He became a chief stockholder and was for years the active partner in the milling business, and the mainspring of the enterprise in carrying out the enterprise, and then furnishing the town with ample light and needed power for manufacturing purposes.

Deceased was a liberal in politics, and a consistent member and liberal supporter of the Methodist church. Of a somewhat retiring disposition, he took no prominent part in the municipal or political affairs, but followed the reports of the times carefully and took a fair view of the respective arguments advanced. His opinion was frequently sought upon business matters and prospective enterprises, and carried much weight.

Mr. Sadler was twice married, his first wife being Miss Sarah Ann Neeller, whom he wedded on June, 1848, and leaved three daughters and two sons survive him. They are Mrs. W. H. Lemmon, Toronto; Mrs. A. B. Gordon, Sarnia; Mrs. Geo. Clarke, Cypress River, Manitoba; Wm. Sadler, Town; and Thos. Sadler, Fenelon Falls. His second wife, nee Miss Ella Hall, who survives him, took place on June 8th, 1898, the family and widow have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends in their bereavement.

WEDDED IN TORONTO.

Mr. W. S. Hutchison to Miss Margaret Storer.

Mr. W. S. Hutchison, of Peterboro, was united in marriage last week, to Miss Margaret Storer, only daughter of Mr. J. Storer, of Lindsay, the ceremony being performed at the residence of Mr. Alex Storer, 357 Huron-st, Toronto by the Rev. Dr. McTavish, pastor of the Central church.

The bridesmaids were Miss Charlotte Storer, sister of the bride, groom and Miss Hattie Higginbotham, of Peterboro. The groom was given away by his father. The groom was assisted by Messrs. Archer and Chas Storer. The flower girls, Miss Olive and Miss Jean Storer, were attired in white and carried white carnations. The bride was attired in a semi brown travelling suit and the bridesmaids in crepe de chene with trimmings of lace. For a wedding gift to the bride was a black mink cloak, to the bridesmaids brooches, four of them in pearls, in the midst of honor maid leaf pins in pearls. The happy couple left on the 11.45 train for Niagara Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson will reside in Lindsay.

PROGRESS OF SIEGE

Advances at Port Arthur Satisfactory to the Japanese.

THIRD ASSAULT ON FORTRESS

Japanese Shells Fire Only Smokeless Powder Magazine in Port Arthur—Tactics of Troops Right Flee, and Are Cut Down—Engagement Continued the Whole Day—Japs Capture Important Russian Trenches.

The Fox, Oct. 31.—The third general attack on Port Arthur began Oct. 24, according to unimpeachable information. Oct. 26 forty of Japanese shells set fire to the only smokeless powder magazine in Port Arthur. Portions of the town caught fire, the conflagration continuing the whole day. On the same day the Japanese captured the Russian trenches on the Slope of Hilling Mountain, the fortified position protecting the fortress. The Japanese consider the progress of the siege to be highly satisfactory.

Japs Defeat Russians.

Tokio, Oct. 31.—A report from the Mukden army headquarters received yesterday records a successful fight attack against the Russian outpost at Wuniuhsien and two unsuccessful counter attacks made by the Russians. The report is as follows:

"On the night of Oct. 28 a small force of the enemy attacked Wuniuhsien Mountain, but were immediately repulsed. Oct. 29 at 4 o'clock in the morning a detachment of infantry was despatched from the centre army against Wuniuhsien, passing the way between the outposts of both armies. The enemy was surprised and the houses occupied by the enemy were set on fire. Using the place as a base, the enemy made frequent night attacks against our outposts. On the night of Oct. 29 a force of the enemy, of unknown strength, attacked in an extensive near Sakuyamaoto, but was immediately repulsed."

To Retake Wuliao.

Gen. Kuroki's advanced guards, Oct. 31.—The Russians attempted at midnight to retake Wuliao Mountain, which was captured by the Japanese last Thursday, but the attacks of last night, if anything have been repulsed yet. Wuliao Mountain has been considered the key to Port Arthur, in capture by the Japanese. Its defence consisted of a series of trenches, and the trenches were very deep. The Russian losses there were nearly 1,000. They left 400 dead and wounded on the top of the hill. The number left at the foot is not known, as the Japanese are unable to reach the ground to the constant fire of the Russians.

Kuropatkin Reports.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—General Kuropatkin has telegraphed as follows, under date of Oct. 31:

"I have received to-day no despatch reporting encounters with the enemy. During a cavalry reconnaissance yesterday after an infantry fight supported by artillery we occupied the Village of Chantsanhenan. The enemy has retired from Sinlin.

"Oct. 29 our chasseurs, with insignificant losses, retained a village a kilometre west of Chenlian against a superior Japanese detachment.

General Kuropatkin also records other outpost affairs, between the Russian reconnaissance of the Village of Tyanhsi, and the village of Sinlaitsaiyang, whence they had been previously expelled by the Japanese, who burned the village.

Fight With Cold Steel.

Mukden, Oct. 31.—The Japanese assumed the offensive on Oct. 27 at Yanaintun, half way between Bentsiaputze and Yenkow, on the Sikuan road. The whole day was passed by the Japanese in preparation for a bombardment of the Russian positions. Towards evening a Japanese regiment moved out to capture the hill, on which is a Buddhist temple, south of Yenkow. The temple was held by a Russian battalion with two machine guns. After dark the solid steel strewed the summit of the hill with corpses. The Russians were outnumbered, their machine guns were dismantled and their rifles were ordered to fall back upon their main positions, carrying with them the barrels of their machine guns. The Russian artillery then swept the hill with shell and projectiles from the rear. Japanese were unable to remain there. Heavy losses were inflicted on both sides.

Fought in the Trenches.

Mukden, Oct. 31.—The attack of the Japanese on the Buddhist temple hill, on Oct. 27, led to a night fight. The Japanese artillery played on the position from early in the morning; rendering the trenches untenable, shells and shrapnel sweeping everything and demolishing all the shelters. Two machine guns with the battalion defending the hill were smashed and disabled, but the defenders carried off the remains of the guns when they were forced to retire.

The Japanese infantry attack under cover of the bombardment was made in close order, and they desperate hand-to-hand fighting in the trenches, finally forced the attack with the bayonet. The Japanese finally gained the hill, but were unable to hold it, in view of the deadly Russian artillery fire.

Fleet Never Sailed.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—The military situation has not yet developed anything of importance, following the fight at the Buddhist temple hill, on Oct. 27, which ended so suddenly a heavy engagement. It probably indicates that the plans of both sides are now occurring, preparatory to another long and serious battle. Vice Admiral Skrydlov is on the way to St. Petersburg. The nature of his reception here is the food for much speculation. Some of his friends still insist that he will be made Chancellor of the Empire, with his residence in the Winter Palace, where the best of which his apartments has already been prepared for him. Against this there is many declare that his political career is practically over, and that his reception at St. Petersburg, while officially cordial, will mark the end of his political career. It is even rumored that the old Viceregalty of the Caucasus will be revived for his especial benefit, which would constitute a honorary and comfortable sort of exile.

Atlantic Liner Stranded.

Nassau, N.P., Oct. 26.—The Atlantic Line steamship Finance, for New Orleans, stranded off Abaco, Bahama Islands.

Little Girl's Sad Death.

Forest, Oct. 28.—Yesterday morning about 10 o'clock Pearlie Spearman, the little 8-year-old daughter of H. A. Spearman, of the township of Bosanquet, Lambton county, was almost instantly killed by being run over near Gore's Corners by the heavily loaded wagon of Arthur Dale, who was hauling a load of oats to Forest. Mr. Dale did not see how the accident occurred, but it is supposed the little girl, while playing around the wagon with others, caught on the side, lurching her hold she slipped under the wheel and was crushed to death. The child died only about half an hour and was dead before a doctor could be got. No blame attaches to Mr. Dale.

SAM HUGHES' LOW TRICKERY

Sam Hughes had to give up the document on him. (Applause).

The speaker then referred to the G.T.P. Railway, and said the proposition meant that we are going to throw away our swaddling clothes and become a nation. Ships from British and other ports are to-day crowded with emigrants who are flocking to our great West, and Americans are pouring over the boundary line. Boys we live to be as old as some in this hall to-night will see Canada—not a nation of six millions of people, but a nation with perhaps ten times that population. We have a illimitable reserve in lands, forests and mines, the greatest possibilities in connection with the rapid progress of a transcontinental railway and ease of transportation, and it is about to be made a much more efficient instrument. We are to have great highway between the wide-awake West and the awakening East, and we are going to allow the U.S. to capture the great trade coming by way of Japan, China, and England. The G.T.P. is to be redeemed by Canadian money—it passes through American territory; the long and short haul difficult would probably cause trouble. The G.T.P. should be owned by the Canadian soil. We may see the day when $100,000 bondsmen will be rushed over the new line on route to the East to resist Russian aggression arising out of some such incident as the attack on the British trawlers. The Admiral guilty of that act may have been under the same influence as Sam Hughes when he wrote his new pamphlet. The speaker had proposed a pitchfork tribe of building a Transcontinental road which would benefit some of the interests in which he was concerned, but would not benefit the people of Canada. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's clear cut scheme had the endorsation of the Boards of Trade from east to the Pacific, Winnipeg and other centres representing the commercial needs of Canada. The country had added the G.T.P. to the extra twenty-five millions, in addition to conceding great privileges and exemption from taxation for 20 years, the location of town sites, etc. The G.T.P. would receive only about 14 millions in all, with no exemption from taxes, and not one foot of land beyond what was required for right of way, and the Government reserved the right to locate the town plots. The money received from the sale of town lots would more than repay all the aid granted. (Applause).

Ladies and gentlemen, we are living in great times. Canada is proud of the world over, and Canadians find it easy to work in their own land—our boys and girls no longer become tired of peasants and look over the border. We have risen from the status of a colony to that of a nation, but if we wish to realize our true destiny we must raise above all petty issues. He would ask them, then, to vote for H. J. McCrossin, the representative of Liberals and Conservative alike, who is proud of his country and very best services. (Loud applause).

Loud and long continued cheers were then given, and the meeting broke up.

How to Shoot the Deer.

In drawing on a deer the experienced hunter will endeavor to shoot it square through the shoulders. That shot will stop it inside of twenty feet every time, says Mr. H. S. Sparks in Sportsmen's Outing." If the animal is shot through the heart, and has just taken a full breath it will go from twenty-five to a hundred yards. Hit back of the heart through the body, it is likely to go twenty or thirty times from one mile to ten. A bullet through the head or neck does not result in stopping it of course, but nobody shoots at those marks of intention. They are too small. The hunter does not always have choice of shots. He is often forced to shoot at his animal when its rump is turned toward him, or when it is facing him, and may get his deer or may not, even if the bullet lodges in it for there is then no certainty of inflicting a fatal wound. The modern high power, need smallbore rifle will shoot through a deer from end to end, but often the bullet is deflected by bone and goes on without reaching a vital spot. There is much outcry against the use of these rifles, but in the hands of a skilled man they are very efficient weapons; in the hands of a tenderfoot almost any sort of rifle will do to kill another, hunter with. Men are slain in the woods because they mistake men for deer, not because they mistake deer for men.

The "Conquering Kilties."

The "Kilties" band Belleville, have been meeting with phenomenal success since their opening of their European tour a month ago. Besides playing a triumphant engagement at the Royal Royal Albert Hall, and appearing before the King at a command performance at Balmoral Castle, Scotland, the famous organization of Scotch Canadians have played gave a series of concerts in the midland counties and were greeted everywhere with such enthusiasm that the newspapers dubbed them the "Conquering Kilties" a name that seems likely to stick to them during the rest of their tour through Ireland. We hold each other, Belleville, Lindsay, Aldershot, Bournemouth and South Sea records were broken, and everywhere they went they bring to each enormous audiences before in any of these places. At Portsmouth the "Kilties" were received in being personally conducted through the warship Jack tars taken on board the Kings yacht, "Victoria and Albert" and escorted to see through the royal apartments. At Bournemouth, Hampshire, the concerts were given in the picturesque Winter Gardens, over managed by Dan Godfrey, son of the late Dan Godfrey, the celebrated English bandmaster. Mr. Godfrey, himself a leader in the musical world of England, gave the "Kilties" a high compliment, and, in arranging for a return engagement, said that the Canadian band had proved to be the strongest attraction of the Winter Gardens had ever known.

DECEASED PRIEST RESPECTED.

Late Father Twohey's Funeral Largely Attended Last Friday.

The following is from the following report of the funeral of the late Father Twohey, who was well known here, and whose death was mourned genuine regret among those who knew him:

The funeral services for the late Rev. Father Twohey, of Trenton, took place Friday at the church of St. Peter-in-Chains, in that town. The service was a most impressive one and was attended by forty-six priests, representing the dioceses of Kingston, and Hamilton, Alexander and Toronto. The solemn Pontifical requiem mass was celebrated by His Grace Archbishop Gauthier, of Kingston, assisted by Very Rev. Dean Connell, of Mount Forest, Rev. T. J. Spratt was the deacon, and Rev. M. J. Spratt, deacon. Rev. Father Gray was master of the ceremonies. The funeral sermon was attended by almost the whole of the citizens of Trenton as well as numerous outside towns. The interment took place in the Trenton Catholic cemetery.

Shooting Accident Near Minden.

Postmaster Young, of Minden, who was in town Wednesday, reported that a young man he met a few days before in search of a doctor, to go to the assistance of a hunter whom he had met days before, who was, he thought, left with the settler for the same purpose. The particulars are not yet to hand.—wf.

Hymeneal.

Mr. Geo. Gibson Fox, G. T. R. brakesman, and bride have returned from a wedding trip down east. Mr. Fox and Miss Lillie Sheppard were married at Belleville, the residence of the bride's father, Beach's Point, on Wednesday, Nov. 2nd, by Rev. Wm. Terry, and Miss Christina Shepherd assisted in the ceremony, which was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Fox, father. The happy couple will leave for Montreal on Saturday, on their honeymoon. A reception was tendered last evening.

"Jack the Nugger."

Residents of the south ward living in the vicinity of Albert-st. say that they have been for some weeks disturbed by the antics of an individual whose production seems to be to lay in wait for some unfortunate and brace them closely, occasionally presenting to snatch a few kisses before the release. Mr. Ward, Albert-st., parents of some of the young ladies said to have been on the wait, offered for sale ammunition for some nights, but so far no arrests have been made, armed with horsewhips, and these, it is said, have been used to good effect. Good use of these nights if Jack the Nugger and his companion are caught and relinquish his amorous pursuit.

Ontario Fruit for the West.

A prominent fruit grower in the Niagara district, Mr. Jas. Murray, son of St. Catherines, who has just returned from a trip through the west, some of British Columbia, reports that though fruit growers and fruit growing is a new industry in British Columbia, the fruit growers in British Columbia growers can take a back seat in the matter of fruit, and public lessons, especially in the packing of fruit, and in the connection, the fruit division of the Ontario department of Agriculture purposes sending a lecturer to British Columbia next year. The lumber, timber, flower and honey show in Toronto, of the various varieties of British Columbia fruit packed by the growers themselves, and, among the other provinces of Nova Scotia and Quebec will be represented, and the matter is one of importance to Ontario. Fruit growers in Ontario are very with keen competition in the west, with markets from British Columbia and in the markets of Great Britain from the Nova Scotia fruit.

Victoria County Plowing Match.

The plowing match, which was held between Mr. Jas. Thorburn's farm, south of Oakwood, did not bring out the number of competitors expected on such occasions. Only about a dozen competed in the different classes. The ground was not in proper condition to give satisfactory results, the sod too tough of sufficient thickness to make a clean turn over. In stubble land fair work was shown. Mr. Chas. Pogue, of Glandine, being an easy winner in the men's class. The day was all that could be desired, but as the farmers are unusually busy now with their fall crops the attendance in consequence was light. The prize list will appear in a later issue.

SCIATICA CURED.

ANOTHER TRIUMPH FOR DR. WILLIAM'S PINK PILL.

Mr. Etsell, of Walkerton Suffered for Months and Got no Relief Until he Began the Use of These Pills.

Of the many employees of R. Truax & Co., Walkerton, Ont., none stands higher in the confidence of his employers than does Mr. Thos. J. Etsell. He is an excellent mechanic, and has been in the employ of this firm for upwards of ten years. But although Mr. Etsell now ranks among the few men who are never absent from their post of duty, the time was when he was as often absent as present, all because of physical inability to perform his work. For years Mr. Etsell was a great sufferer from sciatica, and at times the suffering became so intense that for days he was unable to leave his house.

During these years, Mr. Etsell, as may be readily imagined, was continually on the lookout for some remedy that would rid him of the disease, but for a long time without success. Doctors were consulted, and although he took the treatment prescribed, it did not help him. They also tried electric treatment, but this also failed to give relief, and in despair he had almost made up his mind that his case was hopeless and that he would be a suffering, helpless cripple to the end of his days. Then one day a neighbor advised him to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. At first he refused, believing they would prove like other medicines, but the neighbor was so insistent, having herself been greatly benefited by them, that he was at last persuaded to try them. The remainder of the story may be best told in his own words:

"When I began taking these pills," said Mr. Etsell to a reporter of the Telescope, "I had been off work for three months. The cords of my right leg were all drawn up, and I could only limp about with the aid of my stick. The pain I suffered was terrible. I could not sleep at all during the night, and I was in misery both night and day. At first I thought the pills were doing me no good, but after I had taken six boxes I fancied I was feeling better, and was encouraged to continue the treatment. After that I got better every day, and by the time I had taken about fifteen boxes every vestige of pain had disappeared. For over a year, continued Mr. Etsell, "I have had but a twinge of pain, and although I am forty years of age I feel as well as when I was twenty. Pink Pills cured me, and I have no hesitation in announcing them for the best medicine in the world for sciatica."

The cure of Mr. Etsell proves that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not an ordinary medicine, and that their power to cure in all troubles of the blood or nerves places them beyond all other medicines. You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or direct by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. See that the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" is printed on the wrapper around every box.

Obituary

A number of our townspeople will regret to learn of the death of Miss Carrie Cantermanche, which occurred at Midland on Wednesday, 26th inst. at the early age of 20 years. She was a young lady of most estimable qualities and had many warm friends here. The bereaving parent will have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in Lindsay.

HALLOWE'EN PRANKS.

Small Boys Enjoyed Themselves Monday Night and Worried Our Citizens.

A cultivator was dragged across the road and put in front of the Bell Telephone Co's office.

A turnip patch in the vicinity of the same office suffered. The sidewalk was strewn with remnants this morning.

One or two crossings were overturned in the north ward, and a number of small tool and outhouses were upset.

The T.C.I. boys as usual had a good time. The two front walks leading to the school were overturned, and laid on the slope, and long sticks of cordwood were scattered about the town.

One of the T.C.I. teachers had his summer shutters removed from his house and laid on the ground. He says he wouldn't mind if Hallowe'en came in the spring.

A large empty crate, belonging to one of our Kincaid merchants was taken from a back yard and hung on the telephone post in front of the Dominion Hotel.

Gangs of boys could be seen all over about 8 o'clock, but only a great number had retired to enjoy the fruits of their respective labors. The old gas poles were attacked and used in a rough manner, but the bells were kept on the ring by mischevious boys and girls.

The employees of one of our leading hotels celebrated Hallowe'en in grand style last evening. It was something like a masquerade ball, that is they wore funny costumes and masks. All had a good time, and the "ghosts" did not succeed in them had his hands full looking after the party.

A seven ft. ward boy on Williamstown was going around ringing door bells proved to be a cold, refreshing shower bath from an upstair window. It had the desired effect, as it took the enthusiasm out of him for the rest of the evening.

It is rumored that Constable Foster captured a big Hallowe'en T. C. I. boy, but that his friends succeeded in gaining his release.

A small boy from the carry off Mr. Webster's sign on William-st, but found it was too heavy.

One of the uptown office boys was evidently getting tired of sprinkling the floor every morning, so he carried off the sprinkling can and hung it up on the telegraph post in front of Mr. Walter Bros. store on Lindsay-st. to dry.

The clock-jack played harmonious music on Kent-st.

ALL MINERS KILLED

Not One in Tercio Mine, Colorado, Escaped the Explosion.

60 MEN PROBABLY PERISHED

Exact Number of Dead May Never Be Known As the Mine Is Burning—Explosion Preceded By Rumbling Sound Resembling An Earthquake—Rocks Thrown a Quarter of a Mile.

Trinidad, Col., Oct. 29.—Probably 60 men lost their lives in a terrific explosion which occurred at mine No. 1 of the Rocky Mountain Fuel & Iron Company, at Tercio, forty miles west of Trinidad, yesterday afternoon. The exact number of dead may never be known, as the mine is burning, and in all likelihood the bodies will be consumed. A large number of mine officials left here as soon as word of the accident was received. Company doctors and other physicians were picked up all along the line.

F. J. Forman, Government stock inspector, was at Tercio when the explosion occurred. He returned here last night and gave the following account of the affair.

"I was standing not more than 100 yards from the mouth of the tunnel when the explosion occurred. The explosion was preceded by a low rumbling sound, resembling an earthquake, which made the earth tremble and startled the whole camp. It

"I looked toward the mine and out of the mouth of the tunnel and two air shafts came a great volume of smoke and dust, which continued for nearly a minute. Out of the two air shafts, each of which are 7 feet in diameter, timbers that were fully 3 feet in diameter were shot in the air and broke into splinters. Rocks were thrown over the camp for a distance of a quarter of a mile; in fact, it rained rocks, broken timbers and all kinds of debris for fully a minute and many persons were injured by being struck with these missiles.

"The explosion, which resembled a volcanic eruption, caused the wildest excitement. Men, women and children rushed to the mouth of the tunnel, and women, whose husbands were in the mine, had to be brought away by miners to prevent their being killed by deadly fumes coming from the mouth of the tunnel."

The mine employs eighty men, and it is believed that at least sixty were in it at the time. It was not possible that any in the mine could escape. It was impossible to secure names of the dead and injured last night.

Killed By Explosion.

Montreal, Oct. 29.—A serious explosion took place last night in one of the east end buildings of the Montreal Gas Co., resulting in the death of two People, the foreman and considerable damage to the company's property.

Gas Troubles in St. Kitts.

St. Catharines, Oct. 29.—Some Workmen employed by the Gas Company to locate a leak on St. Paul street caused an explosion yesterday afternoon that created havoc for a time. The pipe was under the concrete walk and into the Conservative committee room. The explosion blew the sidewalk into the air and created a hasty exit from the committee room, where the plaster was torn from the walls and ceilings. A match had been lighted, giving the gas a No one was hurt. William Ward, one of the Gas Company's men, narrowly escaped asphyxiation. He was working in a trench and remained in it until he was dragged out in an unconscious condition, but recovered when taken to the air.

Gas Troubles in St. Catharines.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Samuel Hastings, aged 65, living at 150 Dundas street, was found dead yesterday morning from asphyxiation. Coroner Craig decided an inquest unnecessary.

Alleged Firebugs Arrested.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Charged with the wilful burning of incendiary depredations which have for the past three years made Mimico, in Etobicoke township, Thomas Godson and Joseph Wilson, the former a son of Hamilton Bateman, daughter of the elder Godson, and Hamilton Bateman, her husband, were arrested yesterday morning. The allegation is that the prisoners formed a secret executive fires which since July 10th, 1901, have destroyed the Mimico buildings and stacks on the farm of Thomas Bateman, on the 10th of the 10th concession, King, and which in December last were the cause of a fruitless investigation conducted by Government Detective Rogers and H. H. Hull, assisted by Crown Attorney of the County of York. They were formerly employed on farms in the vicinity.

They will appear before the magistrate today.

Big Theft of Furs.

Montreal, Oct. 31.—A big robbery of furs in the establishment of Charles Desjardins & Co., St. Catharine street, was discovered last night. When the clerks arrived yesterday afternoon, furs and the like were found missing, and it was estimated that the loss would be $1,000. In the hurry to get away the thieves, who evidently had the premises, left a quantity of furs in the yard, valued at $5,000.

Crazed Woman Firing.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—The four alleged King township incendiaries were brought back to Newmarket from Toronto yesterday and remanded for a week. Meanwhile they will be out on bail for a week, saw the smoke of the burning barn and heard a woman, who had 200 yards start of him, in a swamp, where she eluded him.

Said Wife Was Innocent.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Frank Cobb pleaded guilty and said his wife was innocent of the thieving, with which they were jointly charged. She was let go and he sent to the Central Prison for six months.

MR. TARTE'S GOOD-BY.

Says He Retires From Parliamentary Life with Regret.

Montreal, Oct. 31.—Hon. J. Israel Tarte has issued a parting address to the electors of Ste. Marie, Quebec. After reaffirming his position in fiscal and transportation matters, Mr. Tarte says: "I retire without regret from Parliamentary life. I now feel a relief, as it have never enjoyed upon the gratitude of political parties. Now, in fact, who would cheer hoped in this fragile soil frequently find that they have built in sand. I carry with me the profound conviction that I did my duty to the States and my knowledge and judgment towards my country and towards the party to which I entered during its darker days."

Stomach Troubles Can Be Cured

Mr. Joseph Pominville, one of the most prominent business men in Stillwater, Minn., after having spent $2,000 with the best doctors for a stomach trouble without relief, was advised to try a box of Chamberlain,s Stomach and Liver Tablets. He did so and is a well man today. If troubled with indigestion, bilious attacks, lack of appetite or constipation, these Tablets are just what you need. Price 25c.; all druggists.

Double Drowning.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—Word has been received of the drowning in Lake Pitobogu, Pontiac County, Thursday night, of Frank Richies and Angus McLean, of Buffalo, NY. With a party including father and two uncle of McLean, they were at a hunting camp in the unsurveyed wilds of Pontiac, about twenty-five miles northwest of Gracefield, the nearest railway station. They were returning to camp in a canoe and evidently had upset. The upturned canoe was found by others of the party and a search immediately instituted. The theory is that cramps and exposure caused the drowning, the boys sticking in the bottom of the upturned canoe was a mistake. Life is supposed they were using this as a means of keeping afloat until one becoming cramped the other went to his assistance and both drowned. The McLean formerly lived in Buffalo, Ingham, Que. McLean was 19 years old and Richies 21.

Congressman Is Interfering.

Detroit, Oct. 31.—Congressman Lucking has interceded himself in Edward Slaughter, condemned to be hanged at Sandwich Dec. 22. Rev. Mr. Powell, pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Detroit, headed a delegation to whom Mr. Lucking agreed to do all in his power for the young man, who is an American subject, having been in Canada only four months. It is said that Congressman Lucking has seer R. F. Sutherland, K.C., of London, Ont., to come to an understanding as to procedure.

RIOTOUS DEPUTIES.

Scene of Them Throw Inkstands in the Melee.

Madrid, Oct. 31.—Prolonged and tumultuous scenes have occurred in the Chamber of Deputies during the course of debate on proposals for the prosecution of certain deputies. The Republican conquest in the opposition's obstructive tactics compelled a suspension of Saturday's sitting and the appointment of a secret committee to give judgment concerning insulting exchanges during the debate.

The sitting was subsequently resumed. The opposition repeatedly demanded roll calls on votes and the proceedings were heated and disorderly. The president, being threatened with personal violence, had to be protected by the clerks and attendants. The crucifix behind the president's chair was overturned by blows of sticks; all the writing material on adjacent desks was swept to the floor, and ink stands were flung at the vice-president.

Premier Maura, present on the ministerial bench from 7 o'clock in the evening, decline to be drawn and leave till the sitting adjourned, which did not occur till late last evening.

It is reported that the Premier will suspend the sittings and ask the Chamber for a vote of confidence.

Sues For Alleged Defamation.

Montreal, Nov. 1.—The London Rubber Company has entered suit against the National Rubber Company for $10,000 for alleged defamatory statements as to the financial standing of the London company.

An Air Ship That Sinks.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 1.—After circling in every direction at a height of 2,000 feet above the cascades, in sight of thousands of cheering enthusiastic spectators on the World's Fair grounds, A. Roy Knabenshue, of Toledo, in command of Thomas S. Baldwin's airship, California Arrow, gradually returned to the place from which he started, covering three and one-half miles in 37 minutes in a gentle breeze and dead in the way against an eight-mile wind.

Cotton Mills Resume.

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 1.—The Booth cotton mills, which have been idle for the past three months, resumed operations yesterday. By next Monday the regular number, 1,600, will be employed. The mills will be operated full time all winter.

Providence, Nov. 1.—The mills of the Hope Company, in the villages of Hope and Phoenix went on a full time basis yesterday. They have about 500 employes.

Augusta, Me., Nov. 1.—The Edwards Manufacturing Co.'s cotton mills were started yesterday, after a shut down of four months. A ten per cent. reduction in wages went into effect yesterday, but about 75 per cent. of the 1,300 operatives went into the mills.

Wee Kirkers Want Their Own.

Edinburgh, Nov. 1.—The Free Churchers, now commonly called the "Wee Kirkers," have served the general assembly of the United Free Church with a notice to quit and hand over all the church property, including assembly hall, three colleges at Edinburgh, Glasgow and Aberdeen; all the missions abroad and the churches and manses in Scotland, numbering 1,100 and valued at $65,000,000.

Fire At Peterboro.

Peterboro, Nov. 1.—At 1 o'clock yesterday a fire broke out in Doney's planing mills and cheese-box factory, which resulted in the complete destruction of the planing mills. The box factory was saved. The fire is supposed to be due to some derangement of the electric motor. The loss is put at $6,000.

Dead While Shooting.

Chatham, Oct. 27.—The friends of John Filgeon of Chatham township, were horrified to hear yesterday of his sudden death while duck shooting at Bear Creek Tuesday. How the accident occurred is unknown. The deceased with a friend, Simon Thibodeau, was shooting ducks, when he just fired at a duck, the friend thinking he found his friend lying prone on the ground, and death followed almost instantly.

ROSEBERY'S ADVICE.

Let Tariff Reformers and Canadians Join in Drafting Treaty.

London, Oct. 31.—Lord Rosebery, speaking at Trowbridge, likened the members of the Government to pebbles jumping through different fiscal hoops at the crack of Mr. Chamberlain's whip. In connection with fiscal reform the people had to consider Mr. Chamberlain, stated he regarded Mr. Chamberlain's policy as certain to bring disaster at it sought to impair the splendid relations of our glorious heritage by imposing a fiscal policy in the same of our fellow-subjects in the colonies. He thought if Great Britain threw up her free trade policy Canada would be willing to make a commercial treaty with the Mother Country.

Sir Howard Vincent had said that 95 per cent. of the Canadians were in favor of Mr. Chamberlain's proposals. Let five of the tariff reform syndicate meet five skillful representatives of these Canadians and draft a new commercial treaty on the lines of Mr. Chamberlain's proposals and they would meet with considerable difficulties, but if the rough draft they produced would be a great stride in the direction of commercial union, he would recommend the matter of a treaty to the Tariff Reform League.

Ned McLaren Dead.

Winnipeg, Oct. 31.—While hunting near Biarmore, Alta., on Friday last, Ned McLaren, a nephew of Mr. McLaren, the lumber king, met with a serious shooting accident. While walking on a log he drew fire rifle towards him. The gun discharged and the bullet entered his body over the heart. He is in a critical condition at Frank Hospital.

Killed in Runaway.

Barrie, Oct. 31.—John Lemon of Wyebridge was fatally injured Monday night while driving home from Barrie. It is supposed his horse ran away as he was found on the road with his head crushed and three ribs fractured. Deceased was 72 years of age. He was a member of the Board of License Commissioners for Centre Simcoe.

CORRESPONDENTS LETTERS

LONG POINT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Evelyn McNish and Mr. James Rea have returned from Manitoba. Mr. Rea intends going back to the West in the spring. He has bought a piece of land and speaks very highly of Western Canada.

Mr. McNish had a very narrow escape last Tuesday when his team took the notion to run away. The horses and wagon passed over a bridge, and one horse slightly hurt. The accident happened while Mr. McNish was in between the horses fixing the harness. When the horses started to run away he jumped out on the wagon and beyond a few slight bruises he was not seriously hurt. He is again able to be about his work.

Mr. G. H. Hopkins, of the busy burg of Kirkfield, visited their friends here lately.

MT. HOREB.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The farmers of this vicinity have threshed almost all in, and most of them are done ploughing.

Mr. Jas. Skino, Jr., carries a smile on his face, over the arrival of a young son.

Sickness is in our midst at present.

The youngest son of Mr. John Hickson is languring with a serious attack of typhoid fever. The attention of Drs Gillespie and Brown is being rendered as well as could be expected.

Mrs. Wm. Elliott has been seriously ill during the past two weeks. We hope for her speedy recovery.

Dr. Clarke was called on to attend Mr. John Sinnott one day last week. We hope he will soon be better.

Miss Irene Walters, of Fenelon Falls, spent the past week visiting her brother, Mr. E. Walters of Pine Grove, and also her friend Miss Vida Bell, of Omemee. Mr. Wm. Bell and Willis Coulter, of Mt. Horeb, also of Pine Grove, Mr. E. Walters, has departed from our midst, after having spent a very pleasant summer in this community. He made many friends for himself in this neighborhood and will be greatly missed by all.

Mr. Fred Crawford and sister, of Manvers, were the guests of Miss Annie Hart, on Sunday last.

JANETVILLE.

(Special to The Post.)

In connection with the recent death of the late E. W. McClure, or as he was familiarly called by his friends and associates, "Eddie," a brief review of the sad circumstances surrounding his death would no doubt be of interest to many of his acquaintances throughout the country who heard of his early demise with feelings of the most profound regret. On the evening of Wednesday, Sept. 28th, Eddie McClure drove into our village with a one-horse waggon and a couple of sample cases. He represented the wholesale boot and shoe firm of McLaren & Hallam, Toronto. After calling on the local dealers he started for Bethany, when going down Chipmunk Hill as far as is known the rig must have run on to the horse, which suddenly bolted, throwing the occupant of the rig violently to the ground. Mrs. J. Hawkins of Lindsay, was an eye-witness of the occurrence and ran about to the nearest house, Messrs. John Mitchell and Andrew Graham drove up. The poor young fellow was still living in a dazed condition, and as it became evident to those present that his injuries were of a most serious nature, it was decided to have him conveyed to the Janetville, where he could have medical attendance. Mr. Graham volunteering to drive him over. Arriving at the village permission was given by Mr. Hobbs of the Temperance house, to have him placed thereon until the extent of his injuries could be ascertained. Dr. Nesmyth was immediately called in and after an examination pronounced the injury to be concussion of the brain. The house that he represented was notified at once, and Mr. McLaren, a member of the firm, arrived the next morning. After consulting with Dr. Nesmyth they concluded that his injuries were of too serious a nature to allow of his removal, so all care and arrangements were consequently made for his comfort, with the best possible attention, medical and nursing. The services of Mrs. Hobbs, a trained nurse, from Chicago, (who had been visiting her people here), were secured, and for a time it was thought that the patient might survive his injuries. So great was the firm's concern for the young man that shortly after some days had again came down, accompanied by Mrs. McClure, a physician, who was consulted with Dr. Nesmyth but owing to the nature of the injury was unable to do but little. For days and weeks the poor fellow lay in a semi-conscious condition, his friends meanwhile hoping that his young and robust constitution would enable him to survive the shock. A slight improvement set in for a second time, and for days watched by his friends he would lie in his cosy room, apparently unconscious of his surroundings, and would not seem to recognize her and mentioned her name. He never fully realized what had befallen him. On Friday, 21st, a slight change was noticeable in his condition for the worse; gradually he became weaker and at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, he quietly breathed his last, without a struggle. Death, whilst sad at all times, was render, of death as it is, yet we can only take into account the bright prospects which were in store for him, and his youthfulness—having not lately attained his twenty-first birthday. Only it is the old story verified "In the midst of life we are in death." The remains of the late subject of death Mr. McLaren again came down and took charge of the funeral arrangements. On Tuesday afternoon a funeral service was held at the Temperance house, after which the remains were conveyed to Cloko Station, followed by a number of sympathizing friends in the village, who turned out to pay a last tribute of respect to one who whilst a stranger to them, yet had been looked upon as a brother. The remains after being conveyed to the home of his mother, in Toronto, were interred on Thursday morning in the family burying ground at Chatford. Too much can not be said of Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs and family for the kindly and christian spirit evinced towards the young sufferer during his illness. When afflictions befall us, actions count for more than words. The people of Janetville, one and all, extend to the sorrowing mother and sisters their heartfelt sympathy in the great loss they have sustained by the death of a dutiful son and loving brother.

YANKEES WONT HAVE THEM.

Wealthy Cypriot Refused Entrance Into the United States.

Montreal, Oct. 27.—Twenty Roumanian gypsies were up before Judge Fortier yesterday morning under a writ of habeas corpus. They had tried to enter the States but were deported, and then came to Canada. They were detained on the Ionian under orders from England, under the "undesirable immigration" law. The party are said to have $20,000 in Boston, and are not apparently distressed. On the argument, P. Ryan, for the Department of the Interior, opposed the writ of habeas corpus, claiming that the people were gypsies of notorious character, who lived by fortune-telling robbery. This the people denied. Their queen came down from Boston in an effort to release them, but the case was enlarged until to-day, pending word from the Department. The judge ordered the women and children to be released under $1,000 each bail, and the men once produced $500 in American eagles, but the judge said not the cash to make up the balance and will have to remain on the Ionian until to-day.

ENGINEER DAUPHIN KILLED.

Accident On the C.P.R. Line Near Canmore, B.C.

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—A small wooden trestle, forty-five feet long, crossing a creek near Canmore, B.C., gave way at 4 o'clock of the 19th, and Saturday night, at a freight train was crossing, and toppled into the creek, a distance of 25 feet. The trestle had been afire, which weakened the structure. All the waters of the creek, swollen by rains, completed the work, so that it toppled and fell as the engine ran on it. Fireman R. H. Lloyd was injured, sustaining a fracture of both the remainder of the train hands escaped injury.

POLITICS IN A NUTSHELL.

Premier Laurier arrived at Quebec Sunday from Three Rivers, and spoke Monday night at Quebec to Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick. The Premier is suffering from a cold. He returns to Quebec today and stays at Chateau Frontenac until after the election.

It is probable that the electors in Quebec County will have to be postponed on account of the serious illness of L. A. Rousseau who is said to be dying. The act provides for such an emergency.

TAKING THE BODY HOME.

Remains of Former President Kruger Reach Delagoa Bay Under Guard.

The Hague, Nov. 1.—The remains of former President Kruger of the Transvaal, who died here on July last, were removed from the cemetery yesterday and taken to Scheveningen for conveyance to South Africa, on board the warship Gelderland. Six wreaths from Queen Wilhelmina, the Prince Consort, and from President Steyn, covered the coffin. Not much interest was shown. A chapelle ardente has been erected on the steamer, covered with black drapery, embellished with inscriptions in silver letters, among them: "I have fought a good fight. I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

KILLED WIFE WITH AN AXE.

Cold-Blooded Deed At An Early Hour Wednesday in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Oct. 27.—A brutal murder was committed in this city a few moments before 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Ellen Ostler, a waitress, who lived in the west end of the city, entered all the rooms of the house in which she lived, with a lamp and a bloody axe in his hand and cut down her husband, who was a woman."

On investigation the inmates found Mrs. Taylor lying on a couch in her bedroom, fully dressed, with a head split open and quite dead.

The murderer was found sober and apparently in his senses, smoking his pipe, wanted to explain the nature of the murder, and pointed to a pair of glass of whisky. He had been in the habit of taking a drop, but was not drinking more than his wont.

When taken before the police on him he remarked that he was quite comfortable, and was not concerned about his crime. His wife's maiden name was Hatchan. She came from Dearborn, near Ottawa, and was about forty years of age.

The coroner stated that he did not believe the man was responsible for his withstanding his unaccountable crime and apparently reasonable conduct.

Sent Up For Trial.

Ingersoll, Oct. 27.—In the police court yesterday afternoon, Mrs. William Rex was sent up for preliminary hearing on the charge of murdering her husband. The evidence against the three witnesses had been taken, which was to the effect that on the night of the inquest, the magistrate sent the prisoner up for trial. Her bail for spring assizes in prosecution was conducted by Crown Attorney Hall of Woodstock, and J. L. Patterson, Ingersoll, defended.

Demand For Canadian Boots.

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—Edgar Tripp, Canadian commercial agent at Cape Colony, writes to the department here saying there is a demand for Canadian boots. Of $300,000 worth imported last year, Canada got only $5,000.

October Customs Revenue.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—The custom revenue for October amounted to $3,609,526, an increase of 125 per cent. over the same four weeks of 1903, when the total was $1,602,292. For October, 1903, this revenue was $3,469,018, an increase of $189,608.

A Notable Sale of Furs . . at Ford's . .

Here Are Several Good Reasons Why You Should Buy Your Furs Here.

It wouldn't be common sense to expect you to buy Furs here unless your money does you best service. And right here is a good place to stick a pin.

Our Syndicate Store order for Furs totaled up to nearly Twenty Thousand Dollars. Is it any wonder then that we get first choice and lowest prices from reliable manufacturers when we buy.

This then is the main reason why we can quote you prices 10 per cent. to 25 per cent. lower than if we bought in single store lots.

Our usual fair and reasonable profit then is reckoned from this low basis and also on the basis of selling to all alike for cash only; which is another good reason why we can and do quote you lower prices than in most fur stores.

Now don't buy Furs to regret it—paying too much in price, getting too little in quality. If you buy here you get your money's worth. Everybody wants that, everybody's entitled to it—not everybody gets it in furs particularly. For there's room a-plenty for fraud in Furs—wrong doing that shows in the wear, but not in the new fur. Can you detect these weak spots? Not many without an expert eye can, and is fur buying anything else it pays to learn on a safe shore where we tell you the exact truth about them and guarantee every article that's sold to be as represented. Then we hand your money back if for any reason the article you are dissatisfied with. The following prices on these most wanted lines will prove to you upon examination and comparison that this is a fur stock where you get full money's worth.

Rt. Hon. John Morley.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—Yesterday at the Toronto Conservatory, Mr. Goldwin Smith as his sponsor, the Right Hon. John Morley had conferred upon him the degree of LL.D. Mr. Morley delivered an address in reply which will be a classic in the annals of the university. The distinguished Englishman also addressed the Canadian Club, 600 of the members being present.

The Newfoundland Elections.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 1.—The general elections yesterday passed off quietly and no disorders have been reported. The full result will not be known before Thursday, owing to the fact that under the Newfoundland system all ballots deposited in the central station of each district.

Abandon Ship At Sea.

New York, Nov. 1.—Eight officers and 22 men of the crew of the British steamer Kelvin, which was abandoned at sea Oct. 7, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Ponce from Puerto Rico. The Kelvin was abandoned Oct. 9, having sprung a leak.

Will Be Bishop Scollard.

Peterboro, Oct. 29.—The Catholic diocese of Peterboro, which as at present constituted is the largest diocese in Ontario, is about to be divided, and the northern and western part taken off. An official bull from Rome making the change, is expected in a few days. Rev. Father Scollard will be the new bishop. He is 45 years old.

Newfoundland Elections.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 31.—The preliminary general election will be held to-day. The campaign closed last night. It is the prevailing impression that the Bonaventure will win, though by a smaller majority than four years ago. The struggle has been the fiercest in the political history of Newfoundland.

Town Wiped Out.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 31.—Corinth, Ky., a town of 350 inhabitants, was almost wiped out by fire Saturday night. Twenty-one buildings were destroyed, at a loss of $50,000, with insurance of $15,000.

COLDS

A Caution

The very hour a cold starts is the time to check it. Don't wait—it may become deep-seated and the cure will be harder then. Every hour lost at the start may add days to your suffering. Take

VALENTIA.

(Special to The Post.)

Revival services are being held in the church here beginning on Monday last. Rev Mr. Clarke, of Little Britain circuit, attends each evening and the indications are that a good well be accomplished.

The young people of the district are looking forward eagerly for Thanksgiving day to arrive, as the indications are that this year's fowl supper will eclipse anything of the kind ever the attempted. With good roads it cannot fail to be a complete success.

Mr. Jas. Hobbs, of Janetville, who by the way, has become quite a fowl fancier was here the other day and secured a few fine specimens of speckled Wyandottes from Mr. W. Marks, to add to his breeding stock.

Mrs. Jas. Stokes last spring, fed for and secured, from Dentonia farm, a pedigreed Yorkshire sow, a fowl which are much in demand for table use. The results were so satisfactory as looked for, as only one chicken came to maturity out of the litter, leaving it to be said the male preponderance. The results along the line of breeding will be watched.

The home of Messrs. Thos. Fisher and Wm. Fisher have been blest by the arrival of two infi visitors who have come to stay.

Mr. Jas. Casey had the misfortune to have the first spot taken from one of his fingers by coming in contact with a turnip machine. It has quite painful, but no serious results are anticipated.

Mr. Thos Bloodzoe, one of our progressive young farmers, paid your town a visit on last Saturday combining business with pleasure.

FLEETWOOD

(Special to The Post.)

The anniversary services in connection with the Methodist church of the Brick Corners were held on Sunday and Monday, the 16th and 17th of Oct. The weather being fine and the roads in perfect condition, the attendance on both occasions was unusually large. The fowl supper on Monday evening, which has become an annual affair, was looked forward to with marked interest by the young people for miles around and the result fully at all expectations, the ladies having committee feel gratefully to all in such generally manifested a feeling hand to the good work. The supper was in all that could be desired there being full and plenty for all. After the supper was over referred all that could gave additions received to the church, which, taken all and thoroughly enjoyed by all. The opening chorus by the choir was given in good form and was warmly applauded. A duet by Miss Sluggitt and Dandas with mandolin accompaniment was well received. The Joe Rest gave several violin selections in a masterly style, accompanied on the organ by Miss Dandas. Miss English and Mrs. Peel sang a comic of duetts and little Eddie Stockdale proved to be a favorite in a humorous recitation. Since will not permit of a particular mention of the performer, but will say that special mention should be made of the singing of the Misses Robbs. Their rendering of a couple of well-selected duetts was the chief feature of the evening's entertainment. These young ladies possess voices of a clear, rich tone and of more than ordinary compass, and blend harmoniously together. They were frequently encored. The Rev. Mr. Harrison was unavoidably absent and was much missed, for our committee had being furnished with the names of the speakers of the number of the minutes in charge. Is unable to give much information as to those taking part in the speeches. We understand the handsome sum of about $84 was realized from the receipts of the supper.

IRONDALE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Hunting and fishing are on, the talk we hear these days is about a great many who have left the city for pasture for their old hunting grounds are nuts.

Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Lindsay, gave a lecture on Monday night, the subject of his speech being, "A Walk at Sea." Everyone enjoyed it very much. Refreshments were served.

Mr. Geo. Hancock and wife, of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hancock.

Miss L. M. Barr was visiting her brother for a short time this week.

Mr. Wilfrid Hancock gave a dance on Monday night, and we believe it was a social affair from all the dances returned home in the wee hours of the morning and if all are home as fast as they started they made surely get home before break of day.

Mr. A. Graham returned home on Monday.

JANEDVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Hallowe'en passed without any harm being done. Some gates were unhinged from their places and other small tricks were played.

Mr. Thomas Syer, sr., has returned from Manitoba. He speaks very favorably of that province.

Misses Eva Bradburn and Julia Richardson, students at the Lindsay Collegiate Institute, were at home over Sunday. Also Miss Maggie Burns, a student attending the Lindsay Federal business college, was at home over Sunday. Janetville has more young ladies in Lindsay than any other village of its size.

Our cheese factory closed on Saturday of last week and Mr. J. Purden, our clever cheesemaker feels proud of his season's work.

Mr. Isaac Fair is kept busy chopping and sawing.

The election contest, which has occupied the attention of people for past fortnight, was decided on Thursday, and now they can breathe more freely and settle down to work.

The Orangeville band was crowded with people, and enjoyed themselves on Wednesday, evening, Oct. 26th, to beat of drum. Mr. Aylesworth, who appeared for the first time before a Janetville audience, Mr. Wilfrid Philip, of Cartwright, presided in place of Dr. Nanwood, who was on the platform were Mr. Gibson, barrister, of Toronto, and Mr. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice. The first speaker was Mr. Gibson who introduced Mr. Aylesworth to the people. He was followed by Mr. T. Stewart of Lindsay. Messrs. Stewart and Gibson did not make long addresses, and consequently the crowd came to hear Mr. Aylesworth and they got what to be paid for them of their rights. Mr. Aylesworth on rising to address the audience was greeted with applause. His address was plain and practical and dwelt on the political issues of the day. He concluded with an appeal to the electors to support the party if they thought he was worthy of it, and if not to vote for Mr. Ward.

Miss Wisgen, teacher, accompanied the Janetville Band to Lindsay with her parents near Lindsay.

On account of the anniversary services on Sunday last, at Ballyduff, there was no preaching in the Presbyterian church.

Potatoes are being supplied with the cool set of the best quality they have ever had for the time to bring along your cows large and small, for they will need it in the cold and stormy weather.

Mr. Robt. McDowell has decided to rent his farm for a term of five years. He has rented his farm to Mr. Wm. Hamilton, of Mount Horeb.

Mr. Thos. Gostlin's sale of farm stock and implements is to take place on Nov. 11th.

Our teachers, Mr. A. W. Bradburn and Miss L. Wilson, are re-engaged for another year. This is a step in the right direction. Mr. A. W. Bradburn's success this year at the entrance examination was seven pupils.

The Methodists have decided not to hold their annual fowl dinner this year, but to have thanks-offering services at some future date instead.

The service in connection with the anniversary of the Lord's supper will be held in the Methodist church here on Sabbath next, at half-past ten o'clock. In the evening at half-past six an evangelistic service will be held.

WOODVILLE.

(Special to the Post.)

The residence of Mrs. Wm. Warren, "Maple Cottage," was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday, Oct. 24th, 1904, when the eldest daughter was united in marriage to Mr. D. J. Delouiere, of Toronto, formerly of Woodville, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. W. Elliott, in the presence of over 50 guests. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Wm. Holmes, of Oshawa, was becomingly dressed in cream silk with chiffon and lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid, Miss Adda S. Warren, sister of the bride, was attired in brown silk and chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums. Miss Normia Delouiere, sister of the groom, the flower girl was prettily dressed in white silk and carried a basket of maidenhair ferns and pink and white carnations. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Percy Delouiere, of Woodville. In the strains of the wedding march, which was played by Miss Lotta M. Oliver, the bridal party entered the parlor under an arch, which was profusely adorned with choice flowers. After the ceremony the party adjourned to the dining room, where a sumptuous repast was served. The presents were numerous and costly, the gifts of the bride being over two dollars in gold to the bridesmaid, a pearl pin to the groom, and to the flower girl a necklace, and to the groomsman a gold scarf pin. The bride travelling suit was of blue broadcloth, and hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Delouiere left for Toronto amid showers of rice.

Political notes from Wolfsbane—Hon. Mr. Ross, Premier of the N. W. T., and Wilfrid Laurier as being given at every place they visit. An evening given by three people is a new sort of a political meeting, but it was for Sir Wilfrid got. The only people on the platform with Sir Wilfrid were Mr. Clan McKinnon, the Lethbridge, Pub lisher, Postmaster Lamont, and the Postmaster Clark. Sir Wilfrid addressed a crowd of about 1,000 people. He was followed by Mr. T. Stewart of Lindsay. Messrs. Lamont and Gibson did not make long addresses, and consequently the crowd came to hear Mr. Aylesworth and they got what to be paid for them of their rights. Big Band Lumber Co.

Mr. F. Edmonds, jr., of the Big Band Lumber Co., of Arrowhead, B. C., is in town on business. Mr. Edmonds Fred is most enthusiastic concerning the affairs of the Company, and with the amount of lumber sawed and with the amount of lumber sold, stockholders. Mr. Edmonds returns home on Saturday, Nov. 5th, with Mr. Hitchin and Mr. G. A. Jordan are disposed to take a trip to the Company, which is operated by Mr. Edmonds, and Mr. Hitchin, who is a director, are interested in such an enterprise, although it is a distance.

Railway Commission Praised.

Mr. Edmonds, jr., of the Company, according to a statement to be published in the November issue of the Canadian Magazine, is very much pleased at the action of the railway commission in appointing a special commissioner to investigate the affairs of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, and he says that it is time the United States to see what measures have been taken by the Canadian railway and fruit growers across the border for the protection of their fruit. A special effort will be made by this commissioner to find out what is the best and will be suitable for the transportation of fruit, and for the protection of the fruit growers. The commissioner will be sent to other seasons for other purposes. Short season for shipping fruit has been the cause of much loss in the past to the supplying of properly fitted cars for the fruit.

JANETVILLE.

(Special to The Post.)

Mrs. McCrae of St. Paul's church, Toronto, mother of Mr. Eddie McClure, traveller, who died at Toronto on Monday, 7th inst., has the sympathy of friends in Janetville in the sad loss of her son. Mr. McClure was a popular young man, and he was highly esteemed by being the own boy in Janetville driving, which to convey her heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends in Janetville and vicinity, who showed in such a marked way her interest in Mr. McClure during his illness and their kind sympathy for herself and family. (If in their case, bereavement).

LIFFORD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Death claimed another of our first settlers in this township on Monday last, in the person of Mr. Reuben Touchburn, aged 87 years. He was always a member of the Anglican church and a conservative in politics. He leaves a widow, and two sons and four daughters to mourn his loss.

Miss Bella Fallbrook is visiting friends in this part.

Mrs. A. Begg, of Port Hope, and Mrs. Potter, of Niagara, are the guests of Mrs. J. W. Dundas this week.

Lief, strayed, or stolen, on Nov. 9th, 1904, from the premises of the Tory party in Canada. Also Mr. Public Opinion, of late of this township known where they are, but when last seen they were going in the direction of Salt Creek. Any information that will lead to their recovery will be liberally rewarded.

Wanted, a new leader for the Tory party in Canada. Apply to public—one that will stand any storm. Any person having one like this in their possession will place Provoked it at once.

OAKMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Nature has been particularly kind last month—all the winding up of the crops—and the fall of rain which followed is still safe and prosperous.

Nearly all the leaders of the political life of the village of Oakmee and the township of Ops were in Lindsay on Thursday, the majority of them reduced so low as in the last, when it was only a year, but it is not as high as 200. It is time Conservatives should follow the lead of the grand example of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, 1896 Registration Fund from Petersboro' interested quite few ladies and gentlemen in a display of fireworks, but apart from this attraction there was not much interest or spark. Colonel Hughes and Messrs. Cox and Carnegie, M.P., were on the platform and the hall was well seated as chairman, and the speeches were appreciated and throughout, showing that the Tories have lost their interest in political meetings. Because there are only 90 Grits and Tories in Ops, there is not a dead set always to disturb the Tory meetings, but they are on the qui vive and will continue to grow.

There was an effigy strung up last week on the premises of a Liberal in Omemee, which represented the Rev. Mr. Hoxall's "Kingdom Come," and labelled "Hoxall" The real gentleman was very much annoyed and ordered it to be taken down. During his four years' experience he never heard of such ridiculous conduct in the Kingdom.

The church bells rang during the Prince of Wales's visit to Omemee (world of in England), so as expressed in the Lindsay Post.

There will be a special song service in the Methodist church next Sabbath, in which the Oakmee Tory family will take part.

Lindsay is to be a rare treat to Oakmee, Petersboro.

COBOCONK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On the 28th of last month, Mr. Sam Hall, who has been G. T. R. agent here for the past seven years, left for Bowmanville to take up a popular official and his friends engertained Mr. and Mrs. Hall evening previous to his leaving at a social supper given in the Public house. About forty sat down to supper, which was of the best in variety and service. Mr. Thos. Hall, of Toronto, M.P., who presided at the head of the table, and Mr. Hart at the right, called on the different toasts which were all responded to, viz: "The King," brought Mr. John Hall to his feet to make a splendid speech; "The Army," and Mr. Hart brought out Rev. A. R. Chaffee, B. A., a recent arrival, who received much applause for his cousing remarks; "Our Guest," Mr. Hall responding. "Here's a jolly good fellow," and the reading of an address and presenting regret for the departure of our popular friend. Mr. Hall made a suitably and feeling reply, and "Auld Lang Syne" was sung, answered by Mr. T. C. Bechard and Dr. Keefer. Our manufacturing interests: Bed Rm. Cutlery and M. C. Graney for sponsors. Our Agricultural interests, Mr. Hall, responded by Mr. Jno. T. Perkins, of Norland. The toast list brought out Mr. A. Hunt and Mr. C. Moore, to whom Mr. J. H. Bechard responded. Refreshments were brought to a close by the benediction by Mr. Kinsey. Mr. Hart was one of our best singers and he will be greatly missed.

The returns were made public in the C. O. O. F. hall on the evening of the election day and at the R. R. station. Reformers and Conservatives being present at both places. Rich parts seemed to find something to be thankful for.

Mrs. J. R. Phillip returned on the years for trying a position as clerk and F. X. Gaultier for three years for stealing from his partners in a lorative business.

A week visiting relatives and friends at Omemee.

Mrs. (Rev.) T. H. McDonald is at present visiting her daughter, Mrs. Robinson, at Bangor, Maine.

Mr. Brandon, of Sunderland, spent last week visiting in the family of his sister, Mrs. Jno. Ham.

VICTORIA ROAD.

Miss Gretta Parrington, of Janetville, is the guest of Miss Ella Hogarth.

Mr. Joseph Taylor, of Toronto spent a week here hunting.

Several hunters are out from parts through here on their way to Longford and other parts.

Miss Jessie Harling left on Monday for Gooderham where she has accepted a position.

The Epworth League concert held here on Friday last was a success, but owing to the wet night, the attendance was not as large as expected. Rev. W. T. Wickett occupied the chair. Speeches were given by Rev. W. Elliott, of Woodville, and Mr. J. H. Peel and Mr. Wilkins. Miss Margaret Shields proved herself to be a singer of merit, and received applause she received indicating that a public of the neighborhood was very much delighted with her numbers. Miss Annie Jackson, of Glenarm, also gave a most pleasing manner, her most popular number "Bonnie Scotland." Mr. G. Brown's numbers were "She Stoops to Conquer" and "Scottish Songs" and encores. They all were highly appreciated.

Mr. A. Anderson and Rev. A. J. Terrill of Lindsay, spent one of the few days' hunting. We wish them success.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Houston and Miss Jolin were guests of Mr. A. J. Williams last week.

The Raven Lake Cement Co. have commenced the work of filling in for the winter.

BETHANY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The annual anniversary services of the Methodist church at this place were held on Sunday and Monday last, and owing to the beautiful weather the attendance was thing passed off in a most satisfactory manner. The church was delivered on Sunday at both morning and evening services by a collection taken up, which amounted to over twenty dollars. On Monday evening a fowl dinner was served in the town hall, and notwithstanding the many prizes, and the fact that an abundance on hand and enough left to have another dinner on Wednesday, which was held on Wednesday, in the form of a social, and other things had been disposed of those present repaired to the church, where the usual chinkfest of a social nature was rendered. An address by Mr. Chas. Cole, the oldest member and judging from the number of years he has been after work, some of sound might have been looked for, but the number was fairly well received. Mr. Cole, in his address, then gave a solo, which was most emotionally received, and he had to respond to a well merited encore. Rev. Mr. Wright, the pastor, feature of the evening's entertainment and brought forth round after round of applause. Mr. Rev. Edwards, of Manilla, sang in a most pleasing manner, and the other numbers rendered hearty encore, to which she responded, and concluded the. Rev. Mr. Johnson, Presbyterian minister, who delivered a most interesting discourse interspersed with several humorous anecdotes, and all pronounced it the best sermon on behalf of the congregation. Rev. Mr. Johnson, of Fenelon Falls, Rev. Mr. Ardson, (who were members of the choir for many years, and who came down to reside in Lindsay) with an illuminated address, and presented the latter for the appreciation of their past services. A pleasing feature of the proceedings was the burning of the mortgage, which had been paid off some time ago. Cut Ward M. P. acted as chairman, and in his remarks said that the receipts, we understand, were something over one hundred dollars.

MERRY WEDDING BELLS

O'Neil—Powers.

A quiet and pretty wedding was celebrated on Wednesday morning last at St. Lukes church, Downeyville, when Miss Teresa E. Powers, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Powers, of Emily, was married to Mrs. Jas. O'Neill, of King's Wharf, in the presence of a large congregation of friends and relatives of the bride and groom. After the nuptial mass was celebrated and all partook of a wedding breakfast at the bride's father's, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served by the bride's mother, aunt of the bride, acting as hostess.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a dark blue broadcloth, prettily trimmed with satin and silk to match, and carried a bouquet of roses with ribbon to match. Miss Maggie Mitchell was bridesmaid, wearing a shirred suit of navy nun's veiling with white embroidered chiffon trimmed with lace. The groom was assisted by Mr. Michael Hayes. The presents to the bride were both numerous and valuable, and were a pleasing token of commendation from many friends. The bride's gifts were a gold watch, a beautiful crescent of pearls and a set of bedroom furniture, and a piano, Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil left in the evening for their home in Kings Wharf.

A Chapel for the Adventists.

Mr. Lang, of Toronto, is filling up the fine hall over Mr. A. E. Campbell's grocery warehouse on William st. as a small chapel in which the Seventh Day Adventists will hold worship. The chapel will be well furnished and will be very well adapted for the purpose. Mr. Lang is a member of the Adventist persuasion.

CABINET OF SILVER

Handsome Presentation to the Hon. J. R. Stratton.

THE SECRETARY'S SPEECH

Premier's Tribute to the Minister's Administrative Ability, Frequent Appeals to Officials of the Department—Mr. Stratton Makes An Incidental Reference to Reports Concerning Retirement.

(Special to The Post.)

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, gave a dinner in the Speaker's Chambers in the Parliament Building last night to the Superintendents of the public institutions and the deputies of his departments. Mrs. Stratton, Premier Ross, Messrs. Robert Jaffray, R. B. Hall, M.P. for West Peterboro', John Dinsley, M.P. for East Peterboro' and other guests. The officials present were Mrs. O'Sullivan, Miss Gleason, Miss Kirk, J. J. F. O. Usher, R. Christie, E. Saunders, J. W. Gordon, E. A. MacLaurin, E. C. Myers, Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith, Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, Dr. D. Clark, Dr. T. Gilmour, Toronto; R. Matheson, Belleville; H. F. Gardner, Hamilton; Dr. G. A. Ross, Cullum, London; Dr. C. K. Clarke, Rockwood; Dr. Ryerson, Toronto; Dr. N. H. Beemer, Minico; Dr. J. H. Neher, Brockville; Dr. D. McNichol, Cobourg; Dr. A. H. Beaton, Orillia. The whole party sat at one table, which was artistically decorated, the feature being a pleasing arrangement of autumn chrysanthemums, ferns and smilax. Only toasts were responded to, the speakers being the host, the Premier and Dr. Clark. The latter acted as spokesman for his colleagues in the service in the presentation to Hon. Mr. Stratton of a handsome cabinet of silver, and, of course, made no political allusions.

Neither the Premier nor the Provincial Secretary dealt directly with the prospects of political issues, the reference thereto being in an incidental vein. Both gentlemen were frequently heartily applauded.

Provincial Secretary's Speech.

After the toast to the King had been duly honored, the Provincial Secretary addressed the gathering. He was glad to be with them, he said, the heads of the various institutions and departments. In his charge, as well as the Premier, all parts were greatly interested in Ontario, Mr. Robert Jaffray. For five years he had occupied the position of Provincial Secretary, and he felt that at least once in that time he should make to the officers of the department to thank them for the hearty and generous way in which they had co-operated with the Minister in the carrying out of their duties. He attach the intentions of the Government and the directions in Legislation in regard to the public institutions of the province, and administered by the Superintendents of the public institutions. He desired to express to them the appreciation of the head of the Central Prison and the Mercer Reformatory, and the Superintendents in connection with the former the Saltfleet Girls' Home and Industrial. Continuing, he spoke warmly of the manner in which the duties of the Assistant Provincial Secretary, Mr. Thos. Mulvey, K.C., were discharged, and said that in consequence of his work the department as a whole. In 1899, when he (Mr. Stratton) was appointed, the revenue from the fees of the Provincial Board of Health in that time had made great advances, with the result that the health of the people of Ontario was improved. The Provincial Board, advice of any State of the United States or Canada, and the sick and in unorganized districts were promptly grappled with and prevented from spreading throughout the province. Another branch of the department had attracted a good deal of attention—the liquor license branch. It was well conducted, the law was enforced, he believed, to the satisfaction of the people of the Province, and he thanked the responsible officers most heartily for their work. The Government had carried out a plan at Cobourg and the reformatory at Penetanguishene, which, if it continued, saved to the people over $250,000 annually. Before speaking in this connection, Mr. Stratton regretted the absence, through illhealth, of Mr. John Noble, Inspector of Prisons and Reformatories.

His Tenure of Office.

"Whether my time as Provincial Secretary is to be long or short," Mr. Stratton proceeded—"and if you believe the newspapers it may be short, but it may be longer than they think—there is no feeling but that of the greatest kindness between the Premier of the Province and myself. It is a matter of the choice of the Premier that any time as Provincial Secretary be short, and it is perhaps my wish that it be too long." He had been pretty closely associated with affairs of the Province during the past five years, and could honestly say that there had not been had given or could have given more time, attention and thought to their life lifting, upbuilding and advancement of the Province than the Premier. No case had done more to aid his Secretary in advancing and guarding the welfare of the public institutions, and in bringing them into that condition where officers were able, after visiting others in Canada and the United States, to say that Ontario institutions were well managed and conducted. The Premier's presence made this regard in his Whitby speech of 1898 had been amply fulfilled, and he believed that whenever an appeal was made to the people of the Province they would express their approval and gratification of that course. So far as the Opposition's attitude on this question was concerned, Mr. Stratton said he was often surprised at their lack of ideas and policy, and the weak criticisms they advanced in the Legislature, often showing they had no knowledge of the questions they were discussing. He concluding, he concluded with a reiteration of Hon. Premier's and having the officials of his department with him, and his thanks for their splendid work, and then proposed the Premier's health.

The Premier's Tribute.

Premier Ross thanked Mr. Stratton for his kind appreciation of the service he rendered, and said he was pleased to be with the superintendents of hospitals, charities and all that appertained thereto. He did not know whether it was as a compliment to himself or the Province. He could resign its honors with pleasure if he was sure that the hand his resignation into the right hands. Under the circumstances, or anything unexpected happened, he would proceed with the discharge of his duties, and if he carried on his work as Premier through the next decade of time he hoped they would find him as worthy as they appeared to find him before. He had, however, not occupied a seat in the House for many years, and both as a private member and as a Minister it was detectable that he was always in his place and always at work. The life of a politician was not an easy one, the competition between members of one house was keen and undue when put in the front of the battle, and their industry and application to and capacity for business. No Minister of the Government had discharged his duties with greater faithfulness, zeal and personal self-sacrifice than had Mr. Stratton. That sacrifice had been made to the Provincial Secretary's in the public interest, not for the Liberal party—that would be an unworthy object indeed—but for the Province. He was not sure that this was appreciated as it should be, but he was sure that when the history of the public institutions came to be written it would then be recognized that Mr. Stratton was the capable and efficient Minister. In conclusion Mr. Ross eulogized Mr. Stratton as a Minister of his department. If he should feel it to be in his interests to withdraw from the future time from the public service, he hoped he would be called upon to continue in the Government. Mr. Stratton's speech, he said, was a pleasure to hear, and he was sure that the Premier's speech would heard their want of appreciation of his splendid work. He was glad to see the Premier by proposing the health and prosperity of Mr. Stratton, to which the latter briefly replied.

The Presentation.

In a short address Dr. Daniel Clark of the Toronto Asylum, who in a few words will have been little more than the service, presented to Mr. Stratton the cabinet of silver referred to. Dr. Clark said it was a pleasure to Stratton's initiate, and on the 19th of the month, a beautiful cabinet, carved on a small silver plate: "Presented to Hon. J. R. Stratton, Secretary and Registrar of the Province of Ontario, by the Superintendents of public institutions and the deputies of the department, as a token of their esteem, 1904." Dr. Clark said.

Mr. Stratton expressed his thanks for the gift and for a speech so honoured of roses which was presented to Mrs. Stratton.

Killed By a Train.

Kincardine, Nov. 9.—Yesterday John Kirkpatrick, an old and highly respected resident of the Township of Huron, lost his life. Mr. Kirkpatrick was driving a team on the Saugeen road with a load of grain and in crossing the Grand Trunk Railway track was struck by the engine of the incoming train. He was killed instantly. One of his horses was killed and the other so badly injured that it had to be shot afterwards. Mr. Kirkpatrick leaves a family, consisting of a wife, one son and one daughter at home, and three daughters married. Mr. Kirkpatrick was sixty years of age.

Gave Himself Up.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—D. A. Weeger of the village of Northfield, in Simcoe county, came to Toronto yesterday and gave himself up to the police. He was given his liberty upon substantial bail bonds being furnished. He was charged with stealing an implement agent in Northfield. He had a new bicycle taken from him by Cycle and Motor Co. This gentleman was not satisfied with the settlement made by Weeger. They wrote him to that effect. He replied in such terms that a charge of sending indecent literature through the mails was laid against him.

Carnegie Re-elected.

Edinburgh, Nov. 6.—Andrew Carnegie has been unanimously re-elected Lord Rector of St. Andrew's University.

ROOSEVELT WINNER

Judge Parker Buried Completely Out of Sight.

BY REPUBLICAN LANDSLIDE

Messages Between the Victor At the Polls and the Vanquished—Roosevelt Carried all the Northern States—Declares He Will Not Again Be a Candidate for the President.

New York, Nov. 9.—The Republican national ticket has been elected by a vote in the electoral college that will exceed that of 292 given to McKinley in 1900. The result of yesterday's balloting was astounding even to the most sanguine of the Republican campaigners. Confident as they were of success, they were not prepared for the astonishing figures which followed the closing of the polls—bringing into the Republican column not only the states which they had claimed as safe for their candidates, but with the possible exception of Maryland, every State claimed as doubtful.

Democratic successes are confined to the solid south, in which Kentucky is included, and Mr. Parker has not carried a single State which did not give its vote to Mr. Bryan four years ago. Unofficial returns indicate that he has lost some of those states in the Northwest which held for his party. Official figures from one of the Northwestern States may slightly change the totals, but based on the returns available at a late hour the electoral college vote stands as follows:

Electoral College.

For Roosevelt:	Estimated Electoral Vote.	Plurality.	Vote.
Alabama	11	50,000	11
*California	10	7	7
Connecticut	7	30,000	7
Delaware	3	2,500	3

Tennessee	12	25,000	12
Texas	18	190,000	18
Virginia (largely D.)	12		12
This shows a total electoral vote of 251 for Parker.

New Party in Arlee.

As a dramatic climax to the senatorial contest between Mr. Clark and President Roosevelt's formal announcement that he would not be a candidate for re-election, lending the only exciting subject to an election night, the Democratic leader, Clark, was impossible for even the victors to attach the slight interest to Roosevelt which usually marks the occasion.

Clark in the night gave out an announcement from Melvin G. Palliser, president of the Democratic club, and E. Watson, Presidential candidate of the People's party, that as a result of the overwhelming Roosevelt victory, that steps would be taken to form a new party, and a call for a new announcement given out, Mr. Bryan, Mr. Watson and Mr. Clark. Bryan would hold a conference in New York in about a week.

Triple Fight in Mackenzie.

Yorktown, N.W.T., Nov. 9.—Nominations for MacKenzie were made yesterday and contrary to a big surprise, Mike Gabaria entering the field as an independent candidate, thus making a three-cornered fight. Mr. T. A. Patrick being the Conservative nominee, and J. L. Cash, medical superintendent of Indian affairs, the general standard bearer. Gabaria, is a Galician and his candidacy is a surprise, and they hope, detach a large Galician vote from Cash, Sutton's nominee, and give the Mike Patrick. Election is yesterday week.

Fell From Scaffold.

Stratford, Nov. 9.—A nasty accident happened, one of the houses being erected by the building syndicate, yesterday afternoon. Thomas Keith fell from a scaffold, a distance of about 20 feet, and he fell on his side. Mr. Keith had his shoulder hurt, and he fainted, which is a good sign, had two ribs broken. The latter will be incapacitated from working for some weeks.

No Honors For Canada.

London, Nov. 9.—King Edward's birthday honor list was issued last night. In the colonial list are eight knighthoods, including W. H. Morison, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Newfoundland; William Price-Williams, Speaker of the Bahamas, is made a knight commander of St. Michael and St. George.

Interfered With Justice.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 5.—The assaults upon the new Indian program for the past fortnight, were concluded yesterday afternoon, though high feelings seemed to have been pronounced. Shivid Chicn of Nawkatti, an Indian, was sentenced to nine months imprisonment for interfering with the course of justice in advising Indians to keep the murder of the Indian woman Kiwash a secret.

Clarence Miller was sentenced to six years for forging a postdatum order, and F. X. Gaultier for three years for stealing from his partners in a lorative business.

A SOLDIER OF COMMERCE

BY JOHN ROB GORDON

Copyright, 1903, by F. R. Toombs

"Hola! That is different! A Georgian would sell his wife."

"This man will not. I have in the past tried to obtain from him the consent to the marriage of his daughter with a wealthy Osmanli. He will not consent."

"He hates us?"

"Perhaps. It is not that alone, but she loves a Muscovite, the hated Orskoff, that captain of the Muscovites who has watched us and prevented our trade. She loves him. I saw them together this very day."

"Is he rich?"

"I know not. I did not come to talk of him. But let us get to our business. Did you not sell to Ignatz Biartelkis a certain portion of your cargo?"

"Allah! Mohammed! Is it the daughter of Biartelkis of whom you speak?"

"The same. The prince of Bokhara desires her for his wife, and of my own knowledge she is promised to be the wife of Captain Orskoff. But we can secure the girl for the prince, and a thousand pieces of gold will fall mysteriously into your pocket."

"Oh, thou great and wily dealer in fair women, tell me how I can obtain this rich reward!"

"Is it not possible that somewhere in this vessel are goods that have been overlooked and that Biartelkis would buy?"

"You mean—that I am to say that such is the case?"

"Exactly. You know that his daughter always accompanies him to purchase goods."

"I know. Well, what then?"

"Go to the bazaar. The bands are still playing. There is still life in the fair, for it is not yet midnight. Tell Biartelkis that you have discovered some of the finest linen hidden in the bottom of the vessel and that you must start from here before morning, as an important business demands you at Astrakhan."

"By the beard! I know not what plan you have, but a thousand pieces of gold are not picked up in a year. What will you do in the meantime?"

"Await you here."

"Very well. I will go."

Hassan put aside his ordinary garments and replaced them with his best, which he always wore to the bazaars. He bade Hafiz adieu and walked away.

Ignatz Biartelkis was about to close his bazaar when the well known figure of Hassan walked in.

"My friend," said Hassan, "I have come in a great hurry to see you. It could have been nothing but the great admiration I have for you and your lovely daughter that would bring me here at this hour. But as I was about to sail for the Caspian I discovered in the bottom of my vessel bales of the finest linen—better even than I brought you last—from the looms of that far country in the north that makes the finest linen. It was not, like the last, assigned to you, but was placed on board for me to sell to any one who would purchase. I do not wish to tarry till the morning, for I have a cargo awaiting me at Astrakhan. I have already got my vessel in readiness to sail, and the men are having their last good sleep until we reach the Caspian. I thought of you, as you have been my friend. You have made many purchases. Will you not come and look at the linen, that I may at once set sail?"

"But it is night," said Biartelkis. "In the morning I will see it."

"Nay, I cannot wait. I have just time to reach Astrakhan to take this cargo, which will be a rich one."

"I must call my daughter. It is her delight to accompany me and examine goods and make purchases."

He called Koura. Hassan gulped down an exclamation as he saw her beauty.

"What is it, father?"

"This good Hassan, who brought us some of our best goods, is about to start for the Caspian and has discovered in his vessel some of the finest linen he brought to sell. He asks that we go look at it. If we do not, some one else will get it. It is late, and the wharfs are dangerous. What do you say?"

"As for the lateness of the hour, it must not interfere with a good purchase. Hassan can walk the wharfs, and with him we should be safe."

"Well spoken," said Hassan.

They were soon ready to start. The streets of the fair were almost deserted. The last band had stopped its blare, and the lights were being extinguished in the bazaars. The coffee houses alone showed signs of life. The merchant accompanied Hassan to the wharf and on board his vessel. He led them to the cabin and offered wine.

Biartelkis sat in the cabin and his daughter near him. Hassan, looking over the merchant's shoulder, saw the figure of Hafiz Effendi. He obeyed a signal.

"Permit me to depart and bring the linen," said he and walked out.

"It is strange, father," Koura was saying, "that I see no evidence that Hassan has made preparations to start. No sail is raised."

"He told me the men were taking a good sleep before starting. I believe"—

A scarf was thrown around Koura's mouth and her eyes were blinded with folds of silk. She heard a groan from her father as Hafiz Effendi rushed upon him and buried a dagger in his heart.

"Quick! Fasten the girl! Bring me ropes!" he whispered to Hassan, who was horrified at the terrible act.

He realized that he was now in the power of Hafiz Effendi, for the murder had been done on his boat and he had lured the merchant to his doom. He silently obeyed, and the girl was bound and placed upon a divan. Then with deft fingers they wound cloths around the body of the merchant, weighted it with stones and hurled it into the river.

"Now," said Hafiz Effendi in his blandest tones, "listen and obey the remainder of my commands."

"It is horrible!" said Hassan. "I did not think"—

"Harken, fool! If you are found with this girl on your boat, you will be shot. If Biartelkis is missed, as he surely will be, who visited his bazaar to sell him linen that did not exist? It will be to your advantage to go, and go at once."

"I am in a trap," said Hassan desperately, "and must obey."

"Keep the girl where she will not be discovered. Sail as rapidly as possible to the Caspian and search for a vessel of the Persian type, which will be sailing without any direction or lying at anchor. Her master's name is Karakal. When you have found him, your duty is done. Deliver the girl into his hands and return to me for your reward."

"Is it to be a thousand pieces of gold of 25 piasters?"

"Yes. Go, for in the morning they will search for Biartelkis."

"I will go. I must arrange for this girl. If she is to be the wife of a prince, she must be well treated."

"Lock her in the room and feed her well. If she screams, you must bind up her mouth."

"I understand. You repeat, Hafiz Effendi, it is to be 25,000 piasters in gold."

"Yes. In the name of Allah, yes. Go!"

He crept away in the shadows, and an hour later the long curved prow of Hassan's vessel divided the waters of the Kur, and with gathering speed the peculiar craft slipped silently from Tiflis.

CHAPTER IV.

MR. HARVEY IRONS HAS AN EXPERIENCE.

ON the wharf facing the Kur at the town of Salain, at the river's mouth, a tall, good looking young man paced rapidly to and fro.

"Confounded liars!" he growled, shaking his hand at a disappearing steamboat. "They told me I would have four hours here, and I haven't been away three. Now, I'd like to know how I am going to get to Astrakhan. I don't want to stay in this beastly place a week."

"Excellency, has something vexed you?" asked a man in the dress of a peasant.

"Yes," replied the young man in the language used by the other. "I am an American and took passage on that German boat for Astrakhan; left Astrabad on that boat thinking it would be the quickest to reach the Volga. When she touched here, the captain told me I could take four hours to see the town. I've been only three, and they have gone. I'll be stuck here a week."

The peasant shrugged his shoulders. It amused him to see this intense emotion over a delay of a mere week.

"But there will be other boats, and the inn of Borbous is a good one."

"Hang the inn of Borbous! I don't want to stay here. I'll punch that fellow's head if I get to Astrakhan in time. When does the next boat stop here?"

"It is difficult to tell. One may come in a week, or it may be two weeks."

"Pleasant, that!" muttered the American. "Fancy putting in two weeks amid this squalor!"

"Excellency, you would have time to go to Tiflis to the fair, although there are but a few days more of it."

"Hang Tiflis! It is the fair at Nijni Novgorod I want to get at. I've got some important business there."

"Then you are not a rich gentleman traveling for pleasure."

"What the devil is that to you? But there's no use in my being a savage, and I'll tell you. My business is selling American pumps, windmills, chain pumps—all kinds. I've put a lot in some of the Persian towns. Now I want to go to Nijni Novgorod and exhibit there. The stuff is all on that boat. Oh, why did I leave it? And not a chance to make a sale in this blamed town either!"

"The boats are beginning to come down the Kur from Tiflis, and one may be going to Nijni Novgorod."

"If there is one, it will take me if I have to shoot my way on board. My name isn't Harvey Irons for nothing. I'll show them I've got an iron cheek, Harveyized at that."

"I will watch for the boats while you wait," said the peasant. "I am waiting for my sons, who went to the fair with goods to sell."

"Do they own a boat?"

"Yes, but it is not much of a boat. It could not go to Astrakhan."

Mr. Irons walked up and down the rude wharf, smoking furiously. His thoughts were interrupted by the peasant.

"A Turkish boat is coming down, excellency. I do not know where it is going. But these boats go anywhere. Shall I call them?"

"Yes. That's a good sized boat. I must get to Astrakhan."

"But it is difficult to talk at that distance. If we take one of these little boats and go to meet them, it will be better."

"Good. I'll get on board and make them take me to Astrakhan. Come on. I'll pay you for your work."

Irons and the man got into a boat, and it shot out into the stream.

"How is it that a Turkish boat plies on this sea?" asked Harvey.

"There are a few only, excellency, but the Osmanlis are everywhere. The trade here is as good as on the Black sea."

"Queer that the czar permits the Turks to compete with his own people and I am not supposed to sell windmills."

"The little father is liberal. All may sail upon the sea, but they must not commit crimes."

"You mean the slave trade? I have heard it was abolished."

"Yes, his majesty would not permit it. Many of the Circassian and Georgian people sold their daughters to be the wives of wealthy Turks."

"Hail that fellow."

"Ay-oo!" shouted the peasant. "Stop!"

"What do you want?" came a voice from the vessel.

"Whither are you bound?"

"To Astrakhan."

"Jumping Jehoshaphat! What luck!" shouted Irons. "Get me on board, quick!"

"A passenger for Astrakhan!" shouted the peasant, tugging away at the paddles.

"We cannot take passengers."

"You've got one anyway!" answered Irons, who could make himself understood in many eastern languages.

"We have no passenger on the boat," came the reply.

"No, but you will have one mighty soon," said Irons.

The little boat was almost directly in the path of the sailing vessel. Irons pulled his wallet from his pocket and chose some pieces of gold.

"Pull in front of her; make her run us down."

"We shall be killed!"

"No, we won't be killed. Do as I say."

He placed the gold on the bottom of the boat. The peasant sent the boat under the very bows of the sailing vessel. There was a shout of "Allah!" on board, and Irons, giving the little boat a kick that sent it out of the way, grasped the rugged outlines of the figurehead and swung himself on board.

"Who are you? What do you want?" demanded the captain.

"I am Harvey Irons, an American who is going to Astrakhan on your ship. I want to ascend the Volga to Nijni Novgorod. What's your name, may I ask? I always pay well for services, especially when I compel them."

"I am Hassan. I am going to Astrabad."

"You said you were going to Astrakhan."

"It was a mistake, excellency. I meant to say the other."

"Why not go to Astrakhan?"

"Alas, a valuable cargo awaits me at Astrabad."

"How valuable?"

"To the value of a thousand pieces of gold."

"Well, you take me to Astrakhan and I'll give you 500 piasters in gold. It won't take you long. You won't lose that much on your cargo."

"The accursed Giaour!" muttered Hassan to himself.

Harvey coolly watched the crew. Many tribes and tongues that bordered on the Caspian were represented, and some were from distant countries. There were about twenty of them, a mean and disreputable looking lot.

"Oh, my father! What have they done to him?"

"I am going to Astrakhan," he said to himself, "even if I take possession of the old tub against the law. The Russian government would not object. There isn't a real Russian on board."

"You must leave the vessel," said Hassan.

"So I will—at Astrakhan," answered Harvey. "Now, look here, Hassan, my friend. It's no use. I must get to Astrakhan because I've got a lot of valuable stuff there that I must overtake. No use growling; you've got to go to Astrakhan or put me on board of a boat that is going there."

"And will you pay me for that?"

"Of course."

Hassan looked at his men, then at Harvey. Certainly this dog of an unbeliever looked as if he could pay well. It would do no harm to let him remain on board. After disposing of his concealed passenger he had no objections to making a little more ready money.

Out upon the Caspian shot the vessel, and Harvey watched the lazy methods of the sailors. Five good men could have handled the boat in a storm. It took all twenty of them to do it in calm water.

Hassan thought to earn the money by placing Harvey on another boat.

He stood in the bow and scanned the horizon. But all that day he saw none and began to get uneasy.

"It seems he expects a boat to overtake him," thought Harvey.

Hassan had been looking ahead for a boat. Now he cast his eyes astern. He was looking for the Russian gunboat he knew would follow if it were suspected that Koura had been taken away in his vessel. All night they sailed, but saw nothing. In the morning a cry broke from Hassan. Just ahead lay a long, low hull, with sails that seemed capable, if properly handled, of producing great speed. Astern could be seen the black smoke that came from an approaching steamer.

"Hassan is surprised, excited and afraid," said Harvey to himself. "I wonder if I've got myself mixed up in a smuggling game. That looks like a Russian gunboat coming."

The crew were evidently as excited as Hassan and watched with anxious eyes the gunboat.

"What vessel is that?" shouted Hassan to the boat ahead as they neared each other.

"This is the boat of our heavenly lord, the ameer of Bokhara," came the answer.

Hassan's vessel was schooner rigged. The other was a sort of sloop, having a single mast with lateen sail.

The sloop rounded to, and Hassan shouted:

"I have some news for you. Come close. The Muscovites are coming!"

"Let us be shrewd," said the man on the black boat. "Let not the Muscovite see us together. What have you? Have you seen Mizik?"

"Yes; it is that for which Mizik went to Tiflis. Hurry! If the Muscovites catch me, I shall be shot!"

"And what of me?" asked the other. "Karakal is not yet weary of this life."

The lateen sail was drawn to the wind, and the black boat shot away.

"Curses upon those cowards! What shall I do?" wailed Hassan. Then, turning in fury upon Harvey, he bawled out:

"This is because of you, miserable dog of a Giaour! If they do not seize me, I will kill you! Allah, Allah be praised! Allah, Il Allah! Mohammed Resoul Ullah!"

"Strikes me you'd better be saying 'God be merciful to me, a sinner,'" said Harvey. "You've been up to something mean, I'll bet a dollar. You have got the most evil face I ever saw on a man. I wonder if it is smuggling."

There was no use trying to get away. The slow old tub was no match for the gunboat. The hull was growing larger every minute. Soon a puff of smoke was seen on the gunboat's deck, a boom was heard, and a shot bounded three times on top of the water and sank a few feet from Hassan's boat.

"By Jove! They'll sink this hulk with me in it!" exclaimed Harvey. "Don't wonder that Hassan is afraid."

The entire crew stood with folded arms. Their anxious eyes rested on Hassan's face, and their expressions were but reflections of his own. Hassan gave a command, and the boat swung round and waited. A small boat from the gunboat was soon up close, and two officers came aboard.

"You beast!" exclaimed one. "What do you mean by sneaking away in the night?"

"Hold on, my friend," said Harvey, for the officer had looked at him while speaking. "I don't sneak. I don't know what you want, but you are seriously interfering in my business. I have engaged this man to take me to Astrakhan."

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

A MOTHER'S LOVE.

A mother's love is so divine that the roughest man cannot help but appreciate it as the crown of womanhood. However, Motherhood is looked forward to with feelings of great dread by almost all women. At such times a woman is nervous, dyspeptic, irritable, and she is in need of a uterine tonic and nervine, a strength builder to fit her for the ordeal. No matter how healthy or strong a woman may be she cannot help but be benefited by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to prepare for the event.

This is what one mother says:

"With a heart overflowing with gratitude I will endeavor to write you. It is nearly two years ago since I first wrote to you for advice regarding my health which was then very bad," writes Mrs. L. Poore, of Hinesdale, Ky., to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting surgeon of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. "I have described my sufferings in other letters to you. After receiving your advice and the 'Common Sense Medical Adviser' I bought some of your 'Favorite Prescription,' and to-day am a well woman and the proud mother of a dear little boy."

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Their financial responsibility is well known to every newspaper publisher and druggist in the United States, with most of whom they have done business for over a third of a century.

How to live in health and happiness, is the general theme of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great work on medicine and hygiene, containing over 1000 pages and more than 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Send 50 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers.

The White Front Between Campbell's and Sutcliffe's.

THE RAILWAY AND THE DOMINION.

A feature of the Government scheme of the Grand Trunk Pacific is its policy of strengthening the central link in the chain of provinces, says the Globe of Wednesday. The only weak point in a commercial sense is the connection between Ontario and Manitoba. That section of Nipissing, Ontario, with its abundant stores of natural wealth, has a splendid outlook for the future, but it must be opened by railways and its wealth accessible. The north shore line of the Canadian Pacific had a strengthening influence, and gave a sense of security that could not otherwise exist. The Rainy River line is another link connecting the east and the west. Still there is a feeling of weakness, as if the two ends of the Dominion were severed by the country lying northwest of Lake Superior. It is desirable, on grounds of national unity, to still further strengthen the connection of the east and west by another line of railway, and the Grand Trunk Pacific will give the needed access to the weak place, uniting the provinces still more completely.

There has long been a feeling that the Dominion lacked compactness, extending across the continent as a comparatively narrow strip of inhabitable territory. The north shore divides the Dominion east and west, and from the Lake of the Woods to the Pacific coast our settled territory is separated from the United States by only an imaginary line, crossed by half a score of railways that sustain intimate commercial relationships. While there is not in this the least danger of even suggestion of a weakening of western allegiance to Canada and the Empire, there is an ever-present danger of the shifting of commercial connections. Proximity, cost, and transportation facilities are always important factors in determining the course of trade. To make Canada really united and compact it is necessary to extend northward the area of settlement by providing transportation facilities, and especially to improve the north shore link by an additional line of railway. This, from a national standpoint, is the aim and purpose of the Grand Trunk Pacific. It solidifies and perfects the foundations of the Dominion.

To have fought American competition directly in the west by excessive tariff taxation would have driven from the country the people now attracted. Such a policy would have made western development impossible. In fact, American trade was the salvation of the Canadian west in many points in the early stages. The proper way to meet American rivalry is to improve Canadian conditions and promote the growth of a Dominion large enough and diversified enough to prosper independently. The policy of the Liberal Government, now in funeral and transportation matters, has been designed with this end in view. Light and carefully adjusted public burdens permit the extension of settlement and the development of industry. A second transcontinental railway will give transportation facilities to a great area of northern territory, making the Dominion compact and self-sustaining. The week link in the chain of Provinces, will be strengthened by another line of railway which will help to commercially unite the east and the west. Trade will be concentrated and unifying influence will be developed by making it profitable, not by shutting off other more promising channels. Our history during the past few years shows that national building requires statesmen, not mere politicians.

BLAMING THEIR LEADER.

A few days ago every Tory journal in Canada was busily employed in lauding the great qualifications of Mr. R. L. Borden for the leadership of the party—and of the Government, as well, if the electors of the Dominion could be induced to look with favor upon his policies. That policy—forced upon him by his party—has resulted in Mr. Borden's complete defeat, and Conservative strongholds are now showing he is meeting with the reward too often dealt out to the unsuccessful contestant by the ungrateful—he is being told that he is no longer wanted. The Toronto Telegram, in an editorial on the result of the elections says:

The other question is whether the Conservative party should not take Nova Scotia at its word and put Mr. Borden stay out now that he is out.

Ontario Conservatism was strengthened by Mr. Bordens eleventh hour declaration for public ownership, and weakened by his failure to boldly and promptly offer public ownership as the party's alternative to the first Grand Trunk Pacific proposal.

Mr. Borden is a nice man and a growing man. But party leadership calls for other kinds of ability than amiability. The growth of Mr. Borden has not been sufficiently rapid to prove that he is the making of a great leader. The Conservative party ought not to be too hasty in its conclusion that A. E. Kemp, M. P., or George Taylor, M. P., shall nobly resign his seat and thus open a constituency for Mr. Borden.

WHAT WILL PREMIER ROSS DO?

The Toronto Star, in an article in Saturday's issue, refers to an informal meeting of Cabinet held at the Premier's residence on Friday, which was attended by all the members with the exception of Hon. Mr. Latchford. The Star intimates that the conference presented a living, making announcement on Wednesday next as to changes in the Cabinet, possible dissolution, future policy and other things included in the following forecast:

1. The resignation of Mr. Strachan as Provincial Secretary, the office to be filled by Mr. G. P. Graham.

2. The resignation of Mr. Davis as Commissioner of Crown Lands, the office to be filled by Mr. W. A. Charlton.

3. The resignation of Mr. Latchford as Commissioner of Public Works, the office to be filled probably by Mr. Peter Ryan.

4. The dissolution of the Legislature with the elections before Christmas.

5. A declaration of policy on temperance and one or two other subjects for new legislation.

The Premier has already received verbal assurances from the Cabinet Ministers named, and before the announcement is made he will receive letters confirming intimations.

The imposition of a poll tax of $500 upon every Chinaman entering Canada has had a prohibition effect. Since Jan. 1st, not a single Chinaman has come to this country with the exception of two who escaped from steamships, and in each of these cases the Company had to pay the tax. Last year British Columbia received $225,000 and the year before $258,000, as its share of the revenue from the poll tax.

If you use spices you may be interested in knowing that the chief analyst of the Internal Revenue Department found only 80 unadulterated samples out of 104 tested in August and September last. Here are some of the things the microscope revealed in the black pepper:

1. Wheat, flour and charcoal, or roasted shells.

2. Wheat and rice starch, cayenne pepper, many stone cells, probably coconut shell.

3. Stone buckwheat and wheat starch.

4. Little pepper, but much fibrous tissue, hairs, dirt, etc., also rice, mustard, starch, husk and turmeric.

Microscopic examination of adulterated white pepper showed:

1. Corn starch and much foreign tissue—fermenting matter.

2. Wheat, flour and buckwheat.

3. Some wheat starch, and tumeric.

4. Wheat starch and a little charcoal.

Other says that there are over 5,000 dialects spoken by mankind. The Lower Tribune says there are more than sixty vocabularies in Brazil, and in Mexico the Nahua language has spoken up into 700 dialects. There are hundreds in Borneo. In Austria-Hungary it is no classifying the complexities and generally the number of dialects is in inverse proportion to the intellectual culture of the population. Assume that only fifty dialects on an average belong to every language, and we have the colossal total of 250,000 linguistic varieties.

Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, has a majority of 1,700. Hon. Sydney Fisher's majority is 965. These are the two ministers on whom Dundonald and those who used him as a catspaw made a dead set. The Ottawa Citizen led in that warfare, and the Ottawa hesters sought to present Dundonald as a martyr and to goadly him for partisan purposes. In Ottawa the two Liberal candidates were elected by majorities of 1,174 and 1,326 respectively. Dundonald as an election issue is dead.

Montreal Herald: One of the most gratifying results of the election is the proof given by it that, as a whole, "Canada is with Laurier." It is not a solid Quebec that is to keep Laurier in power, as has been asserted in every English-speaking Province. Premier Ross, the Premier Premier, by this election, that he has the hearty endorsation of his English-speaking constituents. Laurier could carry on the government of Canada if there were not a French-speaking member in the House. So far as reported, the returns show that eighty-three supporters of the Government have been elected from outside the Province of Quebec. In this province eleven of the Premier's supporters are French-speaking, leaving a total of ninety-four. As the Conservative members are only seventy-five in number, the Ministry has a clear majority of twenty-three of the English-speaking representatives.

Another result of the decision by the Government to build the Grand Trunk Pacific is the establishment at Montreal, with a capital of $3,000,000 of a company to make steel car. The company will be practically a branch of the great proposed steel car business at Pittsburg, whose manager accompanied the Hays party on their trip through the West two months ago. The buildings to be erected in Montreal will cover 360,000 square feet. The big plant running to its full capacity will handle between 500 and 600 tons of material a day, will employ from 1,500 to 2,000 men, with a pay roll of about $750,000 to $125,000 a month. This will mean a turnover of $8,000,000 a year. Everything required will be made on the premises, except the raw material, lumber and steel. Should the Grand Trunk and the Canadian railway requirements, the works will be in a position to command a large export trade, not only with the mother country but with the Colonies. It was the promise of large contracts from the Grand Trunk Pacific that induced this company to begin business.

Hunting Notes.

(From Evening Post, Tuesday.)

A fine buck was delivered to Mr. R. Hickson, of Peterboro, this morning.

—The hunters are beginning to turn homeward, many have already secured venison and plenty of deer.

—Mr. Albert Webster having secured a moose, passed through Lindsay on his way home to Chatsworth this morning.

—Mr. John Brightman, of Peterboro, and his daughter and nephew, have returned from a hunting sojourn near Trenbrooke. The party of which they were members secured eight good deer, and one of these was brought to earth by Miss Bessie Brightman.

Hotel on Kawartha Lakes.

Toronto World: A comparatively unknown part of Ontario, the Kawartha Lake district, is soon to enter into competition with the Muskoka district for summer visitors. We refer to a recent announcement of the incorporation of the Sturgeon Point improvement Company, incorporated, the object of which is to construct a hotel on the Point, a very beautiful spot, together with a number of cottages. Boating and hunting in their respective seasons are excellent, and a number of sportsmen find their way up there in spite of the utter lack of hotel accommodation. There is game within a short distance from the point, and fish are to be found, and tennis courts will, of course, be laid out. We may also mention the fact that Sturgeon Point can easily be reached by the Grand Trunk railway and other central parts. The climate is exceptionally dry and healthy, the elevation being considerably above that of Muskoka.

A UNIQUE RESOLUTION.

Two Conservatives Move Resolution in Ottawa City Council Congratulating Sir Wilfrid Laurier On His Victory.

At the meeting of the Ottawa City Council Monday night something unique in the way of a resolution was passed, Sir Wilfrid Laurier as a citizen of Ottawa was congratulated on his success in the recent elections, and the motion was moved by two Conservatives, Ald. Stroud and Ald. Champagne, the latter being one of the recently defeated Conservative candidates in the city.

An Ottawa Globe Special says: A meeting of the Cabinet will be held on Wednesday, when important developments are looked for. Mr. Aylesworth was been offered a seat in the Senate, and it is believed he will accept. He may be sworn in as a member of the Cabinet on Wednesday. Gossip has been busy with Mr. Fitzpatrick's plans, and it is quite likely in the bounds of probability that he may retire from politics at an early date. Mr. Fitzpatrick himself yesterday morning pronounced the reports concerning himself to be all "bunkum, rot." Nevertheless there is a persistent rumour that he will succeed Sir Henry Taschereau as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Borden to Go South.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 8.—R. L. Borden left Halifax yesterday morning to spend a few days with his mother in King's County. Mr. Borden, his private secretary, said yesterday afternoon that he had received several offers of seats, but for the present he would give no definite answer to any of them. Mr. Borden is feeling the effects of the hard work of the campaign, and shortly after he returns from King's County he and Mrs. Borden will go south for a complete rest.

Offers Seat to Mr. Borden.

Col. Sam Hughes, the member-elect for the riding of Victoria and Haliburton, has tendered before the executive of the Conservative Association seat he offer to surrender the seat in favor of R. L. Borden. He has asked the executive to consider the proposal on behalf of the electors, and his action will depend upon their approval of his offer and Mr. Borden's willingness to accept.

Chemnus (Liberal) is elected for Qu'Appelle by twelve majority.

Winnipeg Conservatives are advocating a short convention to be held next year. The party in the west are determined to authorize the policy of public ownership.

Chancellor Boyd, Mr. Justice Teetzel on Monday gave judgment awarding Dr. Snider, the petitioner in the North Norfolk election trial, $230 costs for witness fees.

The Dominion Cabinet will hold a session on Wednesday. Premier Laurier and Lord Minto will leave Government House Monday at noon. He desired to be interviewed as to his choice between Quebec East and Wright.

Comes Home to G.T.R.

Windsor, Nov. 8.—M. K. Cowan, K. C., member for Essex in the last Parliament, has gone to Montreal and arranged the removal of his family to that city. Before long Mr. Cowan will enter the offices of the solicitor for the Grand Trunk and shortly after his family arrive he will permanently reside in Montreal.

Libel on Our Cattle.

London, Nov. 8.—At a meeting of a branch of the Lancashire Farmers' Association on Saturday it was discussed that the British farmer and agriculture against the opening of ports to Canadian store cattle, as proposed by the Scotch and Norfolk graziers, because of the danger of importing disease and the disastrous effect it would have upon the rearing of young stock.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

The Weekly Post
LINDSAY, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1904

THE WHINER

It is the daily occupation of Col. Hughes and his supporters to whine and complain that Mr. McGaughey, Thos. Stewart, Senator McHugh, Dr. Tolton, and others, have slandered him. In his recent speeches, what he has referred to the hard usage he has got, the tears freely flow.

A man who strikes must expect to be struck in return. Hughes commenced his campaign by tying circulars addressed to 8,000 electors. They were succeeded daily by others, culminating in the Sunday edition of The Watchman, each one adding fresh charges against Mr. McGaughey manufactured in every case by Col. Hughes himself. Mr. McGaughey and his associates at his request, restricted themselves to answering these charges. We think they might have gone further and shown up Col. Hughes whole conduct, but nevertheless stamping the leniency that was shown him he is going around asking for sympathy and whining like a whipped cur. Where is his boasted manliness? Let him take the little medicine he got like a man. And he need not expect to be let off so easy in the future.

STURGEON POINT TO BE EXPLOITED

Lindsay citizens will read with hearty satisfaction the announcement made in another column respecting the formation of a Company to exploit Sturgeon Point and erect a first-class summer hotel. It means much to the town. For years The Post has been singing—in the most favorable language permitted by Magistrate Jackson—the great importance of having a commodious summer hotel established at Sturgeon Point, one of the most charming spots to be found in the Province, and by long odds the finest on the Kawartha Lakes, whose beauties are admittedly far superior to the famed Muskokas. The Trent Valley Navigation Co., of which Mr. Boyd is the energetic President, and the Grand Trunk Railway, have done much in the last ten years to attract tourists to these lakes and it was felt that the extension of the G.T.R. to Bobcaygeon meant that that railway was also to lend its best efforts to the development of Canada's newest tourist route. Coupled with that belief was the fear that the expected new hotel might be erected somewhere on the lower chain of lakes, and that Sturgeon Point might continue to be overlooked for one year longer. The formation of the above company settles this doubt in the manner desired.

The construction of the hotel and the carrying out of the continuous plans will mean the expenditure of a large sum of money in Lindsay, but this will be only one of the minor benefits. Another and more important one will be the money spent locally by our guests while here, and our merchants will experience a distinct advantage in their trade. Lines, while those who enter more directly into the travelling public will also benefit largely.

A representative of this Company has been in town several times during the last couple of weeks canvassing for stock and his mission was successful. A prospectus will be issued in time for next season may be ready for the public, and confident with that week we may expect to see many new cottages erected at Sturgeon Point and other beauty spots on Sturgeon Lake.

HA! HA! NOT HALF A GOOD JOKE

After an intermission of a few days as a sort of blazing spell following the Tory campaign in Victoria and Haliburton, Col. Hughes has furnished an undeniable proof that his patriotism is not proof against impaired Toronto duties of Monday last contained a despatch from Lindsay which declared that it was said Col Hughes had offered to give up his seat in parliament to Mr. E. L. Badgley, Liberal candidate, if the offer was the following significant sentence, "The Colts action will depend upon the approval of the party leaders." Into the whole thing a rich creation—one of the bolshevik advertising schemes put perpetrated by the Prince of Duffers! Note the "action" of the Colts depends on the party leaders! Note the wholesome check—the opposition chief—the proposition must have the approval of the local Executive of the party! Surely he was guilty of gross thoughtlessness, if not an act of offence against the law, in thus first ascertain the will of the Executive before raising the hopes of Mr. Bonnell in this place, only to be disappointed in each again.

We fancy, however, that Mr. Bonnell will quickly extend when he sees red by offer and that in gauging correctly the object of the maker he is about to be disappointed.

Twice the lines Mr. Borden could plainly declare that Sam will take mighty good care that appointed his offer will not be forthcoming as the Executive is composed of old-time men who have explained the sturdy old-time leaders. The checkmate of the widely heralded offer lies in the fact that Mr. Borden's personal relations with Col. Hughes do not warrant such a show of approved friendship on the latter's part, and it must be galling indeed to Mr. Borden to know that his bumptious and erratic supporter has not contented to make use of him in his scheme of self-aggrandizement.

But we may be doing the gallant Colonel an injustice—it is just possible the offer may be a frank and honest one despite its "string." He may realize, as do others, that he is on the down grade politically and that his sway in his Dominion hosts is of uncertain tenure. It is not just possible that the Col. has been peering into futurity—perhaps with the assistance of Mr. Lyon's Pay—and has made up his mind to abandon Federal politics for the Provincial variety, and that Gamey is to have a rival? As a member of the small opposition band at Ottawa, the Col. no doubt realizes that it will be a small frog in a big puddle, but in Toronto he might easily become the mighty bullfrog of those all. Not that not improbable idea in his mind the Colonel's offer to resign his seat takes on a sound business aspect.

But stay! What about the couple of the riding who offered to do the strength of what he had accomplished, initiated and planned to expect of the people of the riding of forth? Are 101 reasons why he should be re-elected. Are they to have no share in the consideration of the momentous question? Must they calmly acquiesce in this shuffle of representatives and take a back seat among the neglected constituencies whose needs are ignored by the Government? Are the Conservative natives are busy looking after their personal interests? It would be a cruel blow to the aspirations of a people who have been led to expect great things.

HAS NO USE FOR THE PLANK.

Mr Henry Bulley, the former Conservative organizer in Quebec is now Vice of the Montreal Arena's bright plumage in which the failings of both political parties are shown up in a clear and unmistakable manner. Just now the principal events of the lady campaign are affording Mr Bulley a fertile field for caustic comment on them aimed against those who criticised Mr Borden's action in the connection of the public owned lines of railways idea. On this and other matters he says:

The Conservatives have come out of the fight certain with one possession which they should not have gained and that is the half-disowned plank of "government ownership." They picked it up in a moment of excitement and it was thrown at them from it down again as quickly if they had not all been blind to the policy they were watching them. It is no easy thing to deftly hide a corpse.

Now this is not a plank that fits in with the rest of their building material. The fact is that it was jerked off the wagon of the Radicals who they were trying to pick up with the liberal "might lunch," outfit and "Billy" Maclean came along and found it.

Now nothing delights "Billy" Maclean so much as to pick up something that some of his friends like can smell of, and bring it right into the house. When they grow test, he only grins, and he has about the most agravating grin in Canada.

Well, "Billy" left this plank about the party premises, every now and then executing a windfall and it just so happened that he got crushed. Torres came in there. Nobody thought of touching it, however, until the afternoon moment of excitement occurred, and the first thing anybody knew, didn't the convert Mr. Borden have the thing on his hands!

Of course he couldn't build anything with it. It wouldn't match any other timber in his party yard. So he set to carry it about with him at through the campaign, sawing it in two in order to get it to some of his friends houses, and wrapping it up so they should be could in opaque envelope.

But it still has it and the pieces are still watching him. He cannot find any safe corner or place for it to work to drive Mr. Hyde like a man with the raw material foreign to myself on his hands. It is a thing of forth 101 reasons why he should be re-elected. Are they to have no share in the consideration of the momentous question? Must they calmly acquiesce in this shuffle of representatives and take a back seat among the neglected constituencies whose needs are ignored by the Government? Are the Conservative natives are busy looking after their personal interests? It would be a cruel blow to the aspirations of a people who have been led to expect great things.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Presidential contest across the border yesterday resulted in a walkover for Roosevelt. The Republicans carried New York and every other doubtful state except Maryland, while the Southern states stood out solid for Parker.

Montreal Herald: Once again Mr. Tarte has demonstrated that he does not know the temper of Quebec as well as does Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He was prepared to give the Conservatives a chance to redeem themselves. He thought he could arouse the provinces to vote for high tariff rather than for reciprocity, that the people are satisfied with the Government just administers it.

Tories need to say that only the people living in the back townships supported the Tribune's plank the "intelligent city people," all favored the Tories. But that statement cannot be made. Sadly, as nearly all the large cities went in favor of the Laurier Government. Montreal, Hamilton, London, Ottawa, Halifax, Quebec, Winnipeg, Vicegrin, Vancouver and Kingston voted the Liberal ticket. Toronto and St. John were the only cities of any account to go the other way.

"Mr. Dalby, formerly Tory manager in Quebec, is not greatly impressed with the ability shown by the party machine, of which Mr. Graham, of the Montreal Star, is such a shining light. Speaking of the infamous cow cartoon, of which a number were posted up in Lindsay, he says in the Argus:

Flippant remarks have been made about the Star's cow cartoon, because the man who is doing the milking is shown on the wrong side of the cow. Such criticism is altogether too captious. I think the Star is entitled to some credit at least, for having got the man at the right end of the cow.

The following are the majorities by which the parties were elected to power since 1867:

1867—Tory	3
1872—Tory	45
1874—Liberal	93
1878—Tory	68
1882—Tory	93
1887—Tory	29
1891—Tory	31
1896—Liberal	13
1900—Liberal	63
1904—Liberal	64

It will be seen that twice the Tories were put in office with a majority of 68. When all the elections are held and all the politics concerning shipping and operation of railways, and that order that should be managed not the Grand Trunk Pacific would prove as fatal to one party as to the other for many years to come.

WEEKLY POST LETTER BOX

A WAY OUT OF THE DIFFICULTY.

(To Editor of The Post.)

Sir,—It would seem that the Conservatives—specially the Ontario ones—are greatly exercised about finding a seat for their leader. Some of them say they are not in the resigning business, and it is very doubtful if such a thing could be persuaded to do it. It seems a pity that Mr. Borden was defeated in his own province; still, had he been elected he would have left very lonely some coming up to Ottawa alone. Now, there is a situation in Victoria that is well worth considering. The Conservatives have a representative that is very disinclined to them. True, lots voted for him, but only out of loyalty to his party. How would it do for the gallant Colonel to resign in favor of his leader? I am sure the Grits would agree to allow Mr. Borden to go in by acclamation. Both sides would then have a representative to be proud of.

Lindsay, Nov. 7th. CITIZEN.

NOTE—The above was received too late for Monday's issue, and is an interesting proof that great minds think alike. Mr. Bonnell, we understand, and concedes the same ideas, we apprehend, following which appeared on Monday night in Toronto. Apart from the same time asserting our readers that the gallant Colonel is not hiding behind "Citizen."—Ed. Post.

COL. HUGHES' OFFER.

(To Editor of The Post.)

Sir,—Perhaps Victoria and Haliburton will Tempt in Tarte's force the Executive of the Conservative Association of this riding on offer to vacate his seat in favor of Mr. R. L. Borden. The Colonels action will depend upon the approval of the party leaders, and Mr. Borden's willingness to accept his offer. I

Newspapers and Magazines

—Lilian Bindloss's romance, Prudentia, is the November Canadian Magazine. It is a story of polite life with "The Argonaut Gazette" a period Canadian Magazine, and has to do with the Rockies and prairies of our great North American continent in which, growing. The illustrations of the first article are exceptionally fine. A. Theodore Wolfe's article on the Zulu language and how he fared there in warfare. There are some rare photographs with this article. The editor gives his impressions of Canada's display at St Louis, and they certainly are not in harmony with the average opinion of other writers. This too is illustrated handsomely. There are splendid portraits of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden, of Mr. Grey and Lady Grey, and a new portrait of Marshall Saunders. The stories are worthy of the number.

WELCOME LINEVITCH

Commander of the First Russian Army Takes His Duties.

JAPS ARE ON THE OFFENSIVE

Occupied Several Villages Russians Held On the Line, But Were Driven Back By Russians—Report That the Japs Have Offered the Russians in Port Arthur Terms of Surrender.

Hukden, Nov. 9.—Lieut.-General Linevitch, recently appointed to the command of the first army, arrived yesterday by special train and was met by Gen. Sakharoff. He was enthusiastically welcomed by all the troops. His escort, consisted of men who had been decorated with the St. George's cross. Gen. Linevitch will take command immediately. The Russian force now extends 66 miles. Quiet was broken the morning of Nov. 7 by a Russian counterattack of an intensity that had had no parallel in weeks. There is no sign yet of a Japanese advance.

Japs On Offensive.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 9.Gen Sakharoff reports that the Japanese vanguard assumed the offensive on Nov. 7, along the line from Changtan to Khenan, and occupied the villages of Pustaizo, Kilatzer and Pantelung, from whence, however, the Russians afterwards expelled them, re-occupying the original line. There was no fighting yesterday.

JAPS. APPEAL TO FILES.

Offer Terms of Surrender to the Russian Soldiers in Port Arthur.

Che Foo, Nov. 9.—The Japanese besieging Port Arthur, ignoring Lieutenant General Stoessel, the commander of the Russian military forces there, have offered terms of surrender to the Russian soldiers according to advices leaving Port Dalny Monday. In the meantime, the Japanese have set up pick and spades, gradually advancing the trenches, spells immediate fate, to the watching Russians.

The Japanese have captured Odi-Ho, and the soldiers composing the garrison of Port Arthur, in want and dispirited, saw the hopelessness of the struggle. Despairing of relief, with food scarce and ammunition and hospital supplies insufficient it was thought by the Russian officers the Japanese victory was ultimately inevitable. The soldiers, according to the prisoner, see no reason to prolong the resistance which brings glory to their officers, but chiefly hardship and death to them. Upon hearing the prisoner's story General Nogi drafted a letter to be circulated among the soldiers themselves, the prisoner having promised to deliver it in memory to his comrades.

The letter related General Kuropatkin's retreats and his inability to make an impression on the army of Field Marshal Oyama, to say nothing of breaking through his forces and relieving Port Arthur. The letter also pointed out that the second Russian Baltic squadron has just started on its slow voyage. Continuing, it urged attention to the resistless advance of the Japanese trenches, making it a matter of weeks when the Japanese would walk into the main Russian strongholds.

In conclusion the letter promised humane treatment to all who surrendered, saying it was in the interests of humanity to prevent further useless slaughter.

Several copies of the letter, written in Russia were given to the prisoner, who regained the Russian lines, unobserved by his officers. That night the Russian returned, saying his comrades would answer within a few days. He said the temper of the men seemed to show that while they were mutinous towards late, they also did not like the idea of an unofficial surrender. The letter did much, however, to dispel among the Russian troops the impression fostered by their officers that a massacre would follow a Japanese victory. The company to which the prisoner belonged originally numbered 800, and now totals thirty men.

Proceeding Satisfactory.

Tokio, Nov. 9.—Unofficial news received from Port Arthur since Sunday's report of the progress made by the besiegers, indicates that the Japanese operations are proceeding satisfactorily, though slowly. Limestone formations and rocky ground interfere with firing. It is now considered that the capture of Kinsan Mountain and East Kachwan Mountain without fire and Else Mountains is not sufficient to force the Russians to abandon the city proper.

Both Armies Passive.

Tokio, Nov. 9.—Reports from the Shakhe River state that both armies are still strengthening their positions along the river and are otherwise busily preparing for another great battle. The scouts are constantly in touch and frequent outpost skirmishes occur, but there is no likelihood of a general engagement for the present. Reinforcements for Russian troops, even sans supplies are arriving at the rate of five per day, filling the gaps caused by the crushing losses at the battle of Shakhe River.

Xmas Ever Returns.

New York, Nov. 9.—Berlin despatch to The Times says: A circular, issued by the chief of the Russian army, despite the strictest control, has reached here. It contains the following: "No one going to war returns. It is better to defend our rights than to shed blood unnecessarily. We workmen cannot look on with indifference while our comrades perish." As a result of these circulars further riots were reported Monday at Kurer, where several persons were killed or wounded.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 9.—Captain Reichmann and Lieut. Col. Walter Schuyler, the United States military attaches with Kuropatkin's army, are returning to the United States, having been recalled by the War Department.

Perkins' American Herbs

Thousands of people all over this country will testify to their merits. They are acknowledged to be the greatest family medicine known.

Mrs. John McDermid, William-st., north, Lindsay, says, "I am seventy-six years of age and have suffered the tortures of Rheumatism for a number of years, my health in general has been very poor. After other treatments had failed, I was induced to try Perkins' American Herb Tablets. After taking them regularly for some time, they cured me, and I am satisfied they are the greatest system regulator on the market at the present time. I will take great pleasure in recommending them to others.—Dec. 6th, 1904.

"If your love for me
Is true," said he
When he knew they soon would part,
"Put this rose away
To rest for aye
Close to your dear young heart!"
Her face turned white
In the pale moonlight,
And then—alas! alack!!
She fled in haste,
For she wore a waist
That buttoned down the back.

NEWS ABOUT THE HUNTERS.

LARGE NUMBER AFTER THE DEER THIS SEASON.

Movements of the Parties as they Occur From Day to Day.

(From Evening Post, Oct. 4)

—New sets are beginning to hear of the shooting accidents.

—Mr. Coatsworth, of Kent, passed through to Haliburton yesterday for a bull moose.

—A good-sized deer was shipped to Napanee today, to Mr. D. W. McKum.

—A number of our citizens intend visiting the surrounding woods on Saturday.

—A party from Hamilton left for Haliburton this morning, taking along two hounds.

—About a dozen rabbits were consigned to Mr. J. J. Fee, of Toronto, to this morning.

—A large hunter arrived in town on C.N.R. today from the north. He intends going east of Cayuga for a point.

—The deer are beginning to pass through here now. Two were shipped to Mr. J. E. Hodgins, of Napanee this morning.

—Mr. M. Gillilan, of Glendale, Ky., Sco., was among the hunters who passed through town this morning. He intends to hunt at Wilberforce.

—Mr. W. J. Birch, of Delta, Ont., passed through on G.T.R. this morning for Haliburton to engage his usual hunt. He took with him two young hounds, and a boot.

—The hunters are taking to the woods to locate the haunts of the moose this week. Numerous hunters passed through to Kinmount, Irondale, Haliburton Minden and other northern places this morning.

—Mr. W. H. Simpson, of the Simpson-Rogers party, who are hunting near Bobcaygeon, was in town yesterday, and returned home this morning. He reports that the party are meeting with good success. He intends to do some partridge shooting before he returns.

—Some parties who were out shooting last Sunday in Fenelon Falls vicinity, succeeded in putting a couple of powder into Joe Carley's flying, giving the boy a very joyful, though not dangerously injured hand. Joe's friends have no reason for the Lord's Day should be looked after by the authorities.

(From Evening Post, Oct. 5).

—Some six or seven hunters left on the Haliburton train this morning.

—A fine deer was shipped to Mount Albert this morning for Mr. C. D. Wilson.

—Mr. Geo. Jordan left this morning for a hunt in the north country, and expects to bring back his share of mountain game.

—Mr. Will Adams, son of Conductor Adams, who has been visiting his parents in the south ward, left yesterday morning on a hunting trip to our north country.

—A party of hunters, with Mr. Ben Dusty as cook, arrived from Peterboro this morning and went north on the eleven o'clock train to Burnt river. They had two hounds with them.

—Messrs George Wilson M H McCallum, Wm. Wright, Chris. Graves and Fred Bettman, of Fenelon Falls and Kinmount, left Thursday afternoon for their annual hunt at Bass Lake, in Gelert township.

—Reports that have been received in town are to the effect that deer so far appear to be scarce, but that the season is only a week old, and before the time expires all the hunters expect to get the limit. The severe winter likely has had some effect upon the deer.

—A hunter from the south procured a nice deer last season and had it hanging over another door of the city with the fur out. He put it on and went into the bush on Monday and was shot at 11 times in two hours. After having the hair trimmed off the coat twice by bullets he decided to finish the balance of the season as a sandwich board, and is now roaming around the woods with "I Am No Deer." Kind friends "Shook the Other Way" conspicuously displayed forward and aft.

(From Evening Post, Oct. 7)

—Mr. Fred Bell, of Buffalo, N.Y., went in good sized deer through to Toronto this morning.

—Mr. Fee, of Toronto succeeded in bagging another fine deer. He sent one through last week.

—The Haliburton train conveyed fourteen fine deer—mostly bucks—to town this morning. They were shipped through to Toronto.

—Two fine bouncers of venison were shipped through to Mr. S. M. Beck of Buffalo, N.Y., this morning. They arrived on the Scandoc train.

—Messrs. F. Black and J. Scott, of the Tremont house, Toronto, returned to the city this morning from Drag Lake, having got their legal number of deer—two each. One big fellow weighed 249 pounds and was admired by many.

Sim Watkins was a chap who used to get his feelings hurt

Most ever time he turned around. He said folks done him dirt.

If they neglect to run across the street and shake his hand,

He used to have a notion that folks were brothers gone to stand

To slight him everywhere he went; and most everything you'd say

He'd twist till it would seem to be a slur at him, some way.

At parties he'd sit the girl would get along and giggle. Sim

Was always sure to think that they were making fun of him;

At church when the preacher threw out hints, he searches also

Sim always took him to himself, kept partial on the show.

If folks would count the change; he'd know, if he hadn't, you see

He thought he thought they had their doubts about his honesty.

He's dead and gone, he didn't have a great deal when he went.

In looking high and low for slights his time was mostly spent.

And I suppose, if he's where where people get their wings.

And draw the tickets for the harps and golden crowns and things,

He's still back and kicks in that the happy angels there.

Are laughin at the way he looks in what he has to wear.

TORONTO DEER HUNTER SHOT.

Mistaken for a Deer by a Haliburton Co. Settler.

(From Evening Post, Nov. 4)

It has been learned that the hunter shot Tuesday east of Minden was Mr. Wm J. Halliday, inspector for the Toronto Mortgage Corporation. Mr. Halliday went north on Monday with his two sons, chester rifle, fired by a settler on another runway, who saw Halliday while in a stooping position and thought he was a deer.

The wounded man was carried to the settler's home, then taken on all the way to Minden for a doctor. Mr. Halliday is well up in years and his recovery is far from being a certainty. Mrs. Halliday passed through Lindsay from the city to nurse her husband.

The G. P. R. Station.

Those who visit the G.P.R. station are commenting upon the neat appearance of the building. THE BRITISH PREFERENCE.

England Takes Eighty-five Per Cent of Our Total Exports.

The Montreal Witness put forward the following strong arguments in favor of the British preference in an article published in Tuesday's issue:

The preference given to Great Britain was the starting point of our present wonderful prosperity. Some electior disregard the fact when he gives his vote that of the increase of $104,835,972 in our total exports during the years from 1896 to 1903, $90,420,192 of that increase was bought by the Mother Country and also that of our total export trade last year England took eighty-five per cent., leaving only a little fifteen per cent. for all the other countries of the world. Anything, then, that would injure our trade with the United Kingdom would be the worst thing that could happen to our country, and especially to our vast agricultural interests, in which, even in 1901, the census year, there was the enormous capital of $1,787,102,630 invested and which has increased considerably since then. It is the avowed purpose of the Conservatives to decrease the preference we now give to Great Britain, and if that is done, our sales to her will inevitably decrease, and we shall experience more of those lean years for which the Conservative regime was so noted. Great Britain is the world's market for food stuffs, every exporting country is anxious to supply her needs, the United States, Russia, France, Holland, Sweden, Denmark, Australia, India, Africa, South America, everybody, in fact, is anxious to sell something to her. In such a competing market, when the customer had plenty of merchants to choose from sentiment counts for a good deal, other things being equal. It was such a sentiment that Wilfrid Laurier aroused when he went to England and told the people that Canada gave them the preference in her markets out of good will. It captured the heart of every Britisher, and everything "Canadian" increased in popularity. Can any one with ordinary intelligence doubt that if that preference is deliberately taken away, as the Conservatives intend to do, the result will be a revulsion of feeling, and a decline more or less of the popularity of things Canadian? (Apart from that, so much the loss that we buy from Great Britain so much the less shall we sell to her. Trade cannot be all one-sided, although that is the false doctrine preached by Mr. Borden and his deluded or self-interested disciples.

He Proved It.

Major Ben Russell, being met one day by his old friend Busby, he was familiarly saluted with a hearty handshake and "How do you do, old Ben Russell?" "Come, now," said Major Ben. "I'll not take that from you—not a bit of it, you are as old as I am this minute." "Upon my word," said Mr. Busby, "you are my senior by at least ten years." "Not at all, friend Busby, not, if you please, we will determine that question very soon—just tell me what is the first thing you can remember." "Well, the very first thing I remember," said Mr. Busby, was hearing people say—'There goes old Ben Russell.'"

Another Disaster.

Vigo, Spain, Nov. 1st.—While cruising off here last night the Battle fleet sighted a canoe that had been abandoned.

Decks were cleared for action. 400 Russian officers fainted with excitement, and a killing fire was opened on the strange craft.

After a terrific struggle the canoe was captured. Admiral Hewitt-Krestkin wired:

"Our Canada—We have met the chemystick and they are our conquerors. We did not know that dangerystick. These chaers myselfick."

In St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1st.—There is a general rejoicing here to-night over the Gilmour Blood Purifier's first grand victory in the war. It appears that despite the terrible disorganization of the Russian army, which has failed to their guns, The Czar is invincible. Nothing stuck off for all the money in the fleet.

VICTORIA CO. CHEESE BOARD

THE CLOSING SALE OF THE SEASON HELD MONDAY.

Nearly 2000 Boxes Boarded—All Sold at 9 1 2c. Exept Mariposa.

The last meeting of the Victoria County Cheese Board for this season was held on Monday, and proved short and sweet. Mr. Whitton was on hand—not as a buyer, but as a friend of the Board, coming to say good-bye for another season. The past season has been a successful one in every respect, and although there had been occasional "spats," there was no harm done. These little quarrels only added to the excitement of the meetings and gave the salesmen a chance to laugh or look serious, as they pleased, while the newspaper men had no end of fun getting interesting news.

Some 1911 boxes were boarded today, and during the season some 17,640 boxes were boarded. The buyers and salesmen have pulled together well, and as a result everybody is well pleased.

The bidding was commenced by Mr. Fitzgerald at 9c., Mr. Whitton calling 9 1-16c. Mr. Cook then made it 9 1-8c., and Mr. Fitzgerald again raised to 9 1-4c. Mr. Whitton called out 9 5-16c. and Mr. Flavelle, who had been silent during the rapid bidding, jumped to 9 1-2c., at which figure he secured all the factories except Mariposa.

The following factories boarded the number of cheese set opposite;

Omemee	200
Red Rock	200
Bobcaygeon	200
Dunsford	190
North Verulam	148
Maple Leaf	145
Star	140
Cameron	130
Mariposa	130
Palestine	125
Ranboro	120
North Ops	113
Cambray	70
	1911

North Harvey and Pine Grove had already been sold.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

New Way of Using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. Arthur Chapman, writing from Durban, Natal, South Africa, says: "As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a cure suitable for old and young, I pen you the following: A neighbor of mine had a child just over two months old. It had a very bad cough and the parents did not know what to give it. I suggested that they would get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the dummy teat that baby was sucking. It will no doubt cure the child. This they did and brought about a quick relief and cured the baby." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

CANADA'S FIRST LOCOMOTIVE

THE TORONTO WAS "PINCH-BARRED" DOWN YONGE STREET.

The Men Who Superintended Building First Locomotive are Still Living.

The new Toronto-made locomotive, a cut of which was published in The Toronto News last week, is the lineal descendant of Canada's first locomotive. Between the Canada Foundry's new mammoth 208,000-pounder, and the old "Toronto," is precisely fifty-one years and five months of time.

Old railroad men will recall the "Toronto" as the Canadian cousin of the "Lady Elgin," which was made in Portland, Maine, in 1852. These two doughty old trail-breakers pioneered Canadian railroading. The Lady Elgin was a construction engine. She built the old Northern to Aurora, then Machell's Corners. The "Toronto" was built near the corner of Victoria and Queen-sts. in the shop of Mr. James Good—long since gone to the land where there are no engines.

The actual men who superintended the building of this famous locomotive are both living to-day. Mr. Samuel Sykes lives in Newmarket, aged 84. Mr. James Sykes, his brother, aged 75, lives in this city at 14 Augusta-ave., Prof. Sykes, now of New York, and late of Toronto University, is his son.

Northward Ho! on the Toronto.

Some days were occupied by Mr. Sykes and his men in getting the new iron wonder rigged for the journey, and it was the 16th of may, 'mid singing birds, bursting leaves and piping frogs, when the "Toronto" got up steam, real Canadian steam, manufactured from Lake Ontario water and bird's eye maple.

Mr. John Harvie, now secretary of the Upper Canada Bible Society, was the first actual conductor that ever ran a train in Toronto. He was then freight conductor, but owing to the delayed arrival of Mr. Jones, the regular passenger conductor, Mr. Harvie took charge of the Toronto on her trial trip. He sold the first railway tickets ever issued in Canada that May morning of '53. The fare was slightly over two cents a mile. The journey to "Machell's Corners," now Aurora, occupied two hours, an average of about fifteen miles an hour. About fifty people went. There were two cars, a baggage car combined with a smoker, and one flat-topped passenger car. And all that day the dogs barked, and the York county horses snorted in the farmer's fields.

The Toronto returned to the city the same day, having burned several cords of wood and "scared the daylights" out of most of the live stock in York county. Toronto was no longer a country town but a railway centre. And the old 25-ton five-foot guage, "outside-rigged" wood-eating Toronto, with its two big drive-wheels on each side was the biggest thing that ever tooted a whistle or rang a bell in Canada up to that time.—News.

Building Notes.

—Mrs. Whiteside has built a very neat frame house on Bond-st., east of the Methodist church, It is unique in design.

—The three fine brick houses being erected by Thos. Staples in the western part of the south ward are nearly completed. Mr. Findlay has a frame dwelling well under way, and another brick dwelling near the G. T. R. freight sheds is about finished. Three houses erected by Mr. L. Newton are now occupied. Mr. Groft has had his cottage raised to two storeys, and several other houses are being remodeled. The west end is enjoying its share of prosperity.

A Siege

The matrons of the Edison Orphanage at Lowell, Mass. U.S.A., wrote they had a siege of whooping-cough in their institution. They said that every case was promptly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene. Its value in coughs and colds was so great they always kept it ready for use. You know how it's used, don't you? 'Tis heated by a vaporizer and you inhale it. Write us for a book that tells all about it. 54

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists, or sent express prepaid on receipt of price. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit including a bottle of Cresolene, complete $1.50. Send for free illustrated booklet. Leeming, Miles Co., Ltd., Agents 288 St. James Street, Montreal, Can.

A NEW IDEA.

Tonic Treatment for Indigestion—New Strength for the Stomach from New Rich Red Blood.

The Tonic Treatment—that is the latest and only scientific cure for indigestion. All the leading doctors of Europe and America are using it with sensational success. No more purgatives, no more pepsin, no more patent foods, no more long diet lists saying "Thou shalt not eat this or that." No more of all this—nothing, in fact, but plenty of new, pure, rich red blood to tone the liver and give the stomach strength for its work, That is the Tonic Treatment for indigestion.

The tonic treatment is based on the new idea that drugs which digest the food for the stomach really weaken its power through disuse. The digestive organs can never do their work properly until they are strong enough to do it for themselves. The only thing that can give the stomach and the liver new strength is good blood—and the only thing that can actually make new blood is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They have long been known as the greatest blood-building tonic in the world, and all the highest medical authorities agree that the one scientific cure for indigestion is the Tonic Treatment. The marvellous success of the treatment has been proved in every corner of the Dominion. One of the latest witnesses is Mr. Joseph Rochette, St. Jerome, Que., who says; "I simply hated the thought of food. Of course I had to force myself to eat, but afterwards I always suffered with dull, heavy pains in the stomach. I seemed to be bilious as well and this caused severe headaches, which further aggravated my unfortunate position. I grew pale, fell away in weight and the trouble seemed to be undermining my whole constitution. I tried several remedies but without success a doctor whom I consulted advised absolute rest, but this was out of the question as I had to work for my living. Fortunately for me, one of my friends advised me to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to do so, After taking the pills for several weeks there was a decided improvement in my condition. Not only was my digestion better, but my general health improved in every way. New blood seemed to be coursing through my veins, bringing new health and strength every day. I took eight boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills altogether, and those who see me now would never know I had seen an unwell day in my life. I owe my splendid health to these pills, and strongly advise every dyspeptic or weak person to lose no time in taking them."

Mr. Rochette's statement is a strong tribute to the Tonic Treatment. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured him because they actually made new rich blood for him. These pills go right down to the root of the trouble in the blood and cure that. The new blood they make carries healing health and strength to every part of the body. That is the new Tonic Treatment, and the highest medical authorities now recommend this treatment for all the common ailments such as anaemia, headaches, backaches, rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, nervousness, dyspepsia and general weakness. These are all caused by bad blood and therefore are all cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50 by writing to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

Lift Lock at Kirkfield.

Tenders are being called for a $200,000 lift lock at Kirkfield, on the Trent Canal. The location will be between Lake Simcoe and Balsam Lake, or about one hundred miles from the Peterboro lift. The Kirkfield lock will be about ten feet shorter than the one at Peterboro, and the lift will be fifty-five feet, or ten less than at Peterboro. The towers at Peterboro are of concrete, at Kirkfield they will be of steel. The lock as well as the portion of the canal it is located on, will be completed next autumn.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS.

Mr. Lawrence of Collingwood, Honored Prior to Removing to Lindsay.

We are indebted to the Collingwood Bulletin for the following item, and we welcome Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence into our midst. Mr. Lawrence has taken a position with Messrs. Sutcliffe & Sons;

On Tuesday evening of last week the congregation of the Presbyterian church met in the vestry of the church to bid good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lawrence, who have removed to Lindsay. Since coming to Collingwood some years ago, Mr. Lawrence has been prominently identified with the work of the Presbyterian church, and his departure is a distinct loss to the congregation. To express their high appreciation of his labors, Mr. Lawrence was made the recipient of a silver service and the following highly eulogistic address;

Upon learning of your decision to leave Collingwood we were all filled with the deepest sorrow and cannot allow this opportunity to pass without, in some way, conveying to you our heartfelt appreciation of your faithful services during the years you have labored in our midst.

You have occupied very important positions, that of superintendent of the Sabbath school, elder, and clerk of the Session.

We, as teachers and scholars, members and adherents of the Collingwood Presbyterian congregation have always found in you a ready, sympathetic friend, a willing and helpful co-worker. Your high ideals of life, your sincerity of purpose, your pleasing and courteous manner, your Christian living, have won for you a deep and abiding place in the affections and minds of the people, not only of the Presbyterian congregation, but of the citizens of the entire community.

As a token of our appreciation of your most valuable services, we hereby desire you to accept this silver service, and trust that you and yours may long be spared to enjoy the service and blessing of our Heavenly Father.

The address was signed by Rev. J. A. Cransom, Misses E. Paxton, C. Telfer and F. Currie, and Messrs. W. A. Copeland, W. A. Evens and D. A. Bell.

In replying, Mr. Lawrence expressed his thanks for the kindly expressions and the handsome gift. He alluded to the years spent in Collingwood with pleasure and assured his friends that they and his residence among them would long be remembered by him.

DIVISION OF PETERBORO DIOCESE.

The New Bishop Not Yet Chose—Three Names sent to Rome.

A representative of the Peterboro Review recently interviewed Bishop O'Connor relative to the proposed division of the Diocese of Peterboro, and the necessity for the step, and received the following information;

Bishop O'Connor stated that it had not yet been officially announced as to who would have charge of the new diocese. In a case of this kind, three names were always sent to Rome, where the selection was made. Rev. Father Scollard had been stationed at North Bay for eight years, and was thoroughly acquainted with the country. Should he be chosen, the fact that he was formerly connecetd with St. Peter's would be all the more pleasing, and likewise an encouragement to other priests situated as he was formerly. Peterboro diocese was formed in 1882, the four counties previously referred to being separated from Kingston, and what now constitutes a part of New Ontario was known as the Vicarate of Northern Canada. The Right Rev. Bishop Jamot, then Bishop Apostolio, first had charge of the diocese. He was succeeded in 1887 by Right Rev. Bishop Dowling who, after two years, was transferred to Hamilton, and since 1889 His Lordship, Bishop O'Connor has had charge. During the past fifteen years he states that there has been great progress in the northern part of the diocese. This has been attendant upon the construction and operation of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Since then there have been something like fifty churches erected in the northern part of the diocese, and this certainly points to great activity and progressiveness on the part of those who have been identified with the work. It is His Lordship's intention to prepare a history of the diocese which will be of interest in view of the proposed division.

The present diocese of Peterboro is by far the largest in Ontario, being over 1,100 miles in extent. Some 800 miles will be cut off by the division.

HOME LIFE.

The happiness of home life depends largely on the health of the wife and mother. When her strength is unequal to the daily cares and duties of home, the evening hour finds her utterly worn out, too tired to talk, too weary to read. At first even she is glad to have her husband go out for the evening. She wants rest and quiet at any price. And so the foundation for marital misery is often laid in ill-health.

But when the housewife is healthy and strong she finds in her day's duties only a sufficient outlet for her energy. She looks forward all day to the evening hour spent with her husband over a book, or passed in quiet conversation. And every evening so spent draws the wife nearer to the husband and knits together the twain who are "one flesh" in the higher unity of one mind.

Every woman should know that the general health depends on the local womanly health. Irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness are disorders which sap the woman's strength and destroy her happiness with her health.

In ninety-eight cases in every hundred the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will effect a complete cure of womanly diseases. It is a reliable regulator. It dries the drains which enfeeble women. It heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential and womanly confidences are guarded by strict professional privacy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

In a little over thirty years, assisted by his medical staff of nearly a score of physicians, Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., has treated and cured more than half a million women.

There is no similar offer of free consultation by letter which has behind it a physician of Dr. Pierce's eminence and success, or an institution of world-wide fame such as the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y.

Write to Dr. Pierce and obtain a specialist's opinion absolutely without charge or fee.

WAS NEARLY CRAZY.

"I was pleased that Dr. Pierce answered my letter," writes Mrs. C. W. Young, of South Regent Street (Lee Park), Wilkesbarre, Penna. "I am perfectly willing for you to use my name and address, as I think it my duty to let the people know what a wonderful medicine you have. When I had those mishaps I began to think I would never have children, and my husband always said that if I would take your medicine I would soon be all right. My back used to almost break and I would get sick at my stomach and have such headaches I did not know what to do; they used to set me nearly crazy, and I used to dread to get up, I felt so bad; then I began taking your medicine. When baby was expected I took it all the time I was that way. I felt fine all the time and I never get those dizzy spells now. I hardly ever have a nervous headache any more. I have a perfect romp of a boy; he is the light of our home. I am now twenty years old and my baby is almost eight months old. I now feel well, and weigh 180 pounds, and the baby 23½ pounds. We feel very grateful for the good your medicine did for us. We are both healthy, thanks to Dr. Pierce's medicine."

ALMOST A SKELETON.

"Your 'Favorite Prescription' has done so much for me," says Mrs. Susan Weast, of Lawndale, Cleveland Co., N. C., "that I feel it my duty to write to you and tell you I think it saved my life. I had been under the treatment of two doctors—had two mishaps. I was almost a skeleton, weighed only seventy pounds. A friend of mine recommended Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and when I commenced to take it my health began to improve greatly. In ten months I was a happy mother. I had only taken six bottles and have never taken any medicine since, of any kind, and now weigh 130 pounds. I am now awaiting the coming of another child in the best of health. I cannot say too much in praise of your 'Favorite Prescription.'"

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are at once the most agreeable and most effective laxative for women's use.

Pandora Range

The base of common ranges is their uncertainty. Can't tell what they will do under given conditions, they are freaky, eccentric, tricky—sometimes they burn fiercely, at others you can go to heat—never can rely upon them. Why not have a non-worry, easy managed, smoothworking range like the "Pandora" when it costs no more than the other kinds? You can set the "Pandora" to do a certain work and it does it—you can do anything else meanwhile. Take the air, don't be a slave to your range or your work.

TAKING OF PORT ARTHUR TEN YEARS AGO

How the Clever Japanese Won the Great Stronghold from the Chinese Defending Forces—More than Twenty of the Great Forts were Conquered in a Single Day.

The similarity of the present Japanese plan of campaign to the lines of attack in the Chinese war has been so remarkable as to amount to a repetition of the attack on Port Arthur in the autumn of 1894 is sure to be instructive. At 9 o'clock on Oct. 20 (that October 20 was a date, remembered to land at Pitsuwo, 25,000 in all, with field battery and siege guns. Within a fortnight the army had Dalny were in Japanese hands, and on the 18th of November the invading army was on the high road to Port Arthur.

The highway is commanded by two main forts, Kiao-shan and Sungtu-shan, and of these Kiao-shan his always been regarded by military authorities as the key of the stronghold. On Nov. 21 at 4 p.m. the Japanese drew up for the final march from the camp at Tu-cheng-tsu, each man carrying only knapsack, haversack, filled with their ammunition. "The night was clear," says an official narrative, "and the moon shone with a placid, silvery radiance. There was not a breath of wind; all was silent. But as the day broke the field and siege guns burst into flame, and with their thunderous echoes the troops leapt from their sleep. The van of the third division of the engineers and Major-Gen. Nishi, suddenly made its appearance on the northwest of the western fort of Ese-sanu. Mountain artillery, siege guns and field guns—forty cannon in all—began pouring a continuous stream of iron into the three devoted forts on the hill "Chair Hill," for that is the signification of Ese-sanu. The Chinese replied immediately shortly. Before an hour had passed, as well as the three forts, replied to the Japanese attack with revolving volleys from their large guns. It seemed as if the rescuing cannon must would rendered very uneven. The shells from the various forts, however, inflicted no damage on the besiegers, while every shot which issued from the Japanese lines, or fell, and the Chinese sacrificed, and then caused allegedly the third regiment which had continued to advance while the attack was going on, to retire from the hill from the right side and pushed their way towards the left forts, which they carried at the bayonet's point. At 7.40 a.m. the Chinese position reached the left flank of the second fort, and carried the place by storm. Shortly afterwards the second and third forts fell into the Japanese road taken by the first. While this was going on the forts on the right side and Sungshu-shan kept up an incessant fire on the Japanese advance. Half of the fall of the third fort, the first and second were easily taken."

"After the last forts had been successfully captured, an attack was made on the east forts, the highest of which were those on Sungkiao-shan. These contained cannon of very large caliber, easily turned in any direction, whose range included not only the island forts, but also those in the places occupied by the Japanese artillery. There was one gun in particular which had greatly harrassed the besiegers at long range, throwing shells in the direction of the Ese-sanu, Kiliao-shan and Sungtu-shan forts. It was thus absolutely necessary to attack it which fell first and in order to carry out this plan the second regiment, which had been left in reserve in Dalny, was ordered to advance on the Sungtu. Soon as the order was given the Second regiment rushed into the town, shouting their war cry and engaging in a hand-to-hand encounter. Leaving ground behind them stormed the forts on Hwangkiao-shan. There was one shell dropped shortly after 4 p.m. The Mikado's flag was in the meantime carried Lookiao-shan by assault. At this moment the strains of music were heard heard coming from the parade and at sprouting of one of the Chinese army divisions inside the town. This was conquered by the music of the band belonging to the staff of the Second army. They were playing the gravely impressive national anthem of Japan. The sound of the triumphant music echoed over the deserted field, the Japanese soldiers gave vent to their loyal enthusiasm in cheer upon cheer. With capture of the forts west of Hwangkin-shan, the Japanese had conquered more than twenty forts, which, in the autumn day being at an end. The Yrst division were now within sight of the town of Port Arthur, while the third brigade took up a position in the left. The next day the Japanese troops advanced to attack the remaining forts, the first of them occupied. The Chinese had dropped to the last round. Mortifying 20 of the great forts of the Port Arthur peninsula had thus been conquered in a single day, and the San Hsu Ho arrived proudly over the walls of the fortress.

A MOTHER'S PRECAUTION

There is no telling when a medicine may be needed in homes where there are young children, and the failure to have a reliable medicine at hand may mean much suffering and perhaps the loss of a priceless life. Every mother should always keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate, promptly and speedily, cures such ills as stomach and bowel troubles, teething troubles, simple fevers, colds, worms and other little ills. And the mother can be certain that the Tablets contain no opiate or harmful drug. One who has used them, Mrs. Geo. Hardy, Fourchu, N.S., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and find them a blessing to children. I am not satisfied with a box in the house at all times." If your druggist does not keep these Tablets in stock send 25 cents to Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and you will get a box by mail post paid.

THE TERMS SETTLED

Anglo-Russian Convention reaches North Sea Outrage

IT COVERS THREE ARTICLES

Commission Under the Convention Will Sit in Paris Probably Within a Fortnight—Five Members Will Compose the Body—Lists Made Ready by Us Of Their Countrymen—Jap Dispatch.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 7.—Russia has accepted the long-hoped draft of the Anglo-Russian convention for the commission of inquiry into the North Sea incident submitted to Russia Wednesday, as announced in those dispatches at the time, and the final exchanges will be ratified in London. The convention covers six articles. The commission will sit in Paris, and will consist of five members, Russian, British, American and French. Broad outlines of the duty are laid down by the convention.

The terms of the Anglo-Russian convention provided for an investigation of the commission as described by articles 1 to 14 of the Hague peace convention to investigate the North Sea incident, and says the following:

Firstly—The commission is to consist of five members, officers of the Ist Great Britain, Russia, the United States and France, these to select a fifth, if they consider it upon a choice, the selection is to be entrusted to the power of neutral rank, or failing to be chosen by Great Britain and Russia.

Secondly—The commission is to report on all the circumstances relating to the incident and to establish the responsibility.

Thirdly—The commission to have the power to settle all questions of procedure.

Fourthly—The parties to bind themselves to supply the commission with all the necessary information, facilities, etc.

Fifthly—The commission to meet in Paris as soon as possible after the signature.

Sixthly—The report of the commission of inquiry to be officially communicated to the respective Governments. Provisions to be made for defraying the attendance and agents' expenses, a decision to be reached by a majority vote. It is expected that the commission will assemble in about a fortnight.

Lists Ready of Countrymen.

Sir Charles Hardinge, the British ambassador, yesterday succeeded in bringing the Russian Government additional articles of the Anglo-Russian convention, the first providing for legal assessors for the contracting parties, the second for the payment at the expense of the commission, and the third, that the damage done by the outrage of the commission shall be binding.

LATEST RUSSIAN PLEA.

Japs Organized An Attack From the Hague On Rojestvensky's Ships.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 7.—A new plea for Russia's action in London here Saturday, attributed to a high authority, was made public yesterday before the International Commission of Inquiry. It was stated that Japan at the Hague actually organized an attack on the Russian squadron, and that it produced a message sent by the minister, containing the complete evidence that she was the case.

Japanese Minister Makes Denial.

The Hague, Nov. 7.—Mr. Kobatata M. Minister, the Japanese Minister to the Netherlands, in an interview here yesterday, stated that he had absolutely denied the statement cabled yesterday from London on Nov. 5, that he had organized an attack on the Russian Baltic squadron. If Russia should produce, as the "high authority" in St. Petersburg is reported as saying, the proof before the International Commission a message said to have been sent by the Japanese minister "concerning the Russian squadron that such was the case," M Mitsubishi said the document would be a forgery.

Mr. Mitsubishi said Mr. Nicholas, acting as audience with British Ambassador Sir Frank Lascelles, declared positively that there were no Japanese warships in the North Sea. Apparently Denmark was impressed by the Russian claim.

Germany Has a Claim.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 7.—The Foreign Office yesterday acknowledged the documents relating to the North Sea incident, presented by Count Kwadolf, who had an audience with the Emperor yesterday. Germany has formally asked Russia for an explanation of the Sunching affair, based upon the fact that one of the Chinese vessel that he lost his fishing nets by being obliged to leave for fear of being struck by Russian shells.

CHIEF LEGALIST RESIGNS.

Bad He Denies All the Statements of His Accusers.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—In consequence of the sensational revelations made in the recorder's court in connection with the disorderly houses of the city, Chief Legault's position became no longer tenable. He left on Saturday afternoon he handed in his resignation to Premier Parent, Mr. Bélanger, chairman of the police committee of the City Council. Ald. Ste. Denis and other received the letter of resignation to Mayor Laporte. Sub-Chief Campeau was at once appointed to act as chief of police until the appointment of a new chief is made.

Sensational evidence in this latest scandal came out in the recorder's court. The case of Madame Lalonde was heard before Recorder Foster and ended on Saturday, when the woman was found guilty of the charge of keeping a den and fined the small sum of $30 and costs. Loudly dressed women decorated one side of the room and when they came to testify it was a depressing fact that

THE PACIFIC NAVAL BASE.

Two Men-of-War At Victoria, B.C., Ordered Home.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 7.—H. M. S. Grafton and H.M.S. Talbot have received orders to leave immediately for Esquimalt. The Grafton left Saturday morning. The Flora, from Coquimbo, proceeded without waiting for the Grafton. The unexpected completion of the Pacific station of its two largest cruisers is explained as Esquimalt on the ground that more permanent ships in the near future England to this station, which, since the friction with Russia became acute, has suddenly sprung into prominence as a naval base.

Fine Is Paid by Judge.

Berlin, Nov. 7.—Charles Sach, the Doon boy, who was sentenced to imprisonment by having killed his sister, Mary Sach, by shooting Oct. 24, was arraigned before Judge Chisholm Saturday morning and elected to be tried by the Judge instead of by jury. Barrister H. J. Sims appeared for the prisoner, and Crown Attorney Bowlby for the Crown. The trial was fixed for Friday, Nov. 18, at 11 a.m. The prisoner will not be fourteen years old until Nov. 25, and the code provides that in the case of a prisoner under that age being charged with manslaughter the Crown must establish that the accused was competent to know the consequences of his conduct and to appreciate that it was wrong.

Permit to Use His Name.

Quebec, Nov. 5.—Yesterday morning a number of wealthy Americans who aided in the Trent affair and who those who claim to regret the Prince invasion of 1866 waited upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier to ask recognition for their services to Canada in these days. Major Gingras, secretary of the St. Boniface, who took part in the Trent Affair, acted as spokesman. Sir Wilfrid Laurier received the deputation very courteously and said that he would be happy to recognize their past valuable services to their country. He allowed the delegates to use his name as favorable to any scheme for recognition they might present to the Minister of Militia.

Mails in the Arctic.

Quebec, Nov. 5.—Information has been received at the Postoffice Department that the Arctic, which is now from the SS. Arctic will be despatched during the ice-free period, but it is expected that a mail will be despatched from Quebec early about the month of June or July. When notice will be given in the press so that the friends and friends of those on board will receive due notice. All correspondence will be sent, in the charge of Col. Fred White, Comptroller N. W. M. P.

Young Sachs Committed.

Berlin, Nov. 5.—Charles Sachs, the lad who was arrested on the charge of manslaughter, has now admitted that he had accidentally fired the gun which killed his sister, Mary Sachs, who was given his preliminary hearing before Police Magistrate Weir yesterday morning, and was committed for trial. The spring assizes. Wilbert Bailey was a witness and deposed that the rifle was in his possession, and had been loaned by him to young Sachs.

Passenger Steamer Struck.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 7.—The coastal steamer Fortin, with 104 passengers, struck on the Pongula Islands at midnight last night. The vessel was reported subsequently, but was making so much water that the passengers took to the boats and proceeded to the nearest shore, while the ship steamed for the nearest harbor, which was reached in about two temporary repairs. The Fortin is a ship of 1,000 tons and was making her second voyage.

British Columbia Fruit Gained the Royal Horticultural Society's Gold Medal

—Britain's Standing Army.

London, Nov. 7.—(C.A.P.)—A fine display of Nova Scotian apples and other fruit has again been arranged for at the Canadian Court in the Crystal Palace. Mr. Hendrick, Dominion fruit which recently gained the Royal Horticultural Society's gold medal being transferred to the Palace. An exhibit is also coming from Ontario.

Britain's Standing Army.

London, Nov. 7.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, criticising Britain's military expenditure at Edinburgh, said the standing army "should not be raised. If any country, colony or dependency required an additional force for its own purposes let it be done as its own affair, its own charge."

Sir Henry, speaking on fiscal affairs, said protection went like a malefactor, undone an assumed name, such as "Reciprocity," "fair trade," whilst others resort to jugglery and evasion. Mr. Chaplin had frankly proved that a certain protectorate involved taxation of food.

Glasgow Retains Power.

London, Nov. 7.—(C.A.P.)—Though expecting a Laurier victory in the Canadian riding, the Glasgow Herald is surprised at the increased Liberal majority, and says the Conservatives expected to gain considerably over the Dundonald incident and in (loyal) Ontario, not only from the moribund condition of the Hess Government, but the diplomatic use as election material of the solidity of the French vote and the strength by French influence at Ottawa. It thinks the Government gained prestige by its liberality in giving Canadian producers benefits under the G.T.P. contracts. It says it seems to be saying the Laurier party has shown a strong disposition towards the Redistribution protectionism and that the promise to revise the tariff generally is destined to mean an increase in some of its schedules.

Give Colonies Peerages.

London, November 7.—(C. A. P.) Professor Burgess, Toronto General Historian of Edinburgh University, speaking at Glasgow, said more Peerages should be created to include as many as possible colonial statesmen and politicians who could be induced to return to the Mother Country.

Insurance Business in Decline.

London, Nov. 7.—(C.A.P.)—The Canadian Life Insurance Company, Germaine Inner Kensington, solely to provide for the wants of Madame Jeanette Kodak, off St. Pierre, on the Bank of Newfoundland, on July 1st, 1904, the Company's Office closed and became a means to shipping and not at all to the Bank.

Britain and Argentine Cattle.

London, Nov. 7.—(C.A.P.)—In consequence of the disappearance of foot and mouth disease from the Argentine, the Board has addressed pressing demands to Great Britain with a view to the re-opening of the ports to Argentine cattle.

Prince to Be Round World.

London, Nov. 7.—(C.A.P.)—Reynolds' newspaper professes to have information that the Prince of Wales will on his health not. He will start on another voyage "around the world" in 1905. Canada will be visited.

"Unmilitized Friehood."

London, Nov. 7.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Knollys, the King's private secretary, in a letter to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Prince of Wales is in ill-health as an unmitigated and mischievous falsehood.

Hope For Canada Yet.

London, Nov. 7.—The Newcastle Chamber of Commerce has resolved that in view of the Chinese Ultimatum in the matter of having the act of 1896, prohibiting all free importation of live Canadian cattle.

One Million Dollars

Have Been Spent to Give Liquozone Free to the Sick.

When we purchased the rights to Liquozone, we decided to buy the first bottle and give it free to each sick one we learned of. We published the offer in nearly every newspaper in America, and 1,800,000 people have accepted it. In one year it has cost us over one million dollars to announce and fulfill the offer.

Don't you realize that a product must have wonderful merit to make such an offer possible? We have never asked a cent to buy Liquozone. We have published no testimonials, nor a physician's endorsement. We have simply asked the sick to try—try it at our expense. And that is all we ask you, if you need it.

Kills Inside Germs.

Liquozone is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. This process has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most healthful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, invigorating, purifying. It is a germicide so certain that we publish our bottle on account of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease. It is this fact that gives Liquozone its power to humanity. And that world is so great that, after doubling our business for years, through physicians and hospitals, we paid $100,000 for the American rights.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for them is troubles to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are fitful and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

GIVEN ILLUMINATED ADDRESS

PUBLIC LIBRARY BOARD HONORS THE RETIRING SECRETARY.

Mr. E. A. Hardy, B. A., the Recipient of a Handsome Testimonial.

An address was taken by the Public Library Board last Saturday evening of the retirement from office of E. A. Hardy, B.A., their former secretary, to present him with a handsome illuminated address and giving an acknowledgement of his great services to the Board and the community.

The members present at the meeting summoned meeting were Judge Harding, chairman, Rev. Fr. O'Sullivan, Dr. Moore, R. M. Hart, and Secretary George Patrick. The proceedings were made by his honor Judge Harding. The address was a specimen of Messrs. Hart & Riddell's choice work—read as follows:

Lindsay, Sept. 12, 1904.

Resolution passed by the Public Library Board of the Town of Lindsay, at a special meeting held Sept. 12th, A. D. 1904.

Whereas, Mr. E. A. Hardy, B. A., has been secretary of this Library Board for the past ten years, also a member of the Library and Building Committees; and whereas by his zealous and energetic fulfillment of his official duties, his kindly and gentlemanly bearing towards his brother members, and his knowledge of books and library matters, which he brought to the deliberation of the Board, he has gained its profound esteem and respect, has left it indebted to him for his valuable services, especially as regards the selection and equipment of our new Library;

Be it resolved, that we, the members of the Lindsay Public Library Board, extend to Mr. Hardy a sincere vote of thanks for his generous and unremitting services, and that while we wish to record our regret at his departure from Lindsay, which deprives our Board of a genial and valuable member, and the town of a citizen who has always taken a lively interest in its educational development, we wish him every success in his new field of labor, and assure him that his name will be long and gratefully remembered by the citizens of Lindsay in connection with our new Public Library, of which they are justly proud.

JOHN HARDING, Chairman.
GEORGE S. PATRICK, Secretary.

Mr. Hardy acknowledged the gift in suitable, but brief terms, and the Board adjourned after being by Mr. John Kelley, to the position of janitor until the beginning of the new year.

Saturday's Market.

There was a full attendance at the market on Saturday. Pork and lamb were very plentiful and sold at 8c. for fronts and 9c. for hind quarters; potatoes, 60c. per bag; geese, 90c. to 1c. lb.; ducks, 80c. per pair; butter, 19c. and 20c. per lb.; eggs, 27c. per doz.; chickens, 75c. and 75c.

Evil Effects of a Sneeze.

(New York Tribune.)

Visitor in the Penitentiary: What brought you to this place, my friend?

"Sneezing."

"Sneezing?"

"Yes, sir," said the convict, "I sneezed when I was asleep and I lay on open window. I woke up an one gentleman and he had me pinched."

A Lighthouse at the Long Cut.

Steamboat men, yacht owners, in fact all who "go down to the sea in ships" will hail with pleasure the announcement that next spring a new lighthouse will be placed on the "long cut" in the northern end of the Long Sault, and the two lights already in position, near the entrance to the short cut are to be improved. Mr. J. C. McClelland, of Peterboro, Superintendent of the Trent Canal, saw the paragraph in The Evening Post about a month ago in reference to the matter, and made a trip down to the Long Sault, Mr. Hugh O'Leary, who explained the great necessity existing for a light at that point, and Mr. McClelland has since taken action in the matter.

WEEKLY POST LETTER BOX

MR. MCLAUGHLIN'S SUPPORTERS.

(To the Editor of The Post.)

Dear Sir,—I wish through your paper to thank the Liberals and Conservatives throughout the constituency for the magnificent support given me in the recent campaign. Considering all the circumstances, the result is very gratifying indeed. If we take the returns of the last local elections in East and West Victoria, the majority obtained by the polling divisions of which are the same as the electoral district of Victoria and Haliburton, there was a majority of something between seven and eight hundred to overcome. My opponent has spent almost all his time for the last five years in canvassing and looking after his own interests in the constituency, and, on the majority shown down to about 200 in eighteen days campaign is certainly magnificent work. It is very gratifying to me to find that in practically every polling division where we were able to hold meetings gains were secured. My districts that I was unable to reach at all can hardly be blamed for not doing so well.

The campaign was fought honorably, I told my supporters that I was my desire to be defeated rather than that anything should be done in connection with the campaign and I am glad to know that my wishes were loyally carried out. The men who spoke upon the platform made personal attacks upon no one, and discussed the policies of both parties in a honorable and fair way. I regret that they had to give so much time to refuting the lying circulars that were being sent out from day to day to every home in the constituency, making absolutely groundless, personal charges against me, manufactured by my opponent out of whole cloth and circulated for the purpose of deceiving the electors and injuring me personally and with a hope of gaining votes thereby, thereby valuing his manhood and honor at less than the office he was endeavoring to obtain. In the village of Fenelon Falls and the divisions of the Township of Fenelon interested, where these slanders were refuted we gained a substantial gain. In calling districts I found my opponents object was accomplished, and he will no doubt have the satisfaction that his majority was obtained, not as a result of merit, but as a result of the falsehoods and slanders circulated against me.

I again desire to say to my supporters throughout the constituency that their loyalty and magnificent and honorable work is personally far more of a gratification to me than the winning of the election would have been, and that I am richer today by many now and tried friends than I was before the fight of the constituency whose friendship I cherish (I hope merit it) at time goes by.—Yours truly,

R. H. MCLAUGHLIN.

Lindsay, Nov. 5th, 1904.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. S. Hughes, Galert.

Many friends in the north country will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. S. Hughes, of Galert, Haliburton Co., which said event occurred on Saturday, Nov. 4th, at 3 p.m., at the residence of her sister Mrs. L. McGregor, Lombardy. Mrs. Hughes came to town Wednesday week suffering from acute, severe and protracted blood poisoning. The remains were taken to Galert on the 9 p.m. train Saturday for burial. A husband, two sons—Frank and Roy, and one daughter survive and feel the mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother.

Robert Touchbourn, Manvers.

A stalwart of the pioneer band fell out of the ranks on Oct. 21st, when Robert Touchbourn, of the town of Manvers died at the age of 96.

Mr. Touchbourn was born in Devonshire, England, in 1808, but spent the greater part of the best of his manhood in Ireland. In 1842 he came to Canada with his parents, who, after living a year in Cavan, settled on Manvers, on lot 12, concession 9, the present homestead. In those days of hardship and toil, the toil was practically an unbroken forest, and the subject of this article was one of those who aided in its redemption, to the music of the axe-stroke. Not alone with the physical problems of the township did Mr. Touchbourn vigorously and capably exert himself, in the early days, but in helping the township he took a leading part. He was one of the local road commissioners, the first clerk. A seat at the Council board, and the duties of Reeve's office was his till the advanced age compelled his retirement. To an active and industrious man such work owes much of its material and moral enlargement. He was a Conservative, and a member of the Church of England.

Mr. Touchbourn was twice married. His family of seven children were those of the first wife, who was Elizabeth Gillin, of Dowdstown, near the city of Monaghan, Ireland, married in 1837. Some years later Mr. Touchbourn married Isabel Gillin, a niece of the first wife, who survives him. Of the family, only one, the late Mrs. Richard Toughiery, of this town, is dead. The others are Messrs. Joseph, of Bobcaygeon; Robert, of Lowry; and Mrs. John Thurston, Oregon; Mrs. Richard Walker, Lowry; Mrs. Thos. W. Hill, South Monaghan; and Mrs. George Shapton, Manvers.

The funeral of St. Mary's burying ground, Manvers, on Wednesday, was very largely attended.

Soldier Cured His Fistula.

Toronto, Nov. 4.—James Johnston, an Irish veteran pensioner, was buried yesterday. He was 82 years of age and a resident of Toronto for 40 years. He was a sergeant in 5th Dragoons, and often boasted that at Alexandria he captured the standard of the French. He belonged to the 26th Cumberland Regiment.

Jonathan Shewing Accident.

Toronto, Nov. 4.—William J. Holliday, inspector of the Toronto Mortgage Company, was wounded at Minden on Tuesday with his two sons, Jonathan, aged 22, a .44 bullet through the thigh. He was mistaken for a deer. He is 60 years of age and lives at 171 St. Clarens avenue.

Would Not Approve.

Budapest, Nov. 4.—The Lower House of the Hungarian Diet has decided to approve a resolution calling on the Government to approve any diplomatic action on the part of the Delegations tending to put an end to the bloodshed in the Far East.

FRENCH STEAMERS COLLIDE

Gironde's Full Passenger List of 110 Nearly All Drowned.

Bona, Algeria, Nov. 5.—A hundred persons were drowned Thursday night by the sinking of the French steamer Gironde, after having been in collision with the French steamer of A. Schialino, near Herbillon, 25 miles from Bona. The Gironde left Bona with 110 passengers, of whom 100 were Algerian natives.

Newborn Found Dead.

Newborn, Nov. 5.—P. Spicer and D. McCaskill are supposed to have been drowned Thursday night, while crossing Newborn Lake. Their boat was found upset. A number of citizens are out grappling for the bodies, but so far have not been successful.

Babe Badly Burned.

Windsor, Nov. 5.—The nine-months old son of William N. Wright, of this city was terribly burned about the face and hands in a conflagration here Thursday night by the explosion of a lamp. He had been put to bed apparently asleep, but evidently awoke and dragged a lamp on the bedding. The child's mother attracted the attention of his parents in time to save his life.

Boy Fatally Scalded.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Freddie, the two-year-old child of Charles Mould of 90 Royce avenue, fell backward into a Pail of Boiling water on Thursday and succumbed to the injuries.

Run Over By a Train.

Guelph, Nov. 5.—Frank Swartzenberg, a young man residing in Toronto, was run over by a C. P. R. ballast train at Guelph Junction last evening. He attempted to cross the track and was struck by one of the engines and both legs were taken off and he sustained other injuries of a serious nature. The young man was on his way to Guelph from Toronto to visit his mother, who is ill.

Traveling Man Hurt.

Brockville, Nov. 5.—As the train from the east came into the station here a middle-aged man named Isaac Conrad, of the firm of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, was standing on the platform of a passenger car. Being to go off the train swiftly passed over the cross-over switch the latter suddenly turned on him and he was very badly shaken up and bruised. Injured his right ankle and on the left hand. He was removed to the hospital though still progressing fairly well, though still suffering from the shock.

Cyclone Strikes Calgary.

Lucan, Nov. 5.—At 9.30 Thursday night, while the Stanley Block, corner of Main and Stanley streets, was crowded, part of the floor gave way and precipitated about 100 young boys into the cellar, which was quite deep. No one was seriously hurt, many were considerably bruised.

Castro Files Big Claim.

Mexico City, Nov. 5.—Advices from Venezuela, received by steamship at Maracaibo, say that President Castro has filed a claim in the courts against Gen. Matos, the revolutionary leader, which amounts to throw the Castro Government for $4,700,000. The claim was based on damages caused by the Government at Venezuela, which confiscated Gen. Matos is now living in Colombia. The move on the part of President Castro is regarded as that Matos' property will be confiscated.

Bank Robbers Escape.

Cody, Wyo., Nov. 5.—The Cody Bank robbers have escaped. Members of the posse sent from here who had returned say that the timber in which the outlaws took refuge has been thoroughly searched for traces of the men found. The pursuit has not been abandoned, however.

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemical fertilizer, like the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as Awful Cost in Life to Japs Besieging Port Arthur.

REPORTS ARE CONFLICTING

Last Assault On Port Arthur Said By Russians Earlier to Have Caused and Reign of Quiet Has Intervened—Japs Hid in Millet Played Havoc With Cossack Cavalry—Hits Ships Sailor.

Che Foo, Nov. 5.—Chinese who left Port Dalny Thursday evening report that hundreds of wounded were passing through Dalny. They report also that during the recent battle Japanese troops were constantly going to the front. It is reported that the Japanese killed or wounded in front of Port Arthur during the last three months approximate forty thousand.

Information has been brought by Chinese that the six days of bombardment and desperate efforts on the part of the besiegers to take the fortress of Port Arthur ceased Wednesday. The Japanese took fort No. 5, but were unable to hold it.

Conflicting Reports.

London, Nov. 5.—Conflicting reports emanate from the Far East regarding the result of the latest assault on Port Arthur. Bennett Burleigh of The Daily Telegraph, who passed the fortress on a steamer, says that all was quiet at 6 o'clock Friday morning, and that there was no sign of the slightest movement. His steamer was thrice chased and boarded by Japanese within a brief period, the Japanese forbidding her anchoring within twenty miles of Port Arthur.

Japs Still Assail.

Shanghai, Nov. 5.—Advices reaching Shanghai yesterday say that the Japanese assault on Port Arthur continues with great vigor and that the Russian defence is dogged and determined.

The northern portion of East Kekewan Mountain has been captured by the Japanese, who have met under a furious Russian fire.

The Japanese trenches have been destroyed by the explosion of a mine. Nov. 3. The casualties of the Japanese are reported to be enormous.

A belief prevails that the Russian warships will make another attempt to escape.

"The British steamer Victoria, which succeed in running the Japanese blockade with a full cargo of beef and has returned here, confirms the reports that the Japanese have captured all the main northern positions of the fortress.

Siege's Last Stand.

Rome, Oct. 5.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Messaggero (Rome asserts that General Stoessel, in command at Port Arthur, has dispatched his last report. He has made his last attempt to defend the city to the northwest of the city, and is now preparing to retire to Laiotiban and Pitsuwo. The Tail position with 10,000 soldiers and seamen.

Even Golden Hill fortress will be abandoned. Of warships only the Retvizan is afloat. The Sevastopol's and Peresvietz's decks are two feet above water. The Pallada has been sunk. The Retvizan was burned with several wounded who were aboard.

Hits Ship's Sailor.

Mukden, Nov. 5.—There was a brisk exchange of artillery fire here Thursday morning. The Russian Gunboat Linchitouss eastward on both sides of the railroad, but the firing ceased at noon.

The Japanese are continuing their concentration opposite the Russian centre. The Japanese positions along their whole line are strongly held and they are now entrenching along the Hun River to the Sandepu road.

On Monday, on the Russian extreme right, a strong Cossack cavalry charged a battery of Japanese artillery near Hsiaopu. The Cossacks rode forward at a gallop through a field of uncut millet against the fire of the battery, and had almost reached the guns when a couple of companies of Japanese infantry rose up and poured in several volleys, compelling the Cossacks to cut out of the field at an even faster pace than they had rode in. The Cossacks lost about twenty-five men.

Japs Are Dogs.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 5.—A special despatch from Mukden says the Japanese are using dogs to carry ammunition and supplies.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

We offer you a better investment than Government Bonds

Better for three reasons.

1st.—Canada Life 5 per cent. Gold Bonds yield a much higher rate of interest than Government Bonds.

2nd.—They are paid for by instalments—thus placed within the reach of men without capital.

3rd.—They are insured. That is, should the investor die after paying only one instalment on his bonds, his future payments to the Company would be immediately cancelled and the benefits of his investment would at once become available.

Add to all these advantages the very material one that the investor shares in the surplus earnings of this leading Company, and you have an opportunity for safe and profitable investment rarely equalled. A handsome booklet, giving a full explanation, will be sent on request

Hens Lay All Year Round

When you season the food with Myers' Royal Poultry Spice, it just think what it means to have the hens laying regularly all winter—when eggs bring the best prices. That's what Myers' Royal Poultry Spice does. It's the tonic—it's the nitrogenous matter—supplies all the constituents that compose the egg and gives more laying material. It makes the pullets—and insures fertile eggs for setting. It's wonderful for making young chicks early layers—for fattening chickens, ducks and turkeys—and for raising plump, strong, vigorous pullets.

If you want to make money out of your chickens you need Myers' Royal Poultry Spice. It's not a food—it's a tonic.

FALL CLEANING THE ORCHARD.

Diseased Fruit, Plants and Leaves Should be Burned—Eggs of Insects.

Much can be said in favor of an annual fall orchard cleaning, although many of our farmers seem to be indifferent in this matter. Aside from the fact that there is more insect affect the fruit than has been gathered this in the fruit of our early spring when so many odds and ends must be attended to there are many urgent and convincing reasons why our orchards should be carefully cleaned of rubbish and litter during late fall and early winter.

People often wonder how it happens that certain insects appear in such alarming numbers during the summer. A few careful observations during the fall and winter will show how these insects pass the cold months. The eggs of the fall moth of the tent caterpillars will be found encircling the smaller branches. If these bracelets of eggs be removed and burned, much serious damage will be averted the following spring. The tiny worm does its work within the egg state, and these eggs are often so small that the unaided eye fails to see them. The codling worm passes its winter in cocoons under the loose bark, boards and in crevices, and a thorough cleaning will rid an orchard of these troublesome pests. The grape vine flea-beetle and the plum curculio pass the winter in their last grown beetle condition in sheltered places under the loose bark of the trees. Squash bugs also winter over in crevices in sheltered spots, under boards, and in corners of outbuildings.

There is also a necessity for a thorough cleaning of the orchard for the purpose of destroying many of the fungi which remain on the ground in diseased leaves and fruit, and in the twigs which will serve as repositories for fungi spores. In early spring they will produce spores which will spread to the early leaves. The diseased leaves and twigs should always be burned, not thrown on the manure pile, for the spores of the fungi will be carried the winter and reproduce the disease the following season. Many fungi pass the winter in the leaves as delicate threads, which develop spores in the spring, and form other spores which are soon blown by the wind to the leaves, where they germinate and produce disease.

It may safely be said that all leaves decaying fruits and diseased twigs should be carefully gathered in winter, the damage from fungous diseases would be lessened very materially.

Sturgeon Point Hotel.

The elevation and profile plans of the proposed summer hotel to be erected at Sturgeon Point are now on exhibition at Gregory's drug store, and are attracting much attention. The plans, which were prepared by Newland & Gibson, of Toronto, show a commodious and well-planned structure of three stories, with large porches and wide verandahs, and other essentials found in first-class tourist hotels. Everyone is invited to call and examine the plans.

SUDDEN DEATH IN MANVERS.

Robt. Shekelton, Formerly of this Vicinity, Stricken with Apoplexy.

Death came with appalling suddenness yesterday afternoon to a well known resident of Manvers township, in the person of Mr. Robt. Shekelton, who lived in this vicinity for many years. He had been engaged with Contractor Bolgnano of Peterboro, in getting out telegraph poles, and had just returned to his work after the noon hour, apparently in his usual health. Mr. Thos. Lytle, who was working at the same contract, had occasion to go towards where Shekelton was working, and found him sitting in a dazed condition on a log. When spoken to he seemed unable to answer, and lingered istfully fell over and expired. Apoplexy is supposed to have been the immediate cause of death. He leaves behind a wife and one adopted child. Much sympathy is felt for the family in their sudden bereavement.

VICTORIA CO. PLOWING MATCH.

Names of Prize Winners in Last Week's Events.

As mentioned last week the annual plowing match, under the auspices of Victoria County Plowman's Association was held on the farm of Mr. Geo. Thorndike, near Oakwood, on Tuesday, Nov. 1st. The attendance of spectators was a fair one, considering the near approach of the elections, and the number of contestants was large, twenty-one being in the field, as was too thin for first-class work. The prizes were awarded as follows:—First Class Ploughs—Chas. Ashton, R. and A. Dobson, Oakwood—1st and 2nd; Geo. Ford, Oakwood, 3rd; E. Rush, 4th; R. Brass, all of Oakwood. Second Class—Jas. Lindsay Man's Leg Broken.

The Ross Hospital ambulance met the afternoon train from Bobcaygeon on Tuesday to receive a patient home—John Walker, of that place, who was suffering with a broken leg. It appears that Walker left town Monday with a party of men and had been hired by Mr. Carew for his logging in River creek, Bobcaygeon township, and while the men were engaged in clearing a road they came to a waggon Waller fell or was jolted out and sustained a broken leg. He was conveyed back to the village, where Dr. Bonnell arranged for his transfer to Ross hospital.

Hunting Notes.

(From Evening Post, Wednesday).

—Twelve deer passed through to eastern parts of Victoria yesterday.

—A number of rabbits shot near Kinmount were sent to Toronto to-day.

—Five hunters returned from the woods, this morning on the Klondike Express.

—Mr. P. J. Dixon, of Stouffville, has secured a fine buck deer. He sent them home today.

—Four or five deer were shipped from Kinmount, yesterday, including, to Mr. John Hallman, Toronto, a fine specimen of a buck. Other deer were shipped to the Wm. Davies Co., Toronto, today from Haliburton district.

—Three deer were sent through on the Victoria Express, Monday morning. They were bagged to Mr. J. L. Bakker, Toronto.

Anna Eva Fay Condemned.

Rev. Dr. McTavish, of Central Presbyterian church, Toronto, formerly of Lindsay, preached a sermon last Sunday on "The Devil-ridd Satan" made reference to Miss Anna Eva Fay, who is now in Toronto. Mr. McTavish said: "The future is dark for those who have gone after this city a woman who has been sent by whom I address may have gone to Hell. Her work is condemned and is suited your God. She may tell you what is in your pocket and what you are what lies before. You may get light on what is now unknown to you, but it will be a light on your religious life, from which you may never recover. Let me ask you, Do you want to have anything to do with these things, or should you leave the Bible and the teachings of all-wise an all-loving God? It is painful for me to say that I have to say, but if I speak strongly, it is because I feel strongly."

BREEZY LOCAL BREVITIES

GATHERED BY POST REPORTERS ON THEIR DAILY ROUNDS

What is Happening in Town and the Country About Us.

—Toronto Junction is to have a Carnegie library.

—The hardest bird to catch is the eagle on a $20 gold piece.

—Cheese factories are beginning to close down for the season.

—The Methodists of Mt. Salem (Emily) will hold a fowl supper on Monday, next.

—Remember the Victoria Loan & Savings Co. still pay 3 1-2 per cent. on deposit.—wtf.

—In Brantford the Bell Telephone Co's assessment has been raised from $10,000 to $20,000.

Monkey Brand Soap makes copper like gold, tin like silver, crockery like marble, and windows like crystal.

—A ball and supper on a large scale will be given at Kinmount on Thanksgiving Day, 17th, Thanksgiving Day.

—Mr. N. A. Northey, of Fenelon Falls, is giving up his grocery business and will devote his time to his saw mill.

—Bring in your Chickens and Hens to Flavelles Limited, and get a good price for them. Don't wait to have them—bring them alive. Flavelles Limited.—wtf.

—Coops supplied at our Poultry Department for your Chickens and Hens.—Flavelles Limited.—wtf.

—Coughs, colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene. Booklet, tin cents per box. All druggists.

—The Conservatives failed to predict that Mr. Lyons would be could be beaten in Quebec Lake, but it was probably a very overwhelming.

—Farmers should take advantage of the Victoria Loan & Savings Co. office hours—open from 9 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. every legal day.—wtf.

—Mr. Forrest, of Greenway, Mariposa, last Tuesday, lost some valuable pedigreed meetings for the season Monday, when a horse upset and he fell down for another winter.

—Mr. Jas. Ashton, Oakwood, has sold the handsome driver that he showed at Lindsay Central, and also at Peterboro, to Wm. Arkelbrook, of Ops, for a handsome sum.

—The Sturgeon Point immovement Company, Limited, has been incorporated with a share capital of $50,000 and will be operated at Lindsay's popular summer resort. Mr. Geo. Gray, the river superintendent Pottery Corner, was in town Thursday evening and called on the Post with a young man by the name of Bruce Reynolds, who had a little accident to report. Bad a thumb badly bitten.

—Do you feel tired and weary without any apparent cause? Don't be discouraged. Take Vapo-Cresolene Tonic. It will soon bring back your strength and energy. Better try a bottle. Mr. Fred C. Fielding keeps it in stock.

—Hunters say they never saw so many ducks on Sturgeon Lake as each fall. They are so shy, however, that they keep well out of reach. Last week Mr. Charles Ashton secured three days down the river, but only succeeded in bagging six.

—Mr. Jas. Clancy's trade will sympathize with Mr. F. Sandford, manager of the Bobcaygeon Mills, in the loss of his wife, who died last week after an illness of some months. She was a lady of many excellent qualities, and was highly esteemed by the village.

—At last the expected and long wished for event has happened—the World's Fair rate has been reduced from $21.50 to $15. The rate is for a seven days' trip, which will commence the first days' sightseeing on the balance of the seven days being occupied in the journey home. So, if you realize that every organ in the human body is composed of cell cells called tissues, it is obvious to healthy you need have no fear of sickness. Vapo-Cresolene is the tissue and builds up the system. Mr. Fielding, druggist, keeps it in stock.

—Sturgeon Brass, who built the L. B. & P. Ry. were on Tuesday condemned in the Supreme Court, Ottawa, to pay $500 damages to the parents of an Irishman, named Sullivan, who was killed by the engine. Our first Bilingual, who was blown to pieces by the boiler explosion, and the explosion of dynamite.

—Mrs. Crosby, of Stouffville, met with a serious accident recently in a rather peculiar way. A clock it fell over upon her, shattering the glass and bruising her shoulder. The glass about three inches long ran under one eyelid and another penetrated the ball of one of her eyes.

—Nearly every disease originates from impaired tissue, that is, any part of the system is out of order, or permanent cure, it acts as a food for the sickness and unless you take Vapo-Cresolene which produces only regular tissue, you will be sick and suffer from headaches and fruits. Mr. Fred C. Fielding, druggist, keeps it in stock.

—There is a saying that a woman is not satisfied unless she knows everything. This cause true in the case of Mrs. Algerine Bell, of Greenway, in Northfield, who lies too many of her friends, who have expressed a long mess. She accordingly undertook to open the letter addressed to Greenway, from the post office and has got into serious trouble as a result.

—Mr. Jas. Ashton, Oakwood, on the corner of Bondast and the venue, Oakwood, has purchased the W. J. Flavelle, has been completely overhauled and is now one of the finest residences in town. One of the outside improvements is the fence, taken down all the fences and a lot of shrubbery and levelling the fine lawn. Mr. Ashton, manager of Parker Ross is to be his future occupant.

—Mr. Jas. Clancy sold a good cow near Sutton recently. Two boys had been out after rabbits, and not getting any game, they had decided to return home, when Taylor proposed discharging their guns. Boy-like, one of the boys, who had been shot, and the shooting ended somewhat differently. Taylor proceeded to unload the gun, when it went off, the charge lodging in his shoulder. He was dead when he arrived.

MACISTRATE MORALIZES.

This is a Mealy-mouthed Generation The Gad has Fallen Into Disuse.

Peterboro Review: A truancy case was dismissed this morning by the Police Magistrate. He was informed that the boy in the case was now attending school. The Magistrate said he was a mealy-mouthed generation it seems to me. There ought to be three or four good birds gone hung up here, and in a case of this kind they ought to be properly applied. The trouble is, nowadays, the parents are injuding down for another winter.

—Mr. Jas. Ashton, Oakwood, has sold the handsome driver that he showed at Lindsay Central, and also at Peterboro, to Wm. Arkelbrook, of Ops, for a handsome sum.

—The Sturgeon Point immovement Company, Limited, has been incorporated with a share capital of $50,000 and will be operated at Lindsay's popular summer resort. Mr. Geo. Gray, the river superintendent Pottery Corner, was in town Thursday evening and called on the Post with a young man by the name of Bruce Reynolds, who had a little accident to report. Bad a thumb badly bitten.

—Do you feel tired and weary without any apparent cause? Don't be discouraged. Take Vapo-Cresolene Tonic. It will soon bring back your strength and energy. Better try a bottle. Mr. Fred C. Fielding keeps it in stock.

—Hunters say they never saw so many ducks on Sturgeon Lake as each fall. They are so shy, however, that they keep well out of reach. Last week Mr. Charles Ashton secured three days down the river, but only succeeded in bagging six.

—Mr. Jas. Clancy's trade will sympathize with Mr. F. Sandford, manager of the Bobcaygeon Mills, in the loss of his wife, who died last week after an illness of some months. She was a lady of many excellent qualities, and was highly esteemed by the village.

—At last the expected and long wished for event has happened—the World's Fair rate has been reduced from $21.50 to $15. The rate is for a seven days' trip, which will commence the first days' sightseeing on the balance of the seven days being occupied in the journey home. So, if you realize that every organ in the human body is composed of cell cells called tissues, it is obvious to healthy you need have no fear of sickness. Vapo-Cresolene is the tissue and builds up the system. Mr. Fielding, druggist, keeps it in stock.

—Sturgeon Brass, who built the L. B. & P. Ry. were on Tuesday condemned in the Supreme Court, Ottawa, to pay $500 damages to the parents of an Irishman, named Sullivan, who was killed by the engine. Our first Bilingual, who was blown to pieces by the boiler explosion, and the explosion of dynamite.

—Mrs. Crosby, of Stouffville, met with a serious accident recently in a rather peculiar way. A clock it fell over upon her, shattering the glass and bruising her shoulder. The glass about three inches long ran under one eyelid and another penetrated the ball of one of her eyes.

—Nearly every disease originates from impaired tissue, that is, any part of the system is out of order, or permanent cure, it acts as a food for the sickness and unless you take Vapo-Cresolene which produces only regular tissue, you will be sick and suffer from headaches and fruits. Mr. Fred C. Fielding, druggist, keeps it in stock.

—There is a saying that a woman is not satisfied unless she knows everything. This cause true in the case of Mrs. Algerine Bell, of Greenway, in Northfield, who lies too many of her friends, who have expressed a long mess. She accordingly undertook to open the letter addressed to Greenway, from the post office and has got into serious trouble as a result.

—Mr. Jas. Ashton, Oakwood, on the corner of Bondast and the venue, Oakwood, has purchased the W. J. Flavelle, has been completely overhauled and is now one of the finest residences in town. One of the outside improvements is the fence, taken down all the fences and a lot of shrubbery and levelling the fine lawn. Mr. Ashton, manager of Parker Ross is to be his future occupant.

—Mr. Jas. Clancy sold a good cow near Sutton recently. Two boys had been out after rabbits, and not getting any game, they had decided to return home, when Taylor proposed discharging their guns. Boy-like, one of the boys, who had been shot, and the shooting ended somewhat differently. Taylor proceeded to unload the gun, when it went off, the charge lodging in his shoulder. He was dead when he arrived.

PRINTER'S "PI."

The Use Once Made of it By John Walter of the Times.

London Opinion: Have you ever heard the story about the original John Walter who first began to strike of compositors and pressmen? On a certain day the "copy" fell short by half a column, and there was none at hand ready to fill up with, and time pressed. With the inspiration of genius Walter called upon the column of "pi" and prepared it in the most capacious way, so that it might pass muster for an article with a few lines of introduction, stating the incomprehensible matter to be "pi" in a drabbadacious dialect a translation of which would follow in the course of a few days' sightseeing." ever appeared. Ten years after that Walter was on a visit to a noble earl in Cheshire, when he was introduced to a most learned Chinese and oriental scholar. "Ah," said the earl, "this is the man who actually wished to solve a problem which has puzzled all the sages of the East." And drawing from his pocket a letter addressed to Walter, he handed it to the embarrassed proprietor of the Times, who, after a few moments of profound reflection, which he confessed had baffled his most sagacious contemporaries, offered to the astonishing of, although he had tried every conceivable way, of the language. Wheat Walter said is not recorded in the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

PLEASANT SOCIAL FUNCTION.

Mr. E. A. Hardy, B. A., Remembered by the Baptist Congregation.

A social function of interest to the Baptist church was held in their Sunday School Monday night, when a tea was given by the ladies, ending size in a competition for new members. The tea provided was in charge of the ladies, and delicious, of were also good. The speakers were Rev. Mr. Welch, B.A., Deacon Ferguson, Rev. J. A. Ferguson and Mr. Burton. One of the most popular features was the evening was the presentation of a handsomely engraved gold watch to Mr. E. A. Hardy, B. A., as a token of the people's appreciation of his fifteen years service as Superintendent of the Sunday School. Mr. Hardy was taken by surprise, and was the many compliments. The evening proved to be very entertaining to all.

Port Perry Fair Buildings Burned.

Monday night about 11 o'clock fire was discovered in the main building on the Fair grounds at Port Perry, and before it was extinguished the roof of the water system all the buildings were consumed. About fifteen years ago the property was sold to the Regal Packing Company of Montreal, and after extensive alterations and additions it was started as a fruit evaporator, but not proving a success it went into the hands of Assignee Clarkson, of Toronto, by whom it was sold to the present owner under his control. The fire is a clear case of incendiarism, as the buildings had not been occupied this year. There was $2,000 insurance on the Regal Packing Company's machinery, which was valued at $6000.

SPOKE ON SUNDAY SCHOOLS

THREE EXCELLENT ADDRESSES AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Mr. E. A. Hardy, Teacher Training Secretary, One of the Speakers

A large and representative gathering of Sunday School workers and sympathisers met in the Baptist church Monday night to listen to three able addresses on Sunday School work by representatives of the Sunday School Workers of Ontario. Mr. J. P. Donald was in the chair, and the devotional exercises were conducted by the pastor of the church, Rev. G. R. Welch, B.A.

The first address was given by Rev. J. C. Tibb, B.A., B.D., on the subject, "The schools in which children study." The speaker showed that the home is the first and only school of the child for the first six of the most impressionable years of its life. The influence of the home is difficult to counteract and hard to remedy. If the child has a scolding mother or blasphemous father it will probably reproduce these characteristics in later life. If the mother neglects the duty of home control themselves, how can they expect the children to do so? On the other hand, if the parents show to God's glory, in God's house and God's Word, the child will not be lacking in appreciation of spiritual things. The public school has special charge of the child for the next six years—of the life and for the 1290 hours yearly it has the high duty and privilege of moulding the young mind and character. The speaker paid a high tribute to the public school teachers for the excellence of their work. He emphasized the importance of the bible as a text-book for instruction in character and morals, but not of religion. The Sunday School next claims the child. This is first in importance, but third in opportunity. It has but 52 hours per year of the child's time in which to work for its conversion and the development of the spiritual life. It is important that the teachers shall have a vision of Christ himself and a burning desire to impart it to his scholars, if he would do efficient work in the Sunday School. The last is the school of life, with all its temptations. Seed in Canada that our young people shall be straight morally as well as physically, hence the importance of parents and teachers being godly and skilful instructors of the young.

Mr. E. A. Hardy, B.A., the newly appointed Teacher Training Secretary of the Sunday School, followed with an address on "The Big Boys and Girls." The other speakers had limned that Mr. Hardy already had won golden opinions for himself in his new work, and the character of his address on Sunday and Monday showed he had a strong grasp of the situation and is rendering efficient service. The speaker spoke of the difficulty of holding the larger boys and girls. To succeed in this the Sunday School must meet their interest. Many lose their interest because of the indifference of the parents and because of lack of skill on the part of teachers. If the school would hold the big boys and girls they must be treated as young men and young women, and not as small children. There must be psychological wisdom manifested in dealing with them. The school must be up-to-date in schoolcraft and efficiency in teaching, and the spiritual life must be kept at flood-tide. Mr. Hardy threw out many practical suggestions of great value to the workers present, and showed that love must be back of all their services and the conversion of the children the great end in view. The work involves some self sacrifice, but rewards gives fullest compensation.

The Rev. W. E. Hassard, B.A., B.D., spoke on "The up-to-date Sunday School." Mr. Hassard spoke strongly in favor of house-to-house visitation, to be undertaken jointly by the several Sunday Schools of the town. He considered this one of the best ways of reaching the unreached people, and of fulfilling Christ's command to "go out into the highways and hedges and compel them to come in." He also dwelt on the great value of the "home department," and "roll-call" and considered them indispensible to the up-to-date school. In closing he spoke in high appreciation of the faithful services of the Sunday School workers, and made a strong plea for greater efficiency.

The chairman expressed the appreciation of the audience of the addresses given and voiced the strong desire that the helpful suggestions would be carried into effect.

The Best Liniment

"Chamberlain's Pain Balm is conceded the best liniment on the market," writes Post & Sims, of Georgia, Vt. No other liniment will heal a cut or bruise so promptly. Give it a trial and you will be well acquainted with its remarkable qualities and you will never wish to be without it. For sale by all druggists.

A Wagon Road to Peace River.

Winnipeg Free Press.—Paul Parinelle, resident engineer of the Dominion government at Calgary, left on Monday from Ottawa and will begin operations on Peace River, on the building of a government wagon road from Dunkirkstown to the Peace River crossing. The sum of $25,000 per annum has appropriated $25,000 and will build a road through the difficult country of Dunkirkstown to Larding with a view to facilitating exigrants into the great ranching country. In the north Lloyd Dunkirk is surveying and all trees will be cut down, the swamps will be drained, will be done in the early summer. The considerable bridges will be necessary across streams, to which names have not yet been given. The road will be completed during the summer of 1905.

Church Notes

—Miss Mabel Winters is to be the planist at Cambridge-st. church in future. She will take a course under Mrs. J. W. Macmillan, (nee Miss A. Flavelle)

—Mr. Wesley Staples has been appointed assistant superintendent of the Cambridge-st. Methodist Sunday school in succession to the late Mr. Neil Morris, who left recently for London.

—Rev. J. J. Bond, B.A., editor of the Christian Guardian, Toronto, the Methodist magazine, will occupy the pulpit of the Kent-st. church, Methodist church on Sunday next. Rev. Mr. Bond will no doubt be greeted by a large congregation.

—Rev. Sundar Singh, workers' mass meeting in the auditorium of the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon. It was largely attended by teachers, officers and friends of the different Sunday Schools. Mr. Hardy's address was very interesting.

—Dr. D. Saskey, the world famous gospel singer, who has been binder for several years, will be taken south this winter for the benefit of his health. In his decline Mr. Moody's last days were spent in Florida, and after he was with Moody, and still in his prime, Dr. Sankey did hymn, "Victory and Nine."

AT THE STATE BALL

Most Brilliant Social Function Held at Rideau Hall.

INVESTED WITH HIS ORDER

A Novel Ceremony in Which Sir George Drummond Was the Central Figure.—Description of the Investiture—Mr. Pettigrew and the Hon. Beckett—Also Honored—The Quadrille D'honneur.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—The State ball given at Rideau Hall last night by His Excellency the Governor-General was one of the most brilliant social functions which the annals of the capital afford. Being the last public entertainment of the present regime, there were many guests from Quebec, Toronto, Kingston, London, Montreal and other leading towns, all gathered to say farewell to one of the most popular families who have yet reigned at Government House. Very early in the evening the guests assembled in the ball room, being received upon their arrival by Captain Bell, aide-de-camp-in-waiting. Promptly at 9.55 o'clock their Excellencies entered, preceded by the honorary aides-de-camp and the officers of the household staff in brilliant uniforms, and followed by their charming elder daughters, the Ladies Eileen and Ruby Elliot. Through an aisle formed by ribbons held in place by soldiers in red coats and bobbies they advanced to their places on the dais.

Invested With His Order.

There an interesting ceremony took place, notable as being performed for the first time in Canada—except by the Duke of York while here—that is the investiture of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, the honor recently conferred upon Sir George Drummond of Montreal. Major Maude read the warrant authorizing His Excellency to make the investiture, then Sir George, preceded by Capt. Bell, who bore the insignia of the order upon a crimson cushion and attended by Sir Jas. Grant and Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, advanced to the foot of the throne, and, bending upon one knee, received the tap of the sword upon his shoulders and arose.

The Quadrille D'honneur.

With similar ceremony Mr. Pottinger and Messrs. Boucher received the insignia and Order of Companions of St. Michael and St. George, and then after a few moments spent in congratulation of the honored guests the quadrille d'honneur was danced.

In this Lord Minto danced with Lady Laurier, and Her Excellency with Sir Wilfrid, the Lady Eileen with Hon. Sydney Fisher, and Lady Ruby with Captain Claude Bell. The others being Lady Allan and General Lake, Mrs. Lake and Hon. A. G. Blair, Mrs. W. C. Edwards and Senator Cargnan, Madame Lavergne and Sir James Grant. Then dancing became general until supper time.

TRIBUTE BY EARL GREY.

Glad to Know Our Lady of the Snows Idea Is Disappearing.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—Speaking at a banquet at Newcastle in honor of his appointment as Governor-General of Canada, Earl Grey paid a tribute to the national resources giving every advantage to those desiring a freer life. He was glad to know Our Lady of the Snows idea was fast disappearing. He was not wonderful that Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the nineteenth century belongs to the United States and the twentieth belongs to Canada.

Asquith's View.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—Right Hon. Henry Asquith, speaking at Southampton, said Mr. Balfour at Edinburgh, had shown relaxation was no longer a possible program for the protectionist party and had accepted the irreducible minimum of French rights in Newfoundland and assented to a fiscal conference within the Empire, thus leading the colonies to understand the mother country would not impose a preferential and, therefore, discriminating duty against foreign countries competing with the colonies. He (Asquith) was glad at the coincidence of the colonies if we did not tax foreign food, that the mother and the people of this country prepared to assist such a policy as that to which Canada and Australia and Australia and Canada seemed most predisposed.

Mr. Chamberlain's plan entered into the question of taxing British goods into their markets on level with foreign and Asia. The conference idea was a sham and illusion.

The Question Is.

London, Nov. 8.—(C. A. P.)—The Times, commenting on Mr. Asquith's speech, says the question is not whether the colonies will admit our goods free, but upon what terms that admission should be granted, disabilities imposed by foreign tariffs. It is not a food reason to be content with what the Liberals in Canada have shown they are willing to do in the tariff matter.

Sympathy Significant.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—Speaking with reference to the messages of sympathy received from the colonies in connection with the Dogger Bank affair, Lord Rosebery, Premier, said it showed how vitally the ties of the empire were built together. This close sympathy and unity had been manifested in preparation for the righteousness of any raise were made and the colonies cordially responded.

Distasteful Reflections.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—Discussing the fiscal question, The Morning Post says the Liberals have have consistently fought shy of the Imperial issues raised by Mr. Chamberlain have given great offence in the colonies by disparagement of the colonial offer; and cannot even discuss the Canadian election without a tone of contemptuously distasteful to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his friends.

Canada to Owe Wireless.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—The Canadian Government has agreed if Great Britain takes over the national control of the wireless telegraph they will do the same in Canada.

Two New C.P.R. Steamers.

London, Nov. 8.—(C. A. P.)—The Glasgow Herald reports that the C. P. R. is arranging the building of two new steamers for the Liverpool and St. Lawrence service.

For Hawaii Protect.

London, Nov. 8.—(C. A. P.)—Sir Howard Vincent has written to The Times protesting against the Hicks-Campbell-Bannerman making political capital by interpreting the Liberal Victory as a Chamberlain set-back.

AGAIN DISCUSSED.

Another Protest Against Relinquishment of French Rights in Newfoundland.

London, Nov. 8.—The Anglo-French Convention again was discussed yesterday in the Chamber of Deputies. Farin, M. Sochet's protested against the relinquishment of French rights in Newfoundland, expressed the fear that the rights of French subjects would not be respected and referred to negotiations which might possibly be framed by the Newfoundland Legislature.

Premier Delcasse interposed that if such regulations paralyzed the exercises of French rights, the French Government would address itself directly to the Imperial Government.

Mr. Suchetet went on to relate the grievances suffered by French from the hands of the Newfoundlanders, and described the new proposed to France as a deceitful mirage. The inhabitants of St. Pierre and Miquelon were dissatisfied and prepared to accept union with the United States.

The discussion was adjourned.

The Lennox Assault Case.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—"We find the prisoner guilty of assaulting but intent to murder, with a recommendation to mercy," said the foreman of the jury in the Criminal Assize Court after two considerations of the charge. "Upon what grounds do you base your request for mercy?" asked Chief Justice Falconbridge. "Upon his previous character and his abiding his family," replied the foreman. His Lordship deferred the passing of sentence on Malcolm Lennie, who was found guilty of this serious charge, until he learns some thing further about the character of the convicted man.

Wife Murderer Pleads Guilty.

Winnipeg, Nov. 8.—Crozier, who murdered his wife in Winnipeg recently, pleaded guilty at the Winnipeg fall assizes on Saturday morning. He is in an advanced stage of consumption, and although he will be sentenced, it is hardly likely he will live till the day he is to be executed.

Fire At Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Nov. 8.—About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the residence of Miss Anna Dregre on the corner of Regent and Centre streets was discovered on fire. The alarm was given, and the fire brigade was soon on the scene. In a short time they had the flames under control. The fire is said to have been caused by a spark from a chimney, fellow townsmen at Trapani. Signor Falcandi, who is considered to be the head of the Mafia Secret Society, was defeated at Palermo.

Asphyxiated in Bed.

Niagara Falls, Nov. 8.—William Fenwick, aged 24 years, employed on the power works, was found dead in bed about 1.50 o'clock yesterday morning by his roommate, William Solvey, who, upon entering the room, was almost overcome by escaped gas. The deceased came from Sault Ste. Marie, where his parents reside.

Child Killed By Gas.

Quebec, Nov. 8.—Getting out of its bed early Sunday morning, while its parents were asleep, Mary Christine, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Connell, St. Valier street, accepted a bottle of gas and drank a large quantity, dying from the effects later in the day.

Storms Interfere.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 8.—The combined yields of Trinity district show the election of Miller, the third of the Liberal candidates, by a majority of 16. There remain only two districts to be reported. Stormy weather prevents the collection of ballot boxes.

Three Cars Jumped Track.

Brantford, Nov. 8.—The Grand Trunk Express for Toronto, loaded with passengers, had a most close escape from a wreck Sunday morning. It was running between Princeton and Paris when the baggage and two passenger cars jumped the track. Strange to say, the accident was attended with no serious results. The coaches were not even overturned, and the passengers escaped with a bad jolting. The cause of the mishap could not be ascertained.

Italian Election Returns.

Rome, Nov. 8.—Definite returns show that all the ministers in the Cabinet have been re-elected. The Government has been victorious over the extremists, who lose twenty seats. Signor Nasi, former Minister of Public Instruction, and a fugitive from justice, accused of peculation, was elected unanimously by his fellow townsmen at Trapani. Signor Falcandi, who is considered to be the head of the Mafia Secret Society, was defeated at Palermo.

Chief Reduced to Ranks.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—The deputation of Chief of Police Winterhalt, has been accepted. Last week he was suspended by the police commission for having been drunk on duty. He will hereafter be retained on the force, being reduced to the rank of a constable. P. C. Conroy O'Neill was appointed acting chief.

Immediate Agreement.

London, Nov. 8.—Colonial Secretary Lyttelton, in a speech at Leamington yesterday, said there was an excellent hope of the Anglo-Russian agreement by Russia to all of Great Britain's demands in connection with the North Sea affair.

Fatal Fall Downstairs.

Belleville, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Samuel Robinson, an aged lady of this city, fell down stairs a few days ago, receiving internal injuries, which caused her death at the hospital Sunday night. She was 79 years of age.

Lament a Disaster.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 8.—The colonial cruiser Fiona, with Premier Bond aboard, returning from Trinitgate district, Sunday, broke a portion of her machinery and barely escaped going ashore in a fierce storm.

Death-Trooper to Leave.

New York, Nov. 8.—It is announced that Commander Booth-Tucker, who for eight and one-half years has commanded the Salvation Army forces in the United States, is appointed to the International Headquarters of the Army in London and will leave for his new post in a few days. Commander Booth-Tucker is also to be the chief representative of the Army in all countries outside of Great Britain.

No Woman Suffrage.

Montpelier, Vermont, Nov. 5.—After a spirited debate, the Vermont House of Representatives by a majority of 99 to 47 has refused a third reading to the bill granting municipal suffrage to women who are taxpayers.

Pope Re-nues Audiences.

Rome, Nov. 5.—The Pope considers that he has been restored to his usual health and yesterday resumed his audiences.

Blunder of the New Porter.

(Detroit Free Press).

Hotel Guest—This is queer tasting mineral water. Where did you get it?

New Porter—Found it hanging there on the wall.

Guest—You idiot! That isn't mineral water; it's fire extinguisher!

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is Pleasant to Take

The finest quality of granulated loaf sugar is used in the manufacture of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it quite pleasant to take. Mr. W. L. Roderick, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of this remedy, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with my children for several years and can truthfully say it is the best preparation of the kind I know of. The children like to take it and it has no injurious after effect. For sale by all druggists.

REGULAR MEETING OF COUNCIL.

NOT MUCH BUSINESS TRANSACTED MONDAY EVENING.

Collector Nicholls Now on the Warpath With the Roll for 1904.

Our town fathers met in regular monthly session on Tuesday, Mayor Sootheran and all members being present with the exception of Ald. Storer.

The minutes of the last regular and special meetngs were read and confirmed.

Communications.

From Messrs. R. E. Buckner & Co., Chicago, quoting price of one-man roller.—Board of Works

From Town Solicitor Hopkins, stating that Jos. Thornhill was acting illegally in excavating gravel close to the roadway and in failing to fence dangerous spots. If he persisted the Council should take out an injunction.—Left in the Solicitor's hands.

From E. D. Morris, Toronto, asking to be informed as to hitch in dealing with Lindsay gas franchise......Mayor Sootheran—"I communicated with Mr. Morris by telephone and said we had been told about his suspension of operations in Collingwood. He informed me that one of the conditions of that bargain was that citizens should subscribe for $20,000 of stock in the undertaking, and he had until November 1905 to complete his contract there."—Police and Lighting committee.

From C. D. Dyke, local manager Bell Telephone Co., informing Council that no unused poles belonging to his Company had been left on the street......Mayor Sootheran—"That's right, and I understand the L. H. & P. Co. poles have also been picked up."—Fyled.

From Thos. Killaby, Kent-st. east, claiming that an extension recently made by Mr. Thos. McConnell to his boathouse was on the street line and interfered with the view of the river......Mayor Sootheran—"I don't think Mr. Killaby is a ratepayer, and anyway, Mr. McConnell holds that he is on his own property and says he is willing to pay his share of the cost of the survey, as he thinks Mr. Killaby's dwelling is partly on the street."—Board of Works.

From Flavelles Limited, asking that a crossing be put in on King-st. opposite their poultry department for the accommodation of pluckers. —Fyled, the crossing having been constructed some days ago.

From Dr. Gillespie, respecting the raising of the roof of his office. Chief Nevison, the Fire Warden, maintained that the laying of shingles in mortor was a violation of the new fire by-law......Ald. O'Rielly — "We violated the by-law in building the addition to the weigh-scale house." ......On motion Mr. Ed. Daly was heard concerning a somewhat similar request, and it was decided to instruct the Fire Warden to take no action in either case.

From Fred Brohm, respecting his poll tax.—Finance committee.

From J. A. McCamus, objecting to an interest charge on overdue taxes.—Referred to Finance committee in opposition to Ald. O'Rielly, who said everyone should be treated alike.

A number of accounts were read and dealt with in the usual way.

Clerk Knowlson reported that the collector's settlement in connection with the return of 1903 roll was in his hands.—Referred to the Auditor.

An Error in Judgment.

Ald. O'Rielly moved, seconded by Ald. McCrea, that the L. H. & P. Co. be notified that the new light ordered on King-st. is not located 200 feet west of King and St. Peter-sts., as ordered, and that same must be changed at once.

In connection with the above matter quite a deputation appeared, Capt. Fee and Mr. Kennedy being the spokesmen. The former said the light was 71 feet out of position, and thought it should go still further west. The discussion brought out that Mr. Staples had had something to do with the locating of the light on the strength of alleged telephone message from Aldermen McCrea, O'Rielly and Cinnamon.

Ald. O'Rielly at once fyled an indignant denial, and said that the L. H. & Power Co. had a way of throwing blame on others as a reason for neglecting to carry out instructions. He (Ald. O'Rielly) wished to tell them and others that he had not interfered in the matter in question.

Ald. McWatters—"If the Co. had put the light where directed there would not have been any trouble. I didn't give any order."

Ald McCrrea—"I'm certain I didnt."

Ald. O'Rielly—"Under the contract the Company must put in poles where needed, but to save themselves trouble they attached the light to a pole not in position. They did the same thing in the case of another light on St. Paul-st. and caused friction."

Ald Cinnamon—"I think Mr. Walter Reesor has been jollying the aldermen a bit. I had nothing to do with the placing of the lamp."

The resolution was adopted.

Committee Reports.

The chairmen of the respective committees read their reports, which were adopted. The Finance report commended payment of the following accounts:

In connection with the item of $300 off to the L. H. & P. Co. for one month's street lighting, Ald. O'Rielly held that a resolution already on the books prohibited the payment until the work of removing all lights to the centre of the roadway had been completed. He held that Council should adhere to its ruling, and moved in amendment that the item be stricken out of the report, Ald. Robison offering as seconder.

Mayor Sootheran—"The committee felt that we should not hold back all money, as the company were making good progress."

On a vote being taken the amendment was declared lost.

Ald. O'Rielly—"It's just a case of smashing the rules whenever it suits."

A Batch of By-laws.

On motion Council went into committee of the whole to deal with a couple of by-laws, Ald. Maunder in the chair. The first was an amendment of the Cabmen's by-law, reducing the maximum penalty from $50 to $20: the second authorized the Mayor to execute a contract for the construction of certain sewers; and the third appointed Mr. Nicholls, tax collector for 1904. The by-laws were given a third reading when the committee rose.

Sundry Matters.

Aldermen O'Rielly, and Robinson, that a three plank walk be built from the south end of Logie-st. to Mr. D. Hudson's new house.—Carried..

Aldermen Cinnamon and O'Rielly, that the action of Mayor Sootheran in insuring the steam roller for $2,500 at a premium of $41.25 for 12 months be approved.—Carried.

Aldermen O'Rielly and McWatters, that the Mayor be authorized to get a Guarantee Co. bond for $5000 on Collector Nicholls.—Carried.

Council then adjourned.

A COMMON CAUSE OF LOSS TO INEXPERIENCED BREEDERS

Methods of Prevention and Extermination of the Pests.

The presence of parasites is one of the primary causes of unprofitableness and disease in a flock of poultry man to examine his birds Ottawa. The fowls are rarely examined, and the reason of their poor condition is not discovered or even considered. There it will pay every poutry man to examine the birds carefully before they go into winter quarters, as their health and comfort during the next six months depend largely upon their freedom from vermin. There are three distinct groups of parasites preying upon the domestic flowl,—fleas, lice and mites.

Groups of Parasites.—Only one species of flea, the bird flea lives upon the fowl. This flea is provided with a sharp piercing mouth; it attacks the fowls at night and through causing constant irritation and loss of blood does much harm. The mouth of the louse differs from the mouth of the flea in that it is not sharp and used for piercing, but simply for biting. Lice bite sharply and cause considerable pain. The most injurious of the mites is the red fowl mite. This is yellowish-white to dark red in color, according to the quantity of blood it contains. The blood is drawn from the fowls at night, and during the day the might hides in the cracks and crevices of the house. When the chickens appear in poor health they should be examined at nights, and if mites are found, treatment should be resorted to..

Prevention and Extermination.—If the poultry house is old and contains cracks and crevices, all the nests, roosts and other fixtures should be removed from it, and the walls and ceiling covered with heavy building paper and limewash. The latter should be applied hot and fairly liquid so as to enter every crevice in the building. Its quality will be improved by adding to every gallon of the wash one-quarter pound of soft soap previously dissolved in boiling water, also a small quantity of salt. The material taken from the house should be burned, and new roosting quarters and inside fittings put in. These fittings should be simple in construction and easily removable so that the vermin can be destroyed.

Before the fowls return to the house they should be thoroughly dusted with insect powder or sulphur. By dusting each fowl over a box or paper, the powder can be well rubbed among the quills of the feathers, and the excess will not be wasted. The coal tar treatment for the destruction of the gape worm can be effectively used to rid fowls of vermin. The fowls are placed in a barrel, the inside of which is coated with a mixture of coal tar and coal oil of the consistency of paint, and top of the barrel is covered. The lice are overcome by the coal tar fumes and fall to the bottom of the barrel. A paper should be placed to catch the vermin when they fall, so they may be destroyed.

The poultry requires cleaning and limewashing twice a year. The roost should be removed and treated with coal tar or kerosene every week, and the nests frequently cleaned and new straw put in them.

It is necessary to regularly examine young chicks for head lice. If present, the lice will be found in the down or feathers on the chick's head. If not destroyed, they will so weaken the chick that it will die from loss of blood. The lice can be removed by smearing the chick's head with grease or sweet oil to which a few drops of carbolic acid have been added.

Scaly Leg.—This disease is quite prevalent in flocks of neglected poultry, and is due to a species of mite. The scales of the legs and feet become raised and separated, and a chalk-like excretion accumulates between and over them; rough lumpy crusts are formed, and under these the mites live and breed. The diseased legs and feet of the chickens should be well washed with a small, stiff brush, warm water and soap. The crusts should then be removed and a mixture of equal parts of sulphur and lard rubbed into the affected parts. After three or four days the legs of the chickens that were treated should be cleansed with soap and warm water.

Our Thanksgiving Sale

Means Economy For You.

And Economy means Independence. "The money that you save now means leisure in the future."

There is vastly more truth than fiction in these words. One of the best ways to economize is to buy the dry goods needs of the entire family at Ford's. It is true economy—wise economy, because you get the benefit of our syndicate buying and strictly cash selling, which means that the savings effected often makes your valuable dollar do double duty.

Our Special Thanksgiving Sale Starts Friday, November 11th, and Continues till Wednesday . . Night, November 16th , .

There never has been offered in this store such a splendid array of bright new seasonable stocks at such extremely low prices throughout.

STYLE & ECONOMY.

Labor Man Wins.

London, Nov. 3.—(C. A. P.)—Thomas Richardson, labor candidate, defeated Sir John Alexander Cockburn, who stood as a tariff reformer, in the bye-election for West Monmouthshire, by a majority of 4,635 votes. The vacancy was caused by the death of Sir William Harcourt, whose majority in 1900 was 3,575. Though Sir John Cockburn had radical tendencies, his candidature was endorsed in a letter from Mr. Chamberlain. Sir John Cockburn was Premier and Chief Secretary of South Australia in 1889-90, and after holding various other offices, was appointed Agent-General for that colony in 1901.

Killed By Trolley Car.

Toronto, Nov. 4.—Struck by one car and thrown under the wheels of another, Mark Capel, a coachman in the employ of Mrs. Daniels of 55 Elm avenue, was run over at the corner of Bay and Front streets last night and almost instantly killed. Capel was struck by a Bathurst street car and fell in front of the Winchester street car. Before the latter could be brought to a stop the first wheel has passed diagonally across his body. Rotheroe, his companion, was carried on the fender of the Bathurst street car for a considerable distance, but beyond a cut over the eye and a bad shaking up he was unharmed.

Oom Paul's Funeral.

London, Nov. 4.—Mr. Botha yesterday issued the program to be observed at the funeral of Mr. Kruger.

The remains will lie in state at Cape Town for a week, and will then be conveyed by special train to Pretoria, the final interment taking place on December 16.

The Government has promised to facilitate the attendance of Afrikanders from all parts of the country by relaxing the stringency of the permit regulations.

In Pretoria the ceremony will be of a semi-military character, and funeral orations will be delivered by Mr. Botha and other Boer leaders.

Head Caught and Crushed.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—Death came suddenly and in a peculiar way to Thomas Cuff, an employe of the Frazee Cartage Co., yesterday afternoon.

He was on the seat of one of the large moving vans operated by the company which had been driven in to the wagon shed in rear of the storage house on College street. The driver alighted and went to the horses' heads to back the wagon under the shed. It did not go in as straight as was wanted, and he brought the horses forward again. As he did so, Cuff stood up for some reason and his head was caught and crushed between the hood over the driver's seat and the edge of the shed roof. When the horses were again backed, the body fell to the ground.

Dr. Ferguson was called, but death had been instantaneous. Coroner Elliott will open an inquest to-day. Cuff was about 50 years of age.

Caught By Steam.

Brantford, Nov. 8.—An Armenian, name unknown, was badly scalded at Waterous Engine works yesterday morning. He was working in a tank when the steam was accidentally turned on. Unable to escape the man beat frantically at the side of the tank, but those outside did not notice it for some time. As soon as it was noticed the steam was hurriedly turned off and the Armenian pulled out of the tank. He was badly scalded in the face, neck, hands and wrists, and all exposed parts.

Toronto Boxing Tournament.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Twenty-two entries have already been made for the annual Fall city amateur boxing championships that will be decided here beginning Thanksgiving night. The outside candidates include a heavyweight from Alliston.

Provincial Elections in Quebec.

Quebec, Nov. 5.—At a meeting of the Provincial Cabinet yesterday morning it was decided to dissolve the Legislature, the day of nomination being fixed for Nov. 18, and the day of polling for Nov. 25.

Troops Charge Students.

Innsbruck, Austria, Nov. 5.—The rioting of the students at the university has become so serious during the night that troops with fixed bayonets marched into the midst of the German demonstrators. An artist named Pexey was killed by a bayonet thrust through the heart and many persons were wounded. Eight Germans and ten Italians were wounded. The building occupied by the Italian faculty of the university was wrecked.

For the German Vote.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Negotiations have been initiated for a treaty between Germany and the United States.

CAMBRAY.

(Special to The Post).

The Rev. A. F. and Mrs. Webster are away on their vacation, visiting their daughter in Minden.

Mr. Bert. of Victoria Road, occupied Mr. Webster's pulpit in the Presbyterian church on Sunday, Oct. 30th, and again on Sunday, Nov. 6th, and gave two very able discourses.

The Presbyterians are having their anniversary services on Sabbath, Nov. 13th, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. by Rev. H. H. Turner, B.D. of Kirkfield, and on Thursday, 17th, at 7 p.m. when a tea will be served from 5 to 8 p.m. A good time is expected.

ALMONTE.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The regular monthly meeting of the Township Council was adjourned to Monday, owing to a dance held at Reeve McLaughlin's.

Sorrow is expressed by many this week over the return of Mr. Aylsworth. It is unfortunate that parties who are so anxious to do certain quarters, merit often being sacrificed for the sake of popularity.

The young men who made the night hideous on the evening of the election, publishing over the return of their candidate, had their enthusiasm somewhat dampened when it became evident that the country and pure Tories again by some several hundred majority. We are perfectly willing to concede to them the pleasure they may gain from having a member sit on the opposition benches, but we are willing to give them Col. Ward so long as the government is sustained by an increased majority.

Mr. J. Quinn, who has conducted a general store here for a number of years, has decided to retire from business, and is offering his stock for sale en block.

Mr. C. Dale, representing the Bonnanville News, and Mr. E. P. Gillogly, representing The Lindsay Post, were in the village on Monday.

Mr. D. Barlow has moved to his own residence during the past week, where he and family are now comfortably located.

A concert under the auspices of the village teaching staff is to be arranged among the entertainments of the season. Keep your eye on the date—some time in latter part of November.

Miss Stevin, teacher, visited Mr. Ivers friends on Sunday.

Miss Walton, of Lindsay, was the guest of her friend, Miss Ella Wood, last Sunday.

Miss Winnie Bailey, of Winnipeg, is making a pleasant visit with her uncle, Mr. Fred Bailey.

Mr. D. F. Porter, merchant tailor, has placed a barber shop in his comfortable quarters, where the wants of the public along these lines will be looked after. This is a great convenience and we hope Mr. Max Porter succeed in his undertaking. He has also added a line of pipes and tobacco.

Mr. Alvin Wood, of Lindsay, visited at the home of his father, Councillor Wood, on Sunday last.

Mr. D. F. Porter spent Sunday with friends at Yelverton.

Mrs. Hooper, of Cameron, visited Mrs. T. Swain, of the Temperance house, last week.

Mr. Davidson, of Oshawa, visited his daughter, Miss Davidson, teacher, last week.

FRANK HILL.

(From Our Own Correspondent).

A large meeting was held in the township hall, Kinmount, on Oct. 31st in honor of Mr. Kendry. After arriving Mr. Kendry became very ill and consulted Dr. Maloney, of Cardwell, and Drs. Coughlin and McNulty, of Peterboro, came to his aid. They adopted all precautions to restore him to his former health but to no avail. As a result of this it led to his downfall on Nov. 3rd, being followed by about 200 of a majority.

Most of the farmers have completed their fall ploughing and are at present making preparations for the cold season which is approaching.

A number of our young boys took their departure on Tuesday of last week to spend the winter months in the woods.

Honor roll of S. S. No. 7, Emily, Senior (V)—May Brooks, Maggie Hickey, Lillie Hickey, Ethel Nurse; Junior (V)—Lucie Doherty, Johnnie Twomey; Senior III—Lizzie Gilson; Junior III—Estella Hickey, Maggie Franks, Lillie Franks, Baby Lawrie; Senior II—Hickey H. LITTLE BRITAIN.

(From Our Own Correspondent).

We notice Mr. J. Hooper with his sons in a drug store on account of blood poisoning. He has the wishes of the community for a speedy recovery.

Miss Alecia Morton is in our midst again after attending the post office, after a long illness.

Mr. Jack Ferguson, who has been away for a short time working in the blacksmithing trade, had the misfortune to have his thumb jammed, and as a result is home again.

Mr. Jas. Hickey spent a few days with friends at Kirkfield last week.

Mrs. S. McIntyrel spent a few days visiting with her daughter, Mrs. F. Maunder, of Lindsay.

Messrs. Edgar and Ernest Wood, of Toronto, were visiting friends on Monday, owing to a death in the family of Reeve McLaughlin.

Sorrow is expressed by many this week over the return of Mr. Aylsworth. It is unfortunate that party lines are so strong in certain quarters, merit often being sacrificed for the sake of popular feeling.

The young men who made the night hideous on the evening of the election, publishing over the return of their candidate, had their enthusiasm somewhat dampened when it became evident that the country and pure Tories again by some several hundred majority. We are perfectly willing to concede to them the pleasure they may gain from having a member sit on the opposition benches, but we are willing to give them Col. Ward so long as the government is sustained by an increased majority.

Mr. J. Quinn, who has conducted a general store here for a number of years, has decided to retire from business, and is offering his stock for sale en block.

Mr. C. Dale, representing the Bonnanville News, and Mr. E. P. Gillogly, representing The Lindsay Post, were in the village on Monday.

Mr. D. Barlow has moved to his own residence during the past week, where he and family are now comfortably located.

A concert under the auspices of the village teaching staff is to be arranged among the entertainments of the season. Keep your eye on the date—some time in latter part of November.

Miss Stevin, teacher, visited Mr. Ivers friends on Sunday.

Miss Walton, of Lindsay, was the guest of her friend, Miss Ella Wood, last Sunday.

Miss Winnie Bailey, of Winnipeg, is making a pleasant visit with her uncle, Mr. Fred Bailey.

Mr. D. F. Porter, merchant tailor, has placed a barber shop in his comfortable quarters, where the wants of the public along these lines will be looked after. This is a great convenience and we hope that Mr. Max Porter succeed in his undertaking.

Mr. Alvin Wood, of Lindsay, visited at the home of his father, Councillor Wood, on Sunday last.

Mr. D. F. Porter spent Sunday with friends at Yelverton.

Mrs. Hooper, of Cameron, visited Mrs. T. Swain, of the Temperance house, last week.

Mr. Davidson, of Oshawa, visited his daughter, Miss Davidson, teacher, last week.

FRANK HILL.

(From Our Own Correspondent).

A large meeting was held in the township hall, Kinmount, on Oct. 31st in honor of Mr. Kendry. After arriving Mr. Kendry became very ill and consulted Dr. Maloney, of Cardwell, and Drs. Coughlin and McNulty, of Peterboro, came to his aid. They adopted all precautions to restore him to his former health but to no avail. As a result of this it led to his downfall on Nov. 3rd, being defeated by about 200 of a majority.

Most of the farmers have completed their fall ploughing and are at present making preparations for the cold season which is approaching.

A number of our young boys took their departure on Tuesday of last week to spend the winter months in the woods.

$1,200 Damages For a Death.

Woodstock, Nov. 14.—The suit of Margaret Snowden v. the G.T.R. was set down for the Stratford assizes, but has been settled out of court. This suit was for unstated damages for the death of the plaintiff's son, Fireman Snowden, who was killed on the Grand Trunk in the Trainor's Cut collision, near Guelph, last April. The settlement, it is understood, gives the plaintiff $1,200 and costs.

Time to File Tariffs.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—The Railway Commission announced yesterday morning that the extension of time fixed by the board for the filing of railway tariffs has been extended to Dec. 31.

CORRESPONDENTS' LETTERS

Correspondence Omitted.

As a result of The Post being published a day earlier this week owing to Thanksgiving, the report of Mariposa Council meeting on Nov. 14th, and correspondence from Haliburton, Omemee and Cambray, arrived too late for publication.

GLANDINE.

(Special to The Post.)

A school concert will be given in Glandine school, (No. 11, Mariposa), on Friday night, November 25th. A choice programme is being prepared, consisting of recitations, dialogues and choruses by the pupils. Mr. Broderick will give his fine collection of limelight views on British Columbia. Admission, 15c. and 10c.

BROWNS—MARIPOSA.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Arch. McPherson, who has been seriously ill for the past week, is recovering rapidly under the care of Dr. Grant of Woodville.

Mr. McDugal, of Sonya, visited her sister, Mrs. James Aylie, of this place, last week.

Miss Louie Lee visited friends in Cameron last week.

Mr. Frank Wickett, of Glen. Mariposa, was in this vicinity Sunday. Come again, Frank.

The young people of this section had a pleasant time at Mr. Donald Anderson, on Wednesday evening, last, the occasion being a paring bee. After cleaning about twenty bushels of apples and doing ample justice to the good things provided by Mrs. Anderson, they spent the remainder of the night in dancing and other amusements.

Mr. D. McPherson lost a valuable young horse last Thursday, the cause being inflammation.

Mr. James Wylie also suffered a loss by one of his cows getting too many turnip tops.

JANETVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

As chopping has become so busy at present, Mr. Feir intends to run his mill, every day except Saturday, for the benefit of the farmers.

Mr. Thomas Gostlin's sale on Friday of last week was one of the largest ever held in this part of the country, and it was one of the most successful sales. Mr. Jackson, of Port Perry, was the auctioneer, and performed his duties to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Mr. Richard Paul has completed his new house, which he expects to occupy before spring.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Janetville cheese factory will be held on the first Saturday of December. As this is the most important meeting of the year a full attendance is requested.

Mr. Alfred Wright has threshed one of the best crops of buckwheat ever grown in this section of the country.

Miss L. Haskill, of Oshawa, is spending a couple of weeks at the home of Mr. James Hobbs, of the Temperance house.

Mrs. Giles, of Oshawa, is also visiting at Mr. James Hobbs, who is her son. Mrs. Hobbs has reached the ripe old age of 84 years and is still hale and hearty.

Mr. F. H. Peel, of Toronto, came down last Saturday to spend a few days with friends in this vicinity.

Thanksgiving services will be held in the Methodist church here on Sunday, Nov. 20th. Rev. Grossley, of Bowmanville, will preach in the morning and evening. In the afternoon, he will address the Sunday school. At each of these services, collections will be taken. It is to be hoped that the congregation will respond like the Newcastle people. The church asked for an offering of $150 and the people answered the call by giving $200, being $50 over the amount.

It is with feelings of surprise and regret that we have to announce the sudden death of Mr. Robert Shecklton, of Yelverton, on Tuesday, Nov. 8th, from paralysis. The deceased, who was forty-five years of age, was working for Mr. Knapman, the telegraph pole man, and ate his dinner, apparently enjoying the best of health. After dinner he sharpened his axe and went to his work. About fifteen minutes after commencing his work he was found lying dead by the foreman. Drs. Nasmyth and Lapp were summoned, and pronounced death instantaneous from paralysis of the brain. He leaves a faithful wife, and five children to mourn the loss of a kind husband. His funeral on Thursday to the Yelverton cemetery was largely attended, thus showing that he was highly respected in the neighborhood.

A serious accident occurred in our village early Friday morning when Nellis Arthurs, second son of Mr. William Arthurs, climbed up on the stable to get an old whip before the frost had gone off it. He in some way unknown missed his footing and came down head first to the ground. He stretched out his arms to save himself, and in this way, got both his arms broken between the wrists and the elbows. Dr. Nasmyth was soon in attendance and soon had the broken arms set, and also pronounced other injuries slight. Nellis is doing as well as can be expected.

Our cheesemaker, Mr. John Purden, took his departure from our village on Saturday, last, but some of the fair sex say he will soon be back again.

Mrs. James Armstrong, who spent a week in Bethany visiting her niece, Mrs. Fred Reynolds, has returned to our village again.

Many comments have been made in regard to Colonel Ward's majority over A. B. Aylesworth, K. C. According to the official account his majority is 149. Mr. Ward's majority at the last general election was 211.

A SCHOONER BURNED

The Vessel William Crosthwaite is a Total Loss.

LIKEWISE STEAMER ALERT

Loss of the Schooner Annie Falconer—Went Down in the Gale With a Cargo of Coal—Mate James Sullivan Perished of Exposure After Crew Had Landed On Amherst Island.

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 15.—The schooner William Crosthwaite was burned to the water's edge while lying at anchor near Whitefish Point Sunday night. The vessel is a total loss. When the fire broke out her crew of six men were at supper and barely had time to launch the lifeboat and get clear of the schooner, before the craft was wrapped in flames. No effort could be made to check the progress of the fire, and the schooner was totally destroyed. It is supposed the fire was caused by an overheated stove in the galley.

Steamer Alert Burns.

Lakefield, Nov. 15.—The steamer Alert was burned to the water's edge at the dock here yesterday afternoon. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is about $4,000, partly covered by insurance.

SCHOONER WENT DOWN IN GALE.

Mate of Annie Falconer Wanders Away and Dies.

Picton, Nov. 15.—The schooner Annie Falconer, owned and sailed by Capt. Murny Ackerman of Picton, went down in the gale on Saturday night, between the False Duck Islands and Timber Island. The Falconer was on her way from Sodus Point, N.Y., to Picton with a load of soft coal for A. W. Hepburn, Picton. The crew took to the boats and after hours of suffering and hardship reached shore at Emerald, on Amherst Island, 20 miles from the scene of the wreck. James Sullivan, the mate, after reaching land, wandered away, and when found by his mates, had perished from cold and exposure. His body was brought here yesterday morning for burial. The crew all belong to Picton.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

Two Engines Collide On the Grand Trunk Near Whitby.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—George Knox, conductor; F. A. Flynn, fireman, and James Powell, brakeman, all employes of the Grand Trunk Railway, and all residents of East Toronto, were brought to the Emergency Hospital in Toronto early yesterday morning, suffering from injuries received in a rear-end collision near Whitby, between one and two o'clock. Engine No. 860, light, in charge of Alf. Lemeasurer, was run into by No. 863, with caboose. Engineer George Coomb was in charge of the latter engine. Both engines were derailed and badly damaged. Flynn, who was on the forward engine, jumped, and dislocated his ankle. Knox dropped from the roof to the floor of the caboose and had his spine badly injured. Powell had his foot slightly twisted.

Conductor Knox attributes the collision to a misunderstanding of orders. The engines came together at a sharp curve.

Serious Wreck Just Averted.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—The passengers on the North Bay train leaving the Union Station at 1.45 o'clock on Saturday afternoon had a narrow escape from a serious accident. While the express was running at high speed, between Newmarket and Holland Landing, one of the main axles of the locomotive broke, permitting one of the large drive wheels to fall off. This obstruction stopped the train very quickly, the rude jolts alarming the passengers. Before the train came to a halt, the engine was badly broken, and a portion of the track and roadbed badly torn up. The fireman, alarmed at the bumping of the locomotive, jumped, though the engineer held fast the throttle. No person was seriously injured.

An auxiliary was brought from Allandale, and the train taken back to Newmarket. Traffic was delayed for several hours.

Freights Collide.

London, Nov. 15.—Two freight trains collided in the Grand Trunk yards here yesterday afternoon. Three cars were smashed. The caboose was splintered, but the trainmen escaped by jumping.

Falls Headlong Two Storeys.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—While wheeling a barrow full of debris past a trap hole in the second storey of one of the new buildings being erected by Clancy Bros. in the fire district, J. W. Wellby, of 365 East Queen street, lost his balance and plunged headlong, barrow and all, to the ground, two storeys below. When fellow-workmen came to his assistance Wellby was in an unconscious condition. With his hands he had tried to protect himself as he fell, with the result that both wrists were broken, and his left forearm and right elbow. His skull also was fractured. The unfortunate man was taken to the Emergency Hospital and his condition is critical.

Committed Suicide On the Ocean.

Plymouth, Eng., Nov. 15.—The commander of the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., on her arrival yesterday, reported that Adam Weiss of Chicago, a passenger on the steamer, which left New York, Nov. 8, committed suicide two hours after leaving New York. He shot himself in the second steward's cabin and died a few minutes later. No cause for the deed was assigned.

THE CRACK OF DOOM

Peace-Lovers' Dream Shattered by Count Cassini.

FIGHT TO THE BITTER END

Russian Ambassador's Emphatic Words About Russia's Determination to Wage War Against Japan Until the Japanese Are Conquered—His Opinion of End of War Talk—100 Miles of Front.

Washington, Nov. 15.—"Russia will pursue the war in the East to the bitter end, that is until Russia has conquered." These were the opening words of an emphatic statement made at the Russian Embassy yesterday by Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador. Several times recently the Ambassador, in the name of his Government, has categorically denied the possibility of any intervention in the war, but the recurrence of rumors that the powers contemplated mediation has caused the Ambassador to reiterate, on behalf of his Government, its position regarding intervention or mediation of any kind.

The statement continues: "I deem it my duty to reiterate what I have so often said, that Russia will not suspend in any case her military operations in the Far East. All rumors and reports regarding the possible success of the direct overtures for peace which Japan is said to have made to Russia, and regarding the mediation of the powers, in my opinion, are started for the purpose of convincing the people that the end of the war is close at hand. In this way it is hoped that the public may be led to believe that Japan loans offer attractive investments."

100 Miles of Front.

New York, Nov. 15.—The Herald prints the following from Mukden, dated Sunday: I have just returned here from a second tour extending over 100 miles along the Russian front, from east of Bensiaputze to west of the railway.

The position is practically unchanged.

Cannonading continues daily, and a battle is evidently imminent.

Gen. Kuropatkin has stopped the destruction of houses, which were being used for the supply of firewood, and the farmers are now allowed to carry what is left of their harvest into Mukden.

The streets of Mukden are littered with damaged agricultural produce.

Francis McCullagh.

On a Large Scale.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—The latest indications from the front point to an early resumption of military operations on a large scale. Field Marshal Oyama has received heavy reinforcements from Newchwang, and evidently is about ready to wage the attack on Mukden. The Japanese are showing activity on their right flank as if they were contemplating a turning movement from that direction. General Kuropatkin, has fortified his positions along the Shakhe River, and as he seemingly is prepared to accept a battle he doubtless has made dispositions to block a flanking operation. According to the opinion of military authorities here his left flank is secure.

To Send More Men.

London, Nov. 15.—The Daily Telegraph correspondent at St. Petersburg asserts that the Emperor has decided to send out the second divisions of infantry of the guards as soon as the troops already called out shall have been despatched to Manchuria. The guards usually are only sent to the front when there is a monarch or a grand duke in command. The despatch of these troops, the correspondent adds, show the determination of the Emperor to struggle to the bitter end.

In a Few Days.

Mukden, Nov. 15.—Since Sunday signs of the engagement taking place within the next few days have been increasing. The Japanese are displaying great activity eastward. Fears are beginning to be expressed that the railroad will not be able to bring up sufficient supplies.

Troops Sent Home.

Pitrakoff, Poland, Nov. 15.—The army reserve men of 1887 and 1889, who were to have been mobilized, have been sent home.

Pathetic Appeal.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—M. Perloff, the millionaire merchant of Moscow, has received a pathetic letter from Madame Stoessel, wife of General Stoessel, dated Port Arthur, Oct. 24, appealing to the rich Muscovites for money to assist the helpless wounded defenders of the fortress, some of whom have lost both arms, others either an arm or a leg, some of them being blind and others suffering from wounds in the spine and who will be cripples for life. There are, she adds, very many such unfortunates.

WOMAN IS IRRESPONSIBLE.

Mrs. Jessie Kirkpatrick a Victim From Mental Derangement.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Jessie Kirkpatrick, the Hamilton woman, who stole so much from the Eaton and Simpson stores, was brought before Judge Winchester yesterday.

Upon the testimony of Jail Physician Richardson and the woman's brother, his honor allowed her to go on suspended sentence.

The evidence showed that she is mentally deranged. Her brother furnished a bond of $500 for her good behavior in the future.

The stolen goods will be returned to the owners.

THREW BOY INTO BAY

Charge of Assault With Intent to Commit Murder.

WARRANT ISSUES FOR G. BIRD

Accused Gave Himself Up When He Heard of It, But Did Not Make a Statement—Accuser, A. F. Burke, Says Bird Threw His Boy Into the Bay and That He Was Nearly Drowned.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—George H. Bird, who lives at Woodbine Beach, was locked up last night on a charge of attempted murder. When Bird heard there was a warrant out for him he gave himself up. He did not make any statement. The complainant is Albert F. Burke, 46 Ann street.

The charge is the outcome of a children's quarrel. Burke's story is that on Sunday afternoon he visited his brother, who lives near Bird, taking his son Willie, aged 14, with him. Willie, his cousin, two other young boys, went for a row on Ashbridge's Bay. They returned to pick up two or three little girls. They met a young son of Bird's. It appears there had been some trouble between this lad and the Burke children previous. They had another altercation and young Bird came out second best. The Burke family continued their boat trip and young Bird went home.

Bird and his son manned another boat and went in pursuit of the Burkes and caught up with them. Young Burke says there were some words exchanged, and that Bird climbed into their boat, grabbed him and threw him into the water. When he came to the surface Bird shoved him away from the boat with an oar so that he could not reach the boat. Then he threw the oars away and rowed off in his own boat. Young Burke cannot swim. He says he was almost drowned when his companion held one of the little girls over the side of the boat. She was able to reach an oar, which she held out to him so that he grasped it.

The Burkes, accompanied by a number of neighbors, went to Bird's house. Bird, it is said, came out of his house with a rifle. His wife took it away from him. Burke, sr., tried to attack Bird, but was prevented by the neighbors.

Embezzled $3,000.

Montreal, Nov. 15.—Sheldon T. Bent, who was secretary and treasurer of the Continental Light, Heat and Power Company, and Shawinigan Carbide Company, embezzled the sum of $3,000 from his employers, was sentenced to 19 months' imprisonment by Justice Hall in the King's Bench yesterday morning. It was in reality a sentence of 23 months, he having already spent four months in jail, which just saves him from the penitentiary.

Three Italians Get Three Years.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—The three Italians arrested by Patrol Sergeant Crowe and P. C. Mullen upon the charge of robbery were sentenced by Police Magistrate Denison in the police court yesterday morning to spend three years in the Kingston Penitentiary. They broke into Mrs. Constantine's store at 74 Edward street and stole $90, and cigars and tobacco.

Arrested For Stealing.

A. H. NOTMAN DEAD.

District Passenger Agent of the C.P.R.—One of the Best.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—The announcement of the death of Alexander H. Notman, who, as district passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, has had his headquarters in Toronto for the past five years, will be received with general regret. There are few railway men so well known throughout Canada, and none more popular. Mr. Notman, whose health had been failing, left on Oct. 22 to visit his brother, Felix M. Notman, at Los Angeles, Cal. His death occurred at Alburquerque, New Mexico, on Sunday night, he being then on his way home. The intelligence did not reach Toronto until last night. The railway career of Mr. Notman dates back about twenty years, during which time he was constantly in the service of the C.P.R. Mr. Notman was about 44 years of age. A widow and five sons survive. The popularity of the late Mr. Notman cannot be overestimated. As a railroad man, in the official sense, Mr. Notman's place will be exceedingly hard to fill, and the road loses one of its most valuable servants.

Four Lost Their Lives.

New York, Nov. 12.—Four persons lost their lives Wednesday night off Barnegat Light, in a collision between the United States refrigerator ship Culgoa and the lumber schooner Wilson and Hunting of Norfolk, Va., according to the story brought here yesterday by three of the survivors of the schooner, which was thrown on its beam ends by the steamship and is now a derelict.

John Hay's Brother Dies.

Washington, Nov. 14.—U. S. Secretary of State Hay has received a despatch announcing the death of his brother, Major Leonard Hay, U. S. A., retired, in the 70th year of his age. He died Saturday night at the Hay homestead in Warsaw, Ill.

Father of Constitution Dead.

Paris, Nov. 15.—Henry Wallon, a life senator of France, and known as the "Father of the French Constitution," is dead. He was nearly 92 years old. Senator Wallon wrote many historical works, and was the author of the article in the constitution of 1875 relating to the election of the French president.

"Astrakhan! But why did you leave Tidis in the night?"

"Tidis? I haven't been to Tidis."

"This boat left Tidis in the night—three—four nights ago."

"With that I have nothing to do. I joined the boat at Salsin and bargained with your man, who seems to be in command, to take me to Astrakhan or put me aboard a boat that was going there."

"Is that true, Osmanli?" asked the officer.

"It is true, O great representative of the greatest ruler on earth except the padishah."

"Then tell me why you left Tidis in the night."

"O great one, I will tell you what happened. It is a strange tale that I can scarcely believe myself. Perhaps it is not known to thee, O great one, that I brought a cargo of goods to Tidis, which I sold to the bazaars. I had been waiting for a cargo to take to Astrakhan, for there awaits me there a valuable cargo for Astrakhan. I discovered some of the finest lines, and as I wished to sail early in the morning I went to the bazaar of Ignatz Bartelska and told him what I had found. His and his lovely daughter at once returned with me to the boat. I placed some wine before them and went to get some of the linen. I was seized and knocked down and some cloth was stuffed in my mouth. I heard the merchant speaking and also the girl scream, but I was bound securely and could not go to the relief of this young lady. I did not know what her father was doing, but I could hear him speaking loudly and harshly. In the morning two strangers came to me and said they had taken command of my boat. They did not permit me to go far from them, and through me they gave orders to the men. We sailed from Tidis, and at a small place just before we reached Salsin there came a boat. But they ordered me to take the girl to Astrakhan. They also said that as Salsin a Cossar would get on board and that he would go to Astrakhan also, I believed that something was wrong and refused to take him. At Salsin this man did come out from the wharf and came on board at the risk of his life and insisted upon being carried to Astrakhan. He asked if I had the young lady, and I told him no. I was about to put them on board that boat when I saw your smoke and believed it was wisest to wait and tell you the truth."

"Is that true? Could you understand?" the officer asked of Harvey.

"That part concerning me is all true except that I asked for no young lady. I have heard of no young lady since I came on the boat."

"Where is this young lady?" asked the officer.

"I will bring her to you," said Hassan.

He went into the cabin and soon returned with Koura, who gave a scream of delight when she saw the Russian officer.

"Oh, my father! What have they done to him?"

"That is to be learned. He was attacked by two men who remained on the boat until it nearly reached the Caspian. What do you know about this strange matter?"

"So little! So little! We went to see some linen."

"Did you see Hassan struck?"

"I saw nothing. I was blindfolded."

"What did your father say?"

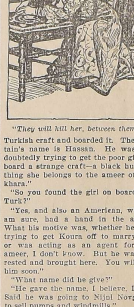
"Nothing. I did not hear him speak."

"There seems to be some truth in this story. Do you swear you tell the truth, Osmanli?"

"I swear by Allah!"

"And you, my friend? Who are you?"

"I am an American. If I had known



"They will kill her, Schuyler, then!"

"Turkish craft and treachery! The captain's name is Hassan. He was undoubtedly trying to get the poor girl on board a strange craft—to take her to a thing she belongs to the ameer of Bokhara."

"So you found the girl on board the Turk?"

"Yes, and also an American, who, I am sure, had a hand in the affair. What this native was, whether he was trying to get Koura off to marry her or was acting as an agent for the ameer, I don't know. But he was arrested and brought here. You will see him soon."

"What name did he give?"

"He gave the name, I believe, Irons. Said he was going to Nijni Novgorod on pleasure and windmills."

Colonel Jurnieff nearly fell off his chair. He arrived at Orskoff till that officer thought the governor of the prison was dafty.

"Do you know him? Did the lieutenant do wrong?"

"Do I know him! Now we have him safe!"

"Our hands we will finish him. Do I know him? He has wrecked plans for a year, but he is like a rat. So he was caught in a trap. Where is the captain?"

"I don't say he was stealing Bartelskis. We can find no trace of him.

"Call your guards!"

The orderly came in again and said:

"Alexander, that man of whom we spoke is under arrest. He was not content with stealing one of the most beautiful of Russian girls, but it was he who abducted the daughter of Bartelska."

"Has she been found?" asked the officer, forgetting his manners in his interest in the news.

"Yes, thank God! But her father is yet missing. We shall know more after we have heard them all. You understand your duties. I charge you to be shrewd and secret."

The orderly, Alexander Borge, walked through the corridors of the prison with lagging steps. An officer passed him.

"My captain, I am not well," he said. "May I be relieved for an hour?"

The captain nodded and walked on into the office. Alexander hurried to another portion of the prison, where there were rooms luxuriously fitted up. He knocked cautiously at one, giving a certain signal. A young Russian girl opened the door.

"Alexander! You not on duty? What has happened?"

"I got relieved for an hour to tell you something for Mlle. Alma."

"Quick! Is here?"

She ushered him into a small storage closet and listened breathlessly.

"The colonel charged me again with my duties," he said. "He had received a letter from his brother that the young American whom we could not trace was in Persia. The American is now in Astrabad, in Persia, selling his wares, and has said he was going to the big fair at Nijni Novgorod, which soon begins."

"He is a coward—he is a fool, excellency."

"You might have finished your sentence. He is a coward—he is a fool, thank heaven, I have the young lady safe here in Tidis. I do not expects to meet her at Novgorod, he will be disappointed. I must send wigit at once to Nijni Novgorod and Astrakhan. Perhaps I may be possible to intercept him on his way."

The orderly bowed and was dismissed. A few minutes later a higher officer entered. "Where is Captain Orskoff?"

"I salute you, colonel."

"I am glad to see you, captain. You appear to be happy. Has anything new been discovered concerning the missing Bartelskis and his daughter?"

"I am glad to say we have recovered Koura. We have captured the two who were taking her away. They will be brought here and locked up to await trial."

"Then Bartelska was not really trying to sell his daughter?"

"We cannot make head or tail of it. Koura knows little, but believes in her father's innocence. Surely he did not need the money. Moreover, he cannot be found."

"Is that racially Turk, Hafis Effendi, in the city?"

"Yes. I have placed him under arrest."

"If it was a slave selling affair, Hafis had a finger in it. He is a shrewd rascal. But who was it you captured, and where?"

"Lieutenant Thokt, with the gunboat stationed near the Kur, ran down a the streets?" asks Mlle. Alma. "Some thing unusual, even for fair time, has happened. One girl, one of the five hundred mare mouse, have always met her when making purchases at her father's bizzar—is already missing. I hope the Turks have not found a way to outwit the law."

"Koura Bartelska is found, mademoiselle."

"Then that must be the cause of the excitement. Oh, who will the cruel exile come to an end? Marie, suppose Alexander should be sent away where you could never see him."

"I should cry, mademoiselle."

"Marie, Marie, these will not unite lovers. If they would, I could shed rivers. It must be grand to live where love is not a thing for prison walls."

"But you are not a prisoner, mademoiselle."

"Am I not? I have the privilege of driving out in my uncle's carriage. But am I not watched constantly? Is not my uncle forever giving orders that no letters shall be allowed to reach me? I will send a letter—even if I knew where—he—was?"

With a flash of sorrow Marie fell at the feet of her mistress.

"Oh, mademoiselle! I have such bad news for you! I would not tell, but I know you wish to hear all. He is here!"

"Here! You mean M. Irons—here in Tidis?"

"Yes, mademoiselle, and will soon be in this very prison."

Alma's fingers clutched at her bosom, and she half rose from her chair, but, swaying, fell back.

"Will you have water, mademoiselle?"

"No; I want news. How—where did they find him? Is it true? Did Alexander tell you?"

"Yes. It seems he was on the same boat. They say he was taking away Koura Bartelska."

"I do not believe it! No; I know he loves me. It was not M. Irons."

"Perhaps not, mademoiselle. But we shall soon know."

"Yes, but my heart will break with apprehension. If they have taken him, it is certain they will try to make him spia, they will charge him with anything that they wish. Oh, I know my dear, Marie, Good, brave, faithful girl! And Alexander too! What would I do without you? Yes, I will help him. Preserve him from their vergeance and cruelty!"

She broke down under the strain and slipped to the floor. Resting her arms on her couch, she buried her face in them, she burst into spasmodic sobs.

"Alma!" Marie, in her terror, then muttered the maid.

CHAPTER VI.

A ONE SIDED TRIAL—ALMA JURNIEFF'S RESOLVE.

COLONEL JURNIEFF gazed coldly upon the prisoners who were brought before him. Hassan was cringing and servile, begging for mercy; Harvey was stately and very angry.

"This is an outrage upon an American citizen, and it will not go unpunished," he said. "You have no right to arrest me; I prevent my traveling to Nijni Novgorod."

"What is your name?" asked the colonel.

"Harvey Irons."

"I remember that name—somehow in connection with a command. Ah, I have it! Were you not ordered to leave Russia on pleasure?"

"No, I was not. I was told that if I came to Russia something would happen to me. It was not done by the order of the czar. It was merely an attempt to separate me from a young lady whom I love."

"No Alma Bartelska," said the colonel, with a sneer. "You are sure it was not done by the order of the czar?"

"I am sure of it. For an investigation was made at my request by our minister, and he assured me that so far as the czar and his high ministers were concerned they had issued no such command. I was free to come at liberty to enter Russia to sell my goods at any time."

"After this remarkable investigation, as you call it, were you informed that you were at liberty to come to Russia and carry off her daughter?"

"No, nor have I any desire to carry them off—that is, save one, whom I shall marry sooner or later."

"May I ask the name of that one? Is it Koura Bartelska?"

"No. I had nothing to do with that affair. And it is none of your business what the name of the other is."

"Do you know who I am?"

"No, and I don't care."

"I will take some of the impudence out of you before I am done. I am Colonel Jurnieff."

"The uncle of Alma?"

"Yes, the uncle of Alma?"

"Then you already knew the name of the girl I love, and your questions were simply perfunctory. I demand in justice that I be released."

"That will be settled later. Just now you are my prisoner. Take him to the prison of detention!"

Two soldiers forced Harvey to accompany them. Then Colonel Jurnieff led into a study.

"This dog is right," he said. "The order was our own. This explains the order which we have kept him was not by order of the minister of police, but at the request of the general, my brother. I must silence him somehow. He is irrepressible and will do us harm. He must never be acquitted of this charge, no matter what the evidence may be. With Alma here and that fellow in Siberia there will be distance enough between them to save us from further care."

Harvey saw no one for several days except the guard who brought his meals. One day the guard, as he passed the dinner through the door, said to Harvey: "I have been paid well to hand you this. Take it. Swallow it when you have read it."

It was a note written on thin paper in pencil. It read:

My Dear M. Irons—I have been weeping my eyes out since I learned that you were in prison. After our meeting at the fair last year my father sent me home to Colonel Jurnieff, his brother. I have been almost a prisoner ever since. I have not been able to ascertain where you were. Your letters, even had you known where I was, would have been seized.

"I assure you, I know you were not guilty of killing M. Bartelska or taking away his daughter, but my uncle will try to have you convicted and sent to Siberia. I shall do all I can to save you from your Amen representative at St. Petersburg, but may not be able to accomplish it. I have but two friends. One of them is telling the guard to give you this. Whatever happens, remember I love you and believe in you.

ALMA.

Harvey kissed the note and sobbed. "My poor darling," he cried aloud. But by bit he chewed the paper and swallowed it.

"Take me to the trial. The tribunal was semimilitary. Colonel Jurnieff and Captain Orskoff were prosecutors. The magistrate, a stern old man, looked with unsympathetic eyes upon Harvey and with beckling eyes upon Hassan. Captain Orskoff first offered what he knew—or what he did not know, which Harvey felt amounted to the same thing—by far as his chances were concerned.

"In performing my duties in arresting the prisoner and the accomplice of same Alma Bartelska was in the service of Count Ellsworth, who is a noted slave dealer in the slave girls of Circassia and Georgia before his imperial highness the ameer issued his edict that all slavery should be stopped. I watched Hafis Effendi, but could discover nothing that would induce me to believe he contemplated breaking the law. I saw him with this man from Bokhara and with Ignatz Minskii, and when I learned that Bartelska and Koura were missing I suspected them. Hafis Effendi knew anything to do with the crime. According to the brother of Hafis, who keeps a coffee house, both of them spent that night at his place. They were not one at the bazaars, which could tell where the proprietor had gone. I discovered that a boat manned chiefly by native sailors was chartered by Hassan, a Turc, had left Tidis during the night. No one seemed to know the depart, and there seemed to be something mysterious in this. I sent word

Recent experiments conducted by most eminent scientists, prove that light is a most essential agent in the growth of Nature's agent. It may be either sunlight or electric light, but it is the actinic effect in helping nature to build, that is essential. EDITORIAL NOTES

Are representative institutions a failure? One would think so, when a Borden is defeated, and a Foster is elected.

St. Thomas is just now complaining of the increase of juvenile crime "in its midst." Perhaps the police are only a little more active than usual.

Montreal Herald: With Foster and Hargrave back again in the house, every sap of Tupper the Younger is out of the Conservative party like a rotten cuckoo for another nest of traitors.

The South Ontario Women's Institute does not like the way the bakers handle their bread, and it has asked the Provincial Board of Health to take steps to compel all bakers to have each loaf enclosed in a package. That would likely mean another cent on the small loaf.

The New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin attributed the election of Roosevelt to the desire of the people to see his foreign policy carried on, and a fear that the Democrats would make a mess of the Philippine question and affairs in the far east. On the trade question it says:

The Republicans have had warning that their extreme position on the question of modifying the tariff, if it stood alone as an issue, would not have the support of its country. The sentiment for reform of the tariff and greater prudence in the fiscal policy of the country is strong and increasing in their own party. To go on refusing to recognize this and to have chosen to grow more intolerable would be to invite disaster in the next contest, which might go so far as to be disaster to the country as well as the party.

The great Steel Trust of the United States has recently made some big cuts in wages. The cut of 30 per cent. caused a loss to workmen in the Pittsburg district of $40,000,000 a year. The Philadelphia Record puts the total loss to the wage-earner by reduced earnings at the trust at $128,000,000 a year. The Trusts' protection remains the same as ever.

The Halifax Herald refused to publish Sir Frederick Borden's Halifax speech, unless at advertising rates. Mr. Fielding being a believer in advertising paid in prize, gave a hint to Ontario newspapers that have been publishing at length the political speeches of Ministers, without money and without price.

The officials and employees of his department paid Hon. J. R. Stratton a complimentary supper last Tuesday evening, when a complimentary supper, a cabinet of silver was presented to him. Mr. Stratton, at the head of a large and important branch of the administration of provincial affairs, has, says the Catholic Register, a non-political paper, always been a hard-working Minister, but at the same time a popular chief. Under him the efficiency of the public institutions of the province has been steadily improved. Economy has gone hand hand with progress, a fact due in the main, to the constant example of industry which Mr. Stratton himself showed his subordinates. Public men are seldom appreciated at their worth as business men. Mr. Stratton's retirement from provincial politics is an amputation of the hour. The public service cannot easily secure a better man for the heavy and responsible work he has performed for so many years.

Niagara's Fate.

Globe: Prof. Gilbert of the United States Geological Survey, predicts that the waters of the St. Lawrence upper lakes will in 3,000 years from now pass entirely by way of the Mississippi to the ocean, leaving Niagara Falls escarpment dry. In 500 years the process of filling will cause an international natural discharge at Chicago. For 1,500 years this discharge at Chicago will be equal to the discharge over Niagara Falls. In 2,500 years the Niagara River will have become an intermittent stream. In 3,000 years all the water will be flowing to Chicago to pass down the Illinois River to the Mississippi.

NOVEMBER STORMS FORETOLD

PROF. HICKS' WEATHER FORECAST FOR MONTH OF NOVEMBER

Says There Will be a Number of Storm Periods, Cold Weather and Frost.

Prof. Hicks in his paper, "Words and Weeks," for the current month gives his predictions of the weather for November as follows:

A Vulcan storm period is central on the 3rd, extending from the 1st to the 5th. As we enter well into this period the barometer will fall in all western sections, winds will shift to southerly, cloudiness will increase and storms of wind and rain will pass eastwardly over the country on and touching the 3rd, 4th and 5th. About Saturday the 5th, electrical phenomena will attend the storms in many places and be quickly followed by a change to much cooler, with probably flashes of snow, on western and northern sides.

In conjunction of moon with the sun and earth, new moon falling on the 7th, the high barometer and cold following the first storm period will not be so decided, but threatening conditions will last over into the secondary storm period, central on the 8th and 9th. It is decided fall in barometer may be expected on and touching the 7th with a change to warmer, and more storms of rain, turning to snow as the wind up will pass eastwardly over the country on and next to the 8th and 9th. These storms will be followed promptly by a decided rise of the barometer, highgales from the Northwest, especially over the lake regions, and change to much colder. The next storm period, not is central on the 11th. Its influence will be felt in all its varying phases, from the 12th to the 16th. At first it will turn warm, or at least the barometer will begin falling in western sections. This conditions will progress to the east, and, according to the laws of storm movements, followed by more rain, turning to snow over the north portion and about the 14th and 15th. The moon being as apogee on the 17th and on the celestial equator on the 20th, the probabilities are that a threatening state of weather will be prolonged, possibly into the secondary period central on the 19th and 20th.

On and touching the 19th and 20th there will be a reactionary swing of the elements back to more general and decided storm conditions. Depressed barometer conditions will appear, the temperature will rise progressively from the west and northwest, forms of rain and snow will take up their transition march from west to east over the country, all followed by return of rising barometer and change to much colder.

The last regular general storm period for November is from the 24th to the 26th. As indicated by the storm diagram, this last period is covered by the Venus disturbance which is central in December. The influence of the Venus period will be severely felt from about Friday the 23rd till Monday the 28th. But marked storm conditions will appear about the same time of the flying moon on the 25th. Upon the whole, we warn our readers of very general and forceful storms during the last six to eight days of November, from the pen of Mr. Hicks, to be borne in character making navigation on the lakes, Atlantic dangerous, and dangerous, causing heavy gales over the whole lake regions, with general rains over the interior, turning to sleet and snow, with unusually blustering gales in western and northern parts of the country. In every probability a November such as we will spread over much of the country, bringing back some of the southern States during the last days of the month.

The wise here our Almanac for this year, may see that the coming Mars's influence may be perturbed weather, with some heavy winter storms. We advise careful seamanship precautions, in the way of protecting stock and property, and against winter storms and weather.

With a laudable desire to obtain information as to the prospects for the coming wheat, the opinion of Elias Hartz, the 90-year-old gossipmon expert of Leading Tac, was asked and kindly given. He said:

"I think that it will come up all the way through, and according to the observations the winter of 1904 and 1905 will be very severe. It will start early in November, and will continue until late in the spring. The indications are that we will have some great snowstorms. The birds indicate that the temperature will be very low, and there will be an immense crop of ice. My advice to the people is: Fill your cellars with ice and do it early, and you will never have cause to regret the advice he gave—some man."

HEALTH FOR BABY.

Babies that are well, sleep well, eat well and play well. A child that is not lively, rosy-cheeked and playful needs immediate attention, or the results may be serious. Give an unwell child Baby's Own Tablets and you will be amazed how soon he will be bright and playful. Ordinary constipation, simple fever, indigestion, colic and teething irritation, these ailments have absolutely no equal. They are so absolutely the child's delicious "soothing" medicine. They go to the root of the troubles and cure him. Mrs. E. Bayard, Dorchester, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for stomach and bowel troubles, for simple fevers and teething and I think them the best medicine in the world." You can get these Tablets at any drug store, or by mail at 25 cents a box by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Wise mothers always keep the Tablets in the house to guard against a sudden illness of little ones.

NEWS ABOUT THE HUNTERS.

LARGE NUMBER AFTER THE DEER THIS SEASON.

Movements of the Parties as they Occur From Day to Day.

(From Evening Post, Nov. 12.)

—Mr. Geo. Pratt, town, secured his pair, one being a grand buck.

—Mr. H. Perrin, a local hunter, returned this morning with one deer.

—About thirty carcasses of venison were shipped through to western points this morning.

—A party from Beamsville, with dogs and boots, met with good success in Anson township.

—Two fine bucks arrived in town this evening. Both were sent through to Port Perry, this morning.

—Mr. W. T. Tompkins, our local gardener, secured his deer, and returned to town today from the north.

—Deer were very plentiful this morning at the G. T. R. station. The Haliburton train had to attach a box car as well as the baggage car to accommodate the hunters.

—Among the deer taged for western points this morning, we noticed one each for Messrs. John Coburn, Peter Stone, Geo. Wallace, W. H. Lockhart, Gordon, Toronto, Wm. Walker, W. Wooster and L. Jones, Bramwelle; two for Dr. Woodruff, St. Catharines; three for Geo. Toronto Cold Storage Co., two for C. J. Bradshaw, Buffalo, N. Y.; one for Messrs. Thomas Bros., Fort Erie; one for Wm. Goodwin, Quay's, Outram; one for W. C. Fleming, Cumbellford and others. A beauty was sent to Mr. Jos. Stone, Cobourg.

(From Evening Post, Nov. 14)

—A large black bear, shot back near Kimmount passed through to Toronto Saturday night.

—Rev. Mr. A. P. Webster, of Mariposa township, had a fine buck shipped through this morning.

—A big buck was shipped through on Mr. Big J. Kirkwood's of Hobbs Hardware Co., London today.

—A number of carcasses of venison arrived in town Saturday afternoon and another fine lot of deer came in this morning.

—Geo. Hunter secured seventy-five partridges, in addition to two deer. The latter arrived in town from the Klondike train Saturday evening.

—The party comprising Messrs W. Hayes, Lindsay, Geo. Hunter, Toronto, is due expected back this evening. They had secured four finde-deer when last heard from.

—Among the deer that arrived from the north this morning, the following were one for Messrs. Lalbill and Madden, of Montreal; two for Dr. Ross of Niagara Falls; Geo. Malcolmson, of Hamilton; two for Mr. Geo. Mead, of the Toronto Boats, Mr. Ferrol A. White, Toronto, and several other for a firm in Niagara Falls.

The Result of the Dry Spell.

Owing to the continual dry weather and the heavy gales blowing during the past two or three days various small fires have occurred around the country. A fine fence on the farm of Mr. Edward Bowes north of the town, caught fire on Saturday afternoon and blaze was carried under rails as if they were shavings. It was with difficulty that a number of the neighbors could prevent the blaze from rapid strides towards the outbuildings. It is rather a pleasant sight to see fires running along the fence, and this was of the place when often at this date in former years we have had quite a fairly time of real winter weather.

Of Interest to Parents and Teachers.

At Madoc recently a case was tried which is of more than local interest. At school sports a boy struck a little girl in the face, an unprovoked and vicious blow. The principal of the school interfered and hit the boy a couple of slaps and sent him home. Presently the boy's father appeared on the school grounds threatened to lick the principal there and then. The latter made medical information against the principal, charging him with having feloniously beaten her son. The principal the defendant in the case, and the father for abusive language and assault. The mother withdrew her charge against the father, and the case against the father went to trial and the verdict was that the father paid costs amounting to $9.

L. C. I. Notes.

—The pupils of L.C.I. held their first social evening of the term on Friday evening, Nov. 11, and a very enjoyable time was spent by all. The stage and assembly Hall were very prettily decorated. The young ladies looked exceptionally well, which of course, is necessary to say of the young gentlemen. The first thing on the programme was the chairman's address, given by Mr. W. Dayell, who occupied the chair. Then Mr. Kerr Wier read the regress from last year, which was very fine, among which was one from Mr. Isaac of Lincoln. There were also recitations and an extra long year one to equal. The boys and girls had a store made a short address, which was well received. The Lit. Committee, composed of Messrs. Lumley, Prof. Williams and Wier, met, and received such hearty applause that they decided to do it again. The committee composed of Miss Wier and the German chorus rendered by the L.C.I. Glee Club were two popular numbers. Mr. Roy Lamont sang "Sing Me to Sleep" in a manner that was well appreciated. Mr. R. T. Hyland gave a recitation in such a manner that he held the attention of the audience from beginning to end, although the piece was quite lengthy and required a very good memory, indeed to remember it all. The duet by Miss E. Workman co-acted quite a deal of applause. The evening closed by singing the national anthem.

WASHINGTON IS SNOW-BOUND

Telephone and Telegraphic Communication With Outside World Cut Off For Several Hours—New York Hard Hit—Postal Union Cabling to Canso, N.S., and Sending By C.P.R. Via Grand Trunk.

Washington, Nov. 14.—As the result of a snowstorm which set in here before 11 o'clock yesterday morning, Washington last night for several hours was completely cut off from telegraphic and telephone communication with the outside world. Later a telephone connection was made, none north, south or east. Both the Postal and Western Union Telegraph companies report severe damage to their wires and their inability to get any messages through. Reports of the railway stations developed the fact that trains were departing on schedule time, but that incoming trains were three or more hours late. The snowfall of yesterday was the first of the season, several inches covering the ground.

Snow a Foot Deep.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 14.—More than a foot of heavy, wet snow has fallen, and as a consequence wires are down in all directions. All trains are running late and street car traffic is greatly impeded.

New York Hard Hit.

New York, Nov. 14.—The storm yesterday was central off Cape Hatteras, although its ever-gathering force was felt far into the interior. Rain began falling in New York at 5 a.m., and early in the morning changed to a wet snow, the wind, which had been blowing moderately, veered to the southeast, and shortly assumed hurricane proportions. At 6 o'clock last night the local weather bureau noted a velocity of 42 miles an hour, which increased to 48 miles at 8 P.M. This speed kept up for several hours. At 10 o'clock the storm was central at Hatteras, where the barometer showed a pressure of 28.62 inches, with the wind blowing 76 miles an hour. At midnight the barometer was a trifle higher and the wind 68 miles.

Wire service out of New York was tied up more effectively last night than at any other time since the blizzard of '88. The Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies have no direct communication with cities west of south than Baltimore and Pittsburg, western points are cut off.

The Postal has been cabling some of its most urgent messages to Canso, N.S., from which point they are wired to Montreal and thence forwarded to Chicago over Canadian Pacific lines. Shortly after noon the telegraph companies commenced to feel the effects of the storm. As wire after wire went down and city after city was cut off, the repair gangs were notified, but owing to the day and night storm it was long after dark before the full force could be mustered. Late in the afternoon the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies have no direct communication with cities west of south than Baltimore and Pittsburg, western points are cut off.

Snow Stops Cars.

Schenectady, N.Y., Nov. 14.—For more than a half hour last night the entire city was in darkness, all street car lines were tied up, as the result of the sleet storm.

Snow Fall Five Hours Late.

Elmira, N.Y., Nov. 14.—The storm has interrupted all telegraph and telephone communication with the west of this city. Many poles are down on the Erie and Lehigh, and running from two to five hours late.

Syracuse Shut Off.

Syracuse, N.Y., Nov. 14.—Syracuse was cut off from direct telegraph and telephone communication with the east as the result of the storm. Many poles are down and delayed. The day opened up cloudy and last night there was a drizzling rain, mixed with snow.

Snow At Saratoga.

Saratoga, N.Y., Nov. 14.—With the temperature at freezing point, a heavy snowstorm began yesterday and continued last night. It was accompanied by a driving wind.

Halifax, Nov. 12.—Preparations are being made at Government House for the entertainment of Lord Grey, who will be sworn in here on Dec. 10.

The Weekly Post.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18.

THE PARTY CONVENTION.

The calling of a convention of the Liberals of Ontario and Toronto on Wednesday, Nov. 23rd, has given Mr. Whitney and his Conservative friends a scare of some magnitude. When the announcement was first made the Mail and other party organs joined in remonstrating against the proposal, and all but declared that the step decided upon was an invention of Premier Ross for the undoing of his opponents. A few days later Mr. Whitney paid the Premier an unwilling yet marked compliment by following in his footsteps and calling "a conference" of his followers one day after the Liberal gathering.

By calling the Liberals of the Province together Premier Ross has shown that he has no desire to assume the role of dictator, and that he is willing to be taught by his party. Every delegate will be at liberty to give untrammelled expression to his views as to the position and duty of the party in the present crisis, and may point out what he believes to be the sins of omission and commission on the part of the administration. Such a gathering, affording every opportunity for plain speaking, cannot but have a bracing effect on the morale of the party. It will put the leaders and the rank and file in close touch, and the ministers will benefit. The views of the younger members of the party will also be sought and duly weighed as representing the opinions of the Liberal party of the future. We believe that the convention will put new heart into Ontario Liberalism, and kindle its enthusiasm afresh from one end of the Province to the other.

The convention will be opened at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of Nov. 23rd. The following persons will be elegible as members:

1. Liberal Senators from the Province of Ontario.
2. Liberal members and ex-members of the House of Commons, or candidates in the last Dominion election.
3. Liberal members and ex-members of the Legislative Assembly, or candidates at the last Provincial election, or Liberal candidates who are now in the field for election.
4. The President and all Vice-Presidents, and the Secretary and Treasurer of every riding association.
5. Twenty representatives from each riding in the Province of Ontario, to be nominated by the Association for the riding or by its Executive.

A meeting of the Liberals of Lindsay and vicinity will be held Friday evening in the Liberal committee rooms adjoining The Post for the purpose of selecting the delegates to be sent to the convention, and we urge a large attendance. It is important that great care be exercised in the choice of men. We should send level-headed men of high principle, who will not bow to prejudice, no matter how strong the temptation.

A DISCOURAGING FEATURE.

Question any citizen as to the benefits conferred on the community by Ross Memorial Hospital, and the chances are all in favor of an enthusiastic acknowledgement that the institution is doing a great work, and that its affairs are being managed with the utmost care by a zealous Board of Managers who cheerfully devote many hours monthly to the work of looking after every detail connected with its operation.

So much for precept—how about example? Have the citizens who realize the grand work the Hospital is doing no duty other than to proclaim their satisfaction when challenged? Is it not, rather, their prerogative and mission to manifest an active interest in the institution they laud so highly, and to do all in their power to increase its usefulness by assisting the Board of Managers to break down the prejudices felt by many against hospital treatment. The extinction of this unfounded prejudice is necessary to the success of Ross Hospital, and whilst a gradual improvement is taking place, it is in the power of our citizens to strengthen the hands of the Managers and lighten their financial burthen by availing themselves of every opportunity to impress upon the people of the district the great privilege they enjoy in having a well-equipped hospital in their midst, and that they incur a grave responsibility, when, on the score of economy or prejudice, they risk the lives of members of their families by insisting that the patient shall be treated in the home, under most unfavorable conditions as to nursing and sanitation.

We feel impelled to make the above remarks owing to the meagre attendance of citizens at the annual meeting of the Hospital Board of Managers on Thursday evening of last week. The meeting had been advertised and it was known that several important reports touching the welfare of the institution would be submitted, yet only about a dozen citizens gathered to hear the valuable information and to say a few encouraging words as to the manner in which the Board had administered their trust. Only one of our clergymen and only three of our physicians found time to attend, and our leading business men and merchants were unduly conspicuous by their absence. The failure of the latter class to attend implies a lack of gratitude, because—as the financial report shows—the Hospital is a large purchaser of meat, bread, milk, groceries, medicines, and general supplies, and as the town dealers in these are patronized in turn, all should have manifested some show of interest in the statements to be presented for the year just closed.

We know our people too well to believe that the incident referred to indicates a diminishing interest in the success of the splendid institution known as Ross Memorial Hospital. It is, however, a very disheartening example of the tendency of many people to avoid a duty by solacing themselves with the thought that others will perform it. In this instance the "others" were not present.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Liberal friends are reminded of the rally to be held in the Committee rooms adjoining The Post next Friday evening, 18th, at 8 o'clock. Delegates to the Liberal convention for West Victoria on the 26th inst., and to the Ontario convention to be held in Toronto on the 23rd, will be chosen, and a large attendance is desired.

It is refreshing to hear the Tory papers admit that Hon. Mr. Stratton's department has been excellently managed. Now if they will go on and admit that the campaign of slander and vilification conducted against him is a disgrace to the Conservative party of Ontario they will show a spirit of repentance that may work good in the party.

Chief Justice Falconbridge in the Martin case on Friday said a good word for the press, in answer to complaints by the defence lawyers. He declared that he had never observed that it was the practise of the newspapers to prejudge a case. The newspapers performed an important function in the detection of crime. People learned of crimes from them, were on the lookout, and their minds were turned to any unusual circumstances. The promulgation of such news was of the highest importance to the community, and of the greatest assistance to the detective department. This is a very sensible view of the duty and services of the newspapers. They do much for the public, and often at the risk of subjecting themselves to a form of blackmail by unconscionable scoundrels, who count on their being willing to pay small sums rather than take chances of libel suits with the certainity of having to bear expense greater than the sum sought to be extorted. Justice Falconbridge has a level head.

The New York Medical Record calls attention to the abominable and dangerous custom, which seems universally prevalent in the United States, of using chemical preservatives for milk, butter and meats. American canned or otherwise "embalmed" beef, has been known to contain 3.87 per cent. of boracic acid. As medical men know, this cannot be consumed without risk of producing or aggravating dangerous disturbances of the kidneys. The great prevalence of kidney diseases might possibly be traced to this cause.

THANKSGIVING.

For pasture-lands, folded with beauty,
For plenty that burdened the vale,
For the wealth of the rich-gathered harvests,
And the promise too royal to fail,
We lift to the Maker our anthems,
But none the less cheerily come
To thank Him for bloom and for fragrance,
And the love-light that became in the home.

The [illegible] on the brow of the father,
The shine of the mother's clear eyes,
The lilt in the voice of the maiden
Who walks under dream-curtained skies,
The dance in the feet of the wee ones,
The sparkle and glow in the air,
Sure, the year has no time like Thanksgiving,
A truce to our fretting and care.

Sweet was the song of the robin,
When spring brought the green to the leaf,
But sweeter the song of the reaper,
When autumn brings home the full sheaf.
Yes, sweeter the hush of the autumn
When, ere the first fall of the snow,
As households we meet in our gladness,
And God as our guardian we know.

Thank God for our nation safe sheltered
From weakness and error and shame;
Please God, may we march as a nation
Secure in the might of His name.
And wherever our free flag is waving
There, sturdy and fearless, may stand
For the faith and the hope of the fathers,
The sons of the beautiful land.

—Margaret E. Sangster.

Saturday's Market.

It being fine weather Saturday, the market was well attended. Eggs are going gradually up ranging from 22c. to 25c. this morning; butter 20c.; cream, 20c. per quart; chickens, 60c. and 65c.; ducks, 75c. In the outside market pork and lamb were plentiful, and sold by the quarter at 9c. for hinds and 8c for fronts. Potatoes brought 60c. and 65c per bag. Hay is still $6 and $7 per ton.

Two Large Barns.

Messrs. Henry Wilson and Joseph Meehan, on adjoining farms outside the corporation limits, have almost finished two of the finest barns to be found in the county. They are about equal in size, being 45x70 ft. with stone basement under all. Mr. Meehan's barn is unusually high, being some six feet higher than Mr. Wilson's. Mr. Neil Gray was the contractor on Mr. Meehan's job, and Mr. Jas. Hancock on Mr. Wilson's.

St. Andrew's Y. P. S.

At a meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's church, for the purpose of re-electing officers for the ensuing term, the following were elected: Hon. President, Rev J. W. Wallace; President, Mrs. S. McKendrie, Conveners of Committees—Programme, Miss Dunoon, Lookout, Mr. G. A. Cornish; Missionary, Miss E. Williamson; Flowers, Miss H. McCrimmon. The Society expect to have a successful term under the direction of the above officers, and all young people are cordially invited to attend their meetings, held every Monday evening in the schoolroom of the church.

The Art of Window Dressing.

As a window dresser and store decorator, Mr. S. M. Ferguson, of The A. J. Ford dry goods staff is ranked among the very best. His latest achievement is the form of neat and artistic dressing can be seen by those who pass that store or enter it. In the interior six large hearts, three on each side, puffed in white, with green edging and maple leaf trimmings, set the store off very nicely, and the other decorations are also very neat. The two windows designed and dressed by Mr. Ferguson, are being admired by all who pass as being two of the handsomest they have ever seen.

Back From Old England.

Mr. Fred Taylor, of the "Big 20," arrived home Monday, after having spent a prolonged holiday in the Old Country. Mr. Taylor, accompanied by Mrs. Taylor, left town on the 6th of Sept. for a trip to the old land. Whilst there most of the time was spent in London and vicinity, and a great many places of interest were visited among others Windsor Castle, King Edward's stables, the famous Bank of England, Madam Tussaud's museum of wax works, the Tower of London, and many other places of note. They sailed by the S. S. Lake Manitoba and returned by the same ship. Fred has a fund of knowledge to impart to his hearers, and feels that the trip has had most beneficial effects on both himself and Mrs. Taylor. He brought several souvenirs of his trip home with him, not the least of which are a few blackthorn sticks, which he will be glad to show. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor's many friends are congratulating them on their pleasant voyage and safe return.

WEEKLY POST LETTER BOX

A PERTINENT ENQUIRY.

(To the Editor of The Post.)

Sir,—Every indication points to the fact that, politically, this Province is at the parting of the ways, and the coming convention is fraught with tremendous issues. As a life-long Liberal worker I crave your indulgence for a few remarks, and a few plain questions.

First, what are the issues? Is it a personal one as between Mr. Ross and Mr. Whitney? If it were only that, the Liberal party would have nothing to fear, and the Conservatives little to hope for.

But obviously, the issue is greater than the personality of the two leaders, I do not think the battle can be joined either on the questions of Provincial development or administration. On these points it is generally admitted that the Liberal record is splendid and practically unassailable.

What is this issue, then? Can anyone doubt that it is between clean and unclean, between the ideal and the practical, in party methods? No one can deny that the backbone of the Reform party, and its great inspiration, has had its origin in a higher ideal and nobler outlook as to the duties of citizenship than is, to be generally found amongst the Conservative party.

What, then, has led to the present unfortunate condition of disappointment? Is it not the fact that for years past the working of the party has been allowed to get more and more into the hands of the practical as compared with the ideal, members of it?

I am one of those who believe the Liberal party still stands for Honesty, Purity and Equal Rights for the development of the highest type of citizenship, but having fought hard and on the inside through several elections, I regretfully admit, the steady decline in active interest amongst those who are the very salt of the party's life—I mean the church pastors and members of the Province.

It is all very well to appoint delegations to thunder at the doors of the Parliament Buildings in a collective capacity. I is easy to preach a more or less impersonal sermon occasionally, on the modern vices that are making politics a festering mass of corruption, but when the work of the campaign is being done in the local party councils and committee rooms—where are the Preachers, the Elders, the Deacons and the Boards of our different churches? Have they not been miserably derelict as regards active interest, and has not the result been that the "working" of the party has got into the hands of those with lower ideals and baser methods. To put it plainly has not the Christian sentiment of the community largely abdicated its functions and led by Mr. Timmons and Mr. Fanitheart—and sometimes by the Rev. Mr. Grafter, allowed politics to drift into the hands of what is called the "Machine." Does any sensible man believe that the candidate of either party rejoices in being bled by this or that party "worker," or desires to scatter his own or someone else's money in the purchase of votes, if it could be avoided? Surely there is but one answer. What I venture to ask, then in the present crisis is this; Do we want clean methods? Do we want ideal measures as regards the drink question? Do we really want the Ideal to resume its rightful place in the Liberal party? Then there is but one thing for it—pulpit and pew alike must work more as they pray, and not hold up the skirts of the garment and pass by on the other side when elections are being fought.

What ever the coming convention may or may not do, I plead that the men of light and Leading will come out of their tents and bear their share of the fighting. Believe me, sir, the churches are on trial as much as the Government at this moment, and there are scores like myself who are looking to our religious leaders, not only to talk, but to do something to lighten the evils from which the body politic is suffering.—Yours, etc.,

G. K. M.

Lindsay, Nov. 15, 1904.

ASSESSMENT AND OTHER MATTERS.

(To the Editor of The Post.)

Sir,—I noticed in your paper of Thursday last a communication by "Householder" on "excesive profits." The butcher, the baker, the wood combine, are noticed, but evidently, from his recent residence amongst us, he did not perhaps meet the men with the tin box who make pretense to assess our property. One has only to enquire and make comparisons to see that these men are doing merely clerical work—copying from one book to another. It is true they visit each house and leave their wee slip of paper informing us of our municipal indebtedness, but that they in any degree examine the property to come to a fair knowledge is a mistake pure and simple. Their chief end and aim appears to be put on all they think the property-holder will bear without squealing, and they have done this work so well that property is being taxed at a higher figure—as it is at a higher rate—than in any city or town in Ontario. "Householder" does not ask when this system of imposition shall cease. Our town fathers are continually issuing new debentures, until the debenture debt is assuming alarming proportions; and to make matters worse, the Water Commissioners are asking more and ready with the new year to demand $20,000. When will this cease? Perhaps "Householder" will in a year or so feel the burden as others are feeling it, and add this to his series of complaints.

I think it is too true that the bakers with their bun loaves, high prices and inferior bread, are squeezing the last dollar, but if I do not mistake, they already feel their Nemesis in the falling off of customers, and in reality are losing more than they gain. They have at least this satisfaction—that many of our ladies are learning the making of bread, and I do think in this way high prices and small loaves are doing a good work. If our W.C.T.U. would but start a class of instruction in this branch of domestic economy I think it would be largely attended and productive of good. I am sorry that our butchers and bakers are so short-sighted, but offer no suggestion as to what they should do to restore confidence and custom. Any householder knows, or should know, that they can buy beef, pork and mutton on the market by the half or quarter as cheap as the butcher, and by so doing save this 100 per cent., and the same may be said of buying flour and making their own bread. If this were more largely done these gentlemen would soon find that they are not dictators, but caterers to the public. I do not think any one begrudges a fair living profit, but it is too much for two or three interested parties getting together and setting the price to suit their own convenience and profit.—Yours, etc.,

CITIZEN.

The Christmas Delineator.

The December Delineator, with its message of good cheer and helpfulness, will be welcomed in every home. The fashion pages are unusually attractive, illustrating and describing the very latest modes in a way to make their construction during the busy festive season a pleasure instead of a task, and the literary and pictorial features are of rare excellence. A selection of Love Songs from the Wagner Operas, rendered into English by Richard de Gallienne and beautifully illustrated in colors by J. C. Leyendecker, occupies a prominent place, and a chapter in the Composers' Series, relating the Romance of Wagner and Cosima, is an interesting supplement to the lyrics. A very clever paper entitled, "The Court Circles of the Republic," describes some unique phases of Washington social life is from an unnamed contributor, who is said to write from the inner circle of society. There are short stories from the pens of F. Hopkinson Smith, Robert Grant, Alice Brown, Mary Stewart Cutting and Elmore Elliott Peake, and such interesting writers as Julia Margruder, L. Frank Baum, and Grace McGowan Cook hold the attention of the children. Many Christmas suggestions are given in needlework and the Cookery pages are redolent of the Christmas feast. In addition, there are the regular departments of the magazine, with many special articles on topics relating to woman's interests within and without the home.

Town Hockey League.

A very successful meeting was held last evening at the Benson house of delegated from the different teams in the Town League. Those present were; Bankers,—Lynch, Walker; Sylvester; L.C.I.—Harstone, Gillespie, Killen; The Japs,—Gray, Stoddart, Bain, O'Connell, Podger; Sylvester's—Cunningham, Skitch; Old. L. C. I. — Silver, Touchburn; Printers, — Hooper, Moynes; Juniors—Preston, Bruce.

Mr. Lynch acted as chairman and F. Moynes as secretary, pro tem. Mr. Lynch explained the object of the gathering, and proceeded to get down to the business on hand. It was thought by the majority present that seven teams would be altogether too many, as they would not be able to finish the schedule and could not get ice, etc., so on motion of Messrs. L. Silver and J. Gray, it was decided that one delegate from each of the seven teams pick out the five teams which they would like to see in the coming league. Ballots were then passed around and the result was as follows; Bankers, 7 votes; L. C. I., 7; Japs 7; Sylvester's 2; Old L. C. I., 3; Printers, 7; Juniors, 2. The juniors and Sylvester's were then dropped out. A number thought that if the juniors were going to call themselves the Lindsay Juniors, they should be barred from the League.

The following officers were then appointed; President, Mr. Lynch; Vice-President, Mr. J. O'Connell; Sec.-Treasurer, Mr. R. Hartstone; Managing Committee,—Lynch, R. Harstone, J. O'Connell, G. Rielly, H. Woods, J. Walker. These are a fine lot of officers, and represent the different teams.

RECORD OF ROSS MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

The Board of Directors Report a Deficit on the Years Operations of $807.00, Due in Part to the Expenditure of $458.01 on Capital Account—Receipts for Maintenance Show a Surplus of $192.84 Over Expenditure Under the Same Head—The Board Satisfied with the Outlook—Interesting Discussion at the Annual Meeting Held Last Thursday Evening.

The second annual meeting of the Board of Governors of Ross Memorial Hospital was held in the Council chamber Thursday evening, and was from begin to finis a spirited and representative gathering of citizens that the importance of the occasion warranted. The Board was represented by Mr. J. D. Flavelle, chairman, Mr. J. E. McNeillie, secretary-treasurer, Major Weatherby, Mr. B. Bryans, and Mrs J. C. Grace, Toronto, the town clergy, by Ven. Archdeacon Casey, the medical profession, by Drs. Vroeman, Collison and Horsman; the citizens by Mr. Thos. Stewart, the Hospital staff, by Lady Superintendent; and the ladies of the town, by Miss Flavelle and a few others.

Mr. Flavelle, in opening the meeting, said he was in doubt as to whether the meeting should be called an meeting of lack of interest in the institution or a proof of satisfaction on the part of the citizens with the way the affairs of the Hospital had been conducted during the year. He then called on Mr. McNeillie to read the annual report of the Board of Governors, the financial statement and the statistical records which were given as below. Mr. Flavelle, continuing, said the receipts from revenue derived from pay patients this year accounted in part for the deficit of $817 reported. This year the number of pay patients showed a decline, off, while the number of public ward patients had increased. He would suggest that the medical men of the town were in a position to help the Governors in that matter, as they were generally inferior and on the financial standing of patients and therefore qualified to advise whether or not they were able to pay for better accommodation than the public ward afforded. The Governors exercised the greatest care, but no doubt were deceived in some instances.

Dr. Vroman—What do you do with a patient who is well-to-do, but refuses a private room?

Mr. Flavelle—We positively refuse him admission to the public ward—we have no right to allow lower grants to be used in maintaining persons who have no claim to charity assistance.

Dr. Vroeman—Is that rule carried out in the city hospitals?

Mr. Flavelle—Yes, I asked Dr. Reilly, of the Toronto General, and his answer was in the affirmative. There's this about it, if anyone can afford the patient the benefit of any doubt?

Dr. Vroeman—How do you decide?

Mr Flavelle—Well, it is an arbitrary decision, of course, we are guided by what we know or can learn. We may make an occasional mistake—but we err on the side of hardship, but not nearly as much as we do in the cases of charity. Mayor Southern is imposed on in this same way in making his orders. I take it that even the laboring man who is earning a fair wage, should prefer to pay for the maintenance of himself or a member of his family in the Hospital rather than be given a charity ward, because it is a charity, although of a kind that all are glad to extend in case of need."

Dr. Vroeman—I feel gratified at the information given in the reports and with the Chairman's explanation

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

ALWAYS CURES

And is Pleasant and Safe.

I have referred to. While I can see where trouble might occur because of the absence of a charge, as to the financial standing of a patient, I cannot suggest any better way. Everyone agrees that the Hospital is doing a grand work, the people are proud of it, proud of it and the management to the Governors, as evidenced by the following, I should like to receive some information concerning the—how it is proposed to hold it at the present figure, or to wipe it out. I think the revenue from church decisions might be increased.

Mr. Flavelle—With regard to the Church I may say the Board of Governors do not yet see any cause for alarm. It is being financed in the same way as our own personal notes. We hope the expenditure on capital account will not be large next year, and that as the Hospital becomes known and its work more appreciated there will be more medical cases—regardless the subject—have been of a surgical nature, and of course our income from the other side, I believe Mr. Ross was wise in not allowing the Hospital to become the effort to maintain it lostura the interest of the people in the institution. That is the trouble with the Victoria Hospital at Peterboro' it is well endowed, and as a result the people do not take as deep interest in its welfare or success."

Ven. Archdeacon Casey—"I am well satisfied with the reports read, and can certify to the good work being done by the Hospital. I have the interest in the number of patients in the Hospital increasing, and I believe it is realize that many forms of illness can be treated better and more cheaply in the hospital than at home.

Mayor Southern—"As the town's representative on the board of Governors I am in a position to realize, although not with what care the affairs of the Hospital are managed, and I can be appreciative of the work of the staff. With regard to the Hospital I think it would be necessary to invite the help of the citizens of the town, and I will be successfully dealt with."

Ven. Archdeacon Casey—"I have any possibility of the County and town grants being increased?"

Mr. Flavelle—"The County has been generously inclined, and I would suggest that we should be ready for a year to see how we get along."

Dr. Vroeman—"Do you think you do not get paid for patients sent in by the Town or County?"

Mr. Flavelle—No, we treat such patients free of charge, and only when the 48 days' care and treatment exceeds the grant do we get it.

Ven Archdeacon Casey—"The Hospital is supported by the aid of the Town and County?"

Mr. Flavelle—Yes, it is vested in the Board of Governors and I think it is a very good system. The management, because in the event of any serious complaint, it is well to be sure, it would rest with Mr. Ross to replace them and the Board would be in a position to take no responsibility in the matter.

Mr. Collison—"I fancy that many people are not aware of the presents made to the Hospital by the town and county.

Mr. Flavelle—"Patients sent to us on their order are treated free of charge, and we do not charge them. Estimating the cost of these patients at the rate of maintenance we have returned $600 of the year's grants."

Dr. Vroeman—"I feel satisfied at the information given in the reports and with the Chairman's explanation

Mr. Flavelle—"At a joint meeting of the Board of Governors and the Medical Board it was unanimously decided that such patients as are deemed proper to admit, be placed in charge of the physician in attendance at the Hospital. If any case arises which is declared by him to be brought about by the doctors themselves.

Dr. Horsman—"Then if the doctors agree you are willing to make the admission?

Mr. Flavelle—"I can't speak for the Board of Governors, but certainly the medical men express a unanimous opinion that they would be in favor of their request with a great deal of pleasure.

Ven. Vroeman—"I think it would be desirable to have a rule to allow the medical men to favor their patients free of charge, as the public ward is crowded. I also think that people cannot be trained two strangers of the danger of having serious cases of illness treated in the hospital, where the patient is exposed to many risks not generally understood. The prejudice against going into the Hospital is a foolish one.

Mr. Stewart—"I think the prejudice is disappearing. A number of people have been treated in the Hospital after considerable urging, and invariably admit that they had no idea of that they would never again be taken."

Ven Archdeacon Casey—"I am not in favor of the public ward being filled by my doctor as a matter of course—I would like to see a lack of interest on the part of the Hospital physician. Permission to do so is known and appreciated, there is no reagement with the medical men in charge at the time."

Mr. Flavelle—"That is the arrangement now in force."

After report was adopted, on motion of Ven. Archdeacon Casey and Dr. Vroeman. Votes of thanks to the Board of Governors for their faithful labors, and to the town medical men for arduous and honorable assistance, where then proposed and seconded, after which the meeting adjourned.

LETTER FROM MR. LOGIE

Secretary McNeillie read the following letter from Mr. James Ross, of Montreal, to whose generosity the Hospital is indebted for the fine situation placed at the service of the City:—

Montreal, Nov. 7th, '04.

J. E. McNeillie, esq., Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, Ont.

My Dear Mr. McNeillie,—Many thanks for your kind letter of November 5th, with copy of the annual report of the Hospital. I have read this with a great deal of interest, and the results are most gratifying.

I am especially pleased to note the cordial relations of the Hospital and churches are taking in the work and the increasing good feeling existing among the medical practitioners in all matters relating to the Hospital.

I have been anxiously waiting for an opportunity of visiting Lindsay and going over the Hospital, but I have been occupied the whole of the summer in looking after some very large interests in Cape Breton, which I expected my entire time, but shall, however, be able to take a trip to Lindsay either this month or next, and hope to have the pleasure of meeting you at Lindsay and of going over our notes before I go.

With best regards, I remain, very truly yours,

JAMES ROSS.

ANNUAL REPORT OF MANAGERS.

The Board of Governors, in reporting the transactions of the first full year in which the Ross Memorial Hospital has been carried on, are gratified to be able to state that the reputation of which the staff and institution was needed in the County of Victoria is no longer questionable. Since the Hospital was opened on Nov. 20th, 1902, there have passed through its doors for treatment three hundred and eleven persons. That so large a number should be treated in the most possible manner, both in the exercise of medical and surgical skill and in the gentle and constant assiduous care of the nurses, cannot be admitted, but who can truly and fully estimate what it has meant to the sufferers from disease and accident to have the assurance that every possible care is at hand.

Turning to the financial side, the Board have to report that the income has not reached the expenditure yet all expenditures, but yet the receipts have come near enough to be able to make clear the fact that the institution can be maintained as a state of efficiency.

Owing to preliminary and other expenses unexpected with the dedicated work of the Hospital, there was a deficit at the end of September, 1903, amounting to $463.65. During the year just closed there has been a further expenditure on account that had of $88.18. Besides this charge, which could not be anticipated, there has been found necessary an expenditure on capital account of $458.01.

Figures are submitted herewith audited statements of receipts and expenditures on Maintenance Account, and a summary of the statement of the general fund shows that the receipts for maintenance have reached to $5,871.03

And total expenditures for maintenance 5,678.19

Leaving a surplus in Maintenance ..... $ 192.84

The reverse amounts are:

Deficit Sept. 30th, 1903 ..... $ 463.65

Expenditure and opening expenses 88.18

Capital expenditure 458.01

Total $1,009.84

From which is to be deducted the surplus as above 192.84

Leaving a deficit of ..... $ 817.00

The Board desire to express their gratitude to the Councils of the County of Victoria and the Town of Lindsay for the liberal grants made by them. It will be apparent that the Hospital is supported by the County and Town the institution could not be maintained.

The County of Haliburton made a grant of $25.00. This was unexpected but none the less appreciated.

Special thanks are due to the churches of the county which have generously responded to the request made for contributions on Hospital Sunday. The names of several congregations appear on the list for the first time, but to the regret of the Board a large number of a number of congregations which did not, in the first year, do so, appear on the present list. The Board need not, in a community so enlightened and the christian communities need the exercise of the gift of charity, to plead for the enforcement of the contribution of the Hospital, it is to be regretted that the number of ladies who gave invaluable assistance in promoting the movement for the raising of an endowment fund, and who aided so heartily and wisely in the organization of the Auxiliary to the Hospital, is likely to be reorganized at the next annual meeting.

Prior to the last session of the Legislative Assembly no grant was made by the Province except for patients in the public wards who were unable to pay either wholly or in part for their maintenance. In consequence of a change in the law beginning may now charge fifty cents per day for public ward patients and yet participate in the grant. The Board deemed it their duty to take advantage of the privileges and from the beginning of August last the number of public ward patients has been fifty cents per day.

The Hospital has accomplished semi-private wards has been $1.00 per day. On consideration the Board came to the conclusion that as $2.00 per day was charged, not unreasonably, for patients occupying private wards, the slight difference in the values of the accommodation in the two classes of wards did not justify so wide a difference in the charge, and have therefore decided that the charge for semi-private wards shall be $1.50 per day, to take effect on Nov. 1st. Even at this charge the Hospital will be paying more than the average cost for maintenance per day, and the Board trust their action in this regard will commend itself to Ladies who in they are seeking to serve.

Progress has been made in the collection of subscriptions to the endowment fund. There is now accumulated a fund of $14,775.74 as investments and cash. It is expected that all the present promised will be fulfilled the fund will amount to about $17,000.00 principal of the fund is being kept absolutely intact, only the income being used for the purposes of maintenance. A lady, the widow of a Prince Edward County, who removed to Toronto a number of years ago, has recently died, yet herself and family, offered a subscription of the Haliburton Bailey, which the Board have gratefully accepted. We be remembered in the will of the Hospital.

The number of patients was 173, of whom 156 were cured, 4 died, 13 patients was 3717, and the average stay of each patient was 21 days.

The total cost for maintenance was $5678.19. Dividing that amount by 3717 the total cost per day for which patients were maintained, it is found that the cost per day was about $1.53. The cost per day in the Hospital is considerably less. It is hoped that in the first full year in the new Hospital, that the expectation the Board have been disappointed. Greater economy in the expenditure contributed to the increase. When, however, the service, the Board have taken advantage of to the extent of its capacity and equipment, a reduction in the proportionate cost may be expected.

Patients occupied the various wards for the following periods: Free 434 days; paying 50 cts. per day 1,456 days; in all 1,982 days. Semi-private wards, $1.00 per day 165 days. Private wards $2.00 per day 1,570 days. Total 3717 days.

Early in the year the Board had placed at their disposal by certain ladies of Lindsay, subscriptions are so modest as to be bid the mention of, yet it earns the sum of nine hundred dollars, for providing an amount of the best improvement suggestions to the Hospital. The earnest gratitude of the Board is now tendered for the quality and friends of the institution. An order for the construction of the which was given as soon as a decision could be reached as to quality and furnishing and the Board are pleased to be able to state that the installation is now ready for service.

The Board in their report the Board of Governors have pleasure in mentioning the cordial relations that have existed between the Hospital with the physicians of the Town of Lindsay all of whom have continued to discharge the duties of medical officers, and to voice their appreciation of the excellence of the management of the Hospital by the Lady Superintendent in which she has been loyally supported by her assistants.

FELL IN LOVE WITH NURSE

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE OF MISS BRYSON, OF FENELON FALLS.

As Hospital Nurse She Saved the Life of Her Future Husband.

The Chicago Tribune publishes the story of a romantic marriage recently solemnized in that city, in which the heroine was Miss Margaret Bryson, formerly of Fenelon Falls, who was graduated from Nicholls Hospital, at Peterboro, about six years ago. The facts as given by the Tribune are as follows:

"All the essentials of a melodr'a'ma are contained in the romance of H. C. Pierce, revealed yesterday by the announcement of his marriage. His bride is a trained nurse, the daughter of Dr. W. G. Bryson, 4918 Calumet avenue. This will afford a clue to the plots unfolded in the acts which follow:

Act one is laid in Elgin, with greeen fields and placid river in the distance behind the Pierce homestead. The time is a year ago. The only son of a wealthy mother, young Pierce decides to leave home and win his own way in the world. He came to Chicago.

Fortune making is not always easy in Chicago, and act two, time March 18 last, finds Pierce working as conductor of a North Halsted electric car. Not a particular romantic avocation for a hero, but wait.

Is Shot by a Highwayman.

First comes a villain, a negro highwayman, who holds up Pierce's car. The conductor fights to save the company's money and the watch his mother gave him. There is a struggle and Pierce is shot. The robber escapes, but the watch and money are saved.

The rising of the curtain for act three discloses the conductor unconscious and apparently dying in the Presbyterian hospital. White clad internes and nurses hover about him, but the bullet has pierced the abdomen and the case is declared hopeless.

Dr. Nicholas Senn is called in for consultation, and he summons Margaret Bryson, a graduate nurse, to care for the wounded man. She is considered an expert in emergency cases, and hour after hour, she watches over Pierce.

Dawn of Hospital Romance.

At the end of three days the wounded man rallies and not till then does Miss Bryson seek rest. The fall of the curtain leaves Pierce out of danger and showing the incipient signs of an affection of the heart.

All through act four Miss Bryson watches over her patient, who rallies rapidly from the bullet wound. But the heart malady grows as rapidly. There are symptoms, too, that the young nurse is taking more than a professional interest in her patient. When the day comes on which he is discharged as cured, Pierce takes Miss Bryson's hand;

"You saved my life," he tells her, "now make it worth saving. Without you existence is worse than the grave. I love you, Margaret."

Last Act in the Romance.

The last act was yesterday. Miss Bryson and Pierce were married in Chicago on Sept. 18th, but the ceremon was kept a secret. In the morning Pierce and his bride returned to the homestead in Elgin. He rings the door bell, they enter the house and then his mother appears.

"Mother," says Pierce, "this is my wife. She saved my life when others declared I must die." The elder woman clasps the younger in her arms. And the curtain goes down.

Robbery at Burnt River.

A bold robbery was perpetuated on November 6th, at Burnt River, when over $300 in cash and $500 in notes and cheques were stolen from Mr. Wm. Robson, storekeeper at that place. The theft is supposed to have been committed by a Swede named Alfred Oleson, who had been employed for part of the summer on the Trent Canal between Kirkfield and Beaverton. He is described as follows. Aged about 24, height 5 feet 7 or 8 inches, weight about 180 lbs., dark complexion, clean shaven, dressed in navy blue coat and vest, and checked pants, navy blue peaked cap, with boots with heavy sole

VICTORIA AND HALIBURTON.

RESULT OF VOTING FOR HUGHES AND McLAUGHLIN.

The Former's Majority will Likely be in the Neighborhood of 300.

Below we present an unofficial but likely correct return of the votes polled in this riding on Thursday, Nov, 3rd. It should be remembered that the townships of Dysart, Dudley, Cardiff, Monmouth and Glamorgan, which have been added to the riding from West Peterboro, contributed 136 votes to Col. Hughes' majority, while Galway, which gave a Liberal majority of 80 in the 1900 contest, is transferred to West Peterboro, the change reducing Mr. McLaughlin's total by at least the vote formerly polled.

Dressmaking.

Miss Shouldice has opened up Dressmaking Rooms over The Post printing office, foot of Kent-st.--d3.

Danger next door

Perhaps its diphtheria or scarlet fever. Keep your own home free from the germs of these diseases. Prevent your children from having them. You can do it with our Vapo-Cresolene. Put some Cresolene in our vaporizer, light the lamp beneath, and let the vapor fill the sleeping room. Have the children sleep in the room every night, for it's perfectly safe, yet not a single disease germ can live in this vapor. Ask your doctor about it. 56

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists, or sent express prepaid on receipt of price. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including a bottle of Cresolene complete, $1.50. Send for free illustrated booklet. Leeming, Miles Co., Ltd., Agents, 288 St James St., Montreal.

WEEKLY POST LETTER BOX

AN EXPLANATION.

(To Editor of The Post.)

Dear Editor,—Mr. Lang, of Toronto, is fitting up the fine hall over A. L. Campbell's grocery warehouse on William-st, for bath rooms, in which will be given massage and hydrotherapy treatments.

Miss Baker, who has been in Lindsay for over two years giving these treatments under advice of the doctors of the town, has realized the necessity of a place where women may be free to come and get such treatments, also to those who have no conveniences in their homes. The bath rooms will be open to such, and they may have the privilege of a good cleansing bath.

Allow me to make a correction to the article in last week's Post, headed, "A Chapel for the Adventists," It is stated that this hall is being fitted up for a chapel, in which Seventh Day Adventists will hold worship. It was distinctly understand, when I rented this hall from Mr. Lang, that it was not to be a place for public worship, but that it was to be strictly set apart as a place where medical work is to be carried forward under the advice and encouragement of the town doctors, The rooms are to be furnished on or before December 24th, at which time they are expected to be ready for use,—Yours etc.,

SADIE BAKER.

Lindsay, Nov. 9th,

EXCESSIVE PROFITS.

(To the Editor of The Post.)

Sir,—I only moved here a month or so ago with my family, yet I think I have a good cause of action against your Town Council. I was told there was a good market here, and that taken all around, it was a cheap place to live in. What do I see and learn? First, that you get at the butchers a 25c. steak for 40c., and that some at least of your milk dealers are merely middlemen, do not keep cows, and take 100 per cent. merely handling; and worst of all, a notice appears in the papers that the bakers are asking cash, that is worth 5 per cent., and cutting the loaf down a quarter in weight, which really means an advance of 30 per cent. In the face of this I read in the Port Hope papers an advertisement of th eHarold Barrett Co., "Do you know that you make 150 pounds of bread from one bag of Barrett's flour. This will cost you $2.60 to $2.90. The same quantity of bakers' bread now costs you $6.00. The price of flour have been reduced from 20c. to 30c. per barrel."

Port Hope bakers are not selling pound and a half loaves, nor are they selling at the price Lindsay bakers are asking. Have not I, Mr. Editor, a fair cause of action against this town for false pretences.—Yours, etc.,

HOUSEHOLDER.

Lindsay, Nov. 10th.

HAD BOTH ARMS BROKEN.

Sad Accident to a Young Man in Manvers Township Yesterday.

A most unfortunate accident happened to Nellis, son of Mr. Wm. Arthurs of Janetville, Friday morning, whereby both of his arms were broken at the wrists. It seems that he and a younger brother were fooling with a whip on the previous evening, and thinking it had been thrown on the stable roof, Nellis got up early to investigate and climbed onto the roof. Owing to a coating of frost on the shingles the footing was very uncertain, and he slid to the ground, a distance of twelve feet, with the above results. Dr. Nesmyth was immediately summoned and reduced the fractures. The young sufferer stood the shock well, and is resting easily.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is Pleasant to Take

The finest quality of granulated loaf sugar is used in the manufacture of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it quite pleasant to take. Mr. W. L. Roderick, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of his remedy, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with my children for several years and can truthfully say it is the best preparation of the kind I know of. The children like to take it and it has no injurious after effect. For sale by all druggists.

ACCEPTED BY RUSSIA.

Commission On North Sea Affair Is to Meet At Once.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 10.—Final details covering the Anglo-Russian convention regarding the North Sea incident have been completed by the acceptance by Russia in writing of certain points. Invitations will now be issued jointly by the two Governments to the United States and France to appoint admirals to serve on the commission, which will meet at the earliest possible moment in Paris to select the fifth member.

Britain Will Take Part.

London, Nov. 10.—President Roosevelt's invitation to Great Britain to take part in a second peace conference at The Hague has been presented by Ambassador Choate to the Foreign Office. No formal answer has yet been made, but the Ambassador received verbal assurances of its cordial welcome.

Engineer Scalded.

Toronto, Nov. 10.—By the bursting of the throttle valve in the engine-room of the Ontario Sewer Pipe Manufacturing Company, at Mimico, Luke Thompson, the engineer, was so severely scalded yesterday that he is now lying in Grace Hospital, in a critical condition. The mishap occurred about 6.45 a.m. Other workmen shut off the steam and as quickly as possible rescued the unfortunate man, whose head, shoulders, arms and hips were severely scalded. Thompson is a married man, about 55 years of age.

Crushed Beneath Elevator.

Toronto, Nov. 10.—Sydney Mingol, aged 18, who lived at 14 Scollard street, and who operated an elevator at the Massey-Harris works, was so seriously injured yesterday that he died a few minutes after the discovery of the accident. He had been only in his present position for a week. No one seems to know how the fatality occurred, but the body was found jammed in between the elevator and the flooring or ceiling. Chief Coroner Johnston is investigating.

Pullman Conductor Kills Self.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—J. H. Doherty, a Canadian Pacific parlor car conductor, committed suicide last evening by shooting himself near the Academy of Music.

Ought, it would seem, to give exemption from the diseases which prey upon the residents of thickly populated cities. But there is no exemption from disease, and in the country, as in the city, one may see the cheeks grow hollow and the eyes grow dull while the frame wastes away with that terrible disease, consumption.

Weak lungs are made strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures obstinate and stubborn coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs and other symptoms which, if neglected or unskillfully treated, terminate fatally in consumption. The action of Golden Medical Discovery in the curing of wasting diseases is entirely philosophic. Emaciation, and consequent loss of weight, are among the most striking symptoms of what are known as wasting diseases. The body is not being adequately nourished, and the cause of this lack of nourishment is not lack of food but lack of ability in the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition to prepare the food for the assimilation and nutrition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and the organs of digestion and nutrition, and so enables the body to be nourished back to strength in the only way by which strength can come; that is, by food perfectly digested and assimilated.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a temperance medicine. It contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or any other narcotic.

Accept no substitute for "Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for you, though many things may pay the dealer a larger profit.

CAUGHT COLD.

"The first day of this year," writes Mrs. Kate Schey, of 716 St. Paul Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis. "I caught a heavy cold, which settled on my lungs and brought on a hemorrhage. From that time on until the first of April I bled from my lungs five different times. I was so weak and undone I could only do the lightest work. The doctor told me I was going into consumption. My breath was short and at times I could hardly get my breath at all. This is the state I was in when I began to take Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After the first bottle I was much better, and I could walk two or three blocks without trouble. My breath was not so short and I was much improved, After taking four bottles I could work all day, and I never felt better in my life. I think your medicine the best in the world and I recommend it to all who are troubled as I was."

WILL MAKE AFFIDAVIT.

"I was sick for about three months, had chills, fever, and coughed a great deal," writes Mr. W. L. Brown, of McDearman, Jackson Co., Tenn. "Most of my neighbors and friends thought I had consumption. I was reduced in flesh, and was very weak—only weighed 110 pounds; my physician thought there was little hope for my recovery.

"My wife went to the store to get some antifebrin, quinine, etc., for me and a friend of mine (Mr. W. W. McDearman), who had been taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery recommended this medicine for me. Finally I decided to use it, after my physician told me that it would be good for me. I sent and got one bottle, and before all was taken I weighed 149 pounds—a gain of 39 pounds. I am still taking the Golden Medical Discovery, have taken nearly two bottles, and now weigh 163 pounds, which is more than I ever weighed. I am still gaining strength and taking the 'Discovery.' I wish to say that this is a recent recovery, that only two months ago I only weighed about 110 pounds.

"I can and will make affidavit to this full statement any time. If you wish to use this as a testimonial do so, and I will answer all letters from inquiring sufferers."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 pages, and over 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to defray expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 cents for the book in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A GREAT DOCTOR'S OPINION

The Pope's Physician Endorses a Canadian Medicine.

Dr. Lapponi Uses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in His Practice Because Results Meet His Expectations.

DR. LAPPONI'S LETTER.

In the realm of medical science there is probably no better known or more respected name than that of Dr. Lapponi, the trusted physician of the Vatican. He is loved and venerated throughout the entire Catholic world for his unwearying attention to his Holiness, the Pope. Leo XIII. He is the external physician of the present Pope, His Holiness Pius X. But above all he is a man of outstanding ability and of such profound views which he holds as right. He is not afraid of so-called professional "etiquette," and having used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in his practice with good results, he freely shows the facts and endorses the great Canadian medicine, which no one will venture to question.

DR. GIUSEPPE LAPPONI.

"I certify that I have tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in four cases of simple anaemia of development. After a few weeks of treatment the result came fully up to expectations. For that reason I shall not fail in the future to extend the use of the Pink Pills prescribed for the treatment of other morbid forms of the category of anaemia or chlorosis, but not in cases of hyperaesthesia and the like.

DR. GIUSEPPE LAPPONI.

(Signed). "Via dei Graechi, 331, Rome."

The "simple anaemia of development" referred to by Dr. Lapponi, is of course, that dread, hopeless condition of young girls, when development to womanhood is tardy and whole health at last period is so often imperilled. His opinion of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at that time is of the highest scientific authority and it confirms that many published cases which prove that these pills cure anaemia by the creation of the blood and nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new rich, red blood, and this new blood goes right to the seat of troubles and cures such diseases as indigestion, palpitation, kidney troubles, general weakness, nervousness, neuralgia, and the ailments which only women know about. If you want the genuine pills which Dr. Lapponi praises, and those always have the "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," printed on the wrapper around each box.

At the close of the meeting several votes of thanks were passed.—Examiner.

Poor Daddy.

"Won't you put on your pretty frock tonight, mamma?"

"No, dearie; mummy only puts on her pretty frock when there's somebody to dance."

A Model Prayer.

(James Whitcomb Riley.)

Dear Lord and Good Lord
Gracious Lord, I pray
Thou will look on all I love
Tenderly, I pray
Weed their hearts of weariness,
Strew the way with
Down a walk of sunlight
Wooooing the air,
Bring unto the sorrowing
All relines from pain;
Let the lips of laughter
Overflow again
And with all the needy
O a little I pray,
This vast treasure of content
That is mine today.

PORT ARTHUR'S FALL

No Confirmation of Gen. Stoessel's Capitulation.

RUSSIAN CASUALTIES 33,250

In the Ten Days' Fighting On the Shakhe River—Arrives in Battle Array Against Each Other, But Doing Little But Output Work—Japs Sparing Their Ammunition.

London, Nov. 12.—No confirmation has reached London of the rumors current on Nov. 10 of the capitulation of Port Arthur, that General Stoessel was asking for an armistice, etc. According to The Daily Telegraph's Chee Foo correspondent, Japan has consented to open the Port of Antung to steamers chartered by silk merchants when the latter obtain special permits. This action is due to China's protest that excludes a neutral shipping would ruin the silk trade.

Loss At Shakhe River.

Tokio, Nov. 12.—The Japanese casualties in the battle of the Shakhe River—Arrive in Battle Array Against Each Other, But Doing Little But Output Work—Japs Sparing Their Ammunition.

London, Nov. 12.—No confirmation has reached London of the rumors current on Nov. 10 of the capitulation of Port Arthur, that General Stoessel was asking for an armistice, etc. According to The Daily Telegraph's Chee Foo correspondent, Japan has consented to open the Port of Antung to steamers chartered by silk merchants when the latter obtain special permits. This action is due to China's protest that excludes a neutral shipping would ruin the silk trade.

Loss At Shakhe River.

Tokio, Nov. 12.—The Japanese casualties in the battle of the Shakhe River, which ended on Nov. 5, are officially given at 33,250, of whom 900 were officers.

The first returns, it is explained, contained duplications, and some of the men were so slightly wounded that they returned to the ranks in a few days.

Chrysanthemum Party At Tokio.

Tokio, Nov. 12.—The Emperor yesterday gave his annual chrysanthemum party in the gardens of the Ayama Palace, where he entertained about 1,000 guests.

JAPS SPARING AMMUNITION.

Which Indicates Relief in Big Battle Because of Its Success.

Mukden, Nov. 12.—The positions of the armies on both sides remain identical with those of a week ago. Continual skirmishing going on with the Russian outposts and reconnoitering tending to strengthen the respective lines of defence. The Russian scouts are very daring in secretly reconnoitering the whole of the Japanese line, some venturing up to the Japanese trenches and lying concealed there all night, returning at dark night. The Japanese have constructed in many places double and even triple and quadruple lines of trenches, wire entanglements, mines and pits. A Cossack patrol on Nov. 10 penetrated as far as Sandiapu, where the Japanese have established a large force of Japanese and then returned, rapidly retreating to main line without loss. A patrol also got in the rear of two Japanese companies and succeeded in capturing a position. The Cossacks defeated the Japanese and returned safely to the Russian line.

An artillery fire from both sides is continued at intervals. It is heavier on the Russian right wing, where all day on Nov. 10 and also during the night the Russians shelled the Japanese positions with heavy bombs. Neither side on that date gained any ground.

Gained Great Advantage.

As a result of the heavy bombardment by the Russians the Japanese have lost infinitely more in their losses from the advanced positions. It is believed that, instead of being ready to attack, they are falling back to the hills. The Russians gained a great advantage when towards the end of the battle of the Shakhe River they recaptured Lone Top Hill, which commands a large part of the ground over which the Japanese must advance.

Night operations are about the same each day. There is artillery firing most of the time, and the frequent clashes of infantry at night.

The soldiers of the opposing outposts are almost constantly engage in the exchange of cigarettes and other trifles.

There was a heavy exchange of artillery fire Thursday at Russian right centre. The Russian batteries were shelled by the Japanese batteries and the Japanese batteries responded.

During Thursday night Russian volunteers abolished a detachment of Japanese pickets in trenches in front of Lone Tree (Pouttiloff) Hill.

The Japanese showed little active activity on the left flank, without, however, appearing to be any serious movement.

Comfortable dugouts are being built along the Russian lines, and the soldiers seem to think that they will winter where they are. The idea that Field Marshal Oyama contemplates an attempt to take Mukden is not generally entertained. Both sides seem to be hoping for the present with a suspension of hostilities. Warm clothing is being distributed among the troops.

Japs Sparing Ammunition.

During the bombardment Thursday night the Russians threw 60 large ammunition boxes into the Japanese camp opposite Manaloo Hill.

The Japanese, who during the previous cannonading seemed to have successfully made a counter attack directed against the Russian positions for the purpose of covering their operations in the rear, now occupied the deserted works in the region of the railway, did not return when the Russians attached them farther to the rear.

The Japanese are notably economical in the use of ammunition, as though anticipating an early battle, when great quantities will become necessary.

It is known that the Japanese have placed great reliance upon the vicinity of the Shakhe railway station, bringing up reserves, in consequence, to the north, within the range of their guns.

The great precautions taken by the Russians, their continued vigilance, and the disposition of their forces, would seem to indicate, rather, a fear against any repetition of disasters of enormous magnitude.

The demolition of the Chinese houses appears to continue only along the line of fire, but further destruction is rendered necessary for strategical purposes.

Times For Sir Wilfrid.

London, Nov. 11.—(C. A. P.)—The Times says Lord Hugh Cecil's remark that Canadians and Australian loyalty cannot be bought by two pennies, or a quart of ale and a penny a pound on meat, will only irritate and is not the kind of sentiment to prove acceptable in a thoroughly imperialistic colony like Canada. The British Opposition's efforts to show that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's continuance in power keeps forces to their contention only reveals its weakness. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who first gave the original preference to the mother country and then extended it in his electoral speeches, has given the patriotic testimony of his willingness to go still further.

LETTER.

Lord and Lady Minto Held Public Receptions in Toronto—Speech With a Kaleidoscopic Civic Address.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—The public reception tendered to the Governor-General and the Countess of Minto last evening was attended by a large concourse of people and the City Hall presented a brilliant spectacle.

At 9.30 the band announced the arrival at the City Hall, Lady and when they had gathered at the foot of the grand staircase, His Worship the Mayor read a highly eulogistic address of farewell.

Lord Minto said he deeply appreciated the honor of receiving such an address on behalf of the City of Toronto and thanked the Council for the kind words in reference to Lady Minto and himself. He would always remember with pleasure his visits to the city, regretted that it was his last visit, but hoped that some day it might be his pleasure to return and visit his many firm friends.

The members of the Council and ladies were then presented to their Excellencies and a large number of citizens followed for over half an hour.

After the first half hour the rush slackened and by 10.30 the public desire to meet the representative of the King had apparently been satisfied and the guests took the leave to the accompaniment of the National anthem by the Grenadier orchestra.

The reception was most informal, and the Governor-General was truly representative of the city.

Their Excellencies had many calls during the day. In the afternoon, a deputation from the Daughters of the Empire waited on Lady Minto.

The executive of the Ontario Curling Association waited on Lord Minto, and Mr. McMurrich, for the deputation, voiced the gratitude felt by his association for his interest and bringing out of the Scotch curlers in 1902. His Excellency said it was not a representative team, but merely a set of curlers who happen to come out, and they had enjoyed their trip. He would, on returning to Britain, do all in his power to spread the glories of Canada.

Later, evening Lord Minto was the guest of the Bankers' Association at their banquet prior to the reception at the City Hall.

John F. Scholes Shot.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—A painful accident befell John F. Scholes, the author of two world's champions, while out rabbit shooting at Collingwood yesterday. Mr. Scholes was taking his son Jack, who is proprietor of the Collingwood Bulletin, on a rabbit shooting in the country. Mr. Scholes had his son in front at advance of his son, who died. A grain of corn got lodged in the gun barrel, it struck Mr. Scholes in the ball of the eye. The injury was exceedingly painful, is declared not to necessarily indicate serious results.

An Act of Bravery.

St. Catharines, Nov. 10.—Some actions are so common that of John Stonehouse of this city, who is almost 80 years of age, that it is no more Mr. Stonehouse, who is employed on the Government works on the Welland Canal, saw a man go overboard from the steamer Parent, the Woolvin Line, which was anchored nearby. Mr. Stonehouse, notwithstanding his years and his feebleness, plunged into the water and rescued the drowning man. The man was William Christman, a deck-hand. Mr. Stonehouse is a veteran of 1812. An effort will be made to get a medal of the Royal Humane Society for him.

WORLD OF POLITICS

Hon. C. S. Hyman's Majority Stands at Twenty-One.

CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION

Details of the Re-count of Ballots At London—Deputy Returning Officers, Charged With Having Stuffed Ballots From the Voters Lists in St. Boniface and Tyndal, Remanded.

London, Out., Nov. 12.—The net result of the re-count of ballots cast in the Federal election in this city on the 3rd instant, which gave victory for Judge Macbeth last night, is that Mr. Gray, the Conservative candidate, gains two votes, which reduces Mr. Hyman's majority to 21. Two ballots were added to Mr. Hyman's total and two struck off, which three were added to Mr. Gray's and one struck off. On fifteen ballots judgment was reserved. Yet of these are claimed by Hyman and five by Gray. Argument will be heard on these this morning, but whatever way they go, the result cannot be affected. Hon. C. S. Hyman is member-elect. The recount was conducted in secret, according to law, the successful and defeated candidates being represented by counsel. It is reported that in the seventh division of the Third Ward it was found that three ballots which had been marked for Gray had subsequently been spoiled by someone using a cross opposite Hyman's name. It is alleged by the Conservatives that in this division the figures given out by the press by the poll clerk were 98 for Gray and 103 for Hyman, but the deputy returning officer telephoned a correction, which reversed Gray's total to 95. In another division, it is asserted by the same authority, in the case of two ballots marked for Gray, but which the voters had intended for Hyman, the poll clerk for Hyman half unmarked was found in the ballot box.

Deputy Returning Officers Remanded.

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—The deputy returning officer for St. Boniface and Tyndal, who are charged with having stuffed ballots from the voters' lists in readjusting the boundaries of polling subdivisions, were arrested and released from the cells, but were again remanded.

Liberals Win at Brantford.

Brantford, Nov. 12.—A recount of the ballots cast in the recent Federal election in this city was held to-day. Mr. Cockshutt's majority is 15, and it is confidently expected that this will be pulled down, if it is not wiped out altogether.

A Conservative Convention.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—That the Conservatives are greatly encouraged by the calling of a Liberal Convention for Nov. 23 is shown in the fact that, according to Mr. St. John, M.P., they will hold a convention in this city on the following, Nov. 24. Information at hand indicates a very large percentage of what they expect to do, but there is no question in the minds of Conservatives that the present leadership of the party in Ontario is felt to be a very 'Old Man of the Sea' in the furtherance of any forward policy to meet the aggressive of the Liberals. An announcement from the executive is promised for Monday.

BIRTHDAY OF KING EDWARD.

Made Occasion of International Amity by Prominent Men in New York.

New York, Nov. 11.—Last night, under the auspices of the British Society of New York, a banquet in dinner was held in honor of King Edward's birthday, transforming into a demonstration of international amity. Speeches were made by Lord of "America" and "God Save the King," of "Vive la France" and of "Fatherland." Hill, Hay, Choate, Jusserand, Bryce, Lord Cromer, Sir Percy Sanderson, His Majesty's Consul-General, Mr. Bryce, Mr. Choate, formerly of the House of Deputies, Mr. Hay, Secretary of State, Jusserand, formerly Minister of Justice in the Dreyfus Cabinet, and Mr. Bryce, Japanese Consul-General. On the walls of the banquet hall was created the flag of the United States with the emblems of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

First a cable message was read from the King of England, thanking the society for the congratulations and him thanks for the cable, and secretary. It was greeted with loud cheers.

The President's letter of regret that he could not accept the invitation of the club on account of the demonstration for Mr. Roosevelt which continued for several minutes. The Rev. Dr. Judge extolled the King as the true and real king. The toast to the President, which was the main feature of the ovation.

MR. HAYS' RETURN.

New Railway Building to Be Begun Early Next Spring.

Montreal, Nov. 11.—Chas. M. Hays, second vice-president of the Grand Trunk Railway, returned yesterday from a time week's trip to the West, where he had gone on business connected with the Grand Trunk Pacific. He says that the new railway will be in process of construction from a point near Lake Superior, westward, as early next spring as the weather will permit. He believes that there should be no trouble in raising money to build the new line because he found that the securities of Canada abroad were placed in the front rank of investments.

Hear It in London.

London, Nov. 11.—The King announced to J. C. Flowers, of Ottawa, a picture of the King to hang in the House of Commons, Ottawa.

We Will Buy

A 50c Bottle of Liquozone and Give it to You to Try.

We want you to know about Liquozone, and the product itself can tell you more than we do. So we ask you to buy you a bottle—a full-size bottle—to try. Let it prove that it does what medicine cannot do. See what a tonic it is. Learn how it does kill germs. Learn you will use it always, as we do, and as millions of others do.

This offer itself should convince you that Liquozone does as we claim. We would not offer to buy a large bottle, give it to you if there was any doubt of results. We make these results, you want to be well and to keep well. And you can't do that—nobody can—without Liquozone.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone. We did this after testing it a product for two years. Germ physicians and hospitals, after proving it thousands of different cases, found Liquozone destroys the cause of any germ disease.

Liquozone has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and clinical research. It is not made by compounding drugs, nor with alcohol. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve-foe and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you.

Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a tonic that we publish on our side an offer of $1,000 for a disease it does not cure. We do that because it is that germs are killed by it, and Liquozone kills any germ disease is deadly to vegetable matter.

There lies the secret of Liquozone. It is the great value of Liquozone. It is that it does what no other thing can do. It does what no other medicine does, without killing the germ. It does it without killing the patient. It does it because it is a poison, and it cannot be taken into the human system. Germs that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease, kill quickly.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, whatever the disease. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

FOR A LIFE IS A LIFE

Murder Equally to Kill a Child Just Born or Grown Man.

FATHER GUILTY--MOTHER NOT

A Verdict of Murder Against Alexander Martin for Killing His Child--Mrs. Martin Had Been Charged with the Death of Her Baby--A Reserve Case Granted By Chief Justice Falconbridge.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Yesterday the Martins were tried on the charge of murdering their seven-months-old child. The verdict rendered late in the afternoon was to the effect that the evidence disclosed sufficient to warrant the jury after considering the evidence for two hours to find a verdict of murder against Alexander Martin—Guilty.

Ethel Martin—Not guilty.

Chief Justice Falconbridge immediately discharged Mrs. Martin from custody. On behalf of Martin, his counsel, Mr. Hassard, asked for a reserve case to Court of Appeal for two reasons: whether the confession of Mrs. Martin should have been introduced, and whether the counsel for the defence should not have been permitted to address the jury after the Crown prosecutor.

His Lordship said: "I think I shall reserve the case, because there is a judgment of the court in favor of Mr. Hassard's proposition about the right of reply. Otherwise, on the first ground, I shall feel very little doubt or difficulty, but as there is a reported judgment in that direction, I shall reserve the case and direct the prisoner to be remanded for sentence until the judgment of the Court of Appeal has been pronounced.

Subsequently His Lordship sent for prisoners for the sentence. Mr. Hassard had left the building, but Mr. Robinson was found. His Lordship said he was positive he was right in allowing the confession of Mrs. Martin to be introduced, and the case could go to the higher court on the right to reply only.

The Judges Charge.

The charge of Chief Justice Falconbridge to the jury was thorough, intense and sympathetic. He reviewed the evidence from start to finish in the minutest detail. He pointed out that the evidence was circumstantial. There were few murder convictions except on circumstantial evidence.

"If you conclude," said the Chief Justice, "that the prisoner caused the death at the hands of the man, there is no other conclusion than to identify your reduction from murder to one of manslaughter. If you think the woman, you may come to a different decision. Here you have three courses open before you. If you did not aid or countenance the deed, she should be held guilty even though she was present and afterwards did not hand her husband over to justice. If she was in any way a party to the crime, she is guilty of murder. If she was under the influence of her husband, you may word your verdict manslaughter."

A Life Is a Life.

"I was sorry," said His Lordship, "to hear eminent counsel, Mr. Hassard, twice speak of the life of an infant as being of less of great importance to society. I need hardly say that such a thing is supposed to be utterly repudiated. There is no foundation in law or in morals for such an idea. The child who has just breathed is entitled to the same rights as the life protected and it is murder equally to kill a child just born as a grown man."

After Mrs. Martin had been released from custody, Mr. Robinson, the table ladies came to see that she would have some place to go.

"The further argument regarding Martin will take place at once.

Barrie's Murder Trial.

Barrie, Nov. 12.—At the Assizes yesterday Mrs. Saunders and her sister, Phoebe Davis of Orillia, were being tried for the murder of Mrs. Saunder's infant. The evidence given yesterday showed the birth of the child and its death half an hour later, when that on its head were found marks as if made by a blow from some sharp instrument. On the morning after its birth the body of the child was buried by its putative father. The testimony of the doctors who performed the post-mortem will be given to-day, and it is expected the case will be given to the jury before night.

Hogan's Sentence Commuted.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Magloire Hogue, who was sentenced to be hanged this month for the murder of his wife in Montreal, will not ascend the gallows. He has had his sentence for them yesterday afternoon, and decided to commute the sentence to imprisonment for life. Hogue was drunk when he committed the crime, and, moreover, there was an entire absence of premeditation.

Not Free in a Week.

Chatham, Nov. 12.—An inquest was Thursday held in Wallaceburg on the remains of John Elgrove, who was found lifeless on October 25 with gunshot wound in the temple, at Little Bear Creek. The jury gave a verdict to the effect that suicide came to his death from a gunshot wound. "We don't know where the gun came from." Elgrove was out duck-shooting at the time the fatal shot occurred with his companion and when his body was discovered it was noticed his gun was not discharged.

HAMILTON SANDBAG THUG.

Walter D. Champ, Treasurer of the Ridge Works, Knocked Senseless.

Hamilton, Nov. 12—An attempted hold-up of unusual daring and boldness took place last evening just at dusk. As Walter D. Champ, treasurer of the Hamilton Bridge Works, stepped out of the superintendent's office on Caroline street, a thug approached upon him from behind and dealt him a heavy blow on the head. Mr. Champ shouted for help and the thug struck him again, knocking him senseless to the ground. The men in the office heard Mr. Champ for help, and they ran out, only to see a man going through Mr. Champ's pockets. Those two could reach him, Mr. Champ's assailant had taken to his heels, and they could not get a good look at him. Mr. Champ was soon revived, and found his pockets in disorder and regarded as being at all serious. The outrage was evidently done to order, for some one knew how things were conducted about the company's office. Mr. Champ had left the superintendent's office a short time before with over $100 in his pockets, but he had paid it all out in wages to the men before he left. The thug who robbed the thief was amazingly bold, for he made the attack right outside the works, where several hundred men are employed.

MIDNIGHT MECHANICS.

Break Into Private Dwelling Of Patterson and At Marmora.

Chatham, Nov. 12—Burglars yesterday morning broke into the private bank of Isaac Unsworth of the Village of Chatham, a few miles north of this place, and blew up the large safe and rifled the safe and drawers of the bank. Burglars left a number of valuable papers belonging to the Village of Chatham, succeeded in carrying away a small sum of money. They left no clue to the robbers. No clue to the robbers' identity has yet been discovered.

Confessed to Burglaries.

Brockville, Nov. 12.—In the police court yesterday Martin Lappan, was on his arrest confessed to being the perpetrator of three local burglaries, was sentenced to 12 months in the Central Prison at Toronto. Lappan acknowledged being a party to three other burglaries, but the charges were not pressed.

Committed For Trial.

Schomberg, Nov. 12.—Thomas Godson, Hamilton, charged with the manslaughter of Thomas Bennett, was committed for trial.

Death of Ex-Judge Clark.

Toronto, Nov. 10.—The death took place yesterday afternoon of Judge McKenzie Clark, K. C., for many years judge in the County Court of Peterborough and Victoria. He resigned in 1887 to become solicitor for the C.P.R., which position he occupied three years ago. Deceased was 76 years of age, having been born in Belleville, April 14, 1828, was educated at Upper Canada College, called to the bar in 1850, and practised his profession at Cobourg. Mr. Clark served on many great commissions of inquiry.

Bell Phone Co. Beats Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 12—The Privy Council has dismissed the appeal of the city against the Bell Telephone Company, in which it was sought to restrain the company from entering upon or tearing up the streets of the city for the purpose of erecting poles or stringing wires. The decision yesterday gives to the company power to do so. It places in the hands of the city under the necessity of obtaining a franchise or securing any authority from the civic authorities.

No G.T.P. Terminus Yet.

Montreal, Que., Nov. 12.—In reply to a question, Mr. Hays said yesterday afternoon: Cannot state definitely as to Pacific terminus, as it has never been decided. Terminus is important surveys and reports of engineers.

Found Dead in Lumber Camp.

Peterboro, Nov. 11—Robert Shaebeton was found dead in J. J. O'Neill's lumber camp in Mangers Township. He was engaged in peeling poles, and was found dead beside a pile of poles. His home was in Yelverton, Ont.

Wife Will Made Regretful.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—The Cabinet Council yesterday afternoon was very brief, lasting only half an hour, nearly six o'clock before the Premier was able to make the announcement of the appointment of William John Hill, ex-M.P.P., to be registrar of deeds for the East and West Ridings of York, in place of the late James Massie, who died on May 2 last. The fees and emoluments of the registrarship are reported $5,000 a year, out of which deputy registrars and other charges have been paid some years past about $2,350 per year.

Yankee Cruiser Goes Adrift.

Pensacola, Fla., Nov. 11—The big cruiser Columbia, which is to convey Secretary of War Taft and his party to Panama, went adrift at 8 o'clock yesterday near Pensacola Harbor and every available tug of the port is now on the scene endeavoring to pull the vessel into deep water. The effort thus far has been unavailing. The big vessel is expected she will be floated without injury at high tide in the morning.

A VERY THRILLING RUNAWAY

NARROW ESCAPE OF MR. ELIAS BOWES AND FRIENDS.

Caught in a Buggy Top and Dragged by a Maddened Horse.

One of the most exciting runaways that it has been our lot to witness occurred on Kent street shortly before six o'clock, when Mr. Elias Bowes, Division Court Clerk, and Mr. Geo. Green, of Salem, and Mr. Green's son, had an experience they will not forget for some time. They had driven out in the country in the afternoon to view some properties, and on the return trip, while driving down Kent-st., west of the track, the horse—a spirited animal belonging to Alex. Stronge, livery—became unmanageable and started at a lively pace down the street. It at once became evident to the occupants of the buggy that the bit must have got out of the horse's mouth. The pace was momentarily increased until the Simpson house corner was reached, when the horse suddenly turned to towards its stable. Our reporter was walking north on York-st. and narrowly escaped coming in direct collision with the rig.

The frightened animal continued its mad career southward to Bruce-st., and down to Lindsay-st. In turning Dr. Gillespie's corner the rig upset, throwing the frightened occupants along in the top of the buggy until they had to become detached from the vehicle and left the trip proceeding on the street. Mr. Green, the younger, seemed to have cleared the wood, and when our reporter arrived was lying calmly, and in the top of the rig and unable to say just the extent of his injuries might be. The much frightened man were taken into the Drs. office and on examination it was found that his bones were broken and beyond some slight flesh wounds and the great shaking to their nervous systems, they had escaped unhurt.

Mr. Green was unable to proceed to his home that evening, but is recovered. The horse was caught on Kent-st. The rig was reduced to kindling wood.

LEAVE THE CITADEL

Stoessel and 10,000 Men Take Refuge in Tiger's Tail Forts.

CLOTHING AND DEAL APPEALS

Having Silenced Fort On Rihlung and Suong Mountains, the Japanese Have Concentrated Their Main Strength On Rice Mountain—Fort Arthur Harbor Begins Well Now Practically Abandoned.

New York, Nov. 10—A despatch to The Herald from St. Petersburg says that a report is circulated there that Lieut. General Stoessel has been compelled to leave the citadel at Port Arthur with 10,000 men and that he has taken refuge in the fort on the Tiger's Tail. The report is denied in official circles, and the people arrive from the front asking for warm clothing and fuel.

Incessant Shelling.

Chee Foo, Nov. 10—The Japanese continue to bombard Port Arthur, and the shells are falling so incessantly that the Russians have practically abandoned the repair of the works protecting the harbor.

Chinese volunteers and the police are now reinforcing the garrisons of the forts, because of the stories of Chinese arriving here.

So many men were killed on both sides during the last assault that many bodies lay unburied for days, and in some instances were left the dead.

The Chinese say that the forts on Golden Hill have done no firing for several days, and that their ammunition has run short.

The demolition of the Chinese new fort on Rihlung mountain by three hand hours having been destroyed for the work which it was to have contained. The town is constantly shelled and the majority of the city warehouses and stores belonging to foreigners have been burned to the ground.

Russian Forts Silenced.

Tokio, Nov. 10—It is reported that the Japanese have completely silenced the forts on Rihlung and Suong Mountains, and the Japanese main strength is now attacking Etse Mountain.

VICE-REGAL FAREWELL.

Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Minto Are in Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—The farewell visit of their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Minto to Toronto began last night, when Lord Minto attended a private dinner at the Toronto Club and her Ladyship presented prizes to the horse competition at the Armories. The visit lasts until Saturday night, when the vice-regal party leaves for Ottawa, where they remain until Wednesday. Thursday and Friday of next week will be spent in Quebec, and on Friday night they will sail on the final goodbye tour of Canada and sail on the Tunisian for England.

A Civic Address.

This evening Lord Minto will be entertained at a banquet by the Canadian Bankers' Association, leaving at 9 p.m. to return with Lady Minto at the City Hall from 9.30 to 10.30. The Council will assemble at 8 p.m. in the chamber for the corporation counsel. The first event will be the presentation of the address of welcome by the Mayor and Council.

Immediately after the band of the Queen's Own Rifles will render an appropriate program.

Twenty-Seven Men Were Drowned.

Hamburg, Nov. 11.—The crew of the steamer Ceylon, consisting of 27 men, were lost through the foundering of the steamer off the island of Sylt, in the North Sea, numbered twenty. There were seven men in the crew of the schooner Neptunus, also lost.

Chinamen Were Robbed.

Windsor, Nov. 12—Two Chinamen arranged with two Windsor men to be rowed across the Detroit River in the river at night, but the latter, instead of taking the men around in a circuit of the river and returned to the Canadian shore, left them down here. They assaulted the Chinamen and after beating them unconscious, robbed them of $100 each.

ROOSEVELT'S PLURALITY.

Greatest Ever Given to a Presidential Candidate in the United States—A Two Thirds Majority Assured.

New York, Nov. 10.—With the election returns still incomplete, the plurality of President Roosevelt in the nation, according to all indications last night will exceed 1,500,000—the greatest plurality ever given on a American candidate. The net approach to this vote was in 1896, when McKinley received a plurality approximating 850,000, and in 1872, when Grant received 762,000 plurality.

Last night the interest centred in Missouri and Maryland. Late advices indicate that the former state is in the Republican column so far as the Presidential electors are concerned, but that James W. Folk, the Democratic candidate, has been elected governor. In Maryland the presidential vote will probably be cast for President Roosevelt.

In other states it is simply a question of plurality.

The "Solid South" was broken by the probable defection of Missouri, this section of the country usually having thirteen states in the Democratic column, but figures last night show but twelve states with 130 votes for Judge Parker. President Roosevelt carried all the northern states, except three, in fact, and last night he had 344 electoral votes.

Democracy Too Conservative.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 10—William J. Bryan last night gave out an extended statement concerning Tuesday's election.

The Democratic party has met with an overwhelming defeat, he says. "The questions for consideration at this time are: What issues does the election teach? and What of the future? The defeat of Judge Parker should not be considered a personal one. He did as well as he could under the circumstances; he was the victim of unfavorable conditions for the success of Democratic policy.

Mr. Bryan then declared that Democratic party has contended for principles that had twice in 1896, before the close of the party on the money question. The progressives of the party, he said, he says, "silver can not be blamed for the campaign was run on a gold basis. Democrats can not be charged to emphatic condemnation of the trusts, for the party was forced to be cautious lest in its zeal it should not turn upon the question of imperialism and it is not fair to consider the result as a personal verdict on imperialism, although his Administration was the subject of criticism.

"The defeat was due to the fact that the Democratic party attempted to go too rapidly in the greater part of conditions which demand radical reform. We sounded a note that frightened when it should have added a charge all along the line."

NO CLUE TO BURGLARS.

Use Nitro-Glycerine to Wreck a Postoffice Safe and Secure $200.

Woodstock, Nov. 10.—During burglars were at work in the village of Norwich on Friday night yesterday morning. With the aid of nitro-glycerine they blew out the safe of the postoffice and obtained over $200. The explosion was so heavy it was heard in the neighborhood about 2.30 a.m., and shortly afterward three men were seen going along the West side of Silver street by Mr. Ellis, proprietor of the Rideau Bank, who slept in the bank. He heard the explosion and ran to see what was done.

The burglary was not discovered till 6.30 yesterday morning. Entrance was made into the postoffice through a back door which was forced open. The safe door was blown out, down and the office inside was badly demolished. Nitro-glycerine was used to blow the safe door. The safe contained about $200 in value were taken, and the safe was left open.

It was not known whether the registered mail was tampered with or not. Pieces of the safe door were blown out into the street and the floor. The blacksmith shop of D. W. Pollen was also broken into.

No clue as to the identity of the guilty parties has yet been received. The police are working on the case as usual.

Another Railway Completed.

Toronto, Nov. 10—It officially announced that the Sault-Port Hall Railway was opened yesterday. Traffic will take place at once.

Every Two Minutes

Physicians tell us that all the blood in a healthy human body is completely changed the heart once in every two minutes. If this action becomes irregular the whole body suffers. Poor health follows poor blood. Scott's Emulsion makes the blood pure. One reason why is such a great aid is because it passes so quickly into the blood. It is partly digested even before it leaves the stomach; a double advantage in this. Less work for the stomach; quicker and more direct benefits. To get the greatest amount of good with the least possible effort is the desire of everyone in poor health. Scott's Emulsion does just that. It is the effort that better takes place even before you expect it.

How About Your Hogs?

Are they doing well? Are they growing as they should? Are they healthy? Perhaps their legs are sore and swollen—there may be danger of foot-rot. Is their hair rough and dirty? If so the trouble may arise from their stomachs, and the swine need Myers' Royal Hog Powders.

Myers' Royal Hog Powders are a tonic and a preventive. No animal is more difficult to administer medicine to than the hog. The powders being mixed with the food, the animal gets sick up. They go to the root of the trouble, tone up the stomach, regulate the bowels and help the hogs to properly digest their food—will keep them well at all times—nothing like Myers' Hog Powders.

Why? They fatten the hogs quickly, insure choice hams, pork and bacon for the market, cures cholera and keeps them healthy.

PITHY PERSONAL POINTERS.

Movements of Citizens and Strangers within Our Gates.

—Mr. Sluggitt, of Mariposa, was in town Saturday on business.

—Mr. J. E. Holmes, of Haliburton, was in town Saturday and Sunday.

—Mr. Fred Dover, of Reaboro, was a business visitor to town Monday.

—Mr. Wm. Christie, of Chicago, is paying a brief business visit to town.

—Miss Kelly, of Bobcaygeon, was a guest at the Benson house Saturday.

—Messrs. Wm. Greenaway and J. Walker, of Port Hope, were in town Monday.

—Mr. Geo. O'Neil, proprietor of the Benson house, was in the city on Saturday.

—Miss Roby Hughes and Miss M. Allen left to visit friends back north Monday morning.

—Rev. J. W. Macmillan, of Winnipeg, and bride (nee Miss Flavelle) are visiting at her parents' home.

—Mr. W. J. McMahon, postmaster at Ewen, Galway township, was in town and returned to his home Monday.

—Mr. Steve Ingle, of Toronto, has been enjoying a pleasant visit with friends in town during the past week.

—Mrs. MacGregor, Mrs. Spooner and Miss Tully, of Midland, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. MacGregor, Lindsay-st.

—Mrs. Wallace returned Monday morning from her visit to Bowmanville, where she attended the W.C.T.U convention.

—Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., who pluckily redeemed West Peterboro, was in town Saturday for a few hours, being accompanied by Mr. Adam Hall.

—Beaverton Express: Miss Marguerite Flett, bookkeeper for Sylvester Manufacturing Company, Lindsay spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Mattie McEachren.

—Rev. G. J. Bond, editor of the Christian Guardian, who delivered two very powerful sermons at Cambridge-st. Methodist church, on Sunday. He returned to Toronto this morning.

—Mr. A. H. Ross, of the National Cream Separator Co. Guelph who has had his headquarters in Lindsay for the past two years, has been moved to Eastern ground, with headquarters at Ottawa.

—Mr. C. Hickey, accompanied by his wife visited Lindsay Tuesday. Mr. Hickey, after an absence of twelve years, has been visiting his parents in Galway township. From his appearance Mr. Hickey has prospered in the West. He is very much impressed with the growth of Lindsay during his absence.

—Rev. Mr. Wallace, who conducted anniversary services in Port Perry Presbyterian church on Sunday, arrived back in town next morning. Rev. Wm. Cooper, who occupied the Presbyterian pulpit here, returned to Port Perry by the 10.50 train. Mr. Cooper preached two very powerful sermons to a large congregation.

—Mrs. E. E. Sharpe, district superintendent of the Lumber Camp and Mission Work for the Midland district, returned on Saturday from the Provincial Convention of the W.C.T.U., held in Bowmanville during the past week. The Provincial Treasurer's report shewed a decrease of $200 in the contributions for the missionaries' salaries.

—Mr. E. M. Burke, collector for the International Harvester Co., of America, was in town Monday, having returned from the north country, after enjoying a two weeks' hunt. He was accompanied by Mrs. Burke and son Alphia. They were successful in securing three deer, Mrs. Burke having the honor of killing one of them. A most invigorating outing was enjoyed.

Live Poultry wanted; highest price paid. Flavelles Limited.

If You Have a $100.00 or More

The Victoria Loan & Savings Co. will allow you 4 per cent. interest, payable half-yearly, if left with them for one year or longer.—wtf.

Hunting Notes.

(From Tuesday's Evening Post.)

—The season ends to-day.

—Mr Geo. Pritchard, of Millbrook, secured a fine deer.

—About a dozen deer were brought to town this morning.

—Mr. Geo. Jordan has sold one of his deer to Mr. O'Halloran.

—A good-sized doe was shipped to Mr. Alex. Laurie, Bowmanville, today.

—Mr. W. Ferguson received a nice deer this morning from the north country.

—The largest deer seen this season was a buck hsot by Mr. Geo. McRae. It weighed 213 pounds.

The Gold Lake Hunting Club, of Peterboro, secured nine deer, one of which tipped the scales at 260 lbs., dressed. One of their dogs made a run home, a distance of 40 miles, and reached it safely.

—Caught red-handed by police and game wardens of Nipissing District, Edward Keller, William Miller, John Grant and T. C. Elliott, four American hunters, were fined $50 and $10 costs each. They not only killed seven moose before the season opened, but by misrepresentation obtained residence instead of non-resident hunters' licenses, and had two Indian guides, for whom they had not paid licenses. Besides having to pay the fines the hunters had their rifles confiscated.

CARTER, Lindsay

THE NEW CATHOLIC DIOCESE.

Official Announcement Read in the Catholic Cathedral at Peterboro.

The official announcement from Rome with regard to the division of Peterboro Diocese was read Sunday morning in St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterboro. This was accompanied by the documents appointing Rev. Father Scollard, of North Bay, Bishop of the Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, the name of the new jurisdiction. The latter will be 800 miles in extent, and includes Nipissing, Algoma and Thunder Bay Districts. These constitute a territory considerably larger, but is less compact, that the remaining portion of the diocese, which comprises the Counties of Durham, Northumberland, Peterboroough, Victoria, and the Parry Sound District.

Rev. Father Scollard, who will be the new Bishop, was born on Nov. 4th, 1862, in Ennismore township, in the County of Peterboro. He was educated in the local primary schools, and later in St. Michael's College, Toronto, and the Grand Seminary, Montreal, in both of which he took a very high standing. On the 21st of December, 1890, he entered the priesthood. For five years he was stationed in Peterboro, and in February, 1896, he went to North Bay, where he has been located ever since. He will be consecrated Bishop in St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterboro, about the first of February next.

A Novel Experience.

The Bracebridge Herald says: One of the most novel experiences we have ever heard of happened to Mr. Robert Howard, jr., of this town, last week while at Meade's Lake, back of Rosseau. Mr. Howard had little spare time on his hands and in taking a spin on the lake in a light skiff he rounded a sharp point of land to suddenly find himself at the feet of a monster bull moose. The moose was about as much surprised as Bob. was and had evidently waded out in the water to drink, just as the boat reached it. It immediately showed fight, and before Howard what had happened it had put a hole through the boat and he found himself in the water. Heo endeavored to keep the boat between the enraged animal and himself until the moose got tired and left him, when he proceeded to camp for dry clothes.

Retail Merchants' Association.

On Friday last the Lindsay branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada met in the Council chamber for the election of officers. The following were elected: Mr. D. Cinnamon, President; Mr. J. Fleury, 1st. Vice-Pres.; Mr. N. Hockin, 2nd. Vice-Pres.; Mr. Alex. Fisher, Treasurer; Mr. Jos. Staples, Secretary. Executive Committee — Messrs. J. Sutcliffe, J. E. Adams, E. Gregory, Henley Bros., I. Oliver, Geo. A. Milne, W. F. McCarty, F. A. Robinson, Jos. Bailey, P. J. Campbell, Jos. Riggs. The Association is composed at present of fifty-eight members and many more are expected to join. It is a good live Association, composed of our best business men. If a good Board of Trade were now formed to act in conjunction with the above, our town's interests would be better cared for than they are at present.

Canadians Stir British Patriotism.

While the Kilties Band of Belleville, Canada, were recently playing in the towns of middle and Northern England, British patriotism was at fever heat, the tragic incident in the North Sea being responsible for the sentiment that swept over the Kingdom. At every concert Bandmaster Robinson received requests for the band to play "Rule Britannia," and when the Scotch-Canadian musicians responded with inspiring renderings of the patriotic music the audience indulged in the most enthusiastic demonstrations, singing the words of the song and cheering as the last strains died away. It was a new experience for English people to be stirred to the depths of their hearts by a colonial musical organization. The Canadian bandsmen will never forget the outbursts of patriotism at those memorable concerts. The Kilties continue triumphantly on their first tour of Great Britain, being cordially welcomed everywhere. At Halifax recently all of the bandsmen were presented by the business men of the town with beautiful bunches of white heather as tokens of "good luck," and the Scotch-Canadians enjoyed a dinner in the "oak room" of the Old Cock Hotel, the oldest dining room in England. The "Oak Room," which was originally used as a shooting box, dates back to the time of Henry VIII. Its beautiful old fireplace, and wonderful hand-carved mantlepiece, still survive the ravages of time.

GATHERED BY POST REPORTERS ON THEIR DAILY ROUNDS

What is Happening in Town and the Country About Us.

—Isn't this grand weather?

—The World's Fair at St. Louis will close three weeks from Saturday.

—The Raven Lake Cement Works have been closed down for the winter season.

—It is possible that Hon. J. P. Stratton will run for the mayoralty of Peterboro.

—Remember the Victoria Loan & Savings Co. still pay 3 1-2 per cent. on deposit.—wtf.

—The new dock at Bracebridge will be 150x20 and will require 80,000 cubic feet of stone.

Monkey Brand Soap cleans kitchen utensils, steel, iron and tinware, knives and forks, and all kinds of cutlery.

—Fifty-nine new post-offices were opened in Canada during October. Six were closed, and the names of six were changed.

—Bring in your Chickens and Hens—highest prices. Don't wait to kill them—bring them alive. Flavelles Limited.—wtf.

—Mr. T. P. Chard, manager of Singer Sewing Agency, has an eye for neatness, and his premises prove the fact.

—Coops suplied at our Poultry Department for your Chickens and Hens. Highest prices paid. Flavelles Limited.—wtf.

—Coughs colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene Tablets, ten cents per box. All druggists.

—Capt. Edward Elliott and men are making good progress in the work of rebuilding the Str. Greyhound at the lower wharf.

—Contractor McLean has a good force of carpenters at work on the interior of the House of Refuge, and good progress is being made.

—Farmers should take advantage of the Victoria Loan & Savings Co's office hours—open from 9 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. every legal day.—wtf.

—Mrs. John Bailey, a resident of Emily township, for over half a century, died on November 8, after an illness of only two days from heart disease.

—The City Engineer of Toronto, has been authorized to test the efficacy of the California plan of sprinkling the streets with oil to keep down the dust.

—At a reopening service in connection with the Disciples church at Bowmanville, Mr. Albert E. Skitch, a Lindsay boy, assisted in the program, rendering choice music on the banjo.

—Rider & Kitchener's excelsior factory is closed down at present, although the men are still working. The engine is being overhauled and a huge Poulson boiler is being put in place.

—Toronto Globe announces that Mr. W. H. White, of Peterboro, has been appointed Superintendent of Public Works for Ontario, to succeed the late Thomas Walters, of this town.

—A servant girl in Madison, Wis., is charged with stealing $1,000 from her employer to provide a wedding outfit. With that amount of money she should have been able to buy a husband, too.

—A gang of some eight or ten men left for the Rathbun Co., camp at Wilberforce lately, in charge of Mr. Fonce Gillespie. Mr. Gillespie also took another gang out last week. The Co., have a fine camp at Wilberforce.

—Mr Jas. Maddigan, of Downeyville, who went to the city some time ago to have an operation performed on a growth alongside the eye, is still a patient in St. Michael's Hospital, and fears are entertained that he may have to undergo another operation.

—Ald. John McCrea, proprietor of the William-st. foundry, lately delivered a huge iron smoke stack to the Rider & Kitchener Co. The stack will surmount the new Poulson boiler recently placed in position, and is 37 inches in diameter and 68 feet in length.

—Chief Nevison has received a circular from the Attorney-General's department is reference to tramps. It is believed that many of the burglaries and other crimes of violence are perpetrated by hoboes. Magistrates are asked to see that tramps are given the full Central Prison sentence.

—Manager Baker, of the Rathbun Co., has installed a steam sawing and splitting machine in the mill woodyard, and the speed with which it rips up and slices a cord of $6.50 hardwood is a caution and should convince any man that the bucksaw, axe and elbow grease method is hopelessly out of style.

—"Sixty-three miles to the nearest hostelry that compares favorably with our own Queen's hotel," is the way "Louie" Bennett, proprietor of the Queen's in Port Hope, advertises in The Daily Guide the excellence of his accommodation. We have tested the Queen's cuisine in person, and can recommend it as being first-class.

—Master Charlie Woodley proved to be a lucky and also an honest boy last Friday, when he found a purse containing the handsome sum of twenty-nine dollars. Charlie returned the money intact to the owners—Miller Bros., corner of Ridout and Lindsay-sts., and received a well-earned reward.

—The Lindsay Minstrels will put on their high class show on Monday, Dec. 5th. The managing committee have decided to take the boys to Bowmanville on New Year's Day, under the auspices of the Sylvester Band. The Band have secured the Bowmanville Opera House and will give the citizens of that town a New Year's treat. A parade will take place in the afternoon.

—Hon. Mr. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, has issued a circular letter to all the issuers of marriage licenses within the province, informing them that the licenses issued by them are only for use in case of marriages soleminized within the Province. New forms are being issued, containing a clause that the licenses can be used only within the province, and an endorsement to the same effect.

—The Str. Beaver was imprisoned in the ice near Muskrat Island for a couple of days last week, but managed to get to port uninjured.

—The annual meeting of the Raven Lake Cement Co., in which a number of our citizens are stock holders, has been called for the 29th inst.

—Mr. Wm. Walters, who is doing some work at Port Perry, says the bay opposite the town was completely frozen over last Friday, the ice being an inch and a half in thickness.

—A young man named Mahood, of Emily township, fell off a barn Saturday and was very seriously injured, one arm being broken and the collar bone fractured. Details are not yet to hand.

—Parents who send their children to church on Sunday should give them to understand that it is not a place to pinch one another, stick pins in each other, or giggle loud enough to be heard above the sound of the preacher's voice.

—Our weekly correspondents are urgently requested to sign their full names to their correspondence, as we want to make a new list. Sign your full name each week at bottom of last page of copy.—w4.

—The annual meeting of the Janetville Cheese and Butter Association will be held in the Orange Hall, Janetville, at 2,30 o'clock, on Saturday, 3rd December. A full attendance is requested. J. R. Burn, Secretary.—w1.

You probably know that your sallow complexion is caused through thin, poor blood, but you probably don't know that by taking Vito Tonic you can have bright rosy cheeks. Mr. Fred C. Fielding, druggist, keeps it in stock. 6.

—The Canadian Locomotive Company, Kingston, will build this winter, twenty-five Richmond compound mogue locomotive for freight service on the Grand Trunk. Some of the strongest United States firms competed for the order.

—Are you suffering from indigestion, sickness after eating or dull pains in your stomach? You can easily be cured if you take Vito Tonic Nature's remedy, composed of herbs, barks and fruits. Mr. Fred C. Fielding, druggist, keeps it in stock.

—The old man, whose duty it is to keep Kent and adjacent streets clear of rubbish, was kept busy busy during the last few days. The high winds seemed to carry rubbish from all quarters of the town, and dump it on our leading thoroughfares.

—Citizens are asked to keep the evening of Nov. 28th open. On that date the Cambridge-st. Methodist Epworth Leagues intend having a lecture and programme for the benefit of Mr. John Palmer, a Lindsay boy, who is ill in Winnipeg with typhoid fever.

—Has it ever occurred to you that most sickness commences with the stomach? This is because the blood becomes impoverished through lack "of nourishment. If you want to get well and keep well, take Vito Tonic, Mr. Fred C. Fielding, druggist, keeps it in stock. 5.

—No doubt about it, Canada is a great country, and the climate of Ontario is hard to beat. Compare the glorious Indian summer we are enjoying with the gales and snow-storms reported from Washington and New York, and thank heaven that you are in God's country.

—Mr. Alex Niven, surveyer, of Haliburton, returned last week from lake Temagami, where he spent five months comprising the survey of the numerous islands dotting that large body of water. During the period mentioned he surveyed and marked 914 islands, which with 344 surveyed last year, brings the total of the islands in the lake up to 1258. They range in size from a square mile to small islets.

—The Bob. Independent, in a reference to the proposed new lighthouse at the north end of the long cut, adds: It would be a good thing if the Superintendent would give someone a contract to clear the Scugog of sunken logs. The logs recovered can be sold for more than the expense, and it would be removing an impediment to navigation that might at any time cause great loss of life by sinking a passenger boat.

—In various parts of Ontario there are immense beds of peat which afford another solution to this fuel problem. In Perth county it is proposed to shortly begin working some of these beds, by a new process which converts the raw material into marketable fuel at a cost of ninety cents a ton. Previous experiments in this line have proved fairly successful and the scheme of turning another of natures resources to a useful purpose seems to be feasible.

A Man has no Excuse for being badly dressed. It costs no more to buy good clothes than it does, in the end, to buy "cheap" clothes. The difference is in the comfort and wear.

"PROGRESS" Brand Clothing

is for the man who must economize, as well as for those who needn't count dollars and cents. It's the kind of clothing any man is proud to wear. It gives the service and comfort—it holds its shapliness and good looks—in a way that makes it a practical economy to buy "Progress" Brand Clothing.

Sold by Leading Clothiers throughout Canada.

Progress Brand Clothing may be had from M. J. Carter, 40 Kent St.

"I used to think when it first came out that there were other shoe polishes equal to it, but now

ROSS TRUSTS WHITNEY AFRAID

Liberal Gives Followers Voice in Policy—Conservative Refuses to Do So.

MR. WHITNEY'S OPEN LETTER

Conservative Leader Calls a Conference. Nasa Convention—Sounds Like the Echo of a Dead Debate in the Legislature—Spreads Scare in Front of Liberal Ranks and Leaves Others Than Conservatives.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Following in this as in other matters the lead of the Liberal Government, Mr. J. P. Whitney has decided to meet his followers. The time fixed for the gathering is Thursday, the 24th of November, the place the Y.M.C.A. Hall on Bloor street, in which the echoes of the declaration of Liberal principles made at the enthusiastic Liberals in convention assembled on the previous day will linger as a benediction and as inspiration to the supporters or the Opposition leader in their desire for pure, honest and economical Government. The summons comes in the form of an open letter to the electors of Ontario, signed by Mr. J. P. Whitney, the Conservative leader, as follows:

Text of Mr. Whitney's Letter.

To the Electors of Ontario:

Driven to bay and alarmed at the righteous indignation of the people, the Provincial Government, which, for several years, has held office by means of fraud and crime, is about to make a last and desperate appeal to the constituencies.

In order that the large majority of the people, those who desire clean, honest and decent Government, may have an opportunity to discuss the situation, I have instructed the officers of the Liberal-Conservative Association of the Province to ask the members of the association and also representatives from the municipalities, to meet at Association Hall, in the City of Toronto, on Thursday, the 24th day of November, at 2 o'clock p.m.

In addition I invite representative men in each constituency—no matter what their party affiliations may be and who sympathize with our objects—to attend also and help us by their advice and encouragement.

In the presence of great public peril, party designations and differences are of secondary importance.

The first great necessity of the situation is clean, honest and decent Government.

The policy of the Opposition in the Legislature is familiar to the people and has received their endorsement and ratification by a majority of six or seven thousand votes. To this record we point with pride.

Agricultural Education.

The question of increasing the means of obtaining agricultural instruction by adding it to the curriculum, in the high schools and collegiate institutes and providing parcels of lands for practical work, and also the question of the encouragement of systems of sewerage in towns and villages, are among the questions referred to us.

Legislation should be had to facilitate arrangements by municipalities, on proper and reasonable terms, of all public utilities, and also to provide machinery for the prompt settlement of dispute between capital and labor.

At the last session of the Legislature the Opposition proposed that the Temiskaming Railway, constructed and owned by the Government, should be operated by the Province for a term of years. This opportunity for a practical test of Government operation of railways was rejected by the Government.

The attitude of the Opposition on the question of the proper assessment of railway property was made the occasion for a vain effort to pass the Pettypiece bill as a basis for action—efforts which failed and which promoter of the bill abandoned it and joined the Government in killing it. These are some of the questions with which the people are interested.

Behind all there is the great necessity of the situation is clean, honest and decent Government. We are all familiar with the humiliating story of the iniquities which have been perpetrated by the means of which a minority premier has been continuously in office, and has been willing—to defy public decency and to defeat the expressed will of the government of a position which he notoriously holds by virtue of such iniquities.

By what the Government has done in the past we may reasonably hope that what it may attempt to do in this, its last term, will meet with public condemnation.

In the name of the public danger, and in order to afford an opportunity, to vote on it, I have called this meeting.

(Signed) J. P. Whitney.

Resigns After Twenty Years.

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—W. G. Scott, for twenty years representative of the City of Winnipeg, has announced his retirement. It is understood that the action is due to friction with the city clerk and the controllers.

Sault Ste. Marie Notes of Wonder.

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 14.—Samuel Holewitch, aged 13, is accused of forging a cheque on the Traders' Bank. He was arrested, but escaped from the lockup and left the town of his cell. He was again arrested. The boy has stolen a bank book, paper, and the officers consider him a wonder.

Young Woman Severely Burned.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—Mary Heist, lies in a critical condition at the home of her father, John Heist, about three miles from Berlin, as the result of a fire which broke out Monday and burned out her clothing, but only slightly scalded her. Her sisters having caught fire

LINDSAY'S GREATEST CLOTHING STORE.

PRICES OF THREE WEEKS ACO SPLIT TO SPLINTERS.

Old Values Blown Out of Sight.

Stacks of money will be saved this month by Clothing Buyers of the town and country if they purchase their whole outfit at Graham's. Remember we sell everything that men wear. Winter is just around the corner and it's up to you now to consider your winter needs. This week we announce some big Clothing Reductions. We have planned for a great week's business and any day you come you'll find bouncing bargains in Men's and Boys' Winter Suits, Overcoats, Hats, Furnishings, Boots and Shoes. LACKS CONFIRMATION.

Report That Mr. Wade Will Succeed the Hon. Mr. Blair.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—The report that Mr. Wade is to be appointed Chairman of the Railway Commission lacks confirmation. Nevertheless, everybody concedes that the appointment would be as acceptable one if the Government decided to carry it out. Mr. Wade's friends say he would prefer to remain on the Transcontinental Commission if the salary were raised from $8,000 to $10,000, the same as that attached to the office which Mr. Blair gave up.

Mr. Blair Goes to St. Louis.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Hon. Mr. Blair, Chairman of the Railway Commission, passed through town yesterday on his way to the World's Fair at St. Louis. He was glad to be able to get to the big fair. On public affairs he was not communicative. He said:

"I saw the despatch in the papers about Mr. Wade, but I don't know anything further. I have no plans have been perfectly clear from the first. The papers tell me I have not succeeded in carrying out my object, but they don't appear to be very well informed as to what that is."

Mr. Blair gave it to be understood that the unceasing demands made upon his energies had brought on a severe tax for a man of his years, and that the necessity for a rest and preservation of health equally requires his adhesion to the plans he formed at the time of his resignation.

SHOT RAILWAY NAVVY.

Unfortunate Mistake of Two Hunters Near Port Frances.

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—A sad case of accidental shooting occurred near Port Frances Saturday. While watching for game near the Canadian Northern railway, two men thought they saw a wild cat in the distance. They fired their rifles and the bullets lodged in the abdomen of Joseph Beaudro, a young member of a section gang working in the vicinity. Beaudro is still alive, but is not expected to survive many hours. He came to the west last summer from St. John, where his parents and relatives reside.

Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie.

Peterboro, Nov. 14.—The official announcement from Rome with regard to the division of Peterboro diocese was read yesterday morning in St. Peter's Cathedral. This was accompanied by the documents appointing Rev. Father Scollard of North Bay bishop of the diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, the name of the new diocese. The latter will be 800 miles in extent and includes Nipissing, Algoma and Thunder Bay districts.

Yacht Designer Watson Dead.

Glasgow, Nov. 14.—George Lennox Watson, the yacht designer, who had for some time past been ill, died at his residence in this city Saturday morning of heart disease. He was born in 1851.

Sick Headache

If troubled with this distressing ailment, watch for the first indication of an attack; as soon as you feel it coming on take three of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the attack may be warded off.

Mr. Geo. E. Wright, of New London, New York, says: "For several years my wife was troubled with what physicians called sick headache of a very severe character. She doctored with several eminent physicians and a great expense, only to grow worse until she was unable to do any kind of work. About a year ago she began taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and today weights more than she ever did before and is real well." He has since recommended these Tablets to several of his neighbors, who are enthusiastic in their praise of the remedy. Sold by druggists at 25c. per box.

FOUR MONTHS REVENUE.

Slight Reduction Compared With Last Year—Surplus Seven Millions.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—The revenue for the four months of the current fiscal year, terminating October 31st, was less than for the same period of last year, amounting to $23,513,-263. The expenditure, both ordinary and capital, shows an increase. The surplus of ordinary revenue over ordinary expenditure is $7,000,000, against $7,500,000 last year, and $7,318. Over all expenditures combined the surplus was a little over $7,000,000.

The ordinary expenditure for the four months was $13,452,945, as compared with $9,227,019 for the same period of the previous year. The capital expenditure totalled $2,949,054, as against $1,226,043.

Sixty-Owned Wireless Telegraphy.

The determination from the Colonial Office recommending the Canadian Government, in common with the other Dominion self-governing dependencies, to take over the control of wireless telegraphic systems, has been referred to the Postmaster-General. There is no doubt the legislation will be introduced at the coming session of Parliament to give effect to the wishes of the Imperial Government. This legislation would not, however, affect the Marconi Company, which was incorporated a year or two ago, but it is the object that may hereafter be incorporated, the Imperial Parliament have already passed an act to assume control of wireless telegraphy in the United Kingdom.

Explosion Kills Two.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 14—Frank Jordan, colored, was killed, and William Lawyer, colored, and Foreman W. A. Seavy, white, were badly injured by an explosion of dynamite in the Laurel Line tunnel yesterday.

Leg Broken in Football Tackle.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Tackled by an Argonaut man last as he was about to kick the ball in Saturday's game, John Brockhand, wing man for the Toronto team, received a kick in the shin that broke his right leg.

CAPE RACE WIRELESS.

Arrangements Made for Receiving Messages Day and Night.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 14.—The Marconi wireless telegraph station at Cape Race was completed last week. The Allan Line steamer Tunisian was the first ship to speak with it, remaining in communication nine hours and obtaining news of the result of the Presidential election.

The Canadian cruiser Minto Saturday received the news of the station from a point 110 miles to seaward. This was one of a series of tests maintained by the Canadian Government in the interests of the St. Lawrence route.

Anglo-French Convention.

London, Nov. 14.—(C. A. P.)—In spite of considerable opposition on the Newfoundland question, the Anglo-French convention passed the Chamber of Deputies by 457 votes to 70. M. Hottreux thought the French fishermen and owners of vessels engaged in the cod fishery and Newfoundland should form a separate agreement. M. Taudet demanded the deletion of the 'bait clause.

Liverpool to Quebec.

London, Nov. 14.—(C. A. P.)—The Cunard Line will establish a weekly service between Liverpool and Quebec and Montreal, commencing on April 28 next. The old White Star steamer Germanic, refitted, brought up-to-date and renamed the Ottawa, will run on this line.

Run Down By Runaway.

Guelph, Nov. 14.—Saturday morning Miss Harrison, a middle-aged lady from the country, was seriously injured by a runaway. She was thrown ten feet and the horse and rig went over her. She was taken to the General Hospital in a dangerous condition.

Latest Far So May.

Quebec, Nov. 14.—Nine hundred and eighty-five immigrants arrived in Quebec on Saturday by the Allan and Lake Manitoba. Never before have so many new settlers arrived in this port so late in the season.

SCH. EARCLARIUS ASHORE

Sea Manhood High Parade Her On the Jagged Rocks.

Woods Hole, Mass., Nov. 14.—The two-masted schooner Earclarius, Captain Nelson, of Rockland, Maine, went ashore in the severe northeast gale shortly before dark last night, about three-quarters of a mile west of Tarpaulin Cove, on the Island of Naushon. At sunset the seas were breaking over the craft masthead high. No trace of the crew of four has been found, and fears are entertained for their safety. The vessel is in a particularly exposed condition, and the chances of her being saved are slight.

Unknown Man Killed.

Galt, Nov. 14.—An unknown man was killed on the C.P.R. yard between 9 and 10 o'clock yesterday morning. About seven miles west of here, a ballast train was following about 10 minutes after a freight. The engineer on the ballast train saw a body on the track. He saw the head move, but did not observe that the man was injured. The emergency brakes were at once applied, but eight cars had passed over the body before the train was stopped. The man was horribly mangled, both arms and a leg cut off and the trunk from the chest to the abdomen literally in pieces. Coroners Vardon and Radford will hold an inquest.

Reorganized Army.

London, Nov. 14.—The changes in the leading administrative posts of the Salvation Army are officially announced. Among the changes are the following:

Commissioner Coombs, in charge of the work in the United States, goes to Canada.

Commissioner Eva Booth leaves Canada for the United States.

Colonel Richards leaves Denmark for South Africa.

Commander Booth-Tucker leaves the United States to become foreign secretary.

The chief feature of the changes is that the United Kingdom is placed under the direct control of Mr. Bramwell-Booth, the chief of the staff.

BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS

Endorsed Expert's Report on System of Mechanical Filtration.

A special meeting of the Board of Water Commissioners was held Friday of last week, the members present being Messrs. J. D. Flavelle, in the chair, J. R. McNeill, Thomas Brady and Mayor Sootham.

The chairman explained that the meeting was called for the purpose of considering the report of Robert Spurr Weston, sanitary expert, as to the present town water supply. The report was read in detail, and after being thoroughly discussed, it was moved by Messrs. McNeillie and Brady that Mr. Spurr Weston's report on the water supply be adopted and his recommendations approved of, and that the Council be asked to submit a by-law to raise $29,000, payable in instalments in 29 years, with interest at 4 1-2 per cent.—Carried. The report, which is a very lengthy one, may appear in The Post at a later date.

The secretary was instructed to write Mr. Weston for information on several matters mentioned during the discussion of the report, and also to send him a cheque for the amount of his account—$198.82. The secretary was also instructed to write the Provincial Secretary of Board of Health, asking for their views on the matter.

The Board then adjourned.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

New Way of Using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. Arthur Chapman, writing from Barkly West, South Africa, says: "As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a cure suitable for old and young, I pen you the following: A neighbor of mine had a child just over two months old. It had a bad cough and the parents did not know what to give it. I suggested that they would get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the dummy teat that they was sucking. It will no doubt cure the child. They did so and brought about a quick relief and cured the baby. This remedy is for sale by all druggists."

Nominations and Resignations.

There has been a slight change in the law regarding nominations for municipal offices. An amendment passed last session quietly does away with resignations as wipes off the slate those who are not both fit candidates, as the following shows: "In cities, towns and incorporated villages no candidate for mayor, reeve, controller, water commissioner, or shall, on the day of the nomination, be a person who owes money to the treasurer of the township, city, town or village, for taxes before 12 o'clock noon of the following day fill in the office of the municipality, or attend deputies in accordance with the form provided in the act, or be in default in like effect, that he possesses the necessary qualifications for the office, and in default of his so doing such candidate shall be deemed to have removed from the list of candidates, and shall not be printed on the ballot paper."

—Sick headache results from a disordered stomach and is quickly cured by Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by all druggists.

GEN. KUROKI KILLED

Russian Correspondent Says It Occurred on October 4.

PORT ARTHUR RIVEN BY JAPS

Two of the Most Desperate of the Nine Battles of the Siege Fought Last Week —Victory Rests with the Japs, and Gen. Stoessel Is Driven to His Last Ditch—Russians in Extremis.

Moscow, Nov. 14.—Nemeroivitch Dancheko, the well known Russian war correspondent of the Associated Press, telegraphing from Mukden, under Saturday's date, says the reports of the death of Gen. Kuroki are confirmed. According to his version, the splinter of shell struck Gen. Kuroki, tearing out a portion of his breast and abdomen. He died first at Kaiyoyang and his body was sent to Japan. A rumor is persistently circulated that a kinsman of the Mikado, Sinoanai, literally "Little Third Prince," has been appointed to succeed Gen. Kuroki, but that the actual command of the army has been entrusted to Gen. Nodzu, who is reviewing operations.

TWO NIGHT BATTLES.

Fierce and Desperate Fighting in the Doomed City of Port Arthur.

Tokio, Nov. 14.—Reports from the third army, made public by the imperial headquarters last night, show that the rumors of an armistice were untrue, but that, on the contrary, the Japanese forces in the vicinity of Port Arthur have been fighting desperately since Wednesday to take the last line of redoubts on Etse Mountain to the west of Port Arthur, and on Quail Hill, which overlooks the centre of the town. There was fighting continuously on Wednesday and Thursday nights, and on Friday morning the Japanese won the important infantry trench position of the last of the Etse redoubts. Siege guns were brought up to the position despite a severe artillery fire from the Russian forces on harbor and those at White Wolf and Golden Hill.

Two Desperate Night Battles.

The two night battles for the possession of the Etse range beginning on Wednesday fell range among the most desperate of the siege. Small detachments of Japanese infantry from the Fifteenth and Twentieth Regiments attempted vainly to break through the wire entanglements, and the all-night assault on Wednesday was unsuccessful, the Japanese losing more than 200 in dead. Most of the wire entanglements were destroyed, however, and two land mines blown up. On Thursday artillery fire from Sanshi Point, in possession of General Nogi, prevented the Russians from making any repairs, and at dark on Thursday the Japanese infantry were again sent against the line of redoubts. Fighting at close quarters went on all through the night. The Russians were reinforced from the hills south of White Wolf Mountain, but before dawn were thoroughly defeated and driven from all their rifle pits as well as the mountain top. They lost six rapid-fire guns and two mounted howitzers.

This victory gives the city to the Japanese. Their guns raked the harbor as at the first attack. Actual possession of the town is impossible, because of the Russian guns on White Wolf Hill, Golden Hill, Kwang Hill, Wolven Hill and General Togo's fleet is vigorously bombarding these points, and General Nogi telegraphs that his concentration of 40,000 Japanese guns has been thrown against the Russian fortified positions since Friday morning.

All resistance from the last side of Port Arthur has been abandoned. General Stoessel has retired his troops, splitting them in three divisions. The greatest body is in the mountains running northward from White Wolf Hill to the end of the Chaiechelun promontory. The other Russian soldiers are on the Tiger Tail peninsula, separated from Port Arthur by a narrow neck, and on Golden Hill at the eastern entrance to the harbor.

Stoessel Hard Pressed.

It is further announced that big breaches have been made in Golden Hill and Wolven forts. Several of the heavy guns have been dismounted by the accurate gun fire from the Japanese position on Quail Hill, where the big naval guns have been mounted and operated. The complete destruction of these fortresses must come within a few days, and it is believed that the last quarters here that General Stoessel, the gallant Moscow commander, can no longer be justified in holding out against the overwhelming Japanese army.

It is now driven to a line of forts where he cannot inflict any serious damage on the attacking soldiers. While the Japanese have the various hills can keep up a continuous bombardment on the Russian position. It is expected that General Stoessel will hold out long enough to send a communication to the Emperor through the Japanese lines. His position is desperate. It is impossible for him to care for his wounded. Thousands have not even several buildings on the west end of the city denoting that their dwellings are being used as temporary hospitals.

Tunnel to Forts.

London, Nov. 14.—A correspondent from Nagasaki, Japan, declares that the siege preparations are of the most thorough character. The rocky hills have been tunneled and the Japanese works extend to within 100 yards of the parapets of the forts. Through these tunnels the Japanese can march to the fortifications unseen by the Russians. The Japanese have mounted enormous guns in beds of concrete and masonry. The fire of these forts presents to the Russians an even stronger fire than that which faced the Japanese when they stormed the positions. The siege and naval guns are tearing great holes in the walls of the Russian forts and swepping the harbor. It is stated that two of the Russian warships have been sent to Chefoo for dock yards destroyed and constant fires started in the town.

Scene of the Shakke.

Headquarters of the First Japanese Army in the Field, Nov. 13, via Fusan, Nov. 14.—The Russian forces are still encamped north of the Shakke River. The bombardment by the Russians of the Japanese lines has ceased lately. From the beginning they accomplished surprisingly little damage. Although on many days a hundred big shells were fired, no Japanese were killed and very few were wounded.

Where Russians Lost Off.

Tokio, Nov. 14.—A despatch received from the Japanese Manchurian headquarters yesterday says: "In the direction of the left army the enemy attacked from Wuchenzi, Nov. 11, at 12.20 o'clock in the morning, the Kobayashi brigade, the 12th infantry and 300 cavalry appeared in the direction of Siaoshan. Our force stationed there retreated to them and the Russians retreated to Machuchan. The Russian losses were sixty, ours were six.

Fortresses Damaged.

Tokio, Nov. 14.—It is reported that the armored cruiser Gromoboi struck a rock and was severely damaged at Vladivostok. It is understood that the Gromoboi participated during a trial of the Gromoboi after repairs on her keel were completed. It is said that she returned to her berth in a sinking condition.

Jap Fur Raiders Busy.

Hakodate, Japan, Nov. 14.—Deeply laden, with their sculpers awash, the schooners that left Hakodate and other ports in northern Japan last May and June are now returning from their raid on the Russian fishing stations in Kamtschatka and the seal and sea-otter rookeries on the islands in the Okhotsk sea and the Commander Islands. A conservative estimate of the value of the fish and furs taken by the raiders is about $1,000,000, while the damage inflicted amounts to millions.

KING'S COLLEGES PRESENTED.

Last Scenes in the Visit to Toronto of Their Excellencies.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Saturday the big feature of the farewell visit of the Lord and Lady Minto was the presentation of the King's colors, amid appropriate military surroundings, to the Royal Canadian Dragoons in the Armories. The pick of Toronto's garrison was drawn up in drill order to witness the inspiring sight. Presentations by the Hunt Club to Lord Minto of a smoking set, Lady Minto with diamond brooch and Lady Eileen Elliott with handsome neck-piece were next in interest.

Lord and Lady Minto, with their staff, accompanied by a mounted escort of Dragoons, under Captain Elmsley, were driven to the station from the King Edward at 9.30 Saturday night. There a guard of honor from the 48th Highlanders, 100 strong, under Capt. Catto, were drawn up, together with the regimental brass bands. There were present to bid a final farewell to the departing pair a large number of distinguished citizens.

As the train began to move slowly out the band of the 48th, which had followed the party into the station, broke forth into "Auld Lang Syne," and so amid cheers and singing, the final scene in the farewell visit of the Governor-General and party was enacted.

Crew of Martin Safe.

Owen Sound, Nov. 12.—The tug Hodgson arrived in port yesterday with the crew of the steamer Martin, which was wrecked on Devil's Island on Wednesday, while bound from Toledo for Owen Sound with a cargo of coal. The crew managed to reach Tobermory in the schooner's yawl, and communicated with the United States Consul here. W. Pate Robertson, who instructed the tug to bring the men to this port. They were sent on to Toledo.

A GREAT HALF-PRICE SALE OF Coats and Costumes

Purchased from an over stocked Manufacturer.

On Sale Now and Until Sold.

"Tis an ill wind that blows nobody good."

How true this old adage is as applied to this big purchase of Coats.

Great and good bargains are usually caused by the unforeseen happening. The plans of mice and men "gang aft agley." This manufacturer's plans were on a very large scale; he planned for a great Coat season; made up hundreds of Coats for the expected repeat orders from his customers. But unfortunately for him, the orders didn't come as fast as he expected, and the Coats HAD TO BE SOLD AT ONCE.

Lucky for us and for you, we happened to be looking for Coats about this time, and WE BOUGHT HUNDREDS OF THEM AT THE MOST RIDICULOUS PRICE WE EVER HEARD OF at this season of the year.

Our fixed rule is, "sell as we buy." So here they are—ON SALE AND UNTIL SOLD WOMEN'S AND MISSES' STYLISH NEW GARMENTS AT ABOUT HALF PRICE.

Look around and compare these bargains—they will stand comparison.

Don't Waste Feed

The general shortage in the crops and consequent high prices of corn and other feed, is going to make it expensive for the stock raiser this winter. You can save large part of the waste in feeding cattle by using Old English Condition Powder.

It keeps the digestive organs in condition to assimilate every bit of the nutriment in what is fed, and will save its cost in feed several times over.

Per package, 25 cents; 6 packages, $1.00.

NEWSY NOTES FROM NEARBY PLACES.

Mt. PLEASANT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Our sheepskin gives what down for the winter, after a most successful season. The quantity of milk handled was the largest in the history of the factory.

Everything is quiet, after the election. Nearly every person in the locality is satisfied with Mr. Warda's election. As we have here a pretty strong Conservative vote.

Some of our sports are in the north in search of the ruffed grouse.

We have a few cases of diphtheria in the neighborhood. Mr. Arthur Fee, a very amiable young man of about twenty-four years of age, cut down with the disease, and died after a very short illness. It seems sad to see such a fine young man carried off with so little warning.

Mr. Wallace Graham is at present very low from a complication of diseases. Last wheater he had an attack of pneumonia from which he never recovered. He has spent the last five or six weeks in Peterboro hospital, where everything possible has been done, but apparently to no purpose his condition seems to become more critical from day to day. His many friends hope for his speedy restoration, as Wallace is a general favorite.

Mr. John Hayes has just completed a very neat fence on the north west side of his school grounds.

Mr. J. H. Hagan has sold his farm to Mr. C. Shea, and is about to move into the village.

Mr. Mooney, our village carpenter, has completed a very profitable season's work in the building line.

OAKWOOD.

The Canadian Jubilee Singers, a company of nine or ten colored ladies and gentlemen, are to give a concert in the town hall here on Thursday night, Nov. 24th, under the auspices of the Independent Order of Foresters. This Company is well known in the larger towns and cities and Oakwood is indeed very fortunate in securing their services. It is a long time since we have had an entertainment of this kind, and the Foresters look for a bumper house. Their concert on evening will be full of fun and enjoyment.—wl.

CADMUS.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Union Thanksgiving services were held in the Methodist church, Blackstock. An excellent address was given by Rev. R. M. Phalen. Each church was well represented and a liberal collection was taken up in aid of the Sick Children's Hospital.

We are glad to see Mr. Brown about his regular duties again.

Rev. Hugh Munroe, of Bowmanville, conducted missionary services in Cartwright Presbyterian churches on Sunday, the 20th inst.

Mrs. Montgomery and daughter, spent Thanksgiving with friends in Lindsay.

Miss Thomas spent her Thanksgiving holiday with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Levi McGill is making extensive improvements in his blacksmithing establishment. New house next, Levi.

SOUTH VERULAM.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The weather is practically dry and frosty just now and it is feared from present indications, that we will have another water famine similar to a year ago, as a great many of the wells in this locality are dry. It is to be hoped that we may have abundant rains in the next few weeks, as words would fail to describe the hardships that farmers had to contend with in order to get their stock watered last season.

Most of the young men that went to the Northwest have returned and they speak in glowing terms of that country and some anticipate moving there in the near future.

Mr. Wm. Davidson's sale of farm stock and implements came off last week and was largely attended. The prices realized were very fair. The sale netted him about one thousand dollars.

Preparations are now being made for the erection of a Methodist church on the corner of Mr. S. Quigley's farm. The people are to be congratulated on bringing this to a final issue, as it has been a long-felt want in this locality.

Our school is progressing favorably under the careful management of our popular teacher, Miss Caribel McDougal. It is rumored that she is not going to teach here another year as she has an offer of another school at an extra salary. We hope that the trustees will see fit if possible to re-enage her for another year, as she has an offer of another [illegible]isfaction.

Elections are over and Laurier and the country are safe. Another four years of prosperity. Hurrah for Laurier!

JANETVILLE.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A number of our villagers took advantage of the fine day on Saturday last and went to town. Many of them took the train from Clabo.

Dr. Nasmyth and J. B. Burn, esq., went to Toronto on Wednesday last to attend the Liberal convention, which was to be held on that day.

Our butcher, Mr. Jas. Howe, is complaining lately that too many pigs are dying in this locality.

November is the month which is always noted for its dreary, dreary days, but this year that month is an exception to the rule.

Miss Nina McGill has gone on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Jos. Lytle, Victoria Road.

Thanksgiving day was spent very quietly in our village.

It is time to get your blankets in readiness for winter. Your house, no matter how well heated, will be lacking in comfort, unless you have a supply of good blankets for bed covering. Just ask our merchants to show you their blankets, and then you will not have to go else- and then you will not have to go elsewhere.

The local election, the county election and the municipal election, are occupying the people's minds at the present time.

Mr. David Cherrie, wife and family, spent Thanksgiving vacation with Mrs. Cherrie's parents at Cambray.

Misses. Maggie Burn, Julia Richardson, Mahala McGill McGill and Ena Bradburn, students of Lindsay Collegiate Institute, spent Thanksgiving vacation at their homes.

Miss L. Argue, trained nurse, spent a few days of last week with her parents, and returned on Monday to resume her professional duties.

The thankoffering services, of the Methodist church on Sunday last were a splendid success. Though nature seemed to frown on us, our merry hearts were gladdened from time to time by "Old Sol" peeping out from behind his curtains, the clouds, as if he were laughing at us. Rev. Crossley, pastor of the Bowmanville Methodist church, and brother of the great Evangelist Crossley, preached very excellent sermons to large and impressive audiences in the morning and evening. In the morning, his text was taken from Acts 13 chapter and 36 verse, while his evening discourse was in Acts 26th, chap., and 19th verse. In the afternoon he spoke mainly to the Sunday school scholars but the more advanced could also learn a lesson from his address. During the afternoon and evening services, Mr. Crossley sang two solos which were very much appreciated, and showed his wonderful talent as a singer. The church officials asked for a thankoffering of $100, to meet the expenses and the people answered the call by placing over $125 on the plates.

The patrons of the Janetville Cheese and Butter Association will bear in mind that their annual meeting will be held in the Orange hall on Saturday, Dec. 3rd. This is a very important meeting for the patrons, and each patron should make it a rule to be there at 30past 2 o'clock, on the above date.

Mr. Robt. McDowell's sale is to take place on Tuesday next, Nov. 29th.

BROWN'S-MARIPOSA.

Remember the school concert to be held in the Grange Hall, Linden Valley, on the 29th inst. Admission 20c. and 10c.

The home of Mrs. G. Prouse, 12th con., Mariposa, was the scene of a pleasant event last Tuesday evening, Nov. 8th, when the friends and neighbors gathered together for the purpose of bidding farewell to Mrs. Prouse and her family on the eve of their departure to reside in the village of Oakwood. Mrs Prouse was presented with a beautiful velvet couch and mahogany rocker, and a pleasing address, to which Mrs. Prouse made a suitable reply. Refreshments were served and a social evening spent.

Mrs. J. Wicket and Mrs. R. Hill, of the Glen, visited at Mrs. William Foster's lately.

Mr. and Mrs. John Giles and family, of Peterboro, visited at his father's, Mr. John Giles, Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Herron and Mrs. Dan Lee, of Cameron, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Harry Rich.

Mr. Arthur Sluggett has erected a fine building on his premises, which improves his place very much.

The young son of Mr. Archie McFadden, Cannington, was out shooting on Thanksgiving day with a companion, and when he was putting the cap on his gun it went off and shot him through the knee, which had to be amputated. Very poor hopes are entertained of his recovery.

HALIBURTON.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Garrie has moved into his handsome and comfortable new house. The house vacated by him has been purchased by Mr. Laking and is being moved this week, to be placed on the vacant lot adjoining his property on the main street.

The Presbyterian church, which has been undergoing some repairs on the interior, will be ready for service on Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock. The work has been done by Mr. F. Sipes and reflects much credit to him as a first class workman. The congregation purpose holding a tea-meeting and entertainment on Friday evening, Dec. 2.

Mr. I. Stewart, of Bobcaygeon, was a visitor in our village last week. He returned on Monday, accompanied by his father, Mr. C. R. Stewart, for a few days.

Mr. E. Wilkinson of Lochlin, spent Sunday in Haliburton. Ed likes to spend a day here occasionally and his many friends are always pleased to see him.

The funeral of Mr. David McIntyre who has been ill for some months, took place last Sabbath. It was under the direction of the Masonic Order and about forty members of the Order followed the remains of their deceased brother to the cemetery. A good delegation was present from the Minden lodge, who also marched with the local lodge. Mrs. McIntyre and family have the sympathy of their many friends in their sore bereavement.

Work has begun on the new skating rink and is expected to be completed by Dec. 15. Mr. W. F. Robertson has the contract.

Another wedding to report. At the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Brown, Miss Lena Heard was united in marriage to Mr. Frank Tamlin, of Peterboro, by the Rev. Mr. McMillan, of Minden, on Monday the 14th. The wedding party left on Tuesday morning for Peterboro, where they will reside. Congratulations.

CAMBRAY.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mrs. McArthur, of Toronto, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. McIntyre, during the past week.

Mr. Etley Greenaway and Will Crews left on Tuesday for St. Louis, where they intend doing up things in great style.

Mrs. Adams, of Lindsay, has been the guest of Mrs. Wm. Sinclair for a few days.

Miss Edna Webster spent Thanksgiving with friends near Beaverton.

Mr. A. Feir spent Thanksgiving with his brother in Belleville.

Mr. E. Tompkins was laid up last week owing to a lame back.

Mr. G. Algier has left our village to reside at Eden.

Mr. W. Wells has been spending a few weeks with friends in Oshawa.

The Presbyterians are holding their annual anniversary services this week. On Sunday the Rev. H. H. Turner, Kirkfield, preached two sermons and thoroughly aroused the large congregations by the masterly way in which he expounded the scriptures. On Thursday a fowl supper was held, of which a report will appear next week.

Miss Cooledge, of Woodville is the guest of Mrs. Wm. Clarke, this week.

The Rev. Mr. Dickson, Fenelon Falls, conducted the service in the English church, last Sunday.

Miss Halliday, of Oshawa, is spending a pleasant holiday with Mrs. E. White.

The annual anniversary services and fowl supper in connection with the Presbyterian church, was a decided success. Large crowds from Lindsay and other points. In the evening a good programme was rendered, consisting of speeches, readings and special singing by the choir.

Mr. James Daniels, of Brantford, is spending a week with his brother.

Dr. Ray was "at home" on Wednesday evening to a number of friends.

A number from our village took in the opening of the new church at Zion and report a pleasant time.

The Rev. Mr. Terrill has returned from his hunting expedition and reports a good time, although minus of any deer.

The long evenings are again with us, and everyone should take advantage of our public library. A lot of new books are to hand this week.

Remember the school concert to be held in the Grange Hall, Linden Valley, on the 29th inst. Admission 20c. and 10c.

LINDEN VALLEY.
(Special to The Post.)

Remember the school concert to be held in the Grange Hall on the 29th inst. in aid of a Public School Library. A good program consisting of music, recitations and dialogues is being prepared by the school and others. Mr. Pinkham, Ops; Mr. P. Hill, Woodville; and Messrs. Pearl and Flossie Coad, are to assist in the program. Admission 20c. and 10c.

VICTORIA ROAD.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Smith, of Cleveland, Ohio, has been moving the dryer from the Trent Valley Peat Works.

Mrs D. King spent Thanksgiving with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. J. Staples, of Lindsay, and Miss E. Williamson, of Pontypool, are guests of Mrs. Peel.

Miss Margaret Shields spent Thanksgiving with friends in Galt and Hespeler.

Miss Morrison, teacher at Cannington, spent a few days with her friend, Miss Armour, lately.

Messrs. Norris Bros. have been busy shipping cattle this week.

Mr. Ernest V. Moore, of Peterboro, has been out viewing his peat plant.

We are pleased to see Miss Lova Shields able to be out again, after suffering from an attack of pleurisy.

Miss Jo. Lucy has returned, after spending some months in New York state.

MANILLA.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Messrs. Ralph and Jack DeLury, Toronto, also Miss Nellie and Abbie DeLury spent a few days at their home.

Miss E. Gondy, of Port Perry, was the guest of Miss Florence Gibson for a few days last week.

Miss Lizzie Short returned to Port Perry to school after having spent Thanksgiving with her parents.

Mrs. Robinson and two children of Orillia, spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Carter.

Mr. Geo. Smith spent Thanksgiving with friends in Brooklyn.

I. Whitesmith, Watchmaker, Jeweller and Optician, has a very choice selection of Christmas Goods in the following: Opal Souvenir Goods from 10c. up; China Cups, Saucers and Plates, Rose Bowls, Jardinieres, Ladies' and Gents' Watches, Chains, Brooches, etc. Goods and prices right; call early. Our motto: Right Goods at Right Prices. I. WHITESMITH.—w4.

COBOCONK.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On Wednesday evening of last week Rev. T. H. McDonald united in marriage Miss Polly Doughty and Mr. Norman T. Carl at the home of the former, Mr. John Finlay and Miss Gertie McDonald acting as groomsman and bridesmaid. The young couple are now receiving the congratulations of their many well-wishers.

Mr. Joseph Bowins, a farmer residing a mile north of the village in Somerville, was unfortunate enough to have his dwelling and entire contents destroyed by fire, during the temporary absence of the family, one day last week. As he carried no insurance the loss is a severe one.

The Methodist body have arranged to have the Canadian Jubilee Singers, a colored troupe of nine musicians give one of their popular entertainments here on the evening of the 30th. From present indications the seating capacity of the church will be taxed to its greatest limit to accommodate the crowd.

One evening last week Mr. Alex. Clifford, a nimrod of note, had displayed on a pole at the side of his flour mill the carcasses of three fine deer and six bears. This was a sight to make old hunters green with envy—Alex has always given a good account of his hunting holiday, but this year he and his partner in the chase, Mr. Chas. Russell, have excelled themselves.

The Gull River Lumber Co. closed their cut for this season on Saturday last. The mill has made a record season since starting, but has only used about half of the logs on hand. The mill will doubtless begin operations early next year.

The Coboconk creamery churned on Friday for the last this year and Mr. Jno. Ham, the proprietor, entertained his employees at a supper in his home that evening. The factory has had a splendid run this year and everybody seems well pleased with the returns of the summer's business.

The following is the order of merit for the sr. division of the village school for October: Jr. 3rd,—Lily Boynton, Edna Angers, Eliza Bowins. Mr. Sead was in the city last week.

Miss Mattie McEachren spent Monday in Lindsay.

Miss Eva Williamson, of Lindsay, visited Mrs. M. Stoddart last Wednesday.

Miss Lena Staples visited in Toronto during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Messrs. Fred and Frank McPherson, of Toronto and Lindsay respectively, spent Thursday under the parental roof.

Miss Mabel Bingham, of Cannington, was in town Tuesday.

Mr. George Stone, of Toronto, was a guest at the home of Mr. Cassin Stone's over Sunday.

Mr. Geo. Stone of Toronto, was a guest at the home of Mr. Cassin Stone over Sunday.

The Presbyterian choir, of this place, drove to Beaverton, Thursday evening to assist in the concert held there in the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Elliott, our new G.T.R. agent, was called away on Monday to attend the funeral of his sister, who died in Coboconk.

The concert given in the town hall Tuesday evening, by the Canadian Jubilee Singers and Imperial Orchestra, was a decided success in every way. The house was filled and judging from the encores demanded, the crowd was well pleased with the program. The soprano soloist, Madame Marie Dorsa, has a voice which is simply a marvel. She takes her highest notes with perfect ease. The slide trombone soloist, Mr. F. A. Warner, also gave a very fine rendition of "The Holy City." The orchestra gave two numbers during the evening, which were very fine. Altogether the company, is one of the best and we hope to have the opportunity of hearing them again.

Mr. Will Grant, of Port Perry, visited his mother this week.

Mrs Peter DeGuerre, of Toronto, was home over Thanksgiving.

Messrs. C. E. Weeks, Jacob Barnes and Dr. McKay attended Hon G. W. Ross' convention in the city Wednesday.

Messrs. Ryan Switzer, C. H. McKee and Dr. Galloway, are delegates to the Conservative convention, to be held in Toronto on Thursday.

Mr. A. E. Stabick is attending County Council in Lindsay this week.

Mr. Jack Wood is moving his family to Victoria Road, where he intends to open a barber shop.

Miss Barbara McLean, of Toronto, was a guest of the Misses Barnes over Thanksgiving.

Miss Mary Muir, of Lindsay, is visiting Mrs. Smith.

There will be an old-fashioned tea meeting in the basement of the Methodist church next Monday night, followed by a concert, when there will be some good music and an interesting program given. Rev. Garbutt and Kannawan are to deliver addresses. A hearty welcome is extended to all.

LITTLE BRITAN.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Mahlon Culbert has been improving his farm by building a new residence on it just a few rods north of his father's house on the same farm.

Mr. S. Mark, having felt the great inconvenience of not having a stable for some time, has started to erect a new one on his premises.

Mr. S. Wooldridge has been engaged by Mr. J. Tipp, as coatmaker at Sunderland. He is missed by his chums very much, as he was a member of our football team.

Mr. F. Dix, one of our neighboring farmers and stock raisers, brought home the remainder of his cattle which he bought back at Kinmount last week. There were 125 head in the bunch. It was something unusual to our citizens to see as large a drove as that being driven through our village at once. Mr. Dix, has in his possession at present about 250 head. How's that for the chore boys?

We are sorry to see the youth of our village are fast moving out, Mr. Horace Metherell having gone east last week to Norwich, to learn the blacksmithing at his brother-in-law's, Mr. J. Yeo. His mother accompanied him to spend Thanksgiving.

Mr. Victor Groves, of Toronto, has been visiting at Mr. Wm Heatlees, this week.

Thanksgiving day was a day of sport for our boys, as usual. About ten of our youth's gathered together on the morning of Thanksgiving and with their shot guns, rifles, and dogs started on a hunt. They returned in the evening bringing several rabbits and partridges with them.

Miss Belle Maunder, of Lindsay, was the guest of Miss Pearl Oliver, a few days last week.

Mr. Walter Elliott, B. A., and son, of Toronto, spent Thanksgiving at Mr. J. Blewett's.

Mr. Casey Maunder, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Walker, and sons, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. McEachren, and daughter, of Oshawa, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Maunder for Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Maunder, of Lindsay, spent Thanksgiving at Mr. G. W. Prouse's.

Mr. D. Wickett, of Dundas, spent Thanksgiving under the parental roof.

Mr. Will Jenkins, employe of the Flavelles Limited, Lindsay, spent Thanksgiving, under the parental roof.

The Misses Walkie and three of their chums from Lindsay were the guests of Mrs. Glenny on Thanksgiving. They accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Glenny in attending the fowl supper at Valentia.

Mr. F. Hall of Newmarket, spent Thanksgiving at Mr. Arthur Prosser's.

Mr. and Mrs. Young, of Blackwater, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Yerex last Sunday.

Two new residents have been added to our village, namely, Mr. John Rodman and family and Mr. W. M. Cornish and family having moved in.

Mrs. Pufferson and daughter, of Minden, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elezer Yerex last week.

Mr. Russell Wallis and Miss Ida Wallis spent Thanksgiving with friends at Oshawa.

Mr. Ched Archer, who was in Manitoba during the summer, has returned. He reports Manitoba as being a fine county.

Mr. Purdy, of Oshawa, spent Thanksgiving at Mrs. Levi Sparks, his sister.

Miss Leta Western, of Zion, was the guest of Miss Ella Western, a few days last week.

Several of our young folk attended the fowl supper at Valentia. They report a good time.

The people who were wondering why Mr. F. Netherton disappeared so suddenly and quietly from our midst a short time ago, will now be at rest, as they will see that he has brought home with him a better half in the person of Miss Weldon, of Oakwood. Congratulations.

We notice a couple of our young ladies were made quite prominent on Thanksgiving day at the fowl supper at Valentia. One by getting Wickett and the other by securing a Mark.

A very rare incident occurred the other day at Mr. Bowen's on Washburn Island. While getting earth from the bank on the shore of the lake, Mr. Bowen struck upon a birch bark coffin, in which an Indian was buried. The skeleton was all that was left of the corpse. There was an Indian knife in the coffin and a quantity of ashes. Mr. W. E. Yerex, being there at the time, brought the knife and bones home.

Miss Miller is visiting Mrs. Samuel Rodgers this week.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. C. Mitchell, of Zion on Nov. 16th, when Mr. Ernest Rodman, eldest son of John Rodman, and Miss Ethel Mitchell, eldest daughter of Mr. C. Mitchell were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. At 2 o'clock Miss Georgina Wibby, of Toronto, played Mendelssohn's wedding march, to which the bride and bridegroom marched in and stopped under a very pretty arch of evergreens interspersed with red carnations. The Rev. Mr. Clarke, of Little Britain, then performed the wedding ceremony. The bride was very becomingly attired in white silk crepe-de-chene, trimmed with fine Battenburgh lace and carried a pretty bunch of white carnations and ferns. She was attended by her sister, Miss Leta Mitchell. The groom was ably supported through the trying ordeal by his brother, Mr. Marvyn Rodman. After the ceremony was performed the guests, numbering about 80, being early, all relatives passed to the dining room where a dainty breakfast was served, after which the newly married couple took their departure for Mariposa Station, from whence they were going to Toronto and other points on their wedding tour. The remaining guests spent an enjoyable evening playing games. The citizens of our village join with the many relatives in wishing the newly married couple much joy and happiness.

Railway Notes.

—The first railway, with four British locomotives, was opened between Tokio and Yokohama in 1872; to-day the railway mileage is 4,469, with 1,469 locomotives. The Japs have got up steam rapidly.

—General Manager F. H. McGuigan, of the G.T.R., went west on Monday morning, to inspect the work on the double tracking between Toronto and Hamilton. There is talk of a third track being laid between these points, owing to the rapid increase in the passenger and freight traffic.

Sunlight Soap does not harden or shrink woollens

It is injurious chemicals and adulterations in common soaps that destroy your clothes. It is adulterations that harden your woollens and the excess alkali that destroys and shrinks them.

Sunlight Soap

contains no adulteration or excess alkali. It is just pure saponified fats and oils. That is why it cleanses your clothes perfectly in hard or soft water and does not injure them.

A SOLDIER OF COMMERCE

BY JOHN ROE GORDON

Copyright, 1902, by F. R. Toombs

to Lieutenant Thokt, who at once started to intercept the boat. The gunboat overtook Hassan on the Caspian. He had spoken a vessel with a black hull, but the persons on board evidently wished to have nothing to do with Hassan, for the black boat went away. Lieutenant Thokt arrived in time to prevent the escape of Hassan. He can tell himself what he did."

"I went on board," said Lieutenant Thokt, "and found Hassan in command and this other prisoner, evidently as much in a hurry to escape as Hassan. He said he was an American going to Astrakhan. The vessel had not at any time been headed for the Volga. Hassan told me his story and the American told me his. They agreed in some respects, but differed in others. I found Koura Biartelkis on board, a prisoner, and brought her back to Tiflis and arrested Hassan and the American."

"O great ones of earth!" moaned Hassan when called upon to speak for himself. "It is with trembling tongue I attempt to tell even the truth, for what am I? What am I that I should speak to such as thee? But it was as I said and as I will say again. I came to the fair with my boat filled with rich stuffs to sell to the bazaars. I did well, excellencies, and made a profit on my goods, but it does not pay to hire sailors for two ways and carry goods only one, so I remained at the wharf waiting for a cargo to take to Astrakhan, where I knew there awaited me a valuable cargo to take to Astrabad, but I waited too long, O excellencies, and it came time for me to depart without a cargo.

"In preparing to leave Tiflis I discovered some linen which I knew Ignatz Biartelkis would purchase. I could not wait till morning, for then I could not reach Astrakhan early enough to take on my cargo. I went to the bazaar of Biartelkis and told him of my discovery. Biartelkis was just closing his bazaar, and when he heard of the linen he and his daughter accompanied me back to my boat. I took them to my cabin and set wine before them and went to prepare the linen for examination. I was suddenly attacked and knocked down. A fold of cloth was placed in my mouth. I heard the young woman scream, but I could not go to her assistance.

"I heard Biartelkis begging for mercy and some one talking to him. Then some one took command of my boat, and we moved down the river. I was kept in ignorance for hours, your excellencies, but in the morning I was astonished to see two men on board that I had never seen before. One was a tall man, looking like a Russian, and the other was certainly an Osmanli. They informed me that unless I and my sailors did as I was bid I would be killed. They did not release me, but we kept on down the river. Just before we reached Salain they left the boat. They told me that Biartelkis had agreed to the sale of his daughter to an American who would board my boat at Salain and that I must take them both to Astrakhan. They told me that I would be watched and unless I obeyed I would be killed. They said I could not go back to Tiflis without being murdered.

"I was afraid, your excellencies, and did what they told me. At Salain, however, it was not my intention to take on the American, but to proceed until I reached a Russian gunboat, when I would turn over the young lady. But the American knew which boat she was on, for he came out in a small boat directly in my path and leaped on board. He threatened me with a pistol, and I was compelled to do his bidding. Seeing another vessel on the Caspian, I wished to get assistance from them, but they feared us and ran away. The gunboat came, and I told the officer the truth. I swear it, by the prophet's beard. I have told the truth. I know no more."

The magistrate turned coldly to Harvey.

"All of what that man says is a lie," said Irons, "except the mere fact that I did get on his boat in the manner he describes at Salain. I had taken passage from Astrabad for Astrakhan on a boat belonging to the German line. They had also some machinery I was going to exhibit at the fair. Arriving at Salain, the captain of the boat informed me that I would have four hours in which to see the town. I spent three hours and came back to the wharf only to see the steamer disappearing. I was enraged. I wanted particularly to reach the fair early, and there would not be a boat up the Volga for another week after the one I had lost. I was standing on the wharf talking with a peasant when I saw the boat owned by Hassan coming down the Kur. We hailed the boat and were informed that she was bound for Astrakhan. There I was, with a week to stay in that place and a boat passing me that was going straight to where I wanted to go. The peasant got a small boat and rowed me out to Hassan's. I climbed on board and remained there. I did not know until the officer from the gunboat came on board that there was a young lady there."

Colonel Jurnieff nodded, and another man, evidently of the poorest class, spoke to the magistrate. The dignitary started, stared at Harvey and said:

"There appears to be a multitude of lies in all this testimony. Let us hear what this witness has to say."

"I saw that American in Tiflis a week ago," he said, pointing at Harvey. "I saw him in the bazaar of Biartelkis, and he spoke to him. I saw much gold change hands, but do not know what it was for. The American took nothing away."

"That is the worst lie of all!" exclaimed Harvey indignantly. "I was never in Tiflis before in my life."

"Take the prisoners back to their cells. The case needs deliberation," said the magistrate.

Harvey was marched to his dungeon. An orderly, who heard all the proceedings, hurried to relate them to Marie. From the moment that Alma Jurnieff heard what had taken place at the trial she was a changed person.

"So they have conspired between them to destroy the man I love," she said slowly and deliberately. "I have been a tame kitten in the hands of a tiger. I, too, have some of the tiger's blood, and I will show them the claws of another Jurnieff. I will save him or I will die with him. God help me and give me strength!"

CHAPTER VII.

A YOUNG LADY BUYS A LOAD OF HAY.

"HAS the magistrate given his decision yet?" asked Alma Jurnieff as she met Orderly Alexander Borge in the corridor of the living rooms a few days after the trial.

"No decision has been made public, Mlle. Jurnieff. There is much secrecy. There is to be a squad of prisoners sent to Siberia in a month. I believe the American is numbered among them."

"Siberia! They would not dare! To send an innocent American to Siberia would bring on war."

"Not if he died," said Alexander, with a shrug. "Some who are numbered for Siberia never start. They die before the time comes. Hush! Here comes Colonel Jurnieff!"

He walked away without saluting her, and her face was devoid of expression when her eyes met those of her uncle.

"I have news for you," he said, closely observing the girl. "The governor is to give a ball to Prince Delinikoff. The prince will arrive in a few days. He will attend to his new official duties while here, and the governor wishes to entertain him."

"There is no objection, is there? What are the new duties of the prince?"

"He has been appointed inspector general of prisons for Stavropol, Tiflis and Astrakhan. It was probably through the influence of the general, your father, that he obtained this important post. I received a letter from your father today. Would you like to read it?"

"I will read it if you wish," answered Alma listlessly.

"It will save me the trouble of repeating his wishes to you. Take the letter to your room and study it. Consider well its contents. You will profit by meeting your father's wishes in this matter. You have been severely punished, I know, by your semi-imprisonment here. Hereafter I am going to permit you to have your own way. I want you to meet the prince at the ball. It may be necessary for you to make purchases. You are at liberty to use the carriage any day between 2 and 4."

"Thank you," said Alma. She bowed and went to her room.

"Some plot," she murmured as she shut her door. "What deviltry is afoot now? So I am asked to read a letter from my father, the first of his letters that have been even spoken of to me."

She sat down and read:

My Dear Brother—You will doubtless be surprised to hear of the appointment of Prince Delinikoff to the important post of inspector general of prisons. It was a happy thought of mine to have him appointed to a position of power and importance sufficiently so to please him and make his sojourn in your portion of Russia not unwelcome. It will bring him often to Tiflis and give you an opportunity to bring the prince and my obstinate daughter together. It is probable that the governor will entertain the prince. If so, that will be a good opportunity. We must compel the girl to obey some way or other. It is a cherished idea of mine to see the families of Delinikoff and Jurnieff united. The father of Prince Alexis was a good friend of mine, and we spoke frequently in other days of the pleasure it would give us to see our only children united. Therefore do your utmost to bring about this most desirable marriage. I shall not receive my daughter again until she comes to me as the Princess Delinikoff.

"What a kind and loving father!" exclaimed Alma as she crunched the letter in her hand. "This is a threat—a threat that my uncle preferred to have me read rather than to tell me himself. Let them threaten! But I will attend the ball and will assist in entertaining Prince Delinikoff, the most dissolute prince in St. Petersburg."

"Have you received a letter at last, mademoiselle?" asked Marie as she entered the room.

"At last, Marie, I have been permitted to read a letter. It is not, however, addressed to me. It is one that was sent by my father to my uncle with some very interesting news. Prince Delinikoff is coming to Tiflis."

"Heavens! To be married?"

"I presume that is the real object. Openly he comes as the inspector general of prisons."

"Inspector general! He will be a proud one in that uniform."

"Why so, Marie? What distinguishing uniform does the inspector general of prisons wear?"

"All gold lace, mademoiselle. It is fine. I once knew the inspector general of prisons for Perm. He was a grand looking man in his uniform."

"I should like to see it," said Alma, with a smile. "I suppose I will have the opportunity soon."

"I have a book with all the uniforms of Russia. Shall I get it?"

"No, never mind. Well, get it. It will serve to pass away a few miserable moments."

Marie brought a little leather covered book.

"It is Alexander's, mademoiselle. He hopes for promotion and is studying the fine uniform he will wear."

"Alexander is noble and faithful. I hope he will win his promotion and not disgrace himself by assisting me."

"He would die for you, mademoiselle."

Alma turned the pages of the book. Many of the brilliant uniforms she saw pictured were familiar to her. The uniform prescribed for the inspector general of prisons was a gorgeous affair, all gold lace, shiny boots, a cap and a medal that hung from the golden sash. She closed the book and sank back in the chair with her eyes closed. Instead of returning the book Alma rose from her chair and placed it in a drawer.

"I like to look at them, Marie," she said. "I will keep the book awhile."

The approach of the governor's ball in honor of the new inspector general of prisons roused great interest. A governor's ball was always a grand affair, but this one, coming at the close of the fair, with so many notables from all parts of the east in Tiflis, was certain to surpass in splendor any of its predecessors. The bazaars brought out their best goods and displayed them to the best advantage. Women of all nations began feverish shopping and preparing. Officers of the garrison, Persian grandees, Chinese princes, Turkish pashas, vied with one another in their efforts to do credit to this great occasion. Alma seemed imbued with the same spirit of rivalry. One day as she and Marie were going out Jurnieff stopped Marie.

"Marie," he said, "what has brought the great change over your mistress? Heretofore she has been morose and sad; now she is smiling and cheerful. What has caused it? She acts like one who knew that her lover had come to see her."

Marie started. Did he know that Alma was aware of the presence of Irons in the prison?

"It is not that, I think, Colonel Jurnieff, but that perhaps one is coming."

"Do you mean—you cannot mean the prince?"

"It may be, though Mlle. Alma says little to me. Is he not a great officer?"

"He has a high and honorable position. He is inspector general of prisons."

"Ah! That enlightens me, your excellency. I know what she wanted it for now."

"Wanted what for?"

"The book—the pictures of uniforms. I saw her studying the uniform of the inspector general of prisons. She seemed pleased after that."

Jurnieff turned away.

"What was there in the general's letter to produce this change?" he asked himself. "It is remarkable. I can now write to him that he is in a fair way to have his dearest wish gratified. I ought to be promoted myself if that comes off."

"What did my uncle ask you, Marie?" inquired Alma as the carriage was being driven off.

"He had noticed that you were gay and smiling of late. He asked me the cause. I said I believed it was because the prince was coming. I told him you had studied the uniforms of the inspector general of prisons and had seemed pleased."

"I must be cautious."

Arriving at one of the largest bazaars, Alma left Marie in the carriage and proceeded to do her shopping alone. She was attired becomingly, her gown setting off her form to advantage. Among the things she purchased was a long cloak, reaching almost to the ground, having a hood for covering the head in winter.

"Permit me, lady, to carry your purchases to your carriage," said the merchant.

"You may, but not yet. I shall need some more things. I am going to a cafe for lunch and shall wear my new hood and cloak. These Persians and Turks stare at one so. When I return, I shall make more purchases."

"I will await your return with impatience, lady, and your goods will remain in my charge."

Not even Marie noticed the cloaked figure that came from the bazaar. A drosky was standing near, and Alma stepped into it.

"Take me to the hay wharfs," she said.

The ivoshtshik stared, but the money that was put into his hand was many times the regular charge, and he did not hesitate.

The hay wharfs on the Kur were in themselves part of the show. Boats of all descriptions crowded against one another, for the supply of hay needed during the fair for the horses and camels was very great. The shouts of Circassians, Georgians and Turks and Persians were deafening.

Alma sat in her drosky and looked about at the busy scene. These hayboats were mostly from the towns along the upper Kur and the Volga. They were of all kinds, sizes and degrees of safety. Those from the Volga were the largest, for they needed stability to travel on the Caspian. Near one of these, with an Astrakhan owner and crew, she halted.

No subjects of the czar hate the Muscovite rule more than the Astrakhans. It was only after a prolonged war that Astrakhan was subdued, and her fealty has never been more than nominal. Every little while some new mollah rises to preach a holy war, and a new crusade against the Muscovite begins.

"Are you not from the lower valley of the Volga?"

The Astrakhan, seated upon the prow of his boat, was tall, dark and picturesque. He was smoking a pipe, regardless of the proximity of several tons of hay belonging to himself.

As he looked around he saw a small white finger beckoning him. He sauntered to where Alma sat. She got down from her seat and spoke in whispers.

"Are you not from the lower valley of the Volga?"

"I am, sweet lady. I have come from Astrakhan with hay to sell."

"Is it sold?"

"Alas, not yet. The fair is breaking up, and there is less demand for hay."

"Will you sell it at a good price and deliver it where I command?"

"If the price be sufficient, sweet lady, I will carry it to Moscow."

"What is the price you get for your hay at this wharf?"

"This load will bring me 300 rubles."

"If you will take a passenger, keep your tongue still and deliver the hay where I bid you, I will give you 2,000 rubles."

"It is a fortune, sweet lady! Where shall I deliver the hay?"

"At the port of Astrabad, Persia."

"I agree. But the passenger?"

"Is a man. Remain at this spot until he is ready."

"Under the cover of my hay he will be safe. Sweet lady, you may rely upon me. I am Charka of the town of Ashkar. Ask for me when you want me. I am at your feet."

"Return to the bazaar from which I came," said Alma to the ivoshtshik.

"I am growing reckless," she mused. "Two weeks ago I shivered if I had to look my uncle in the face. I dared not go a step beyond the limits set. But now! The blood of the Jurnieffs is aroused."

Arriving at the bazaar, she made another purchase, walked to the carriage, answered Marie's question as to what kept her so long and in half an hour was back in her apartments.

As Colonel Jurnieff passed her door he stopped, a look of astonishment on his face.

"What next?" he said. "She is actually singing a love song. Evidently my brother has not managed this affair well. Why, the girl is already happy as well as conquered. Really my brother's influence must get me promoted. I am too great a diplomat to be governor of a prison. I should be in St. Petersburg."

As his footsteps died away the love song came to an abrupt end.

CHAPTER VIII.

THE GOVERNOR'S BALL.

THE ball of the governor of Tiflis was the success he wished it to be. The new palace was ablaze with light. Carriages dashed to the entrance, deposited their occupants and dashed away again. Officers on foot, with their cloaks covering their uniforms, walked in the obscurity of the streets to mingle on equal terms in the brilliant ballroom with princes and pashas. The gay world of the Caucasus was made gayer by the addition of the swarms from the orient. Bands blared their military music. Gowns that came from Paris swept the ballroom floor as the stately dames who wore them walked with Persians and Turks of high degree. Laughter, conversation, introductions and presentations made a perfectly harmonious bedlam.

But there was one at the ball who listened to the words of welcome he received, while his eyes noted the appearance of one he sought.

"Will she never come?" he asked himself. "Or does she hate me so that she will brave her uncle's wrath rather than meet me?"

A WIFE'S CONFESSION.

Of course every one knew when they were engaged and every one pretended to be surprised when they heard it was suddenly broken off. It was first said she had broken it off, then that his heart had changed, but finally she confessed that she had been so irritable, so depressed and blue that she had fairly driven him away. Her good looks were vanishing. She was getting thin, pale, and hollow-cheeked, with dark circles around her eyes. Suddenly all society was pleased again to hear of the engagement being renewed, and it was not long before a beautiful and radiant bride was taken to the altar. She had regained her good looks, her former happy disposition and strong nerve all through a secret a friend gave her. A few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is what made two more lives happy and a radiant bride more beautiful than she had ever appeared before.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Mrs. O. O. Scripture, of Prescott, Ariz., L. Box 536, writes: "For nearly two years I was a great sufferer with ulceration and enlargement of womb, also suffered severely with dyspepsia and was run down—a perfect wreck. I doctored for several years; got no better, until about seven months ago I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I can stand on my feet and work hard all day. I feel that life is now worth living, and shall ever feel grateful to you and shall always recommend your medicines to all who are suffering in any way."

HON. MR. STRATTON'S RETIREMENT

The announcement appears in the Globe that Hon. J. R. Stratton, provincial Secretary, has placed his resignation of his portfolio in the hands of the Premier and site the announcement that at the expiry of the present parliamentary term he will not be a candidate to contest West Peterborough. The retirement of Mr. Stratton is an important event in Provincial politics and of especial significance to this district in which Mr. Stratton has been a very good friend. It is a matter of comment that at the expiry of the present parliamentary term he will not be a candidate to contest West Peterborough. The retirement of Mr. Stratton is an important event in Provincial politics and of especial significance to this district in which Mr. Stratton has been a very good friend. It is a matter of comment that at the expiry of the present parliament Mr. Stratton retires from the Government. It was impossible for Lindsay and this district to give personal attention in the matter of assistance for the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon & Pontypool Railway and to him belongs the credit of such assistance being given and of the fact that we now have this line in operation. He has also done much to bring about satisfactory settlement of inter-county matters. No representative could have done more for his riding than Mr. Stratton has done for West Peterborough, and his work in this regard has not been confined to substantial advantages, but he has done much outside the obligations ordinarily expected of a representative, to promote the welfare of his constituents. It is well known that anyone needing assistance, no matter what his party name or his standing in society, was sure to receive Mr. Stratton's best efforts to meet his wishes. This trait in his character is perhaps the secret of the great popularity he has enjoyed and still enjoys at home and it will require a great deal more thoroughness to displace Mr. Stratton in the esteem of his constituents. As a minister, Mr. Stratton has done splendid work. He has brought to bear his excellent business ability upon the management of his department with the best results. Under his care the public institutions of the Province have been placed upon a better footing than ever before and they are for more efficient, better managed and better adapted to their work than they were when Mr. Stratton took charge of them. The number of institutions has been increased and the increased accommodation for the sick has been relieved of inmates, for which an asylum, not a prison, is a proper place. Every branch of his department has received similar attention with good results, and it is only stating a simple fact to say that under no other minister have the affairs of Provincial Secretary's department been so efficiently and capably managed. With all the attacks made upon Mr. Stratton he has taken it in manner, and with so little evidence of justification, the boldest detractor has not ventured to hint any objection to Mr. Stratton's work as an administrator, and no one has been able to point to a single instance of one dollar of the several millions that have passed through his hands, being improperly or even unwisely spent. Mr. Stratton leaves office with a splendid record of administration.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Everything is on the up grade. Bread, milk, rent and coal. This is the growing time.

No sane business man would give J. P. Whitney a preference over George W. Ross in the management of his affairs. We think of sub titulting Whitney for Ross in the management of the larger affairs of the province!

The completion of the recount in London leaves Mr. Hyman with a majority of 21 instead of 21.

The London Free Press calls the Liberal convention "Ross' latest trick," and the Toronto Mail calls it "Ross' latest trick — thus complimenting the Premier's wisdom.

The Ottawa Free correspondent of the Chicago Chronicle shows his familiarity with Canadian men and affairs by writing up "the victory of Sir Wilfrid Laurier over his Conservative opponent, Sir Frederick Borden," and the Chronicle ornaments the story with two-column cuts of Sir Wilfrid and Sir Frederick. We are our neighbors "informed" on Canadian politics.

Mr. Thomas Tait, formerly superintendent of transportation for the C.P.R., is not in Australia trying to make the Victorian Government system of railways, which has been a most unprofitable venture, pay cost of operations. The yearly report shows that for the first time in their history the roads have made money. Mr. Tait paid running expenses and a surplus of £519. That, of course, does not mean that they have paid a cent of interest on cost of construction, but it shows that good management counts for much. Hitherto they had been losing £1,000 a day!

Toronto Star: Mr. Whitney's brilliant plan of doing something like Mr. Ross the day after Mr. Ross does it, throws a clear light on the Opposition claim that it originates the Government policies.

The Post is asked: "Is it true that in New Zealand, the railway passenger fares are limited to 1 1-2 to 2 cents a mile under state operation? No time is not true. In New Zealand, the Government operation is being experimented with, first class passenger rates are 4 cents a mile, second class 2 cents a mile. The operation of the railways there is not in the experimental stage.

The domestic servant problem seems to be as difficult of solution on the continent as it is in this country. The United States Consul at Turin, Italy, reporting to his Government on the domestic labor situation in that country, says:

"I have known parties to look for domestic help for weeks in vain." The Consul says: "The wages paid for good girls vary from $3 to $6 and even $10 a week. The price is governed by the employee's skill and merits and the wealth of the employer. Here as in United States, intelligent and ambitious young women find employment as teachers, as clerks in post offices and stores as secretaries, stenographers, typewriters in factories — in fact they seem to prefer any kind of employment to domestic work. It seems that they even prefer to drive teams, to pick up rags and even to sweep the streets, or to become porters, to being domestic servants." The inference is reasonable that as civilization expands human nature asserts itself in similar ways almost everywhere. The young woman may not greatly resent the application of servant, but the work of the average hired girl is so continuous and often disagreeable that if at all spirited she will prefer almost any other kind of employment, because almost any other allows more personal liberty.

The Post may be asked to appear relatively about the same as here. Much poverty exists in the Kingdom, and much grinding, and the hired work question seems to be about as acute as in this country. Everywhere, there no doubt, the anxiety of the employing class, and the sharpness with which their interests are drawn, have a bearing on the case. Instead of being easily solved, the domestic problem is likely to grow more difficult.

BABY'S WELFARE.

Every mother is naturally anxious that her little ones shall be bright, good natured and healthy. Every mother can keep her children in this condition if she will give them occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets. These tablets cure indigestion and stomach troubles, prevent diarrhoea, cure constipation, allay simple fevers break up colds, and keep worms away. Mothers recommend Baby's Own Tablets as a medicine to recommend to their friends. Mrs. H. Bell, Pembroke, Ont., says:—"I have found Baby's Own Tablets very good for teething babies. They are breaking up colds and reducing fever, and they make a child sleep and thrive. They have done my little one so much good I wonder what I'd do if I had no Tablets." Druggists everywhere sell these Tablets or you can get them by mail at 25 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Advertising Second Prices.

A prominent shoe manufacturer presents the side of advertising in this succinct and convincing way: "A store paying $20 a day rent and selling twenty pairs of shoes, with out advertising, must charge one dollar a pair for rent alone. By spending $20 a day for advertising we can sell twenty-five hundred pairs, then rent and advertising combined would cost only 20 cents a pair. The store which advertises is the store to deal with.

THE PROVINCIAL FRUIT, FLOWER AND HONEY SHOW

(To Ed. of The Post.)

Dear Sir,—I thought a few words about this exhibition would be acceptable to some of your readers, hence I take the liberty. At the Provincial Show of Fruits, Flowers and Honey, that we had here from the 13th to the 19th inst., in Toronto, there were two representatives from Lindsay, Mr. Thos. Beal, as honorary member of the Fruit Growers' Association, and W. M. Robson, President of the Lindsay Horticultural Society, as delegates. The exhibit in the three departments in all respects as to quantity, quality and artistic arrangements, was grand beyond description. The flowers in particular, in size, beauty and effective display, the showing has probably never been equalled in Canada. The honey display was large and beautiful and the attractive designs in which it was presented, to the public were the admiration of all visitors. The display in the fruit department was quite noteworthy, perhaps without a rival at any time, in quality and quantity, and the one noticeable feature that prevailed all departments, was an effort on every exhibitor, in presenting their goods attractively. This effort, in the opinion of the grave that merited the admiration of all present. I think the above brief description should have the admiration of all who attended this first exhibition, which I intend to become an annual show in Toronto.—Yours, etc., W. M. ROBSON.

KEEP THE BLOOD PURE,

Nearly All the Common Ills of Life are Caused by Weak, Watery and Impure Blood.

Bad blood means bad health. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are good health—they actually make new, rich blood. Bad blood poisons the whole system. Impure blood means the liver goes wrong, the kidneys get clogged and inflamed, the heart flutters and jumps at the least excitement, the stomach loses its power to digest food, the lungs are invaded by consumption, lingering colds, in fact the whole body falls out of order. Then you have headaches and backache, can't sleep and can't eat, feel dizzy and nervous. And it all comes from bad blood and can be cured by bad blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do nothing else but create a rich, healthy, red blood. Mr. Samuel McKinnon of North Lanark, Ont., suffered from bad blood but has now made strong and well by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after all other treatment failed. Mr. McKinnon says: "I attribute last spring I had been afflicted with a weak stomach, headache and kidney trouble. At times I was so weak and prostrated and my sufferings were of a most severe nature. At different times I was treated by no less than seven doctors, but from none of them did I get more than temporary relief. As time went on I became incapable of ever being well again. Last spring a friend drew my attention to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try this medicine. I had only taken four boxes when I found a decided improvement in my condition and I continued using the pills until I had taken a dozen boxes when I was a cured man and the sufferings I had to endure before were but a disagreeable memory. I think being an enthusiastic admirer of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I can think I have just cause for my enthusiasm and will a way of recommending them to my silling friends."

Just as sure as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mr. McKinnon they will cure anaemia, indigestion, a weak back, backaches, kidney trouble, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, nervousness, general weakness and special ailments of growing girls and women. To prove this claim come from bad blood and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills prove it by filling the veins with new, rich, red blood. But you must be sure to get the genuine pills with the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, on the wrapper around every box. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere or by mail at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Farmers must be Heard When the Offer Comes

(Weekly Sun, Toronto.)

During the late campaign in the United States Democrat Theodore Roosevelt's Cabinet declared that his Government intended in a short time to invite the Government of Canada to a conference for the purpose of considering the question of improved trade relations between the two countries. Since then the Republican administration has swept the country, Roosevelt has been elected by an overwhelming majority, and his party's power in Congress is greater than before in his term. Nevertheless, the Canadian Government has fulfilment of the intelligent promise made by a member of the Roosevelt Administration.

The determined effort will be made in Canada to prove the reception of this offer may be made as settled. Manufacturers who fear American competition will be joined by ultra-Loyalists who think a trade barrier between the countries essential to the maintenance of the political barrier. Farmers, who stand to gain enormously by the opening of the American market to their produce, cannot afford to allow the influence felt on the other side.

Canadian Fruit.

London, Nov. 22.—The Nova Scotian Government has again arranged through the Agent-General of that province in London, for a fine display of apples and other fruit at the Canadian court in the Crystal Palace. To the same court has also been transferred the British Columbia fruit exhibit which obtained the Royal Horticultural Society's gold medal at the recent show at Vincent square. It is expected that an exhibit of fruit from Ontario, Canada's most advanced province in the fruit industry, will be received shortly. The Canadian Government is doing a useful work in thus bringing before the public practical illustrations of the diversified resources and capacities of our greatest colony.

Herrings On Pacific Coast.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—John J. Cowie, the Scottish expert on the curing of herring, who was sent by the Minister of Marine to investigate the herring fisheries on the Pacific Coast, returned yesterday morning. He has been reported that herring swarm in immense quantities on the coast of British Columbia, but Mr. Cowie's visit was made too soon to actually see them, as they do not come in towards the shore until the close of November. Mr. Cowie, however, examined samples at various points, and saw sufficient to justify him in stating that one of the largest herring industries in the world can be developed on the Pacific Coast.

Company May Die It.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—The Board of Railway Commissioners has given its decision in the application of the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway Company, for permission to fill in a trestle bridge crossing on the farm of William Anderson, in Ancaster township, Wentworth county, and to appropriate certain lands in connection therewith. The railway company wanted to close up an under passageway which Anderson had used, and from the company for farm purposes.

Telegrapher Under Arrest.

Hamilton, Nov. 22.—Frank Kealy, a telegraph operator, was arrested here on Saturday by Detective McCormack, chief of the Canadian Northwest secret service, on a warrant charging him with stealing money from the company. Kealy will appear before Magistrate Robertson. He is a young man hailing from Chatham, Ont., where he was in the service of the C.P.R.

Still Fast in the Sand.

New York, Nov. 22.—With her nose poked fast in the sand off Lifting Beach, N.J., the steamship Sicilian Prince last night was being lightered so that at the flood tide the morning she may be moved into deeper water and towed to Philadelphia in this city. Efforts to get the big ship afloat in the November-moon Long Island sands were futile yesterday.

Col. Denny Going Back Again.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—Lieut.-Col. W. A. C. Denny, director of intelligence at the militia headquarters, is about to vacate his appointment and return to England. It is understood that he has been offered the post as second in command of the Army Service Corps of the western district of England.

Found Dead in Bed.

Harriston, Nov. 22—James Everson, a Grand Trunk Railway section man, was found dead in bed last evening by his sisters, with whom he resided. He left here yesterday morning on the 5 o'clock train for Brantford, where he was engaged in work. He complained of not being well and the foreman advised him to return home, which he did, but what he did. Nothing more was seen of him until his sisters returned home at 6 o'clock last evening. They found him dead.

Smash Up On the C.P.R.

Winnipeg, Nov. 22.—A bad smash-up occurred on the C.P.R. main line about 20 miles east of Melbourne about 7 o'clock on Saturday morning. The wrecked train was a special carrying stock cattle. The accident was said to have been caused by the breaking of the coupling on one of the cattle cars. Eight cars were ditched, and, there is a deep cut at the place, cars were badly smashed up. Neither the engine nor caboose left the rails and no one was injured.

Anglo-Portuguese Treaty.

London, Nov. 19.—The Anglo-Portuguese treaty of arbitration, the signing of which was announced by King Edward at the dinner given at Windsor Castle, on Nov. 16, was signed last night. It contains only three articles.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 25

SATURDAY'S CONVENTION.

On Saturday next, Nov. 26, at 2 o'clock p.m. the Liberals of West Victoria will meet in the Council of Manilla to select a candidate to contest the riding in the coming Provincial election in opposition to Mr. A. J. Fox, the present representative. The convention promises to be interesting one as many of the delegates will come to this gathering fresh from the Provincial Convention held in Toronto on Wednesday and Thursday and will no doubt find time to give a speech of the morning proceedings and so on and hand any proposed changes in the policy of the Liberal party.

As for the party's chances of redeeming West Victoria, it is generally felt that a very good deal depends upon the candidate. It must be apparent to every Victoria Liberal who keeps in touch with public events that the government of Hon. G. W. Ross has for long been a target for all the vituperation and abuse that members of the opposition could bring to bear upon it, in the hope of discredituing the party and its leader. The Conservative leaders who evidenced that tactic course would not likely publicly acknowledge that to accomplish their ends. It is less and to assume that the stamp upon it and upon all which has since occurred have been "engineered" with their connivance and assistance? Whatever may be the truth, it is certain that the small Liberal majority in the house, has consequently been utilized by their opponents to secure power, as it is to charge the government with wrongdoing in the hope of strengthening their position. It is a significant fact that Mr. Whitney was just as whipped and thrashed by Mac from Manitoulin for months, showing that he had no faith in his party, that he was whipped into line by his lieutenants—De Beatty, Neabitt and others of that ilk.

We do not say that Mr. Fox has lent himself to any of the schemes of his party, and will even admit that he has been an old gentleman of active representative. But West Victoria needs a strong man and a supporter of the Government. If the Liberals of the riding choose their strongest candidate on Saturday, and will work with a will to secure his election, we predict a victory.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Parliament has been called to meet on January 12th. Indications point to a short session, as arrears of business were pretty well cleared up last session.

Victoria County Liberals are well represented at to-days great convention in Toronto. It is estimated that over 100 delegates from towns but might and by early train.

McHugh auctioneer.

Liberals, remember the Convention on Saturday, 26th, in the Academy of Music, Lindsay, at 1 p.m., to select a Candidate to contest West Victoria for the Ontario Legislature.

THE GREATEST CONVENTION

5,000 Liberal Delegates From Every Corner of Ontario.

OVATION TO PREMIER ROSS

Convention Condemns Unparalelly Electoral Corruption and Calls For Punishment of All Offenders—Ministerial Changes Approved—Development of New Ontario to Be Hastened by Liberal Legislature.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—First in size, first in enthusiasm, and first in the effectiveness of party gatherings dealing with Ontario politics is the great convention in session at Massey Hall. Five thousand of the most enlightened Liberals of the Province have gathered to formulate a platform, upon which—as the Provincial Secretary put it yesterday—the Liberal party shall stand or fall at the coming election.

The delegates must have smiled when they saw themselves designated as the henchmen of the Government. The most casual observer could see at the moment when they first began to stream into Massey Hall in the morning until the Chairman pro tem. had quorum at night—that the assembled leaders of Liberalism were hewers of wood and drawers of water for no man; that they were independent to the utmost degree, and were not there to approve of anything that did not appeal to their judgment as in the interest of the people on Ontario.

To Keep Ontario's Soul Alive.

The spectacle presented by the convention was most inspiriting to those who to adapt the quotation used by Mr. Ross, still believe in keeping the soul alive in Ontario. There were hundreds of greybeards present, who had fought under George Brown and Alexander Mackenzie, and who remembered the battles of Liberalism in the old days against corruption, and privilege and patronage in government in every form. There were hundreds, too, of young Canadians entering upon political work, to whom the brave days of old are but traditions, and the great men of old noble ideals to be lived up to.

Not Inspired by Other Peoples.

They were not disposed too greatly to dwell upon the shortcomings of other people. The mental attitude was not the "you're another" one. Altogether the delegates by their behavior at the afternoon session, gave ample evidence that the heart of Ontario Liberalism is as sound as ever, and that the party, whether in office or out, has still work to do.

The reception accorded to the Premier and his new and old colleagues was a magnificent one, but not more enthusiastic than was to be expected at the hands of men who know the great work that they have accomplished in governing Ontario wisely, progressively and economically during a time when, as Mr. Evanturel so aptly said, the sister Province of Quebec has piled up so great a debt that her interest bill amounts to a million a year.

Ross' Great Personal Triumph.

Just as the last Dominion election was a fully endorsement of the Laurier administration, and whom the Liberals intend, making the issue turn on the question of a campaign of personal slander, so did the Liberals of Ontario yesterday accord Premier Ross, Ontario's grand old man, a personal demonstration which is a parallel in the politics at least of this Province. "God bless the old man in his heart," shouted one enthusiastic delegate from the gallery, and the response of the Premier's name early in the day, and the sentiment was echoed by all who The sentiment of the Premier's gratification must have been reached at the evening meeting, when he rose to speak he was cheered and applauded, and hailed in such a way saluted by a standing animated multitude for three full minutes.

The Work of the Day.

The speeches of the day were all brief, except for the whole speech made by the Premier in the evening. In it he frankly stated his difficulties in carrying on Government with so narrow a majority, and declared that unless it was intended to confront able propositions he would have to give over the reins of office. The address by the new members of the Cabinet were creditable in every way, and the enthusiasm aroused indicated the welcome with which they were received by the great convention. Although much was done during the day, the great temperance issue and many other planks remain untouched by the main body, and the whole of to-day at least will be required to complete the work in Massey Hall. The smoothness with which business progressed after it was well started shows that the preliminary arrangements by the general committee were well carried out. The Executive work was also creditable to the large and rather unwieldy body. Senator J. K. Kerr presided as temporary Chairman in the forenoon under rather difficult conditions. Sheriff Gibson of Hamilton was then elected permanent Chairman, and the sessions of the afternoon and evening were under the direction of Hon. W. Harcourt, chairman, first of Lieut.-Col. Thompson, ex-M.P. for Haldimand and in the evening of Mayor Bruce Hart.

A Progressive Policy.

As soon as the convention had declared its opinion on temperance in thunderous tones, in the resolutions appended, it set itself to devising a new platform. The extent and brevity of the resolutions submitted leave no doubt that, however much lent the administrative work has been in the past, there is a work for the future advancement of social and economic conditions in Ontario in which the Liberal party will never take a seat behind any organization. The core resolution carried forward strongly the development of Ontario's educational system along modern lines, paying special attention to technical education of those engaged in agriculture and industry. The second reaffirmed the party's abhorrence of corruption, and declared against the employment of organizers from outside the lidings. The third and last of the afternoon declared that railways should bear a share of municipal and other taxation in the same proportion as other taxable property.

A New Department.

In the evening resolutions were adopted in a few minutes, calling for the establishment of a separate service in connection with the construction of colonization roads, the location of town sites, the protection of water powers, and all other matters affecting the future development of the new district, calling for the extension of the Temiskaming & Northern Railway to Hudson's Bay, the giving of all timber except pine on farm lands to the settler; affirming the party's allegiance to Provincial rights, particularly with regard to the incorporation of local companies, favoring the appointment of a Provincial Commission to guard against over-capitalization of companies operating as public utilities; favoring the consolidation of the various labor branches of the Provincial Government; favoring changes in the timber regulations; more liberal terms for the prospector for minerals; affirming implicit confidence in the administration of the Ross Government.

Will Not Recommend Abolition of Bar.

The Committee on Resolutions assembled about 9.15 p.m. and discussed the various temperance propositions submitted, which numbered nearly a score. There was undoubtedly a strong feeling in favor of a considerable advance along temperance lines, but the proposal to abolish the bars was not adopted. At midnight the committee adjourned without coming to a definite conclusion, and agreed to meet at 9 o'clock this morning to endeavor to arrive at a unanimous decision on the propositions for further temperance legislation to be laid before the conference.

DAY'S IMPORTANT RESOLUTION.

Condemns Bribery Unscathingly and Suggests Remedies for Its Prevention.

Moved by N. W. Rowell, K.C., Toronto: "That this convention, representing the Liberal party of the Province of Ontario, repudiates and condemns in the most unqualified terms, every form of bribery by which electors are illegally or corruptly influenced at elections to the Legislative Assembly, and all fraudulent schemes to defeat the honest purposes of the electorate as being a violation of the fundamental principles of responsible Government and contrary to the spirit and tradition of the Liberal party. (Hear, hear.) And this convention would call upon the Liberal members of Parliament to devise the most ample means whereby election trials should be continued until every offender is duly convicted and punished, and that no technical or other considerations be permitted to stand in the way of the fullest vindication of the sanctity of the ballot and the protection of public morals."

Stringent Remedies Remedy.

Moved by Capt. Hunter, Toronto: "That any candidate bearing the Liberal colors should try to complete his organization out of reputable men refusing or barring business connections in his own riding—(hear, hear)—and that it is an active duty of every Liberal candidate to see that any person who has been officially noted for corrupt practices is included in his electoral organization or triumphs will be contract with his constituents." (Cheers.)

Glues in Placemen.

James Chisholm, Hamilton, moved a resolution of confidence in the administration of the Government. It commended the special attention of the Legislature to the and the introduction of manual training and domestic science, and agricultural training disseminated through farmers' institutes, dairy associations, fruit growers' and similar associations was approved. H. H. Miller, Hanover, seconded it.

Delegate Patterson Recovering.

Toronto, Nov. 24—David Patterson, M.P., the Liberal delegate to the Liberal Convention, who was struck by a motor while crossing Yonge street on Tuesday, is reported to be progressing favorably at the Emergency Hospital, although he is not yet out of danger.

Are Your Trousers Stamped?

Very few wholesale tailoring houses are willing to put their names on the garments they manufacture—have no confidence in their own goods.

Our trousers are purchased from our factory boars our trade mark on the curtain.

Thus, our reputation is at stake, and you know what that means—we've got to put our very best workmanship and intelligence into every pair.

If our name is on your trousers you can depend the quality and style are right.

If your dealer does not keep them send us a postal card and we will tell you where you can get them.

WHY PLUCKY JAPAN WILL DEFEAT RUSSIA

Because in all forms of Wealth and National Greatness that Country is Superior to the United Kingdom a Century Ago, and in Military and Naval Skill not the Inferior of any Nation in the World.

In the opinion of the "Statist," the condition of Japan is much more favorable at present than was the condition of the United Kingdom a century ago. Javan just two years ago astonished the world by a display of naval and military efficiency, which was quite unexpected. The course of a brief campaign she completely overthrew China, and compelled that vast empire to pay a large indemnity and to cede important territory. The ceded territories Japan was forced to give back by a coalition between Germany, Russia and France, but she, nevertheless, entered upon the present conflict with a very high prestige, owing to the naval and military efficiency she showed when fighting China. This was in great contrast to the position of Great Britain, which, only eleven years before, the outbreak of the European storm, had had to yield to the combined efforts of the United States, France, Russia and Holland, and to acknowledge the independence of the thirteen original North-American colonies.

Financially, Japan is also in a much better condition than was England when she entered upon the prolonged struggle with revolutionary France. England then already had a debt of two hundred and sixty millions sterling or about five times the amount that the Japanese debt when the present war broke out in February last or taking into account the extent of Japanese population over the British, the British debt in 1708 was per head of the population about fifteen times heavier than the Japanese debt was last February. In spite, however, of the enormous greater national debt, heavy taxation, and the discontent and disquiet of a large part of the English people, Great Britain succeeded in continuing the struggle for twenty-two years, excepting for the two brief breathing spells of the Peace of Amiens and the first abdication of Napoleon. During these twenty-two years of almost constant warfare the debt of the United Kingdom was increased by about six hundred and thirty-five millions sterling, or, say $3,175,000,000. In the matter of population, Japan ships to the advantage. In 1708 the population of the United Kingdom was about fifteen millions, compared with the fifty millions of Japan today, so that the population of Japan is three times as large as was that of Britain a hundred and eleven years ago. Taking the usual estimate of a fifth of the total population being of fighting age, that would give Japan ten million men, able soldiers or sailors against three millions in the United Kingdom at the beginning of the Napoleonic wars. It is scarcely to be credited now, but it is nevertheless a fact, that small as was the British population then, it was able to put under arms a million men in the most critical period of the struggle, including auxiliary forces of every kind by land and sea.

Then, so far as wealth goes, the "Statist" holds that Japan is in some respects immensely more wealthy than was the United Kingdom a hundred odd years ago. New forms of wealth have come into existence since then, and Japan, having adopted civilization it is better able to put armies in the field and maintain them than, Japan, for instance, has now 4,495 miles of railways while the United Kingdom had no railways while she was carrying on her colossal struggle. Then, the total shipping of the United Kingdom was only 1,415,000 tons, while the total Japanese tonnage last year was 979,421 tons, of which 607,959 tons represented steamers. It is now customary to estimate that one steamer is equal to three sailing vessels, so the mercantile marine of Japan today may be said to be nearly double what the British mercantile marine was when the French war began 111 years ago, or is equal to about 2,939,194 tons. In addition, there are Japanese junks of a total tonnage of 475,868. So far as cash in hand is concerned, the deposits in Japanese banks last year amounted to about $500,000,000, or $10 per head. No British bank published its deposits until well on into the nineteenth century, so that a comparison in that regard cannot be made, but a rough comparison between the foreign trade of the two countries is possible. It is only a rough one because the value given of the British imports in that year is not the value of the present time, but the value current in prices current for 1784. At that time a dollar would purchase probably quite as much as a sovereign and a half would do now, and the weight of the money comparisons are modified by that fact. Bearing the fact in mind, it is found that the value of British and Irish imports rose from £17,109,000 in 1791 to £26,310,000 in 1811, and the value of the British and Irish exports rose from £22,016,000 in 1791 to £35,700,000 in 1811. The Japanese figures show that the value of their imports in 1897 was only £2,884,484, but the value had risen to £31,715,552 in 1903. The value of the exports thus rose from £3,026,892 to £23,950,214 during the same period. The British exports trade of Japan to-day is therefore about the same in figures as it was half of the United Kingdom during the French war. The conclusion from these and other statistics is that Japan could borrow a hundred millions sterling if she should require it, without seriously mortgaging her future, and that she has the means to put more men in the field than Russia, and has the best chance of winning out.

TEA AND CONCERT

Under the Auspices of the Cambridge-at Methodist Church Ladies' Aid.

The large crowd that turned out on November 25th to the annual tea and concert under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Cambridge-st. Methodist church was served with some of the best tea and coffee and served the finest concerts, in the history of the society. Everything that went to the tea all received the greatest attention and had their appetites tempted with all kinds of delicacies and the concert was of a delightful type and was highly appreciated.

Mr. Norman J. Engl sounds pipe organ recital had been anticipated as a number sure to please, and the result proved the soundness of the prediction. Miss Minnie Gould displayed wonderful ability as a soprano singer, and Mr. Hishop is already a favorite with Lindsay audiences and rendered his solos in a manner that merited the enthusiastic tribute received. Miss Hilda de Douglass Ludlow, the child elocutionist, sang at his best, and the little fellow captured the hearts of everybody. He had to respond to several hearty encores. A very attractive number was the pianoforte by Miss N. Balfour and Miss Pearl White.

The program held the attention of the assembly unbroken to the close, and the audience delighted and highly greeted by a large crowd at their next annual event.

IS YOUR CATARRH REMEDY CURING YOU

If You Are Unconsciously Using An Alcoholic Liquid Remedy Stop At Once.

People soon learn that the true test of a catarrh remedy is what it does to the sufferer, and so you ever inquired why so many catarrh remedies have had better for a time? It is because the alcohol in the liquid remedy makes the mucous membranes drunk. It deprives them of sensation, it dupes false hopes and always leads to alcohol drinks. A permanent cure by any liquid dropper or catarrh remedy is simply impossible. The alcohol used in liquid preparations makes it almost a necessity to add a stimulant. They incite the worst forms of catarrhal trouble inflammation and bronchitis. Can a physician be found who will truthfully say that any liquid catarrh remedy is worthy of use? Every physician knows that it is an impossible thing to dose into the stomach enough active medicine of these kinds to be of any real benefit to the nasal passages. Catarrh is a blood and local disease and cannot be cured by the best remedies relief. Snoll's Triple Cure, that good and wonderful cure for catarrh preparations, three of which are in tablet form and dissolved and swallowed, another in the form of a catarrh cream, contains no alcohol and cures and not false hopes. It makes you feel better the first day, and each day feel better, and at the end of a week's or fortnight's treatment, it restores the mucous membranes in every part of the body. It positively cures catarrh, dyspepsia and all blood diseases. If you have long been a slave to a liquid catarrh remedy, break away from the habit, and with Snoll's Triple Cure, a wonderful, full and complete cure will be yours. Snoll's Triple Cure is a lasting gift. Ten weeks for 50 cents, or more, the prices vary for the money ever offered. If your druggist won't supply you, send us 25 cents and we will mail today and we will send it, postpaid and in plain cover, to any address. Snoll Co., 162 St. James St., Montreal.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that contain Mercury.

as Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the injury they do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists, Price 75c. per bottle.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Private Post Cards.

Of late the private post card has attained great popularity in Canada, and property so in Germany and other continental countries, the State revenue from the sale of these cards to tourists amount to a large sum yearly, and there is an additional profit of inestimable value—the benefit derived from the free advertising points of interest in these countries in all parts of the world. The people of the United States are also displaying a growing fondness for the tiny pasteboard, and even in Canada the habit is growing. Mr. R. S. Porter, bookseller, Lindsay, stands indebted for much free advertising of the town's beauty spots, in his handsome cards comprising about twenty different views. He has also been supplying the pictures surrounded by the British flag and Canada's coat-of-Arms, and lead all others in attractiveness. Citizens will be doing their town a good turn in reading these lines to friends at a distance.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

ANOTHER TEACHER MAY BE ENGAGED FOR THE COLLEGIATE

Special Committee will Consider the School's Showing in the Departmental Exams — The Typewriter Purchase and other Matters.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held Nov. 15th at the Town Clerk's office. The members present were Chairman Stewart and Messrs. R. Kennedy, R. B. Beal, Jos. Staples, P. G. Pilkie, R. Kylie, Dr. Blanchard, J. Devitt, J. D. Flavelle: absent, Col. Deacon, J. G. Edwards, Dr. Jeffers and J. Carew.

The Typewriters.

Secretary Spier read a letter from the Empire Typewriter Co., relative to the purchase of five typewriters for the Collegiate.

Mr. Kennedy objected to what he considered was an effort to push the purchase of the typewriters without allowing those opposed to the scheme an opportunity to make their objections felt.

Mr. Beal held the same view. While not opposed to the purchase of the five machines if their need was demonstrated, the report had been referred to the committee in order to get that information, and because Mr. Kennedy, who took a deep interest in the matter, had not been notified to be present. That committee had not reported.

Mr. Staples—"They did not report, and as a result the Board acted and passed the resolution to buy the machines."

Mr. Kennedy—"I wanted the public to be informed as to the necessity of the expenditure—that the use of the machines had actually increased the attendance. That has not been made plain."

Mr Stewart—"Apparently the machines have been purchased on the strength of the resolution passed by the Board. I do not think the Board's action was dominated by a desire to get a snap verdict, but I would advise that the committee sit again. While the contract with the company is finding if they wish to hold us to it, yet if the committee decide against the purchase perhaps we may be able to make some arrangement for a return of some of the machines."

Secretary Spier—"The machines are here and have been in use for some time. They were purchased at once on the strength of the resolution on the books."

Mr Staples—"I fail to see where any fault can be found. A meeting of the Board was called in the regular way, and those who were dilatory in attending have no good reason to find fault with what was done by those who responded to the summons."

Dr Blanchard—"I have no objection to the matter being referred back, because I know the report will be endorsed by every member except one."

Mr Kylie thought that perhaps Mr. Kennedy had not been fairly treated, but now that the machines were purchased and in use he failed to see what good purpose was to be gained by referring the matter back to the committee.

After some further discussion a motion to refer the question back was withdrawn.

Finance Report.

Mr. Staples, chairman of the Finance committee, introduced a report recommending payment of the following accounts:

F. Shaw	$ 16.12
Jos. Maunder	86.40
United Typewriter Co.	2.30
H. Walsh	2.50
L. H. & Power Co.	.13
Wilson & Wilson	2.00
Watchman-Warder	5.00
United Typewriter Co.	180.00

Mr Flavelle—"I have no objection to the report, but I wish to say that I have not received a notice this year to attend a meeting of the Finance committee."

Mr. Staples—"I notified the members several times, but was unable to secure a quorum."

Mr. Flavelle—"If the members are notified and do not attend the meetings, that is their fault, but I haven't received a notice. Mr. Anderson always made it a point to do so."

Chairman Stewart—"I send out the notices anyway, Mr. Staples, whether the members attend or not."

Bargains in Stoves.

On motion the chairman of the Managing committee was authorized to sell all the unused wood stoves stored in the Central School.

Mr. Pilkie—"I have been offered $28 for eight of them. That is about 50c. per 100 lbs."

The School's Record.

Chairman Stewart informed the Board that he had received Principal Harstone's report on the results of the midsummer examinations, and a copy of same had been forwarded to each member. Perhaps it would be better to refer the report to a committee for thorough examination and comparison, and the Board could then discuss it in connection with the committee's recommendations.

This was agreed. The following committee was named—Messrs. Deacon Beal, Kennedy, Kylie, Pilkie, Staples and Chairman Stewart. They will report at a special meeting to be called when desired.

An Additional Teacher.

Chairman Stewart called the attention of the members to the fact that Principal Harstone had advised the engagement of another teacher for Collegiate work owing to the large increase in the number of students since midsummer. Some action should be taken in connection with that matter.

On motion Principal Harstone was heard. He pointed out that at the present time almost every form was overcrowded, there being 230 students on the roll, with an average attendance for October of 225. The I. Form contained 75 pupils, and it was impossible for one teacher to do that number anything like justice. He felt confident that the fees paid by new students and the increased Government and County grants earned as a result of the larger attendance would be almost, if not quite sufficient to pay the salary of the seventh teacher.

Mr. Flavelle—"Would we have any trouble in providing a room for the extra teacher?"

Principal Harstone—"No, we had as many as nine teachers employed at one time."

In reply to a question asked by Mr. Beal Principal Harstone said a teacher could not handle to advantage more than 35 students in the higher grades, and 45 was the outside limit.

Mr. Staples and other members made some reference to the showing of Goderich, Windsor, and other High Schools, the attendance and number of teachers engaged.

Principal Harstone—"The reports are apt to be misleading because they do not state where drill-masters are exclusively employed."

Mr. Flavelle then moved, seconded by R Kennedy, that owing to the largely increased attendance at the Collegiate, the Secretary be instructed to advertise for a properly qualified High School assistant teacher of English, mathematics and calisthenics at a salary of $300 duties to commence after New Year's.

Speaking in support of the motion, Mr. Flavelle said it was evident that the crowded state of all the Forms called for some action by the Board. It was easier to let a school run down than to build it up, and while it was satisfying to know that the extra fees, etc., would probably defray the cost of another teacher, that was not the main thing. We recognize that 75 pupils cannot be handled to advantage in even the junior grades by one teacher, and the higher the grade the fewer students can be taught. He would be quite willing to see seven or eight teachers permanently employed in the Collegiate if the attendance warranted that number.

Mr Beal—"We're here for two purposes—to look after the interests of the schools and the interests of the ratepayers. I am not in favor of increasing our expenditure as soon as we know we are making a little more money that heretofore, and I should like to have the matter discussed in the absence of Principal Harstone." The latter took the hint and departed.

Mr. Staples—"We should proceed as we are doing; we're getting along very well."

Mr Kennedy—"I seconded the motion for the sake of discussion. The question is—whether it would be better to let the new pupils go elsewhere, and hold the staff as at present, or to engage another teacher and keep the new pupils. If the additional revenue will about balance the salary, I'm willing, but if it will mean an additional expense of $200 or $300 I shall oppose the change, because I think the people are loaded up with as much school taxes as they can afford. For my part, I think the school made a poor showing this year, but perhaps if we do not give the staff the additional teacher, and another poor record is made next year, they will throw the blame upon us."

Dr. Blanchard—"There's no hurry; I'll move that the engagement of a teacher be referred to a special committee, to report at next meeting. I think the school did very good this year."

Mr. Flavelle—"I do not agree with Mr. Kennedy that we would be justified in driving students away — we should not think of that until the number exceeds the capacity of the building. Our school stands high in the estimation of educationists and the public, and we should leave nothing undone to maintain its reputation."

Mr. Beal—"I don't want to stint the school, but I want to feel sure that all the teachers are doing first-class work."

Mr. Staples—"We should have a full report on the showing made this year. Port Hope school passed 85 per cent., Lindsay less than 25 per cent. We are paying first-class salaries and should get first-class results. I agree with Dr. Blanchard that the matter should be fully discussed."

Minor Matters.

Moved by Mr. Pilkie, seconded by Mr. Staples, that a strict record be kept of all coal delivered, at each school, in order to serve as a guide for next year.—Carried.

After some discussion anent the Collegiate time-table, in the course of which Chairman Stewart remarked that many of the students were not doing one-half the work possible, it was decided that the Principal be asked to furnish all the information desired, and that each member should familiarize himself with the subject before the next meeting.

The Board then adjourned.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

New Way of Using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. Arthur Chapman, writing from Durban, Natal, South Africa, says: "As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a cure suitable for old and young, I pen you the following: A neighbor of mine had a child just over two months old. It had a very bad cough and the parents did not know what to give it. I suggested that they would get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the dummy teat that baby was sucking. It will no doubt cure the child. This they did and brought about a quick relief and cured the baby." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

THANKSGIVING AT THE CHURCHES.

Large Congregations Assembled to Hear Able Speakers Expound the Gospel.

The forty hours devotion which was held at St. Mary's church this week was brought to a close last evening and the church was crowded to the doors. The services were most impressive throughout the forty hours. A number of the reverand clergy from the adjoining parishes atended, amongst whom we noticed Rev's. Father Bretherton, Downyville, Fitzpatrick, of Ennismore, O'Sullivan, Victoria Road, Galvin and O'Brien, Peterboro, and Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Peteboro. Early morning masses were held from 6 a.m. until 9 p. m. on Wednesday and Thursday, the greater bulk of the congregation being present, nearly all of which partook of the sacrament of the Euchrist. After a sermon by the Rev. Fr. Galvin Thanskiving evening, the Litanies of the saints was chanted by the clergy and the choir, when the procession usual on such occasions was formed, Reverend Archdeacon Casey bearing the sacred host, after which the benediction was sang.

Services were also held in the Presbyterian and English churches. In the St. Andrew's, Rev. Mr. Wallace delivered the sermon to a tair sized congreagation, after which a collection was taken up to add to the Charity Fund of the church. The sermon was very impressive and inspired many and was listened to attenitvely by all. The choir rendered some very delightful music.

At the English church the sermon was clearly explained by Mr. Hallam. Mr. Ellis, a student of Wycliffe College, Toronto, and Rev. Mr. Marsh assisting in the services. The congregation present fully appreciated the service and the music by the choir added to the impressiveness of the service.

Any Boys?

If there are boys in the house, or girls either, then croup, coughs, catarrh, bronchitis, and sore throat are sure to be there, too, sooner or later. Don't crowd their stomachs with medicine, just have them breathe-in the vapor of Vapo-Cresolene; they'll like it, and it will give immediate relief. In this way you put the medicine right on the place that needs it. For whooping-cough it's the perfect cure. 57

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists, or sent express prepaid on receipt of price. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit including a bottle of Cresolene, complete $1.50. Send for free illustrated booklet. LEEMING, MILES Co., Ltd., Agents, 288 St. James Street, Montreal, Can.

WEEKLY POST LETTER BOX

BUTCHERS' PROFITS.

(To Ed. of The Post.)

Sir,—I noticed in The Daily Post a few evening's ago a party about to enter an action against the Council for wrong representation of the town as regards prices of living. First he jumps on the butchers, and I'll wager he is the man that butchers have trouble with. Coming into the shop, he generally wants a ten cent steak with enough suet to fry two pounds, and a soup bone for the next day's dinner. He fails to put his name to the article, and such men are no use to the town. As regards prices, we do not get as much as we did twenty years ago. We had at that time two cents a pound more all around than we have at the present time. We never sold our meat cheaper than we do now, and I only wish people could see for themselves our profits that they call 100 per cent.—Yours, etc.,

G. H. CALVERT & SON.

Lindsay, Nov. 16th.

HARD ON HOUSEHOLDER.

(To the Editor of The Post.)

Dear Sir,—I noticed in your paper of Friday last, a communication signed "Householder," giving the butchers makers, and above all, the milkmen a calling down about such high prices. Now I think Mr. "Householder,"—if that is his right name—you ought not to say one word about the price of milk, as it is as cheap as can be produced—for 5c. a quart delivered—and if he don't have to pay 6c. per quart before the winter is over he will get off lucky. He says at least some of the milkmen are middlemen, who do not keep cows and are making 100 per cent. for merely delivering. I think if Mr. "Householder" was a milkman for one morning, he would be glad to go back to his present situation and keep quiet. Thanking you for the valuable space, taken, I remain, yours, etc.,

MILKMAN.

Lindsay, November 18, '04.

ANOTHER ONE FOR HOUSEHOLDER.

(To the Editor of The Post.)

Mr. Editor.—I think it ill behaves our new citizen to come into our midst and write letters to your paper, re the high prices of living in Lindsay. Whoever influenced him to come here made a mistake. We are enjoying a grand period of prosperity and Lindsay is one of the best towns in the Province of Ontario. Our tax rate is high but our assessment is low.

If our new citizen is a laborer or a mechanic he must be aware of the fact that he is receiving 40 to 50 per cent. more for his work that he did six years ago, or let the butcher and baker have a share of the surplus. If he belong to the element that thinks he is continually oppressed by his fellowmen, Lindsay is far better without him.—Yours truly,

GOOD TIMES.

Lindsay, Nov. 16th, '04.

A PRETTY NOVEMBER WEDDING.

Reid—Woodley.

On Wednesday, Nov. 16th, a very very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Woodley, Lindsay-st., when their daughter, to Mr. J. H. Reid, of Midland. The Edith Mabel, was united in marriage ceremony was performed by Mr. G. W. Clarke, of Little Britain. The bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. H. F. Woodley, of Port Perry to the strain of the wedding march played by Mrs. M. Fee.

The bride was attired in a travelling suit of brown vecuna cloth and carried a shower boquet of white chrysathemums and smilax. She was attended by her sister, Miss Eva Woolley, who wore a suit of brown ecillian and carried a boquet of cream chrysanthemums and smilax. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. J. W. Reid, of Bracebridge. After the ceremony the company partook of a dainty repast. The happy couple left on the evening train for Toronto and Bracebridge. The presents were numerous and costly. The grooms gift to the bride was a handsome gold watch and chain, and to the bridesmaid a pretty jewel case. After their return Mr. and Mrs. Reid will reside in Midland.

Among the outside guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, of Blackstock, Mr. Woodley, Port Perry, Mrs. Woodley, Port Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Reid, Toronto, Messrs. Harry and Norman and Miss Jessie Reid, of Toronto, Mr. J. W. Reid and Miss Killen, of Bracebridge, and town friends.

F. W. Glen, Ex., in Jail.

New York, Nov. 21.—Once worth $300,000, which he says he lost through the indiscriminate endorsement of friends' notes, Francis Wayland Glen (formerly M.P. for South Ontario), a well known writer on economics and the prophet of universal happiness and international peace, is an inmate of Ludlow street jail, for the non-payment of a paltry sum of $60, which Miss Josephine Marion Kneeland, a free-lance stenographer, says he owes her. She took at his dictation and transcribed many of the letters in which he propounded his theories of good will among men. Mr. Glen says he will pay Miss Kneeland in good time the money he justly owes her. Meanwhile, although he is 70 years of age, he will serve his 15 days in jail, after which he says he will be able to protect himself.

May Have Been Murdered.

Toronto, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Thompson received a telegram from Fort William on Saturday, telling her that the body of her son, A. H. Thompson, was found floating in the Kaministique. There was a bruise on the head, and this, combined with the fact that the body did not sink, suggested that there had been foul play. Other facts in Thompson's recent history provide a motive for murder on the part of someone, not yet discovered. Thompson was a portrait agent traveling out of Montreal and was in his 30th year. Mrs. Thompson is a widow and he was her only son.

Premier Pelted With Snowballs.

Buda-Pesth, Nov. 21.—As Premier Tisza was leaving a meeting of his political supporters yesterday, he was greeted with shouts of "Resign," and was pelted with snowballs. The police dispersed the crowd by a discharge of blank cartridges and arrested forty persons.

Circus Robbed.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 21.—The pay wagon of Forepaugh & Sells Bros.' circus was robbed of $30,000, mostly in small bills, Saturday, at Tarboro, N.C. Several arrests have been made, but there is no trace of the money. A $2,500 reward is offered.

POSSIBILITIES OF THE POSTAL SYSTEM.

Cheap Mail Facilities One of the Chief Factors in Our Prosperity and Progress.

"Common is the commonplace." The most valuable of civil benefits is such a commonplace matter, that we scarcely give it a thought. It would take a winter on a whaler nipped in an ice floe to make us truly appreciable of the worth of the postal service. What a wonderful thing it is! Wonderful in its organization, with its vast machinery for the collection and distribution of letters, its railway mail cars, its route riders, the unfailing order and precision of its methods. Wonderful it is too in its results. It knits together families widely separated. It carries across the sea some tender lover's message or perhaps a little flower picked from the daisied grave of an English churchyard. Every hour of every day the mail bag is packed with words which waken love and laughter, and words which deepen the furrow in the cheek and dim the failing sight with bitter tears.

But with all this there is going on through the mail service a dissemination of human knowledge, a reaching out of human help which is one of the crowning blessings of our century. The correspondence schools led by Chautauqua, are sending to every village and hamlet the broader knowledge which is so eagerly craved by many who are shut in to the homely duties of a humble life. Without the mail system this plan of education would be impracticable.

Every mail, too, carries from the great centers, the advice of great physicians, which it would be impossible for the distant public to obtain were it not for the mails. Few people realize how many thousand people depend on the mail service for medical treatment. Not long ago when some postal affairs were being discussed in connection with the erection of the new postoffice building in Buffalo, N. Y., some light was thrown on this subject by the statement that the mail by Dr. R V. Pierce amounted daily to something over 1,500 pieces. Of course this is not a common case, because Dr. Pierce's relation as chief consulting physician to Buffalo's famous institution, The Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, makes his advice and that of his staff of nearly a score of skilled and experienced specialists much sought after, especially by women, to the treatment and cure of whose special diseases Dr. Pierce has devoted over thirty years of almost constant labor. But though this example is out of the ordinary, it may serve as an evidence of the amazing benefits reaped by the public from the mail service. It puts every outlying hamlet in touch with the most advanced medical specialism of the day. It gives at a cost of a two-cent stamp, the skill and experience that it has taken years to acquire. Literally at the cost of a two-cent stamp, since Dr. Pierce invites sick women to consult him by letter without charge. And this would seem to be one of the most remarkable services rendered by the postal system, perhaps the supreme service of all. For while it is a splendid thing to be able to shop in New York while living in Kansas, and a grand thing to be able to command the learning of great professors while working in the Michigan woods, it is a still grander thing that by means of this cheaply supplied service, men like Dr. Pierce, who have the disposition to be helpful, are enabled to place their skill and knowledge at the disposal of those who are being dragged down by disease, without the possibility of help from those about them. When one contemplates the vast and far reaching benefits of the mail service, so briefly touched upon in this article, it makes the familiar gray uniform of the postman the most glorious of all uniforms, for it is worn by the soldiers of the army of peace. It makes one feel like taking his hat off to the on-rushing mail train, and cheering the work and wisdom of Uncle Sam.

Perkins' American Herbs

Thousands of people all over this country acknowledge it to their merits. They are acknowledged to be the greatest family medicine known.

Mrs. Lina McDermid, William st., north Lindsay, says, "I am seventy-six years of age and have suffered the torments of Rheumatism for a number of years; my health in general has been very poor. After other treatments had failed, I was induced to try Perkins' American Herb Tablets. After taking them regularly for some time, they cured me, and I am satisfied they are the greatest system regulator on the market at the present time. I will take great pleasure in recommending them to others.—Oct. 6th, 1904.

NEWS ABOUT THE HUNTERS.

LARGE NUMBER AFTER THE DEER THIS SEASON.

Movements of the Parties as they Occur From Day to Day.

(From Evening Post, Nov. 16).

—Mr. W. R. Wadsworth, manager of the Bank of Toronto, Toronto, secured a fine deer back in the northern woods.

—Among the carcases tagged for western points that arrived in town on the Pacific express this morning were: W. B. Beamister, Beaverton, 2; Harry Sedgwick, Toronto, 1; A. Fowler, Toronto 2; R. W. Craig, Toronto, 2; and one each for Messrs. H. Shaw, Dr. N. Allan, Toronto, and Mr. R. Shaw, Alliston.

—A party of hunters, comprising Messrs. Geo. E. Rose, W. J. Ferguson, town, and Messrs. John Metcee and T. B. Laidlay, of Omemee, returned yesterday morning, after spending a pleasant and beneficial two weeks hunt at Cooking Lake, Glamorgan township. The party met with good success and were blessed with exceptionally weather. Each man secured his limit of two, the largest deer being a fine buck weighing 206 lbs. which was shot by Mr. Rea. The party had five dogs and two canoes. When returning the hunters had to break through thick ice to get out.

(From Evening Post, Nov. 18.)

—Mr. W. Clarke, town, secured a good-sized deer.

—Mr. Earnham, of Port Hope, got a good-sized buck.

—Parties from Millbrook and Bethany returned yesterday morning.

—A fine deer was shipped through to Mr. H. Bundy, Lindsay, this morning.

—Two fine deer were shipped through to Mr. Birch of Orillia, this morning.

—Mr. McIvor, of Millbrook, had a doe one shipped to him yesterday morning.

—Some of the largest bucks ever seen in town were brought down from Haliburton yesterday morning. They were beauties and their heads and horns will make excellent ornaments.

—Mr. G. F. Courtice, of Bowmanville, secured a fine buck, with a beautiful head.

—A fine chunk of venison was shipped through Wednesday to Mr. W. G. Smith, of Bobcaygeon.

—Mr. C. Shiels, of Millbrook, secured a deep buck and had it shipped through yesterday morning.

—A party from Toronto, who had been hunting back near Minden, returned with their limit yesterday on the Haliburton train.

—A party comprising Messrs D. Wattine, F. Wattman and W. Hardy, of Orillia, returned this morning, having secured a nice deer.

—The Simpson-Beaty party received home on Tuesday. They came with fair success, but report deer to be scarce. They secured one buck apiece, north-east of Bobcaygeon.

—The Needler-Beaty party, who had been hunting in Longford, have returned with their full limit of deer, among which they secured seven fine bucks. The party comprised Messrs. Wm. Needler, E. Needler, of Lindsay, town and Messrs. Joy Jackson and Mr. Beaty, engineer of Millbrook.

(From Evening Post, Nov. 19).

—Two fine deer were sent through to Mr. Thos. McBride, of Millbrook today.

—Mr. H. Hare, of Peterboro, shipped two nice ones through this morning.

—The Haliburton train brought down about thirty fine deer this morning.

—Mr. T. R. Bosworth had a good one sent through to his home in Peterboro today.

—Mr. J. Wright, of Peterboro, shot a nice one and put it sent through today.

—Mr. Charlie Dinnis, of Galt, got turned with two fine deer and had them shipped through to-day.

—Messrs. N. E. Fenice and Roy McTrash, Port Hope, secured a fine buck in the north woods and returned to this morning.

—The last of the Red Tam Club, of Orillia, who have been hunting at Longford township passed through Wednesday morning. The party this year consisted of Albert and H. Ward, J. C. Dodds, J. Mathews, R. Hayvie, W. H. Tudhope, Tom Campbell, Dr. Powell, Toronto, and Art. Sexton, Jos. Thomas. They brought out 39 deer.

(From Evening Post, Nov. 21).

—A partridge hunter returned home Saturday.

—The deer are becoming scarce, only four passed through this morning.

—Mr. Cowell, of Toronto, secured two fine deer and had them through today.

—Mr. A. Pethick, of Woodville, had a nice deer shipped through to his baby today.

—A hunting party with six dogs, passed through this morning. They had their deer before last night.

—The Sinclair-Ellis party returned yesterday morning with their full number, 24, in all. Their report is tip-top time, lot of deer and lots of venison.

—While out hunting on Thanksgiving Day, Thomas Howard Boyce, of Port Hope, was accidentally shot in the leg by companions, who were carrying while returning home. They had carried one cartridge in their gun, the young men were anxiously looking for something to shoot at, when a goose, a red-eared white McGillivray goose, rose from the water by, and in putting the gun up to fire, it accidentally went off, the shot lodging effect in the back part of Boyce's leg, just below the hip.

FICHTING THE WHITE PLAGUE.

Addresses in the Interest of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives.

Rev. P. Clifton Parker, M. A., of Toronto, was in town Sunday in the interest of the Muskoka Free Hospital for consumptives. Mr. Parker who has been pastor of one of the leading Baptist churches, of Toronto for 13 years, has given up a year of pastoral work, to try and rouse public sentiment, on the question of consumption; with this in view, he has spoken in nearly all the cities and larger towns in the Province, with the result that branches of the National Sanitarium Association have been formed in nearly all of them and some of them have adjourned to prompt bons in the free Hospital on behalf of their own consumptives.

Mr. Parker preached on Sunday evening in the Cambridge-st. Methodist church and in evening in the Presbyterian church. He also gave one of the evening addresses there was a mass meeting in Kaplin's church. The rain somewhat interfered with the attendance, yet there was quite a large number present. Mr. Parker showed how this disease of consumption was not hereditary, though it was incidental, infectious, virulent, contagious and curable. He showed that every fourth person between the ages of 15 and 45 died from this dreadful disease, and as every consumptive was a menace to the community, it was absolutely necessary that some provision should be made for caring for them and giving them a chance for life.

At the close of the address, Dr. Wood, Rev. Mr. Wallace, Mr. J. D. Flavelle and Mr. Lloyd Wood, of Toronto, spoke. It was decided to form a Lindsay branch of the National Sanitarium Association. Mr. J. D. Flavelle was made President, Dr. Wood Treasurer, Mr. A. D. Kitchener secretary and the following was and doubtless will be taken to add to their number, Wm. Archibald, Chas. Sadlier, Jos. Sutherland, and Mr. J. B. McNeillie. They will meet Rev. Mr. Parker this afternoon and doubtless steps will be taken to have a Lindsay bed in the Muskoka sanatorium established. It takes $300 per year for the maintenance of a bed in the Free Hospital. That should be little or no difficulty in securing that amount for such a notable object.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Union.

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Union will be held at the Ontario Agricultural College, on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. nuber 5th and 6th, commencing at 2.00 p.m. on the 5th.

Experiments in agriculture and horticulture have this year been conducted on over 4,000 farms throughout Ontario. The results of the carefully conducted work will be tabulated and presented at the annual meeting, to which all interested in agriculture are invited.

Papers on various subjects to be presented and discussed at the meeting this year are as follows: "Selection of Seed Grain and How to Farm successfully with as little help as possible." "The Spring of Fall in Cold Storage." "The Bird and the Orchard." "Dairy Dairy for Ontario." "Actual Observations of economical management of a dairy system, per acre of our Farm Crops."

Ladies sessions under the auspices of the Women's Institutes will be held in the Macdonald Institute on Wednesday afternoon and Wednesday Monday evening, a public meeting of all interested will be held in the College Convocation Hall.

Arrangements have been made for a special rate of single fare for experimental Union meeting and the Ontario Winter Fair. The excursion rates start on Saturday, Dec. 3rd. Four full particulars of the excursion to the programme and the excursion rates, apply to A. G. Zavitz, Secretary Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario.

Omar on the Fashion Now.

I saw a women go week fretful down,
To choose her winter habit frock or gown,
"What color shall it be?" her lady asking cried,
"O, make it any color, so (lin brown."

The Fashion set with pitfall and with gin
The Path of Style the women wandered in.

"This fashion says, "Last year I made you plump—
This year I think you'd better all be thin."
From this fashion creations full of curves,
With lines that always in fleecy swerves,
Go, look, ask not the value of the price
The price is sure to get upon your vice.

The Sleeker-Ellis party return.

Yesterday morning with their full number, 24, in all. Their report is tip-top time, lot of deer and lots of venison.

—While out hunting on Thanksgiving Day, Thomas Howard Boyce, of Port Hope, was accidentally shot in the leg by companions, who were carrying while returning home. They had carried one cartridge in their gun, the young men were anxiously looking for something to shoot at, when a goose, a red-eared white McGillivray goose, rose from the water by, and in putting the gun up to fire, it accidentally went off, the shot lodging effect in the back part of Boyce's leg, just below the hip.

SANITATION IN THE NORTH.

Board of Health Report on Muskoka and Kawartha Lake District.

Toronto Star: At yesterday's meeting of the Board of Health, a report prepared by Dr. Amyot and Dr. Hodgetts on the sanitary conditions in the Muskoka and Kawartha District, was submitted. The Sanitary Committee will deal with the report at its next meeting. It was stated that considerably care was being taken by hotel proprietors and one or two exceptions to prevent pollution of the lakes. The summer residents caused the most danger, with the summer residents in the districts did little to assist in the work. Sanitary conditions in the district were particularly noticeable in the Kawartha district, where neither hotel nor cottage residents seemed to do anything to assist in the work. Nine out of ten have no idea of the care as we know, neither Dr. Amyot or Dr. Hodgetts have visited the lakes or consulted Lindsay or Bobcaygeon Boards of Health with reference to existing conditions. As a matter of fact, the summer resorts are scattered along the Kawartha Lakes, and those in the north and south lakes are fairly well looked after from a sanitary standpoint. It looks as if some member of the company should be erect a hotel at Jackson's Point, Lindsay, and then "build up" the Provincial Board of Health.

MERRY WEDDING BELLS

Wallace—Stoddard.

A very pretty house wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. Henry Stoddard, 18 Regent-st. north ward, Nov. 16th at 7.30 o'clock, when Mr J. Wallace, of Beaverton, and Miss Ella Stoddard, only daughter of Mr. H. Stoddard, were united in the holy matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Phelps, pastor of Queen-st. Methodist church, in the presence of a few immediate friends.

The bride was attended by Miss Maggie Mitchell while the groom was attended by Mr. Wm. Stoddard, brother of the bride. After the ceremony was over a very pretty wedding breakfast was served. The bride's going-away costume was a navy blue silk with hat to match, trimmed with cord and black picture hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace left on the 7.45 train for Toronto, Niagara, where they will visit the Falls and St. Catharines. Mr. Wallace accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Wallace as far as Toronto. Congratulations.

SHOPLIFTING

A Young Girl Caught With the Goods.

A girl of fourteen years of age was arrested in Smith's store on Saturday afternoon, charging ladies with bag, as she pleaded for mercy, promised never to do the same thing shoplifting, she was allowed to go with a warning. The girl as well as other girls, are aware of a good deal of this petty thieving going on in Lindsay stores and have resolved to make an example of the first of these light-fingered shoplifters.

A Dog Accident.

A dog accident occurred the other day on Cambridge-st. A man on a bicycle was wheeling down the street when a little dog, one of those which are a lot of barking, ran out and tried to scare the man. The loud barking attracted a larger dog to the scene, and the larger dog, which had more common sense, commenced to chase the little dog. Stop it, soon, but not according to coaxing, it took half the street, and the man on his bicycle, where it remained quite dead to the world for awhile, and probably went home wheeling again in a hurry. Its to bad more of these dog accidents don't happen as the dogs which take after wheels are a nuisance.

PERILS OF THE SEA

Rumored Loss of Red Star Liner Kroonland, 1,445 Passengers.

BRAND STORY AS MALICIOUS

Parkentine Makewell Founded On West Coast of Vancouver Island and Capt. Nelson and All Hands Parished—

British Steamship Sicilian Prince Ashore With 613 Persons—

Britton Ship 48 Hr. Short.

London, Nov. 21.—A despatch to The Central News from Brussels last night says it is rumored at Antwerp that the Red Star Line steamship Kroonland, with 1,445 passengers, has foundered in mid-ocean.

The officials of the Red Star Line have no information of any such disaster and discredit the report.

The Kroonland sailed from Antwerp, Nov. 12, for New York.

Story Branded as Malicious.

New York, Nov. 21.—The officials of the Red Star Line brand as malicious the rumor of the Kroonland foundering. They discredit the report and declare that the ship is not due here until Monday night, and, as vessels arriving report heavy weather, she may not arrive until Tuesday.

Parkentine Founders.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 21.—The barquentine Makewell, Capt. Nelson, lumber laden, from Tacoma to Mazatlan, Mex., has foundered on the west coast of Vancouver Island at Clayoquot. All hands perished.

Sicilian Prince Ashore With Persons.

New York, Nov. 21.—Capt. Van Wicklen of the Long Beach, Long Island, life saving station, reported to the British steamship Sicilian Prince from Marseilles, Naples and Palermo, for New York, with 612 persons aboard, went ashore at Long Beach yesterday morning about half a mile west of the life saving station. The steamer lay in an easy position. At high tide an attempt was to be made to float the Sicilian Prince. Should this attempt fail the 600 steerage and 12 cabin passengers will be taken off and the cargo lightered.

British Ship 48 Hr. Short.

London, Nov. 21.—Capt. Carron of the liner Grange, which arrived Saturday, reports that off Foulkon Wednesday, in the Firth of Forth, a warship fired six shots at the Grange. The shots were close by the deck, dangerously close to two of the lifeboats. The weather was hazy, and no vessel was visible. It is not believed the shots were fired by the Russian. The incident was probably due to careless target practice by some British warship.

Steamship Nassau Damaged.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 21.—A fierce storm swept the Newfoundland coast Tuesday and Wednesday, damaging at the fishing stations. Owing to the foul weather no fish seals have caused fishing, the casualties are not likely to be large.

Wreck of Britton Ship.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 21.—Train No. 4, the Chicago Limited, of the Wabash, eastbound, collided headon at Bement, Ill., yesterday noon with a freight train. The freight, bound, owing to a misunderstanding of orders as to meeting, was flying pass. Both engines were demolished and the baggage car burned.

The train crews saved themselves by jumping. Engineer Edwards had both ankles sprained. Twenty passengers were injured, none fatally. Among them were—

H. J. Scott, Toronto, Ont., collarbone broken.

Mrs. G. B. Hicks, Toronto, wrist and shoulder sprained.

Dr. C. O'Reilly, Toronto, cut on head and rib broken.

Charles Griffin, Porter, Windsor, Ont., hip sprained.

The Canada Victims.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Dr. O'Reilly, superintendent of the Toronto General Hospital, has left a telegram to the St. Louis Fair. He wired home that Mr. Scott is not seriously hurt.

H. J. Scott, K.C., was on his way to Toronto to attend to a wills, he is interested. It is just a short time ago since he broke both legs.

Fatal Fire at Wheeling.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 21.—The Belmont State Building, one of the World's Fair was destroyed by fire Saturday night, resulting from the explosion of a stick of dynamite in the basement. The building cost $100,000, and contained $75,000 worth of furnishings, portraits of all the presidents of Congress and supreme judges, which cannot be replaced. The explosion caused the alarm, Capt. O'Neill of World's Fair truck No. 4 was seriously hurt. George Carlenbach, Louis Ulief and Jeremiah Fagin probably fatally injured. Fire Chief Swingley and Ed. Randolph was fatally injured by a falling wall.

Twelve Burned to Death.

New York, Nov. 21.—Smothered to death in their beds while trying to escape in a burning tenement building on Grotman street yesterday morning, 12 persons met death early Sunday morning. Two entire families, those of Antonio Pizzo and Pietro Lucchese, were wiped out, the last living member of the family, Mrs. Pizzo and Tony Trielo, aged 13, being rescued together with no hope of recovery.

Mother Rescued Dog.

Bisco, Nov. 21.—A fatal drowning accident occured here yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Thomas Simpson and Langwith were skating on the Bisco River, when the latter broke through the ice, 30 feet from shore. Mrs. Simpson was rescued by his mother, who, while making a detour, ran boldly out on the frail ice to her son's aid. The boy clutched at her, but went down before help could reach him. The body was recovered an hour afterwards.

Halifax Schooner Seized.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 19.—A private cable from Montevideo announces that the sealing schooner, Agnes E. Donahoe of this city, has been seized by the Uruguayan authorities, and there are several Halifax men on board. The agent's have wired for particulars of the seizure.

We Offer $1,000

For a Disease Germ That Liquozone Can't Kill.

On every bottle of Liquozone we offer $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. We do this to assure you that Liquozone does kill germs.

And it is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease. It is this fact which makes Liquozone invaluable to humanity, a worth so great that, after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, we paid $100,000 for the American rights. And we have spent over one million dollars, in one year, to buy the first bottle and give it free to each sick one who would try it.

Acts Like Oxygen.

Liquozone is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there any alcohol in it. Its values are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. This process has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food of the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is an absolutely certain germicide. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is destructive to vegetable matter.

Liquozone goes into the stomach, into the bowels and into the blood, to go wherever the blood goes. No germ can escape it and none can resist it. The results are inevitable, for a germ disease must end when the germs are killed. Then Liquozone, acting as a wonderful tonic, quickly brings back the vigor of perfect health. Diseases which have resisted medicine for years yield to Liquozone. Sickness, and it cures diseases which medicine never cures. Half the people you meet—wherever you are—can tell you of cures that were made by it.

Germ Diseases.

These are the diseases against which that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are, and when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

Asthma — Bronchitis — Boils — Blood Poisons — Bright's Disease — Bowel Troubles — Carbuncles — Colds — Colitis — Contagious Diseases — Dandruff — Dysentery — Diarrhoea — Eczema — Erysipelas — Fever — Gall Stones — Gangrene — Glandular Swellings — Gleet — Gonorrhoea — Grippe — Hay Fever — Influenza — Infirmity — Leucorrhoea — Leprosy — Malaria — Mastoid Abscess — Mucous Patches — Muscular Rheumatism — Neuralgia — Nightsweats — Pleurisy — Pneumonia — Prostatic Troubles — Piles — Quinsy — Rheumatism — Ringworm — Scrofula — Skin Diseases — Stomach Troubles — Tapeworm — Tonsilitis — Tuberculosis — Tumors — Ulcers — Urinary Troubles — Women's Diseases.

"SAVED MY LIFE"

—That's what a prominent druggist said of Scott's Emulsion a short time ago. As a rule we don't hear or refer to testimonials in addressing the public, but the above remark and similar expressions are made so often in connection with Scott's Emulsion that they are worthy of occasional note. From infancy to old age Scott's Emulsion offers a reliable means of remedying improper and weak development, restoring lost flesh and vitality, and repairing waste. The action of Scott's Emulsion is one of a nature rather than the composition of the Emulsion itself. What it does it does through nourishment—the kind of nourishment that cannot be obtained in ordinary food. No system is too weak or delicate to retain Scott's Emulsion and gather good from it.

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture is in the form of a label on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

B. C. MINE DISASTER

Fourteen Miners Killed by Gas Explosion.

IN THE CARBONADO MINES

Only One Man Escaped With His Life—D. D'Arcy Has a Thrilling Experience, and Is Suffering From Shock—The Mines Are Now Smoking Hot, and a Similar Disaster Occurred Last Year.

Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—A Fernie, B. C., despatch says fourteen miners were killed at the Carbonado mines, near Morrissey, yesterday afternoon, as the result of a terrific explosion of coal gas. The disaster occurred in No. 4 mine, ten miles east of Fernie. The work of rescue was kept up all the afternoon, and all the bodies have been recovered. The dead are: Mr. Jenkins, Lewis Heath, Peter Kenny, Albert Johnson, Patrick Boyle, Wm. Platt, Mike Gisich, Arthur Prehryck, Venesta Venerka, Martin Tomasky, Anton and John Brodzo (two brothers), Joseph Suchy and Jas. Greenman. The wife of Jenkins, one of the victims, only arrived from the old country Thursday.

D. D'Arcy was the only man who escaped from the mine, and he had an experience he will never forget. He was a driver, and was on the way out when the terrible shock came. He heard a noise in the interior of the mine, followed by a mighty rush of dust and gas. He made his way out to the tunnel mouth, where he was rescued by friends. He is suffering severely from the shock. Mine Mine Inspector Ellwood and General Superintendent Dinsmore are at the scene of the accident, and everything was done to expedite the work of rescue, though it was known that some of the entombed men could possibly escape. A similar disaster occurred at the colliery last year, when four men were killed.

STEAMER OCEAN BURNED.

Had Many Misadventures and Was Burned to Cinders at Port Dalhousie While in Dry Dock.

St. Catharines, Nov. 19.—About 2.15 yesterday afternoon one of the steamers of the Scenic fleet, which was undergoing repairs in Muir's dry dock at Port Dalhousie, saw flames shooting from the hold. He raised the alarm, and almost as he shouted, fire seemed to burst out every direction. The men who were working on the vessel had to drop their tools and run for their lives. There was no time to save anything, not even the man's clothes.

The woman ran to his quarters to endeavor to get some belongings, but fire burst out all around him, and he was with difficulty saved from death by a brother fireman, James Oulette of Montreal, who rushed to his comrade's assistance. Oulette and the other man were badly burned on their faces. There was no steam up and no fire in the ship's furnaces, so that the men could not even keep the flames with the hose. The men had to get out another way, and the Ocean became reduced to ashes.

The Ocean belongs to the Scenic line, and while there will be some salvage, she is almost a total loss. The vessel was one of the oldest on the lakes, and cost $30,000 to build. She was valued at $15,000.

The fence around Muir's drydock caught fire soon after, and the turning of the water into the dock stopped the flames from spreading any further.

The burned steamer Ocean was owned by the Wentworth Navigation Co. She was one of the fleet plying between Hamilton and Toronto. In her time she had several misadventures. She was once going through the canals, where she did much damage in carrying away the gates.

Burned to the Water's Edge.

New York, Nov. 19.—While bound eastward from Duluth, Lake Lake Sound, between here and New London, Conn., the steamer Harry Merhawk of the Central Vermont Railroad's fleet, took fire off Morton's Point, near the eastern entrance to the sound, and was burned to the water's edge early yesterday morning. Her crew, except the watchman, were rescued by the steamer Massachusetts and taken to Fall River, Mass. It is believed that the Mohawk will be a total loss.

Burnside Hospital Afire.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—There was a fire in Burnside Maternity Hospital, in connection with the General, yesterday afternoon. Between 80 to 90 mates, and all were asleep except the nursing sisters and one nurse, who discovered the fire. Most of the 40 women patients were able to walk out from the hospital. The hospital staff did good work. There were six babies. The damage amounts to about $200.

22 GAS TANKS EXPLODE.

Five Employes Were Killed and a Score Injured.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Twenty-two gas tanks in the big railroad gas charging station at Stickney, south of Chicago avenue, exploded yesterday, and five men were killed, and scattered to railroad cars for lighting purposes, thirty men were injured, some rapidly succumbed, and were followed and short intervals by the other victims.

Five employes were killed and a score injured, by the explosion.

Death From Flash Powder.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—After suffering for 10 years two-weeks, Reeve was from the explosion of a photographic flash powder, Mr. Reeve was in his studio on Wednesday morning. Solicitor Vise of 511 West Queen street died in the Western Hospital at 1 p.m. yesterday afternoon. The death is given by the doctors as heart failure, resulting from nervous shock. Mr. Vise's hands and arms were fearfully burned, the hair was singed off his face, and the flesh of his neck, shoulders and chest were burned. The deceased was 36 years of age, and leaves a widow and family. He had been in the photographic business for many years in Toronto.

MISS MARY M'LEAN SHOT.

Two Unknown London Boys Fire in a Careless Manner.

London, Nov. 19.—Thursday afternoon Miss Mary McLean, daughter of Mr. Allan McLean, second engineer of the Springbank pumping station, accidentally shot herself in the leg by one of two boys who are at present unknown. Miss McLean, accompanied by her sister, Miss Rose McLean, had been up at the reservoir, and was on her way to their home, the Chelsea Villas, Thames River, at the loop, on the Springbank car track, when two boys approached from the Pipe Line road. Both carried guns. One boy was a mulatto, the other white. All at once they fired off their guns in a seemingly careless manner, a bullet striking Miss McLean's right leg, just above the ankle. She dropped to the ground, but with the assistance of her sister was able to limp to her home about half a block away.

Shot in the Leg.

Port Hope, Nov. 19.—Reeve Howard, in company with Charles McGibbon, went shooting Thursday afternoon, and when returning home an accident occurred. Reeve was shot through the left leg. McGibbon noticed something nearly, and in putting the gun up to fire it accidentally discharged, the bullet taking effect in the back part of Reeve's leg just below the hip. The case is not considered serious.

Shot in the Thigh.

London, Nov. 19.—A shooting accident occurred in the Springbank woods Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock. A young man, 19 years of age, named David Beynon, residing at Springbank, was out hunting with a companion, when his gun accidentally went off, the shot lodging in his thigh. The shot has not yet been extracted. It is as yet impossible to tell how serious the wound may turn out.

THE STREET CAR DISASTER.

Railway Commission Sends Mr. Duval to Make Investigation At Toronto.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Mr. Duval, the engineer of the Railway Commission, appointed to investigate accidents, left here yesterday morning's train for Toronto to inquire into the Queen street level crossing accident.

The Injured Doing Well.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—Present indications point to the list of fatalities in the Thanksgiving Day catastrophe will not amount above the three already dead. Baby Robertson and Miss Agnes Macdonald are the most serious, the one with a shattered leg, and the other with a fracture of the skull. They, however, are reported to be doing as well as one could desire, and there is every hope of their recovery. The funerals of the three victims will take place to-day.

POLITICS IN A NUTSHELL

Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—The recount of the votes in Provencher electoral division began yesterday morning, at the county court house, before Judge Walker. Although several losses and gains were made on the recount, the final result came out the same as before, 10 majority for Cyr, Liberal.

The Liberals of Centre Bruce met Friday in Glamis and after electing delegates to the convention nominated Mr. Neil McIntyre against Malcolm. A ballot was taken, which resulted in Malcolm defeating McIntyre by two votes.

How To Keep Horses Well.

That's a problem every farmer and stockman has to solve in winter. Lack of exercise—dry feed —weather changes—all upset the digestion. Horses often eat hearty, yet get thin—hair stands on end—feel tired and dull. Feed Myers' Royal Spice for the rest of the winter—see how much better the horses are—how easily they do hard work—and how much less your feed bills come to.

Let us send our illustrated booklet on horses and cattle. It is free —but very interesting and handy for reference.

LINDSAY'S WATER.

Opinion of a Leading United States Expert.

QUALITY BAD—PRESENT SYSTEM OF FILTRATION IMPERFECT.

He Advises the Installation of a Mechanical System at a Cost of About $20,000.

Below we present the first portion of the report of Mr. Robert Spurr Weston, of Boston, Mass., the eminent expert engaged by Lindsay Water Commissioners to examine the present system and advise as to its betterment:

October 22, 1904.

The Honorable Water and Light Commissioners for the Town of Lindsay, Ontario.

Gentlemen,—At your request, the writer visited Lindsay on September 23rd and made an inspection of your water-supply. You requested information concerning the character of the water supply and the most feasible method for its improvement and protection. The results of the study are embodied in the following report:

Population.—On the accompanying blue print is plotted the population of Lindsay for various years given in the 1904 and the estimated population to 1920. It will be seen that the population increased 62 per cent. between 1890 and 1900, and 111 per cent. between 1890 and 1904. The curve of population increase shows no signs of diminishing, phenomena which are to be expected, and the writer believes that a population of 10,000 will be reached by 1920, if not much before, and that in 1930 the population will be less than 14,000.

Consumption of Water.—The consumption of water in the two preceding years is about 490,000 gallons per diem, of which about 40,000 are bought by the Grand Trunk Railway, and 450,000 are used by 7,000 people in 1904. The per capita consumption of water was 64 gallons per day, of which 40 per cent. within the last two years.

Quantity of Water Required.—At the present time the consumption of water should not exceed 50 gallons per capita, and in this estimate the quantity of water necessary for the industrial purposes is increased to 10,000 gallons per day on account of the entrance of the Canadian Pacific Railroad into Lindsay, and in view of other industrial possibilities.

Unaccounted-for Leakage Water.—The water supplied to Lindsay is from the outlet of a large lake, and it is somewhat colored and is objectionable turbid during part of the year if abounds in algae and other aquatic plants which give rise to non-growth, odors and tastes.

The water contains excessive amounts of organic matter, as the following analysis by the Provincial Board of Health will show. The samples were collected on March 24, 1904, and the results are expressed in parts per million:

	Delivered Water.	Filtered Water.
Nitrogen as albuminoid ammonia	1.075	1.019
Nitrogen as free ammonia	0.058	0.052
Oxygen consumed	10.1	9.4

These amounts of organic matter are not dangerous in themselves, but make out-siders of the bacteria of the water and fearful for the results of the water, if it be contaminated with sewage accidentally. It contains abundant food for bacterial growth.

On the day of the writer's visit the color of the water of the river was 25 parts per million, of tap water, 27 parts. The turbidity of the river on the same day was 9 parts per million.

Dr. Amyot, of the Provincial Board of Health, reports that he has isolated intestinal bacteria from the Scugog River. This same sewage is polluted. An inspection was made of the banks of the river from the dam to above the cemetery. The cemetery itself is on the bank of the river above the dam. The cemetery is not a large population. Jave ladies are more dangerous than those of dead and gone. On the other hand, the cemetery is located in the vicinity of the city, and just beyond it are on the steeply slopes of the banks of the river, and overlooking the dispersal of typhoid excreta in the cemetery, and particular consequent of epidemic as was experienced in Lindsay, Ont., Plymouth, Pa., and Waterville, Me., where the dead bodies thrown upon the ground were subsequently washed into the streams and caused severe epidemics. There are no other cemeteries of any consequence which pollution of your water supply, and the cemetery, the same is below the intake, are less to be dreaded than those which are above the intake, as most to be feared.

Precautions against the typhoid fever danger are rigidness to reduce the pollution of the water above the intake to reduce the danger to a minimum.

Typhoid Fever.—The average typhoid fever death rate for the last five years was 38 per 100,000 living—nation, and 38 per 100,000 living—nation, but in view of the fact that some of the cases occurred in the outlying districts, and enough to definitely state that the water supply is the cause in some of the cases of typhoid. The writer believes that the disagreeable appearance, the disagreeable taste and smell, rather than the slight pollution of the sewage is responsible for the high rate of typhoid fever at Lindsay, as people are inclined to drink water from springs and well waters of unknown and often worse of the pollution than the water of typhoid and other intestinal diseases. The writer is informed that by a careful study of the water supplied to Lindsay, the cause of the typhoid cases. It is believed that with a pure water supply, the death rate of Lindsay would not be over 20 per 100,000. This is the chief reason why the supply should be purified, because careful inspection of the water had and rigorous regulations alone will not improve the sanitary quality of supply and cause the non-use of well known spring and well waters.

Filtration.—Below a detailed description of your waterworks would be redundant. In the plant, as it now stands, it is proposed to add a standpipe by two 10-in. x 16-in. x 9-in. x 10-in. duplex compound steam pumps. Each of these pumps can discharge 500,000 gallons a day at the pressure stated.

For the purpose of this report the following figures taken from your report of 1902, are assumed:

1. Total population, 6,000.
2. Net cost of works, $84,106.56
3. Annual debt, $78,777.24.
4. Total receipts, $10,103.74.
5. Total maintenance, $5,326.50.
$5,071.60.
6. Total maintenance and interest, $83,848.84.
7. Cost of water based on No. 5, $45.56 per million gallons.
8. Cost of water based on No. 6, $70.31 per million gallons.
9. Gallons of water per pound of cost, 1,000.
10. Daily foot-pounds per 100 lbs. of cost, 25,000,000.
11. Dynamic pumping head, 173 ft.
12. Cost of pumping per million, $216.
13. Calculation of the statistics of the plants in towns having the same size of supply and population accompanies this report. It is seen from your statistics that you are only with those of other towns of the same size.

Present Filter.—The filter consists of a mixed sand bed 2 feet 6 inches in depth, on fine gravel. It is filled with wooden underdrains covered with gravel. The sand and gravel have been placed 2 inches of sand. This sand has been found to have an effective size of 0.37 mm and a uniformity co-efficient of 1.7, which is very good filter sand. Knowing the size of the sand, it is possible to compute by formula the quantity of water passing through the filter, and reference in the levels of the water in the filter bed and the water above it be known. On Sept. 23 this difference was 1 foot 1 inch. The water was pumped down and with a high stage of water in the river, the difference in levels was 3 feet 6 inches.

Computation shows that for the first few hours after pumping the filter, all of the supply can be forced through at the rate of 150 gal. per hour, probably becomes clogged before 24 hours, and the water passes through it and then practically goes out of the filter bed as it goes in, unfiltered. There is no evidence that more than 10 per cent. of the water is filtered and on the average, and that this filtration is due to the clogging of the surface of sand by gelatinous, or slime, or the usually employed rate of 5,000,000 gallons per diem, the filter would furnish 34,000 gallons per day, at the high rate of 5,000,000, 51,700 gallons per diem.

Passing of One of the Old Pioneers of the Township of Ops.

Robert Heynolds the subject of this sketch was born in Tipperary, Ireland on Sept. 26 b. 1812, and died on Nov. 18th, 1904, 11 days short of 92 years. He came to Canada 81 years later, he was united in marriage to Ann Blackwell, who predeceased him ten years. They settled on lot 1, in the 7th con. of the Township of Ops. Here they underwent all the hardships of pioneer life, for at that time the country was a dense forest, and roads were cut through the bush and caused severe epidemics. There were no other settlers nearer than which position of your water supply, the nearest being Mr. Mills, who lived below the intake, are less to be dreaded than those which are above the intake, as most to be feared.

Precautions against the typhoid fever danger are rigidness to reduce the pollution of the water above the intake to reduce the danger to a minimum.

Typhoid Fever.—The average typhoid fever death rate for the last five years was 38 per 100,000 living—nation, and 38 per 100,000 living—nation, but in view of the fact that some of the cases occurred in the outlying districts, and enough to definitely state that the water supply is the cause in some of the cases of typhoid. THE BOARD OF MANAGEMENT

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY MATTERS DISCUSSED.

Favorable Reports Presented—New Officers on Committees Appointed.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society was held in the Council chamber on Friday last. President Dr. White in the chair, and the following members present: Mrs. Rogers, Chief Nelson, Mrs. Milne, Mrs. Trow, Miss Twamley, Mrs. McCrea, Mrs. Spratt and Mrs. Sharpe. The minutes of this last regular meeting were read and confirmed.

The secretary presented the confidential report made by the twelfth annual visitor on her recent visits to the homes of the several children placed in this county. The treasurer's report was read and confirmed.

It was deemed necessary that the President should ask the County and Town Councils for a grant in aid of the work.

The following committees were appointed to serve for the coming year: Clothing Committee — Mrs. Milne, Mrs. Mills, Miss Hamshaw, Mrs. Brown, Dr. White; Foster Home committee—Messrs. Hoyt, Knight, O'Loughlin, Kitchener and Dr. White, and Herriman; Visiting committee—Drs. Herriman and White and Mrs. Whitcombe, Miss Fanning, Mrs. Brady, Miss Twamley, Mrs. Spratt, Mrs. McCrea, Mrs. McGill.

A vote of thanks was moved to Mr. Jos. Wilson for having the hall heated, he has been very faithful to the Board.

The matter of holding a sale of donated articles will be discussed at the next meeting.

The Secretary was instructed to ask for contributions of second-hand clothing for children of all ages by inserting an item in the papers.

The Secretary reported that a woman had been engaged to come and clean the floor of the storeroom.

The meeting then adjourned.

The Best Liniment.

"Chamberlain's Pain Balm is conceded the best liniment on the market," write Post & Bliss, of Georgia, Vt. No other liniment will heal a cut or bruise so promptly. No other is so valuable for deep seated pains and aches and pains in the chest. Give this liniment a trial and become acquainted with its remarkable qualities and you will never wish to be without it. For sale by all druggists.

Japanese Physical Training.

A very handsome and useful set of books have been issued by C. J. Hutsum's Sons, New York, relative to Japanese Physical Training. The books are quarto bound and printed from clear type, with full page illustrations, taken from original photographs. Mr. H. Irving Hancock, the editor, is an athlete who has twenty years of a japan training, most important Jiu Jitsu matter in the Dominion. The series consists of Japanese Physical Training, Physical Training for Women, Physical Training for Children, and Jiu Jitsu Combat Tricks making an excellent addition to anyone's library. The methods are so simple and clear as explained that any one, man or woman can in a short time become a skilled Jiu Jitsuan, and ably defend themselves from ruffians, or any that seek to do them injury, as well as building up an excellent physique. The above books can be ordered from Mr. R. S. Porter, town, or direct from C. J. Hutsum's, 27 and 29 West Twenty-third-st., New York.

SNOW PLOWING CONTRACTS.

Board of Works Will Receive Offers for a Three Years' Term.

The Board of Works of the Town Council met Saturday evening, All Officially in the chair. All members were present except Alderman Storey and Chamberlain. The following tenders for the removal of snow for 1904 on sidewalks were received.

John Jeffers, east ward, $100.

Geo. Hartwick, north ward, $90.

W. S. Armstrong, east half of south ward, $80.

W. S. Armstrong, west half of south ward, $90.

It was moved by Mayor Sootheran, seconded by Ald. McWatters, that the chairman call for tenders for the removal of snow from sidewalks for the years 1905-6-7, the parties tendering to give security of $50 for the fulfilment of their respective contracts.—Carried.

Adding Dressmaking to their Business.

The Misses Holmes will open a dressmaking department with J. Sales & Sons. Their large experience is sufficient to warrant satisfaction. The rooms are very well lighted and will have an entrance to the left from the millinery department.—dwt.

Hunting Notes.

(From Evening Post, Nov. 22.)

—A large deer was shipped through to Mr. Latimer of Millbrook, today.

—Mr. Hall Lemon returned this morning from the back woods with two dandy bucks.

—Mr. Bartlebowow, of Stouffville, had a nice deer shipped through to his home this morning.

—A couple of fine deer passed to Mr. Joyce, of Toronto, this morning. They arrived on the Haliburton train.

—It is the opinion of a great number of hunters, that dogs should be prohibited hunting deer. This may, for aught we know, be right and should, long the use of dogs should be considered.

A NEW MILLING COMPANY.

Mr. J. D. Flavelle, our Industrious Miller, one of the Incorporators.

The Toronto News, of Saturday, states that a new milling company under the name of "The Maple Leaf Flour Mills Co., Limited, has been incorporated to raise a total capital of $1,000,000 in $100 shares, the head office being at Ottawa. The incorporators are D. C. Cameron, Winnipeg; Angus Carmichael, of Port Arthur; R. S. Dowd, of Toronto; A. A. Croc, of Dominionville, and J. D. Flavelle, of Lindsay. The company is given extensive powers, which include the carrying on of navigation, the manufacture of wood pulp, etc.

Sturgeon Lake Leakage Stopped.

A gang of men engaged repairing the canal at Bobcaygeon and are putting on new gates. They are trying to stop the leakage at the lower end of the canal and if they can prevent the leakage it will be a great help to keep the water up in Sturgeon Lake during the summer and fall months. This leakage has been going on for some time, and in time would certainly have been dangerous to our beautiful waters, but now that this important step has been taken, the leakage will receive a big check.

Was in Too Big a Hurry.

Wm. Cowan, a resident of Kinmount, undertook to alight from the morning train from the Kinmount branch at Kent-st. junction, but had not figured on the speed at which the train was going was in consequence hurled to the ground. He received a bad shaking up and sustained a cut on the ear, from which blood flowed freely. Dr. Herriman was called and attended him at the Pyne house. He was on his way to Trenton but will be obliged to remain over until the extent of his injuries are ascertained.

Jack the Hugger.

Some of our girls around town are trying to delude themselves into the belief that "Jack the Hugger" is around and have scared themselves quite that idea. The other evening a half dozen made short cuts over lots towards home, filling the air with feminine screams and ribbons. It is a wonder how easy the average girl can scare herself with a shadow. Girls, you better get the young men to take care of you at nights.

Was Born in Manvers.

Mr. W. D. Staples, the newly elected Conservative member for Macdonald, Manitoba, was born in 1848 in the Township of Manvers. His preliminary education was obtained at the Fleetwood Public School and the Lindsay Collegiate Institute, but his studies were completed at the Winnipeg Collegiate Institute during the years 1888-89. In the following year he settled on a farm in the Dauphin district and has continued his agricultural pursuits ever since, but now he has one of the largest and most modern threshing outfits (only equipment) in Manitoba. Mr. Staples's municipal career has been a long one. In 1891 he was elected Councillor for Ward 2 of the municipality of North Norfolk. With the exception of one year, which he spent in the Southern States, he has been in the Council ever since. His proudest boast is that he never yet lost an election.

C. P. R. Arbitrators.

There was another sitting of the special court dealing with the purchase of right of way for the L. B. & P. R. held at the Queen's Hotel before their Honors Judges Britton, Winchester and Harding. This was a case in which considerable local interest was centered, Mr. B. O. Connell, of Bogarat Island, the appellant was represented by Messrs. McLaughlin & Peel; whilst Mr. J. B. Clarke, called for the Company and Mr. Thos. Stewart looked after the Company's interests. A large number of witnesses were examined, their evidence going to show the loss sustained by Mr. O'Connell through the many inconvenience suffered by having his farm cut up badly. Mr. Henry McKay was a star witness and was complimented by Mr. Clarke on his logical answers. Judgment may not be given until next week, when several similar cases will be disposed of.

BORCAYGEON.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Peter Grant has a gang of men at work making repairs on the canal here. They are putting on new gates and are trying to stop the leakage at the lower end of the canal. If they can prevent the leakage, it will be a great help to keep the water up in Sturgeon lake during the summer and fall months.

The business have all arrived home and in most cases report a shortage in venison, but in a few cases the limited number was reached. Dollion camp, from Stony Creek in Anstruther, consisting of Messrs. B.V. Covert, and J. Marshall of Lockport; E. Reid, and W. Hickson, of Bobcaygeon; E. Irwin, Jas. Irwin and Jos. Irwin of Ivinlock, arrived home on the 16th inst., with their legal number, some of which tipped the scales at 250 lbs. Two of this party tried to secure room but but it was a bare attempt, as Mr. Brain made his way to the swamps and has not been seen since. Doubtless he was badly frightened when he saw their long range guns and red garments and if it only a chance if the frightened animal will venture from his winter den on Candles mas day. Time and space will not permit me to tell of the great feats of these two bear hunters.

The football concert which was held in the town hall here on the 17th inst. proved a decided success in every way, and the committee provided a excellent program for a crowded house and everybody seemed the program—why it was out of sight!

Large shipments of stock are still being sent from this station every week.

HACKSTOCK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr Th s. Lattimo e of Blackstock has secured the position of section boss at Nestleton and has moved in to the new station there. We all join in wishing Thos. every success.

Mr. W. E. Bradburn, our popular taylor, is a sound again, and busin ss is in full bla t. Any one wanting an up-to-date suit of clothes should not fail to give him a call.

A very interesting scene was on the streets of this town on Saturday when Mr. H. Crooker gave "Gamie," lately added to his stock, however "Gamie," seemed to enjoy the chase, Hold on to your hats the next windy day, Harry.

Blackstock Methodist church intend holding their anniversary on Sabbath day and Monday following. For particulars see later columns.

Rev. Mr. Creighton of St Johns church here, is seriously ill under the weather. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. Thos. Mason and wife of Peterboro, are paying a visit to his parents last week.

Miss Dulie Hovey has been sick for a few days, but we are pleased to learn is recovering again.

Mr. Bert Wood, of Nestleton, traded his driver for a two forty, Hold on to the reins Bert.

Blackstock cheese factory has shut down for another season.

Rev. Mr. Drew, of Pontypool, occupied Blackstock Methodist pulpit on Sabbath afternoon, also rendering a very suitable so.

Quite a number from here attended the anniversary services at Cadmus, which were a decided success.

Mr. Joseph and Miss Mildred Stewart, visited friends in Blackstock on Sunday.

Blackstock council met on Monday, the 14th with a full attendance Quite a number of applications for sheep killed by dogs were settled. We fear in some cases the sheep killing was caused by other causes than dogs. People should look into matters of this kind more closely before settling.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is Pleasant to Take

The finest quality of granulated loaf sugar is used in the manufacture of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it quite pleasant to take. Mr. W. J. Rudzick, of Port Ewen, N. Y., in speaking of this remedy, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with my children for several years and can truthfully say it is the best preparation of the kind I know of. The children like to take it, and it has no injurious effect. For sale by all druggists

Scarcely Wise.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—Ex-Crown Prosecutor J. P. Cook yesterday morning dropped his proceedings for criminal libel against William Blackley of Toronto, thus ending one of the most famous cases in Montreal's criminal records. The original hearing lasted nearly 20 days, and cost the public side about $20,000. Since then a royal commission was appointed to enquire into Mr. Cook's conduct in the matter, whose report is now before the provincial Government. Hon. Horace Archambault. Yesterday morning Mr. Cook's counsel announced that he would not proceed with the case, in view of the matter being dealt with by the royal commission. Blackely accused Mr. Cooke, the Crown prosecutor, of accepting bribes.

Constant saving of small amounts on your smallest every day purchases, as well as the big savings on larger purchases at this store will mean a snug little bank account at the end of the year.

CASH IS KING.

The differences between our cash prices and the prices you're forced to pay at the old-time credit stores is really startling—did you ever take a pencil and paper and figure out for yourself the extremely high rates of interest you pay for the 30 days or few months' accommodation you get when buying at credit stores? If you haven't then do it now.

What an inducement to cash buying are the prices in this advertisement.

These are only made possible by means of our Syndicate buying and Cash selling.

LORD MINTO LEAVES CANADA.

Amid the Booming of Cannons and Cheers of An Immense Crowd.

Quebec, Nov. 23—Amid the booming of cannon and the cheers of an immense crowd, which thronged Dufferin Terrace, yesterday afternoon the Allan Line wharf, and also along the route of the procession, and on the ships itself, Lord and Lady Minto and the viceregal party left Quebec for Montreal at 9 o'clock last evening. The viceregal party left the Chateau Frontenac at 8 o'clock. A guard of honor of 100 men, furnished by the Eighth Royal Rifles Regiment, was drawn up outside the hotel. The viceregal party were accompanied by Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier, Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, Premier Tarcelt, Sir H. Montague Allan, Andrew Allan, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, D. Torringer and many others in carriages. The Queen's Own Canadian Hussars provided an escort of 14 men, while on the Allan's wharf a guard of honor of the Royal Canadian Regiment, together with the State band, were drawn up.

He Will Hang.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—Unless his sentence is commuted by the Dominion Government, Antonio Giacconi of this city will be hanged on Jan. 29 next, for the murder of Theodore Duval on Aug. 20. On that date Giacconi shot and mortally wounded Duval during a row in a saloon on Notre Dame street. Giacconi's trial, which has been in progress in the Court of King's Bench for some days, came to an end last evening, when the jury brought in a verdict of guilty, without recommendation to mercy. Judge Hall sentenced the prisoner to be hanged on Jan. 29.

Wasted.

About her waist he put his arm.
She did not scream, she did not shout,
Or tremble with a wild alarm—
She didn't even seem put out.

She did not struggle or grow red,
As one would naturally opine,
Right here I think it might be said
Her waist was hanging on the line.

CORRESPONDENTS' LETTERS

OSYMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Everyone is settled down to business once more and the election rush is over, caused, with such bad profitable reflections to have better conduct for all time to come.

The Marshall grain warehouse has been sold to Mr. Brandon, of Fenelon Falls, who intends opening up, and if he is in no combina will come in for a good share of trade.

Division court sittings are to be held Fenelon Falls, Dec. 6th.

We had two funerals of old pioneers of Osymee, namely the late Mr. J. Bailey and Gustav. Wood, both at advanced ages.

Mr. Geo. Morrison, another of our old citizens, is still confined to the house at the advanced age of 84 years and will probably never recover.

The Women's Foreign Mission Society intend having a Thanksgiving service on the 22nd of November, after which there will be a silver collection. A program of music by the choir and addresses by resident clergy and others will be given.

The Methodist Institute concert will be held on Christmas day, Dec. 26th, and promises to be a delight-ful time. $250 is required.

Jas. Laidley, formerly of Lindsay and late of the Northwest, is home and will remain under the parental roof for a short time, looking seemingly to have agreed and prospered with him.

LORNEVILLE.

We are pleased to note our subscribers once more in good repair. Better late than never.

Mr. C. A. Plank and family called on Kinmount friends Thursday.

Mrs. Murray and Mr. Barron visited friends in the community during the Thanksgiving season.

Mr. Oscar Hedges, who has been baggage man at Lornville Junction, for the past eight years, has been appointed to a similar position in Toronto. He took charge of his new position on Monday.

A strong delegation from this community attended the Conservative convention at Lindsay on Saturday last. Mr. Fox will again contest the riding.

Several from this district attended the Liberal convention at Tozon on the 23rd inst.

Lornville was well represented at the Jubilee Singers' concert, held in the Woodville town hall on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. McCrea and daughter Annie spent Thanksgiving with Toronto friends.
